Best, cheapest and goes farthest

We have always maintained that Magic is the cheapest baking powder because it goes the farthest. And that is also the opinion of the many thousands of housewives who use it constantly.

Mrs. B. Marsh, Prescott, Ont., recently wrote:—

"I have used all kinds of baking powder, but I have found that Magic is the best, cheapest, and goes the farthest. My pastries are as light as a feather and I will never use any other baking powder but Magic."

Ask for and insist on getting "Magic" Baking Powder. No other is just the same."

Coleman
GAS PRESSURE STOVES

The Coleman Stove provides a dependable supply of gas heat for all cooking purposes at any time, in any place. It takes its own gas. It requires no piping, no wiring, no installation expense.

The Coleman Stove works on the gas-pressure principle just like Coleman Lamps and Lanterns. Uses any good grade of regular motor gasoline. Its leak-proof, air-tight tank has fuel control valve, air gauge, and hand operated filler plug. Can't be filled while stove is lighted—can't spill fuel even if tipped over.

Instantly regulated to high or low blaze by the turn of a valve. It's clean—no soot on utensils, no wicks to char, no smoke or ashes. Coleman Stoves are made in a variety of models with and without ovens and warming cabinets, to meet every cooking need.

It generates quickly and produces an intensely hot blue flame.

ONTARIO GARDENING SERVICE

With the Sweet Peas.

As soon as the sweet-pea plants are up an inch or so keep the hoe going. Constant cultivation is the price of a good showing of sweet peas. Do not let them lack for water, but do not sprinkle them. Give them a real soaking, and then don't water them for several days. A little good fertilizer sprinkled along the row, just before the buds begin to swell, and well watered in, will help the plants a great deal, and, will add to the depth of the color of the flowers.

Shade Loving Flowers

Brightening up the shady corners of the flower garden is usually quite a problem, although many annuals actually prefer to be away from the sun part of the time. Of course, it is almost impossible to get anything to grow in a spot which is without sunshine during the whole of the day, except, perhaps, ferns; but the following will do well in partial shade: Alyssum, Lupine, Marvel of Peru, Nemophila, Nicotiana, Pansy, Phlox and Verbena.

Summer Care of Roses.

Until the first of July new and established roses can be helped along by surface applications of quick-acting fertilizers, such as nitrate of soda. Use a scant, tablespoonful of this fertilizer, and dig it lightly around but not touching the plant. One or two applications a fortnight apart are sufficient. After July, according to A. H. Tomlinson, O.A.C., Guelph, slower acting fertilizers should be given. Weak liquid manure in this connection is valuable. To be safe deep forking after the roses become settled should cease, but shallow cultivation is advisable. A few low growing plants such as Pansies and Calendulas growing about the roots, after the bed is established is an advantage.

Timely Hints

If the birds are eating the lettuce cover the same with a light lattice or a strip of chicken wire. This will scare them away.

Plant cosmos along the fence and be ready to tie it up when it gets a couple of feet tall.

Four o'clock seed for a row along a walk should be planted immediately. Plant two seeds a foot apart and pull up one plant if both come up.

Yellow Ponderosa tomatoes seem to have made considerable strides in popularity in the last few years. They add color to a salad, pickles or preserves.

A Few Annuals Worth Trying

There should always be space in the amateur's garden for a few new flowers of more than average merit. In this connection the Calliopsis can be recommended. This is a half hardy annual producing brightly colored yellow flowers with dark brown centres, on long stems. They are good bloomers, do well under ordinary conditions and are particularly fine as cut flowers. The Scabious is another worth trying. It can be sown any time now, and will furnish very sweet scented bloom from late summer on. It grows to a height of around two feet, and, therefore, requires plenty of room, in good soil and an open position. Calendulas, or Pot Marigolds, can still be sown. These giant yellow and orange flowers are excellent for cutting as they will last a long while indoors. The Clarkia, Salpiglossis, Godetia, the lupines and several others all good but rather unfamiliar may well be included.

Mrs. Wilson's Experience a Guide to Women Passing through the Change of Life

Hamilton, Ontario.—"I have taken several bottles of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and I cannot speak too highly of it as I was at the Change of Life and was all run-down and had no appetite. I was very weak and sick, and the pains in my back were so bad I could hardly move. I got very sad at times and thought I had not a friend on earth. I did not care if I lived or died. I was very nervous, too, and did not go out very much. A friend advised me to try a bottle of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, so I did. I am a farmer's wife, and always worked hard until lately, and was in bed for two months. I began to feel like a new woman after the first bottle and I recommend it with great success, also Lydia E. Pinkham's Liver Pills. I am willing to answer letters from women asking about your medicines, as I cannot speak too highly of them."—Mrs. Emma Wilson, 471 Wilton Street, Hamilton, Ontario.

Balloon Tire Tread

Long experience and conditions dictate most of the weight and wear on the outer edges of the Balloon Tread, so that modern engineering places most of the rubber. At the center is a deep groove, between two narrow flexing ribs. Unlike the rubber spreads out across the tire to placate the road, it does not come through the outer tread strips with numerous projections for traction and qualities. These provide all to permit the tread to yield to irregularities in the road. The carcass of the Balloon Tire must have qualifications to withstand the extreme flexing which the tread permits. Firestone provides extra strength in this carcass by clipping the cords of the carcass in a rubber which completely saturates and insulates every cord, insuring the highest degree of ecohomy, safety and comfort.

ADOLPHUSTOWN WOMEN'S INSTITUTE

The Women's Institute held a meeting at the home of Mrs. Russel Cousins, on Tuesday afternoon, May 31st, which was largely attended. Owing to the absence of the President, the chair was ably filled by Mrs. W. D. Roblin. The Opening Ode was sung and the minutes read and approved. After a short business period the afternoon was given to the speaker, Miss Emily Guest, who gave us a thoughtful and excellent address on "Helping Boys and Girls to Find Their Right Life Work". She divides the children into two types, the thought type and the action type. We should make a close study of children and keep records of their home life and school work. Develop their marked abilities but regard their tastes, temperament and health. The action type draws material rewards for they take part in the occupational and manufacturing work of the world, such as building houses, roads, machinery, cars, etc., but the thought type influences us most, for their work is more educational. They fill positions of doctors, teachers, lawyers, bankers and captains of industry. Do not encourage a child to choose some work that requires integrity and reliability if he has not shown marked traits in his character. There are 5000 jobs to choose from. In helping children to a decision regard health. Find out the actual work, remuneration, and chances of advancement. Study the advantages, disadvantages, and temptations. Miss Guest stressed Home Training and Good Manners, and closed with a warning to parents, teachers and guardians of children. Don't choose anyone's life job for him. Miss Doris Rickley, of Hayburn, contributed largely to the pleasure of the afternoon by her beautiful piano selections. A large number of those present paid their fee, and the meeting closed with the singing of the National Anthem. The officers and directors of the W. I. will meet at the home of Miss Carr, on Monday evening.

TYENDINAGA INDIAN RESERVE

A large gathering of parishioners assembled at the home of Mr. George Brant last Friday evening to give a reception and hearty welcome to Rev. and Mrs. Pringle, who have recently taken up residence at the Rectory.

After a bountiful supper, Mrs. Hill read the following address:

Reverend and Dear Sir.—We, the undersigned Church Wardens of Christ Church and All Saints Church, Tyendinaga Indian Reserve, on behalf of the congregations and adherents of both churches, hereby extend to you and to Mrs. Pringle our heartiest congratulations on your appointment to this parish, and our best and most sincere wishes for your welfare while our Rector. We assure you of our warmest support in all your efforts for our welfare, and hope that you will be long spared to remain with us.

Signed on behalf of Christ and All Saints Churches, by the Wardens and members of the Guilds.

Mr. Pringle in replying, expressed his great appreciation of their kind welcome to Mrs. Pringle and himself, and was glad to be assured of their co-operation with him in the Church's work. He said that he had just come from a Parish, whose people, by their kindness, helpfulness and loyalty, had been an inspiration to him. A goodly number of them were of U. E. Loyalist descent; and he considered himself fortunate to again be sent to a parish whose forefathers were also United Empire Loyalists. He had come among them as their friend, priest and pastor, and hoped that in the days to come, they all would work harmoniously together for God and His Church.

Keep Him Well With the Aid of Baby's Own Tablets

No matter how strong and rosy your child may be he requires a laxative sometimes so that the stomach may be kept "sweet" and the system clean.

Formerly the laxative medicines given to children were disagreeable ones—castor oil, senna tea, powders and so on. But now Baby's Own Tablets, easily administered and pleasant to take, have superseded these. The children like Baby's Own Tablets.

Not only as a laxative but in many other ways these Tablets are an ideal remedy for little ones. They quickly reduce feverishness, relieve indigestion, colic and vomiting, prevent constipation, check diarrhoea, allay teething pains and promote healthful, natural sleep.

You can get Baby's Own Tablets at any dealer in medicine or at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

The Family Physician.—The good doctor is always worth his fee. But it is not always possible to get a doctor just when you want him. In such cases, common sense suggests the use of reliable home remedies, such as Dr. Thomas Eclectric Oil, which is wonderfully effective in easing inflammatory pains and healing cuts, scratches, bruises and sprains. The presence of this remedy in the family medicine chest saves many a fee.

A bad man is far less dangerous than a running one.

ANNUAL CELEBRATION AT NAPANEE

DOMINION DAY, JULY 1st

FOUR HORSE RACES

TWO BALL GAMES

AND OTHER SPORTS 23c

GOLF MATCH

The match played here Wednesday afternoon was a very interesting game and was followed by a large crowd of spectators. Bill Brazier, British Professional of Toronto, was paired with Geo. Faulkner, a young amateur from Belleville Country Club, against Fred Rickwood, British Professional of Toronto, and W. Kerr, Professional at the Cataraqui Golf Club. On the first round Brazier and Faulkner were two up and held the same lead during the second round. Brazier made a score of 76, for the 18 holes, which is good, considering that the greens are not in a fit condition for putting. He plays a very steady game and seldom got in any difficulty. His partner, Geo. Faulkner, got in trouble several times on the first round, but played a 39 in the second round and if he continues, he should soon be heard of in the Canadian Championship matches.

Rickwood had 40 for each round and had three penalties. He played a very sporting game and took chances rather than playing safe, which of course pleased the spectators. He made some great recoveries after getting in difficulties. Kerr could not seem to get going in the first round, and the course did not seem to be to his liking, taking a 47 the first round. However, he improved in the second round and made a 39. Final scores, Brazier 76, Faulkner 84, Rickwood 80, and Kerr 86.

After the game Brazier gave a very excellent demonstration of how a ball should be driven with the different kinds of iron and wooden clubs and apparently could make the ball do anything he wished.

Both Messrs. Brazier and Rickwood have been very busy giving lessons to the local members, and all are delighted with their work. Brazier's two lectures have been most instructive to golfers. Rickwood, besides being a good instructor, is an expert in laying out courses and building greens, and has during his stay, laid out a new green and practically completed it.

The Management of the Club were very fortunate in securing their services, and it is to be hoped they will return in the near future, as there are many who have not had the chance to obtain lessons from them.

Varicose Veins Reduced or Money Back Says Wallace's Drug Store

This Simple Home Treatment Giving Amazing Results.

The world progresses. To-day ailments that took weeks to treat can now be ended in a few days. If you have varicose veins or bunches you can start to-day to bring them back to normal size, and if you are wise you will do so.

Just get an original bottle of Moone's Emerald Oil at any dispensing pharmacist and apply it night and morning to the enlarged veins. It is very powerful and penetrating, and only a little is required. After a few days' treatment the veins will begin to grow smaller and by regular use will soon reduce to normal.

Moone's Emerald Oil is also a marvelous healing agent.

One application for instance stops the itching of eczema, and a few applications cause the eruptions to dry up, scale off and completely disappear. It is equally as effective in barber's itch, salt rheum, rashes and inflammatory skin trouble.

People who want to reduce varicose veins, or get rid of ugly ulcers, or piles in a few days should not hesitate to get a bottle at once. It is so powerful that a small bottle lasts a long time. Any pharmacist can supply you. Wallace's Drug Store sells lots of it.

Ask your grocer for "Smile". He has it, fresh all the time. 23a

ST. ANDREW'S W.M.S.

The open meeting of St. Andrew's W.M.S., held on Monday evening, June 13th, was a decided success. This being Confederation meeting an appropriate programme was arranged. Mrs. McMurrin read the 72nd Psalm and told the story of the naming of the Dominion. A short talk on Canada's first years and early work of the three uniting churches and incidents of the pioneer missionaries who helped to develop Canada, was given by the President. This was followed by "A Welcome to the Provinces", in which eight members told of the work in each of the Provinces and Newfoundland. Mrs. Henderson gave a very interesting report of the Conference Branch held in Pembroke last week. The speaker of the evening was Miss Templeton, of Belleville, who told in her charming manner the story, "The Palace Made by Music", showing that all are needed to accomplish any great task. Mrs. Kimmerly sang a solo in her usual pleasing way, and Miss Katharine Henderson favored the audience with a beautiful instrumental. A generous offering was received, which was dedicated by Mrs. Thomson. The meeting closed with the National Anthem, after which Mr. Wilson pronounced the Benediction.

I regard it as an honor to have been requested to act in this capacity in presenting a testimonial to a worthy neighbor, a man who in his private life amongst us has secured the respect and esteem of all who had the privilege of his acquaintance. During his residence with us he has been a faithful and good citizen to do his part, not only to his employers but to all neighbors in mechanical difficulties, by his knowledge of mecanism and tradesmanship, with his circle of friends all honoring him as a man of sterling worth, a man of character, desiring to live in peace and harmony with whom he came in contact. Any man actuated with such a spirit make the best of citizens and are a benediction in any community, and when that can be said of a man it is the greatest compliment that can be paid to him. We will miss Howard Duckwall's cheery face and cordial greeting. I can assure him that he will ever have a warm place in the hearts of the many friends he is leaving behind him in Camden East, and that he carries with him the heartfelt wishes of all for the highest measure of success in any of his business transactions that he will engage in, and that every needful blessing may be showered upon him and Mrs. Duckwall.

Now, Mr. and Mrs. Duckwall, it is my pleasant duty to ask you to accept this purse as a slight token of the respect and esteem in which you are held by those who have known you in this vicinity.

J. C. DOYLE, Chairman.

Mr. and Mrs. Duckwall expressed their thanks and appreciation for being so kindly remembered, and desire to purchase with the money something as a souvenir their friends can enjoy when they accept their cordial invitation to visit them wherever they may locate.

HYDRO EMPLOYEE KILLED

On Monday afternoon, about 4 o'clock, John Kinkley, a lineman in the employ of the local Hydro, was almost instantly killed while working on an electric lighting pole on the corner of Centre and Bridge streets. The building of the pavement necessitated the changing of a number of poles on the street and the workmen were changing the wires from the old poles to new ones erected a short distance away. Mr. Kinkley was working on the old pole and came in contact with a wire carrying 2000 volts, and fell to the ground, a distance of about 20 feet.

The Hydro employees immediately started resuscitation methods and worked over him for a considerable time. Several doctors were also quickly on the scene and rendered all possible aid, but their combined efforts were in vain.

Mr. Kinkley is a married man with four children, and had been in the employ of the local Hydro for about six months. An inquest was opened in the Council Chamber on Monday evening. After being sworn in the Jury viewed the remains, and after hearing some evidence, adjourned until Tuesday evening at 8 p.m.

On Tuesday evening the Jury brought in a verdict of accidental death.

The W. C. T. U. held a parlor meeting at the parsonage on Thursday p.m.

Tennis is the popular game just now. Through the kindness of Dr. and Mrs. Huxtable, a very fine court is available for use by our young people.

Miss Roberts, of the N.C.I. staff, visited at the parsonage recently.

Miss Mae Wilde was a guest of Mrs. T. I. Winter on Monday evening.

Miss Alicia Keough and Mrs. Anderson attended W. M. S. meeting at Miss Williams', home at Camden East, on Wednesday.

Mrs. Garrett and two small children, of Toronto, have been the guests of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. D. Denison.

Mrs. H. M. Paul has received word of the serious illness of her brother, Mr. Robert Paul, of the West. Mr. Paul was once a resident of Newburgh.

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Hanna and little son, Wellington, of Utica, N.Y., are guests of Mr. and Mrs. G. Quail.

Twenty-six left Newburgh on Wednesday to enjoy the Ottawa excursion while a large number went to Varty Lake to attend the Conservative picnic.

Every season brings its changes. The holiday season is looked forward to with many anticipations of pleasure, but this pleasure does not come always unalloyed. Newburgh can ill spare any of its citizens at any time, holiday time included. Just now we are losing some of our young ladies, Miss McSherry, of the High School staff, goes to Windsor for the holidays; Miss Briscoe goes to Montreal for an extended visit. These two from one center leaves a vacancy hard to endure; but such is life.

During last week Mrs. Pillar received the sad news of the death of her brother, Mr. Samuel Fitzpatrick, of Detroit, Mich.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Baker were at Miss Briscoe's, on Sunday.

We all need a new idea of our relationship to money. In many missionary auxiliary meetings the manner in which the money is handed us is distasteful as though it stood for the forbidden fruit. Money, service, sacrifice, is dwelt upon, but money must hardly be mentioned. Why is this? What is more a part of ourselves than money? What bettes represents time, effort, difficulties overcome, life itself? Money represents the other half of us, the active part which labors. And when that is so, when we give our money, we give ourselves. Money is time and service and self all together. And what makes the problem of missions perplexing is the fact that instead of it being easy to give money we have all there are waiting many whose interest and enthusiasm once awakened, would bring help and new energy to the work.

It is a great thing to love Christ so dearly as to be ready to be bound and to die" for Him, but it is often a thing not much greater to be ready to take up our daily cross and to live for Him.—John Caird.

Remember, it is the love of God for his children, that, He never does anything to compel our affection, or to destroy the freedom of our choice. Freedom is the essence of manhood, and we must be saved by our own free will or not at all.—John Dendy.

TOURISTS' LONGER STAY GOOD FOR OUR GARAGES

"That the extension of free motor tourists permits to bona fide United States motorists will result in considerably augmenting the work and profit of motor car garages and service stations just as it will swell the already great revenue derived by this country and particularly this province from United States motor tourist traffic, is pointed out editorially by a leading automotive trade paper, Motor Trade. It declared, under the caption "Tourists Now Can Stay Longer".

"Garage men in Canada have been sentenced to ninety days' hard labor on tourists cars from the United States. This triples the old penalty of thirty days, and should mean a good deal of extra labor—at remunerative rates, of course."

"This is great news for the automotive industry in Canada. It is also bad news for the automobile stealers and smugglers, and it is bad news for a lot of the parasitical automobile clubs, who endeavor to reap quite a harvest from the tourists. Their wings are clipped, because only the real organizations, such as the Ontario Motor League and its affiliations, according to the new regulations, will be looked to for endorsationg which establish the visitors as bona fide tourists."

"The real money that this business brings into the country may be judged from the figures for Quebec for 1926. American tourists spent just short of $58,000,000 in that province, the total number entering being 300,355. Official announcement is made by Hon. W. D. Euler, minister of customs and excise, of new regulations for the extension of permits to tourists' automobiles beyond the usual 30 day period. The changes, it is believed, will encourage tourist traffic in Canada."

"Under the new regulations, authority is given to all collectors of customs and excise in Canada to extend any permit of 30 days without reference to the department, on the tourist presenting a certificate showing that he is sponsored by a Canadian Automobile Association, Motor League or Club with which the United States Automobile Association or Motor Club to which he belongs is associated. These regulations apply to tourists' automobiles, granted temporary admission to Canada without bond or cash deposit."

"Under the arrangement, the appropriate officer of the Canadian Club upon satisfying himself as to the bona fides of the tourist and his club affiliation in the United States, may issue a certificate for presentation to the nearest collector of customs and excise. On presentation of this certificate, the collector may extend the tourists' permit for a further period of thirty days, without bond or deposit. This privilege may be accorded twice in respect of any one permit. In other words, a tourist may now remain in Canada, under the provision of the new arrangement, up to a maximum period of ninety days without furnishing a bond or deposit."

A FAMILY MEDICINE

A Welland Lady Tells of the Value of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills in Her Home

"I have many reasons for praising Dr. Williams' Pink Pills," says Mrs. George L. Swick, R.R. No. 2, Welland Ont. "My first experience with this medicine was in my girlhood, when, following an attack of scarlet fever I was left in a badly run down condition, and the pills restored me to good health. Later in my married life I had a severe attack of rheumatism. The pain in my right arm and shoulder was so bad that I could not dress myself without help. Again I resorted to Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and again they proved a blessing to me, as soon the rheumatic pains and stiffness disappeared and there has been no return of the trouble. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills have also been of great benefit to my children. One of my boys was threatened with St. Vitus dance. His limbs and face would twitch and jerk. I gave him the pills, and again they did not fail, as under the treatment the trouble ceased. I have also given the pills to my little girl, who was anaemic, and in this case also with the greatest benefit. Naturally when I hear anyone complaining of not feeling well I recommend Dr. Williams' Pink Pills as I know of no other medicine to equal them in building up the blood and restoring health."

Take Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for anaemia, rheumatism, indigestion, neuralgia and other nervous troubles. Take them as a tonic if you are not in the best physical condition, and cultivate a resistance that will keep you well and strong. You can get these pills from any dealer in medicine, or by mail at 50 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

"Girls! Ugh!" snorted Jenkins, disgustedly. "Don't talk to me about girls. I took one of them out to lunch last week."

"Well that's all right," said his friend, "No trouble in that, was there?"

"Yes. I took her into a restaurant and she said she wasn't hungry."

"Didn't she eat anything?"

"Eat anything! Why, man, she went right through the menu; she had soup, salmon, chicken, cream, pudding, macaroons and coffee. Eat anything, indeed!"

"Anyhow, old chap," said his friend, soothingly, "you ought to be glad."

"Glad! What for?"

"Glad she wasn't hungry."

BAZAAR AND CONCERT

On June 10th the Ladies' Aid of Yarker United Church held their annual bazaar and concert. Because of the rainy weather the attendance was not large. A magnificent array of articles was displayed for sale in the hall in the afternoon, most of which was disposed of. In the evening the programme was given by Mrs. Powell, Elocutionist; Mr. Reg. Wiseman, Soloist, and Miss Dorothy Scott, Violinist, with Miss Scott, accompanist. The opening and closing numbers were instrumental duets by Mrs. Shangraw and Mrs. Galbraith.

This is not the first occasion of Mrs. Powell's visit to Yarker on concert work, but her selections were even more appreciated than at other times, and she has always been a favorite. The singing of Mr. Wiseman and the playing of Miss Scott were likewise exceptional. The program was greatly enjoyed by all.

CAMDEN VIII. W.M.S.

The June meeting of Camden VIII. United W.M.S. met at the home of Mrs. Bashford Close, Croydon. The hostess served a most beautiful dinner, of which eighteen members and visitors partook. The President took charge of a most interesting and helpful session of the W. M. S., announcing the subject for the meeting, "Faith and Its Obstacles".

The Supply Secretary read a communication, asking for bandages and second-hand clothing for the hospital and school among the Indians of our Canadian West. It was agreed that the July meeting be held in Camden VIII. church, and any one wishing to contribute to a bale of clothing may bring or send it in to the President before the first Thursday in July. A full attendance is asked for at the July meeting. Meeting was closed with prayer.

MORVEN W.M.S.

The meeting was held at the home of Mrs. Wm. Close, on Wednesday afternoon, at which twenty-five members and visitors were present. After the Devotional Exercises, all enjoyed listening with interest to the few well chosen words of our District Superintendent, Mrs. G. I. Perry. Mrs. G. H. Clark read a very appropriate reading which was followed by a splendid duet sung by Mrs. Merrick and Mrs. Winter. Brief reports were given from each of our missionary fields, and the Mizpah benediction closed a profitable meeting. Mrs. Close served delicious refreshments.

CONFEDERATION AND AFTER

SIXTY YEARS OF PROGRESS

NATURAL RESOURCES

It has been said that Canada as a whole is really much younger commercially than politically. Her mere surface area of land and water amounts to three and three-quarter million square miles. The Prairie Provinces produce nearly over 600,000,000 bushels of wheat and oats as a contribution to the food supply of the world, and little more than one-fifth of the total 300,000,000 acres believed to be fit for agricultural purposes have been placed under field crops. The remaining four-fifths are capable of sustaining many added millions of population, and they include an immense acreage already ripe for settlement.

The forest areas stand second only to arable lands among the basic resources of the Dominion, and forest industries have been surpassed by agriculture alone in fostering commercial growth. Even the work of ascertaining the actual extent of her commercial forests is still far from complete; at a rough estimate approximately one-quarter (600,000,000 acres) of the total land area in the Dominion is covered by forest growth. British Columbia contains over two-thirds of the merchantable saw-timber of Canada; the forests of the Middle West will probably be required to supply the local demand; two-thirds of the newsprint paper consumed in the United States is either of Canadian manufacture or is made from wood or woodpulp imported from Quebec, Ontario, New Brunswick, and British Columbia.

The actual extent of Canada's water-powers, like that of its forests, has been by no means fully escertained but the available and developed horse-power (water-power) is reckoned to be over thirty million, over four and a half million of which are already installed, namely in Ontario and Quebec — Ontario having the largest hydro-electric distribution system known. The figures show that Canada ranks second only to Norway in the per capita utilization of water-power and the average is more than three times that of the United States. There are millions of water horse-power now under development about Lake St. John and the Gatineau River in Quebec; while the horse-power of such rivers as the Nelson and Churchill, to say nothing of those in northern Saskatchewan and Alberta, run into more millions, which will, one day, be harnessed and transmitted far and wide.

Few countries possess greater coal resources than Canada, which is estimated to possess one-sixth of the total amount of coal in the world. Long before the exceptional production stimulated by the War, the Dominion had become the world's principal source of nickel, asbestos and cobalt, and an important producer of gold, silver, copper, lead, zinc and a number of rarer metals. Five of the nine provinces of the Dominion share substantially in mining activity, although Ontario leads her sisters by a considerable margin.

Not only on the Atlantic but also on the Pacific Coast and in her fresh water areas Canada possesses fisheries of exceptional value. Two of the four great sea fishing areas of the world border on the Dominion, and, in addition, her lakes and rivers constitute approximately one-half of the fresh water of the globe, while the great inland sea of Hudson's Bay, still practically untouched, can be regarded as a reserve. The Atlantic coast line measures over 5,000 miles; the Pacific shore line, over 7,000 miles; the fresh water lakes of the interior constitute an area of 220,000 square miles.

Every province shares substantially in the returns derived from its resources, and every effort is being made through the enforcement of trapping restrictions, the creation of sanctuaries, the supervision of the fur trade and close study of the annual catch, to guard against depletion.

Hot Weather Planting.

Throughout most of Ontario it is not too late to plant a number of vegetables. Chief among these will be those of the squash type. Marrows and summer squash may be planted any time up to the 1st of July. The same holds true for watermelon, citron and muskmelon. With the first named group the fruits should be picked when about half grown, the flesh being tender then and easily cooked. With the melons it is simply necessary to press the end of the fruit with the thumb, and if a little soft one can safely pick. The soil for these plants should be warm, well drained, and very rich. This is also a good time to plant lima beans which will give a good crop if sown before the end of June. Limas need richer soil than string beans, and there must be plenty of humus to retain the moisture. Polo limas give larger yields than the bush varieties, and usually do best with the amateur. They need seven feet of climbing space. Bush limas should be planted in hills eighteen inches apart each way. Water well in dry weather with the nozzle off the hose. Soak, do not sprinkle, and keep the water off the leaves.

Oriental Poppies, and Others.

At this season one always enjoys the gorgeous display of Oriental Poppies in a neighbour's garden. These huge, globes of brilliant colour may now be secured in a variety of shades ranging from almost white to a deep scarlet. This is the proper time to plant such seed, and better results will be obtained from getting these perennials started in this way than if roots are secured. The Poppy does not take well to transplanting, and where at all possible they should be planted in their permanent bed. The silky Iceland Poppy to bloom next spring with the late tulips should also be planted now. If the weather is favourable a few of them may bloom this fall. Give them a well drained bed and full sun. The little Alpine Poppies for the rock garden may also be planted at this time. As Poppy seed is very fine, it is best mixed with a little sand and broadcast. With this flower, as with all others, it is important to secure seed from tested varieties from the gardens of reliable seedsmen. Seed gathered in the ordinary garden, where no precautions are taken to protect from bees and other insects which mix pollen indiscriminately, is apt to produce flowers of disappointingly weak shades.

Time to Plant Celery.

From now until the middle of July the celery plants can be set out. Unless about to start on a commercial scale, gardeners are advised to buy plants which will be on sale everywhere about this time. For a continuous supply, set out a few plants every week or two up to July 15th, with the bulk going in about the latter date for fall storage. Celery can be grown on any rich well drained soil, provided it is not too compact. Well drained muck will give the best results. Heavy applications of manure are needed on loam soil with nitrate of soda during the early stages of growth. Water plants well before removing from flats, and if possible have soil moist into which they are being transplanted. Plant six to eight inches apart in rows up to three feet in width. Cultivate early and keep up during the season. Water when necessary, so that plants will grow quickly and be tender. To bleach place a board along the rows on both sides and hill up with earth. Be careful to avoid getting earth in the inside of plant, as this will cause rot.

A lady who had been out shopping returned home with a handsome sable stole, and said to her sister, who was admiring the purchase. "That stupid salesman tried to get me to buy a fur with two heads. I could not tolerate the unnatural thing! Who ever heard of an animal with two heads?"

Her sister looked at the stole critically. "Yes," she said, "you didn't buy a fur with two heads, but you bought one with six tails."

In Peril

By VICTOR REDCLIFFE

(C, 1926, by Victor Redcliffe.)

It was a novel yet perilous position, that in which Merrill Page found himself at Lone Prairie. The leading lawyers of a few Mexico border city had sent him to the settlement designated secretly, to visit a certain Lemuel Ward who he would find probably dying, take his statement under oath and quietly return with the evidence that would adjust a disputed title to a ranch.

Jem Dymond was the acknowledged leader of an unruly, desperate group at Lone Prairie, and Page was eyed with suspicion when he registered at the one rough-and-ready tavern of the place. He located a little hut where Lemuel Ward was lying in a bed from which he was destined never to arise. Page made sure that he was not observed as he dodged in through the open doorway.

"I am glad you have come," said Ward, as soon as Page revealed his identity. "At times the house has been under the surveillance of Jem Dymond, and I have been practically a prisoner since I threatened to get to the city and see the lawyers."

"I am to take your deposition, as I understand it," said Page.

"Yes, and a deed I've made out, and all there is to do is to sign and have you attach your notarial seal," and the invalid drew some papers from under his pillow. "You risk a good deal coming here, and if Dymond suspected it, you'd never get back to civilization. Should I die without sending the lawyers those documents, the land would go to him."

The papers were signed and Page was ready to depart, when his host, chancing to glance through the open window, half rose up. "Go the rear way, and quickly," he uttered in consternation. "Three men mounted—see them? Dymond and two others. They have followed you here. Don't go back to the hotel. Get out of the district with those precious papers at once."

Page recognized his peril. He sped through a rear doorway. There was a creek lined with willows a short distance away near a railroad spur. The line ran twenty miles to a point to the north, used only to ship horses to a waterway by which they were transported to sales markets.

Page made a dash for the light timber as a shout told him that the three men had espied him. There was a call to halt followed by a shot, as he reached some cars on a siding. He planned to conceal himself among the willows, but stumbled, his ankle turned, he limped a few steps and then, unable to proceed further, pulled himself up through the half-open door-way of the nearest car and lay inert and helpless.

He saw the three men rushing along, scanning the willow space. Then there was a jar, a locomotive had backed and coupled on the cars. A woman's form showed moving about within the car. She was attired in frontier riding habit, was exquisitely modeled as to form, with a face fresh and beautiful as befitted a girl of the prairie and forest.

"Who are you?" she interrogated, curiosity rather than fear in tone and manner, and by her confidence inspiring glance influenced Page to reveal his entire story.

"You did well to seek this refuge from Jem Dymond," said Bertha Wilton. "It is on his account that we are leaving Lone Prairie. He robbed my father, who is moving by wagon to Wolverton. I am going ahead in the box car to deliver Wildfire to a circus buyer who is to pay us a large price," and the speaker indicated a superb black steed at the other end of the car. "We make only one stop between here and Wolverton. That is at Elkton. Keep out of sight in the terminus and you will get clear of Dymond's territory."

Page appreciated his environment as the train proceeded slowly. There was a long stop at Elkton. Two rough-looking, sinister men came along the raised freight platform. Miss Wilton caught an echo of what they were talking about.

"The Dymond crew are on your trail," she announced to Page. "Dymond has telephoned ahead to search the car, suspecting that you are aboard. Two of his men are on the way to the local justice to have you sent back on a trumped-up charge."

"You must not get into trouble on my behalf," began Page.

"You must do as I direct you," spoke Bertha definitely. "Wildfire!"

She had the horse freed from halter in a trice, got him to the platform and helped Page from the car. "Stand men are returning," she said with a glance back of them. "If will be a swift ride, but Wildfire will not fail us. Take my rifle and shoot to hit if we are pursued."

It was a dash for liberty that Merrill Page never forgot. Superb horsewoman that she was Bertha Wilton outdistanced the two men who attempted to overtake them, and safe in Wolverton she took Page to the home of friends for care for his injured limb.

During a week of rest and convalescence Merrill Page saw Bertha Wilton daily. What could come of it but love? And when Page returned to Ward papers to his employers, he made the announcement that he was engaged to the fair girl who had not only prevented them from falling into the hands of the Lone Prairie plotters.

The old gentleman was poring over the contents of the bookstall and, espying the youth in charge, enquired: "Have you 'The Life of Moses?'"

"No," was the reply. "I have the life of a dog, and they're giving me the sack on Saturday!"

Letter Tells of Wonderful Relief After Taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Coniston, Ontario.—"After a severe operation and a three weeks' stay in a hospital I returned home no weak that I was unable to move a chair. For four months I was almost frantic with pain and suffering until I thought sure there could be any help for me. I had very severe pains in my left side and suffered agony every month. One day when I was not able to get up my mother insisted on my trying your medicine. She had got me a bottle of Vegetable Compound at once and I took it. I started a second bottle, and to my surprise and joy the pains in my side left me completely and I am able to do all my work without help. I am a farmer's wife, so you see I can't be idle long. In all, I have taken six bottles of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, five boxes of the Compound Tablets, two bottles of Lydia E. Pinkham's Blood Medicine, and have also used the Sanative Wash."—Mrs. L. LAJEUNESSE, Box 103, Coniston, Ontario. c

OBITUARY

J. Frank Lake

On Thursday afternoon of May 5th, 1927, Mr. J. F. Lake, beloved husband of Mrs. J. F. Lake, fell asleep in Jesus, after an illness of nine days' duration. From the first attack of pneumonia everything was done that was humanly possible to bring him through the crisis but "He is not for God took him".

Mr. Lake was the youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. James P. Lake, was born to them while residing in North Fredericksburgh Township. In the year 1883 he went out West, but in 1896 returned to Ernestown Township, and has lived in Morven since that time. In the month of April, 1898, he married Miss Abulda Irish, of Ernestown Township, and this happy union continued until the mortal ties were severed by his death on the 5th of May.

His religious experience and christian character can be dated early in his life, growing out of the favourable atmosphere of a Christian home and the saving influences of the Methodist Church, he was brought early to manhood a serious yet zealous stand for Jesus Christ as his Saviour and Lord. He then became a member of the church of his childhood, and as the years have passed by, his religious experience became richer and truer, deeper and stronger, bearing much precious fruit in abundant labours for God and his fellow man. Particularly in the Sunday School do we notice his labours during the past 22 years. First as a teacher of great acceptance and ability, presenting the Word of God in a practical, appealing, and edifying manner, that made him beloved by the members of the classes committed to his care. For several years past he has been the teacher for the Senior Adults, with gratifying results. But his endeavours were not confined to his own church alone for he gave of his best to promote the interests of the Sunday Schools in the County, and under his fine leadership as Vice President of the Senior Adult Division, a fine increase in the number of organized classes were recorded during his term of eight years, and his resignation last year, for physical reasons, was deeply regretted by his fellow workers. His splendid devotion to this all important part of the church's work was due to his faith in and anxiety for the welfare of the young people, also the future progress of the Church, which he felt, must be based upon an intelligent conception and knowledge of God and His Will.

He has rendered extremely valuable service to the church and circuit in the capacities of Secretary-Treasurer of the Parsonage Trustee Board, also as a most energetic and conscientious Steward for the Official Board.

Not only did he serve in the departments of the church's work, where he was called upon, but wherever his help was needed to ensure success, whether in church or otherwise, he was ready to do his part, and no worthy cause languished waiting for his moral support. Whether in his own church or community, circuit, or in the world-wide tasks of the United Church, its tasks of evangelism, temperance, education or missionary received his earnest consideration and prayerful support. Notwithstanding the above, he was very careful to maintain in his own personal life a reverent and devotional attitude toward the worship of God in his own church, and by regular attendance, by appreciative words sought to inspire others to join in the service and worship of God, his Saviour. His example and labour has not been in vain, for it has brought much help and inspiration to his fellow members and pastor in these days when many are lax in these duties toward God. He was diligent to attend class meeting, the senior adult Bible class, prayer meeting, and the quarterly services on the circuit, and his presence, prayers, and testimonies will be greatly missed.

Not only in his home is he sadly missed, but also in our community, and in every department of our church life. Yet we thank God for the great and lasting contributions he has made by his life and services to our church and community; also for the memories of that enriching fellowship, earnest labour, and consecrated life that he lived while here, which to us is fragrant with the Love of God, his Saviour.

The funeral service was held in the White Church, Morven, on Saturday afternoon, May 7th, conducted by his pastor, who endeavored to comfort the bereaving from scriptures recorded in II. Timothy, chap. 4, verses 7 and 8. The service was attended by a very large congregation, who came to mourn, sympathize, and pay their tribute of respect to him who had endeared himself to all.

Of his immediate relatives he leaves to mourn, his widow, Mrs. J. F. Lake, Percy, his only son, and wife, two grandsons, and one brother, Mr. Chas. Lake, of Morven.

Gigantic Stock Reducing —AND— Demonstration Sale

Is in Full Swing To-Day

Destined, Because of Its Values, to be the Most Conspicuous Sale in the History of this Store.

First and foremost in the organization of this great chain store system it is necessary to reduce all stocks to a minimum—in fact, to clear many lines out completely. We must standardize the merchandise in all of our stores as quickly as possible.

Hence this stupendous Stock-Reducing Sale, running for two full weeks with reduced prices, remaining open for shoppers on July 2nd. There are bargains galore in all departments—with prices considerably more attractive to the customers than they are to us—thousands and thousands of dollars worth of merchandise must go.

Added to the innumerable lines drastically reduced in price are huge quantities of popular and seasonable merchandise very specially purchased through our vastly increased buying power that will demonstrate very clearly to you the savings this new organization of old stores brings to your door.

Do not be confused by our low prices—the same standard qualities, the identical responsibility to its customers that have marked the integrity of this store in the past will be rigidly maintained throughout this unique Demonstrating Sale, and always.

It is impossible for us to enumerate in this advertisement the complete line-up of sale values. But these values are their own best advertisement. So come to the store on Saturday—every day. Judge for yourself. Learn how advantageous you can obtain your personal, family and home requirements.

Co-operation and the Store

Co-operation is the key-note of this entire organization. One headquafters handles the tremendous requirements of twenty-two stores—every one a leader in its community. This opens to us the greatest markets of the world, and makes possible quantity contracts—the basis of all exceptional values.

Co-operation and the Customer

As this remarkable system of co-operative service comes into effect in this community, we ask our customers to read our advertisements and to watch our store displays, and prove to yourself the savings made possible by this newest development in Canadian business life. It will amaze you.

Even our smallest discount is a direct saving, and remember a penny saved is beyond dispute a penny earned.

Do not permit yourself the inexcusable extravagance of staying away from this, the most conspicuous sale in this store's history of sales.

ERNESTTOWN WOMEN'S INSTITUTE

The Ernesttown Women's Institute held its June meeting in their Community Hall, on Thursday, June 9th, with a good attendance. Roll call was answered by a "favorite verse". Some business was discussed, and a lawn party was suggested to take place on Mrs. Fred Hamm's lawn, on Friday afternoon, July 8th.

Mrs. Erwin Sharpe gave us a very splendid paper on "Heart to Heart Talk to Busy Mothers and Homemakers". Mrs. Crowe also gave a short demonstration in millinery.

The week previous, on May 27th, we held our first summer series meeting in the United Church, about fifty ladies being present, including several members from Violet and Odessa branches.

The meeting opened by singing the "Ode", and repeating the Lord's Prayer. Our worthy President, Mrs. Fred Hamm, took the chair, and extended a very cordial welcome to all.

Mrs. W. Close, of Violet, then gave us a very delightful solo, accompanied by Mrs. E. Wright. The report of the closing year was read by the Secretary, Mrs. G. Young.

The speaker for the afternoon, Miss Emily Guest, M.A., Toronto, then gave us a wonderful address on the subject, "How to make an efficiency study of yourself and your Institute", and a brief outline of "Working Your Own Gold Mine". Miss Guest treated her subjects most cleverly and all derived much benefit from our first meeting of this kind. The meeting was then brought to a close by singing the National Anthem.

But another pleasure was still in store for us. After leaving the church we went to our Community Hall, where a cotton sale was conducted by Mrs. J. B. Sharpe and Mrs. T. Creighton, with splendid results, after which a delightful lunch was served.

The organization of a Sheep Club was recommended as a means of creating interest among boys and girls, and encouraging the raising of a profitable class of stock that will help to keep weeds in control.

Some suggestions were made in regard to changing classes for swine at Fall Fairs to encourage the showing of market hogs.

OBITUARY

John W. Gordanier.

A severe heart seizure, acting suddenly and silently, caused the unexpected death of the late Mr. John W. Gordanier, on May 17th, at his home in Morven, upon the farm where he was born. Words fail to express the value of a life lived as he did from childhood in a community where his very presence seemed so necessary to maintain the strong moral and spiritual welfare of the place. Death has claimed nearly all of his schoolmates and also many of his associates of later years. Two brothers, George and Fred, predeceased him a few years ago, while his ever devoted wife, Anna Eliza Bell, after a lingering illness of several weeks, died at her home three years ago. The passing of Mr. Gordanier has been keenly felt in all church activities, for after having been converted in his youth, he never forsook the path of his choice, and was always a man whom to know was to esteem and revere. He has left to mourn his loss his son, Ernest; also his two sisters, Mrs. H. V. Fralick and Miss Margaret Gordanier, Napanee. The funeral service was held in the White Church, in charge of his Pastor, Rev. W. H. Merrick, after which his remains were placed in the family plot at Morven.

Citizens' Day, held last Wednesday afternoon at the agricultural grounds, in aid of the Agricultural Society, was a success financially and otherwise. The various sports afforded considerable amusement, and the Odessa Brass Band played several choice selections. The Odessa baseball team met their Waterloo in a league game with Napanee. However, they were successful in a game on Saturday with Adolphustown, the score being 19-12 in their favor. There was a social dance in the Town Hall, also for the Society, after the afternoon sports, which was well attended. The Odessa orchestra furnished the music.—Mr. and Mrs. N. E. C. W. JEFFERYS

CANADA'S THREE SCORE YEARS OF NATIONHOOD

Very literally are the Provinces of Canada bound together by bands of steel. As a matter of fact, British Columbia became a Province of the Dominion in 1871 under promise of railway connection, though the actual linking-up did not become a reality till 1885. The enormous development of railroading has been one of the outstanding features of the sixty years that have elapsed since Ontario, Quebec, New Brunswick and Nova Scotia united under one central government in 1867. At that time the new-born Dominion boasted 2,278 miles of track; it has over 42,500 miles to-day. In equipment, too, the evolution has been great. The old wood-burner of 1867, though capable of very creditable speed, was a pigmy in size, weight and strength compared with the huge locomotives of today. Mr. C. W. Jefferys, Canada's foremost historical artist, here graphically depicts the changes that have taken place.

ONTARIO GARDENING SERVICE

Timely Advice.

This is the proper time for planting out tender plants like Cannas, Tuberous and fibrous rooted Begonias, and Heliotrope. Plants of late flowering Tulips, growing where space is required for bedding flowers, may be dug up with the bulbs, and as much root and foliage remaining on the plant, and set in soil in an out of the way corner until foliage has died down. They may then be taken up and cured partially in the open as well as later on dry shelves or in cellars prior to planting again in the fall. Old flowering spikes should be cut away. Pot plants of the Azaleas, Rhododendrons, and other forms of the Ericaceae family can be planted out of doors now in well rotted leaf mould soil in a partially shady place. After resting here they may be taken up in the fall just before frost and repotted into soil containing leaf mould or peat but no lime. If these plants are already in pots of sufficient size and contain the proper soil, they may simply be put out of doors in some shady spot for a rest. Calla lilies and old cyclamen may be given a summer holiday by being put in a shed or cellar or under the tree and given very little water. The tubers of these plants can be taken up in July or early August, cleaned off and re-potted in good soil.

The New Lawn.

One must be very careful in cutting newly seeded grass. While a sharp scythe in the hands of an expert is the best implement to use for this purpose, there is not one man in a thousand that would qualify for the job. On this account the average man must fall back on the lawn mower. This must be thoroughly sharp, or it will pull the young plants out by the roots. Cut as soon as the grass is up about three inches and continue to cut at least every week. Frequent mowing will cause the new grass to spread out and will aid in developing a root system. Where possible, after the first cutting, fertilize with some quick acting chemical such as nitrate of soda, and water well.

Perennial Seedlings.

As soon as the Perennials have developed their second set of leaves, they should be transplanted as crowding in the nursery row is liable to lead to "damping off", a serious disease among young seedlings. Dig up the young plants and set in sandy loam soil about two inches apart. Next spring they will be ready to transplant into their permanent quarters. Another method is to transplant into beds or flats at this time, and leave until the middle of September, when they will have developed sufficiently to be set in their permanent location.

Keep Flowers Picked.

Not only is a flower, when past its best, rather an eyesore in any garden, but it is also a drain on the vitality of the plant bearing it. Unless one desires to mature some seed—and seed produced in this way is usually much inferior to the parent plant—it is a good rule to pick everything when it begins to fade. The bearing of flowers is a severe drain on the plant, particularly when it is young, while the production of seed takes still more energy. Pick frequently, and all the energy will be turned into more flowers.

WOMEN'S INSTITUTE ANNUAL CONVENTION

The annual meeting of the South Addington District Women's Institute was held in Moscow United Church on June 7th, the District President, Mrs. A. E. Huffman, presiding.

The branches, Tamworth, Croydon, Enterprise and Moscow, were well represented, and a large number of visitors were in attendance. All were pleased to welcome Mrs. Yeomans, the District Representative, from Camden East, where a new Institute has been organized lately.

The meeting opened with the Institute Ode and the Institute Carol. An address of welcome given by Mrs. J. A. Amey, of Moscow, was ably responded to by Mrs. W. B. Close, of Croydon. This was followed by community-singing, led by Mrs. McCallum, of Tamworth.

The minutes of the last meeting were read and approved. These were followed by the reports of the four branches. These proved to be interesting, giving in detail, an account of the work carried on in the different Institutes. A report of the District was then read by Mrs. C. Amey, after which the District President, Mrs. A. E. Huffman, gave an instructive address.

Mr. Laughland, the Agricultural Representative from Napanee, then spoke to the ladies and congratulated them on their good work as Institute members. He urged them to take advantage of demonstration courses given by Department of Agriculture also of the free booklets given by the same. He suggested new phases of work in beautifying roads and school yards which might be carried out. He offered his assistance at meetings where poultry-culling demonstrations were held and also offered a moving-picture machine and slides for benefit of Institutes, at very little cost. The people were asked as members of Institutes and Churches to welcome the immigrants who were being placed on farms, where they are of great benefit to communities.

After more community singing the meeting adjourned for dinner, which was served in the Orange Hall by the Moscow Institute. During the noon hour the ladies were favoured by violin selections which were enjoyed by all.

The afternoon session opened at 1.45 p.m. with a chorus by Enterprise Institute, which was followed by a recitation by Miss Doris Asselstine, of Moscow.

Mrs. McCoun, of Campbellford, Secretary of Federated Institutes of Ontario, gave a splendid address on "Confederation and Institute Work". During the afternoon two vocal duets were given, the first by Mrs. Reid and Mrs. Shangraw, and the second by Mrs. McCallum and Miss Poston. A very interesting paper was read by Miss Libbie Reid, the subject being "Little Things".

A discussion on the topic, "At what age is the woman of most value to community", was led by Mrs. S. Gilmore, of Tamworth. A great many took part in this, and it proved to be a lively discussion.

The new officers for the coming year were then elected as follows:—

President—Mrs. A. E. Huffman, Moscow.

1st Vice President—Mrs. V. R. McCallum, Tamworth.

Secretary Treasurer — Mrs. C. W. Amey, Tarker.

A very hearty vote of thanks was then accorded to the ladies of each church and to the L.O.L. for their kindness in allowing the Institute the use of church and hall for the District Annual.

A Great Puzzle To Careful Parents

One of the greatest puzzles to the careful parent is to know just what medicine to give the little ones. When the child falls ill with griping pains; is seized with cold or fever, refuses food or vomits what he has taken, when he cries a great deal and cannot get the sleep so necessary to the growing child, the parent is in a quandary. What is to be done on such occasions? As often as not there is not a suitable medicine in the house. The puzzle is what to give him to set him right quickly.

It is to meet such emergencies that Baby's Own Tablets were designed. These pleasant little Tablets quickly relieve fever, break up colds, relieve constipation and indigestion and allay teething pains. They quiet the nerves and promote restful health-restoring sleep. They are guaranteed absolutely harmless and safe for even the youngest and most delicate baby.

Baby's Own Tablets are sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

ONTARIO FATHERS OF CONFEDERATION

(1) Hon. JAMES COCKBURN, Solicitor General, Upper Canada.

(4) Hon. WILLIAM McDOUGALL, Provincial Secretary of Canada.
(5) Hon. ALEXANDER CAMPBELL, Commissioner of Crown Lands, Canada.
(6) Hon. JOHN A. MACDONALD, Attorney General of Upper Canada.

THE 60th ANNIVERSARY OF CONFEDERATION

The appropriate phrasing of the resolution passed, unanimously in the Dominion House of Commons and the Senate on the closing day of the first session of the Sixteenth Parliament (April 14, 1927) cannot fail to make a strong appeal to all Canadians.

The Diamond Jubilee of Confederation should be a means of directing attention to the great traditions and heritage committed to the charge of those now living. In recalling the labours of those who, in the past, toiled for the common good, it ought to provide inspiration and guidance for the future, and serve to remind all that the way of national strength lies in unity, in a broad tolerance, and in a sympathetic understanding of our problems.

Citizens, young and old, rich and poor alike, are urged to read carefully the resolution which is here reproduced:—

"Resolved, that as Canada is approaching the sixtieth anniversary of the founding as a Dominion, the Parliament of Canada place on record its deep appreciation of the achievements of the Fathers of Confederation, and with united voice express its faith and confidence in the future of this our country, and its development as a member of the British Commonwealth of Nations, owing allegiance to His Majesty the King.

"It is the earnest wish of Parliament that the Diamond Jubilee Celebration for which plans are now being rapidly matured shall commemorate appropriately and enthusiastically the accomplishment of Confederation and the subsequent progress of the Dominion. We trust that this commemoration will lend added inspiration to the patriotic fervour of our people, and afford a clearer vision of our aspirations and ideals, to the end that from sea to sea there may be developed a robust Canadian spirit, and in all things Canadian profounder national unity."

TOTEM POLE ART IN BRITISH COLUMBIA

The traveller who enters British Columbia by way of Jasper Park and observes the grotesque totem pole from the railway station, or comes in from the United States through Seattle and notices in that city another "monolith" of similar design gracing Pioneer Square, is unexpectedly reminded that neolithic man still survives; and thereafter, if he is still curious he will come upon highly interesting indications of a former age scattered among the islands and fjords of the scenic British Columbia Coast.

Indian villages once occupied several sites within the boundaries of Greater Vancouver but the only remains of the native to be seen in the neighborhood now are a few kitchen-middens and a handful of the Salish tribe on a reserve in North Vancouver.

When Captain Cook came to these shores in 1778, the Salish people on Vancouver Island and the lower mainland totalled approximately 125,000, while three other tribes, the Haidas, the Tsimpsheans and the Kwakiutls, occupying the Northern Coast, contained as many more. The latest census returns place their numbers to-day as being under 24,000 or one-tenth their former numbers.

It is unlikely that the tourist will come upon the Redman in his picturesque garb unless a pageant is afoot in Vancouver or Banff, when it usually happens that neighboring chiefs are invited to participate in their ceremonial regalia. He will, however, find in Stanley Park, Vancouver, a model Indian village which is being erected by the Art, Historical and Scientific Association for the purpose of preserving for future generations the arts and crafts of the aborigines.

This little village will represent in miniature the architectural appearance of one of the hundreds of such communities that were to be seen a century ago from Washington to Alaska in the days when the first explorers and traders reached the Pacific Coast.

Totem poles were erected in large numbers in all their communities, ancient and modern, advertising wealth, ancestry, prestige and tribal importance, while certain types of them were mortuary columns. There is always a great deal of speculation among sight-seers regarding the significance of the grotesque figures which go to make up these heraldic memorials. Such designs occur in the paintings and carvings of the Indians all over the country with a frequency that points to a common origin. They are, in fact, symbolic of the various crests or totems, as they are usually called, which were adopted in remote ages to distinguish the four social clans into which each band is divided. Of the four leading totems among the Tsimpseans in the vicinity of Prince Rupert, the eagle represents the kingdom of the air, the wolf the power of the land, the whale the Lordship of the sea, and the frog the transitional link between land and sea. Other figures, however, may occupy the leading places in clan symbolism.

All members of a totem group are regarded as of one kindred, while those of a subdivision are considered to be blood relations. This relationship is universal in its application and holds good in peace and war. Such a system naturally gives rise to unique privileges and taboos, which however, may vary somewhat in latitude among different tribes.

The principal members of each clan take pride in painting and carving their emblem in every connection where decoration is possible. On the death of a personage, his totem is erected before his house by his successor, carved in the manner in which it appears in one of the mythological tales or legends.

Persons of the same crest are forbidden to intermarry. A union of crests, therefore, is stronger than a tribal bond. Such relationships give rise to peculiar and far-reaching complications. To give one example, an eagle away from home finding himself in a strange tribe, or in the midst of a hostile one, goes at once to the house of an eagle and announces himself, and is immediately received as a brother and is treated as such. The Coast Indians of to-day still retain their crest distinction, and find it to their advantage to uphold the good and salutary customs connected with the Institution of totemism.

Small models of painted and stone and latterly of plaster-of-paris of the most interesting totem poles, are sold by curio dealers to tourists and others. Possibly the most attractive of these, now rather rare and expensive, are the ebony-like models, beautifully carved in jet-black, slate-like stone obtained in the Queen Charlotte Islands. A few master-carvers among the Haidas used to supply the market with these unique images at from one to two dollars an inch.

The group of four coastal tribes is of interest, since certain ethnologists are of the opinion that the Mexican people are derived from colonies of this group which settled in Mexico ages before the advent of the Spaniards. This is believed because of a similarity between the designs of the totems of British Columbia and those of Mexico.

The Quick, Easy Way To Make Better Jams and Jellies

—By Elizabeth Palmer—

If you want your jams and jellies this year to give you a real thrill of pride, make them by the new short-boil method with Certo.

You've no idea how easy it is—and what an improvement it makes in color and flavor. "My strawberry jam tastes enough like fresh berries to use in strawberry shortcake," says one delighted woman who uses Certo.

Certo is a pure fruit product—the jelly substance of fruit refined and bottled. When you use Certo you do not have to "boil your fruit down." Only two minutes' boiling for all fruit. It cannot fail to jell.

This short boiling time with Certo preserves the natural flavor and color of your fresh fruit, and gives you more delicious jelly, because you save the sugar which used to boil away.

June Wedding.

A very pretty wedding was solemnized at the Trinity Church Parsonage, by the Rev. Mr. Tanton, in which Miss Carmaletta Booth and Mr. Walter Winter were united in bonds of holy matrimony, in the presence of their intimate relatives, after which they were showered with rice and confetti. The bride looked charming in a navy blue suit with hat to match. The groom's gift to the bride was a little grey squirrel choker. After the ceremony they left for Toronto, Hamilton, Niagara Falls, Buffalo, Rochester, Watertown, etc. On their return they will reside at Maple Grove, three miles west of Selby.

Fatal Motor Accident.

On Wednesday afternoon, while coming down Roblin's Hill, a Durant motor car, driven by Charles McDonald, of 416 King street, Kingston, turned over several times, injuring the driver and the other passengers. Jack Holder, of Kingston, was taken at once to the Kingston General Hospital, where he died Thursday morning. The other occupants of the car were Bruce Reid and Arthur Kearns. The injured were rushed to Dr. Hall's office, where their injuries were attended to. An inquest will be opened in the Town Hall, this (Friday) afternoon, at 2 o'clock.

Charles McDonald was driving the car, and is held under arrest at Napanee charged with being in charge of a motor vehicle while intoxicated, and with criminal negligence. It is possible that a more serious charge will also be preferred against him.

Birthday Celebrated.

On Sunday, the 5th of June, four cars of people came from St. Catharines, with well filled baskets, to celebrate Mrs. Jape Gardner's birthday. They also brought lots of lovely flowers, one dozen hot-house roses from her niece, Mrs. B. Blake, that were grand, and such tulips, and other flowers. Mrs. Gardner also received a large number of pretty and useful gifts. The table was set and about twenty-five took supper from a table that fairly groaned under its heavy burden. Mrs. Gardner spent last winter in Walkerville, Ont., returning to Grimsby the last of March. On the afternoon of Easter Sunday there were two cars came from St. Catharines, with eight in one and seven in the other, to greet some Grimsby friends, at the Beamer home, to welcome Mrs. Gardner back. The gathering was a complete surprise to her. Mrs. Gardner has made many friends since she came to Grimsby.

ANNUAL CONVENTION OF RELIGIOUS EDUCATIONAL COUNCIL.

The annual Convention of Religious Education of Council, Richmond Township, was held in St. Andrew's Church, Napanee, last Monday, June 20th, 1927. The convention was opened with singing, after which Rev. Mr. Atkinson led in prayer.

Mr. MacGregor, in an interesting address, welcomed the convention to his home church. He said he felt honored to address a body of Sunday School workers, because he considered the work being done by the Sunday Schools very important, especially among the children in training them for future citizenship.

Mrs. Rev. Balstone, of Selby, made a suitable reply.

Then came the Secretary-Treasurer's report, and a short address from Mr. Brooke, the President of the Township R. C. C.

The report of the Department Superintendents were listened to with marked attention and were of an encouraging nature.

Mrs. Smith, of the Primary Department, suggested using pictures and blackboards to illustrate the truths taught. Also advised having promotion day and using the suggested program.

Mrs. Miller, of the Temperance Department, told us to take Isa. 5:11 for a motto.

Miss Marie Brooks then favored us with a beautiful solo.

The Rev. Dr. Fletcher, who is well known in Napanee and Richmond as an earnest and enthusiastic leader in Sunday School work, then came before the convention. Questions were asked, and Dr. Fletcher answered in his usual concise way. In regard to decision day, the Dr. thought that decisions for Christ should be taken place all the time, and not wait especially for decision day. He advised schools that found difficulty in getting some of the departments started to try other methods, if one failed try another, but everlastingly keep at it. Strongly advocated a Teacher Training Class in every Sunday School. Said he considered it an essential; nothing would tell for God and have the influence that a well trained Sunday-school teacher's Training Class.

The Question Period in the Sunday School.—Rev. Mr. Tanner being absent, Rev. Mr. Woodger supplied for him, and gave a very practical and helpful address, making us feel that the devotion period was most important. He spoke of the difficulties as to old and young meeting together. Did not all think alike; some enjoyed one thing, some another. Then he mentioned some of the essentials, such as: Prayer, Bible study, singing, and, above all, Christ-like service, capitalize silence, to a great good.

The election of officers for the ensuing year was then undertaken. The officers elected are as follows:—

President—Mr. G. H. Brooks, Sharp's Corners.

Vice President—Mr. John C. Hudgin, Selby.

Secretary Treasurer—Mr. Wm. Friskin, Selby.

Primary Work—Mrs. R. J. Smith, Napanee.

Junior Work—Rev. Mr. Woodger, Napanee.

Girls' Work—Mrs. G. H. Brooks, Sharp's Corners.

Young People's Work—Mrs. John Kimmerer.

Adult Work—Mr. W. J. Winter, Selby.

Home Department—Mrs. F. Waddell, Roblin.

Missionary Department—Miss Grace Oliver, Napanee.

Teacher Training Department—Rev. A. J. Wilson, Napanee.

Temperance—Mrs. N. Miller, Napanee.

A Resolution Committee was appointed, the Pastors and the Executive of the Township.

The evening meeting was opened with a song service, followed by prayer by Rev. Mr. Balstone.

On the recommendation of the Nominating Committee, the officers were appointed, after which the Secretary conducted the impressive induction service.

The Resolution Committee expressed its approval of the new type of records used by the various schools by the County Association. It also suggested that a letter of appreciation be sent to Rev. C. J. Wilson for his faithful work in the Association.

A vote of thanks was also moved to the Trustees of St. Andrew's Church for opening the Church to the convention, and to all who had a part in any assisted in making the convention a success.

A duet by the Misses McKim, and a solo by Mrs. Valkman, were much appreciated and enjoyed.

Dr. Fletcher, in his usual earnest manner, gave the address of the evening. He emphasized the fact the home gives the child its religious impressions even in infancy, using the life of Moses as an illustration.

On the other hand, there is a social aspect in the Sunday School that the child does not meet in the home that is necessary. As there are trained teachers to direct the mental activities of the child, and trained physicians to look after his physical welfare, so there should be trained leaders to guide him in spiritual things. Children should be taught their responsibility in giving one of the most important work of the church should be its equipment and equipment for religious training of its youth.

At the close of the meeting, Rev. T. H. P. Anderson announced that a Council, consisting of the Executives of the Township organization, would be held the day previous to the County convention.

The meeting closed with singing and the benediction.

CAIRN TO BE ERECTED TO SIR JOHN A. MACDONALD

Adolphustown Site of Sir John Macdonald's Boyhood Home Now to be Marked by the Dominion Government.

E. H. Scammell, Esq., of the Confederation Jubilee Committee, Ottawa, and Major Pinard, of the Historic Sites and Monuments Board, Ottawa, were in town on Thursday of this week, to take in hand the erection of a cairn, with a suitable inscription, and a bronze plaque over the stone foundation of the John A. Macdonald boyhood home in Adolphustown, on the South shore of Hay Bay. Hugh Macdonald, with his wife and three children, resided there a century ago, shortly after their emigration from Glasgow, Scotland, to Kingston, where after a few years, became their permanent home. From that small frame house on Hay Bay—just across the cove on which still stands the first Methodist Church in Canada—the three Macdonald children, two girls and a boy, with John A. sandwiched between, attended the Adolphustown village school three miles away. The parents kept a country store in one room of their small dwelling, and customers came from both sides of Hay Bay. They actually had a piano—the first in the old U. E. Loyalist settlement—and that jolly home became a rendezvous for the musical people of Adolphustown. There, and at school, John A. always declared he spent the happiest days of his life, romping over the farm-clearings with the husky boys, getting into all kinds of mischief, with an occasional scrap to spoil the Scotch blood. He, too, became a Loyalist in spirit, if not by birth, and made many warm friends who stuck by him in later years when he hung out his shingle as a lawyer in Kingston—then the market-town thirty miles distant, for the whole community.

Now after a century, the Prime Minister of Canada, in this Jubilee year of Confederation, has accepted the suggestion of A. R. Davis, of Toronto, a native of Adolphustown, to erect a memorial at the boyhood home of Sir John Macdonald in Adolphustown, and Sir Wilfrid Laurier at Arthabaska in Quebec.

The Premier has recommended the suggestion of Mr. Davis to the National Committee of the Jubilee Confederation Celebration, Ottawa, and the latter have unanimously resolved to carry out the idea, and the above named gentlemen from Ottawa have taken the matter in hand, by request. Mr. Davis to meet them in Napanee when, joined by Mr. Alfred Wilson, of the Napanee Chamber of Commerce, they motored over to Adolphustown to see the site and to make arrangements for their Government engineer to at once proceed with the work. They then motored to Kingston, continuing to place a bronze plaque on the Macdonald home at No. 162 Rideau St., suitably inscribed. Arrangements will be made also for the other part of the work at Arthabaska, Quebec, of the marking of Sir Wilfrid Laurier's boyhood home.

It is high time that the Government of Canada should take a keen interest in the marking of our many historic sites from coast to coast; and the citizens of the whole Bay of Quinte district will be glad to know that there will soon be an unveiling ceremony at Adolphustown, addressed by prominent speakers, to which, doubtless, all will be welcome and will interest, and plan to attend.

DORLAND

Those who were looking forward to summeries year are disappointed since now, as the present weather is delightful, and crops are looking well. —Three serious accidents occured among the children last week. Betty Allison was very seriously injured on Wednesday, when she ran in front of a car which was passing the school house during the noon hour. Three ribs were broken, besides many cuts and bruises and a very severe nervous shock. Master Jack Robbin was bitten by a dog, and Margaret Allison was kicked by a horse; but all three children are progressing favourably. — Mr. R. G. Foster, of Ottawa, arrived on Saturday to spend a week with his son, F. E. Foster.—Going to Napanee on Saturday evening is becoming something of an adventure. Quite a number from this locality made the trip last Saturday evening, and some report hair-breadth escapes from accidents on the road, while some only returned in time for Sunday morning breakfast.—Rev. J. H. Plant was the guest of Rev. H. Stainton last week, and looked over his new field of labor.

ANTHONY M. RANKIN, FRONTENAC EX-M.P.P., DROPS DEAD IN NAPANEE

During Term in Provincial House Was Able Member of Highways Committee.—Was in his 55th Year.

Anthony McGuin Rankin, former Conservative Member of the Ontario Legislature for Frontenac, dropped dead in A. S. Kimmerly's grocery store, Napanee, about 4 o'clock Tuesday afternoon. Mr. Rankin had been in ill health, for some time.

"Tony" Rankin was born at Collins Bay, seven miles west of Kingston, 54 years ago. His father was the late David J. Rankin, and his ancestors on his maternal side were all United Empire Loyalists. He was educated at Collins Bay and at Kingston, and in 1901 was married to Jean Innis, daughter of Alexander Innis, of Seymour. Mr. Rankin engaged in a coal and milling business.

In his student days at Queen's University, he played football when Guy Curtis captained the team and was a formidable inside wing. As Reeve of Kingston Township for a number of years, he displayed his first interest in the good roads question, which afterwards was to become a hobby with him.

Elected to the Legislature in 1911, he represented the old riding of Frontenac for fifteen years. On December 1st last, with Government Control as the issue, he was defeated by Dr. E. Ming (Liberal) of Napanee, in the recently created constituency of Frontenac-Lennox.

Mr. Rankin was one of the most popular members who ever sat in the Provincial House. As a member of the Highways Committee he was able to contribute to the good of the Province many timely suggestions and ideas which he had conceived in his long study of road problems. He was always genial, and a rarely good forcible speaker. He was a member of the United Church.

The late Mr. Rankin is survived by one son, David J., and one daughter, Marion, at home, as well as by one brother, Dr. W. H. Rankin, a prominent physician of Brooklyn, N.Y., and two sisters, Mrs. R. J. Bushell, Bath Road, and Mrs. J. J. Losee, of Kingston. He wife predeceased him two years ago.

CONFEDERATION CONCERT

The Confederation concert held in the Town Hall, under the auspices of the local chapter of the I. O. D. E., on Monday evening, June 20th, was a wonderful success. Those in charge are to be congratulated on the well-balanced program which they provided, and the Town of Napanee on having such talent within their gates as was heard on Monday night.

The hall was well filled with a most enthusiastic and interested audience. Each one on entering was presented with a small Union Jack as a souvenir. The room had been most artistically decorated with colored electric lights, flowers, flags, the crest of the I. O. D. E. and the motto "Lest We Forget".

Rev. Mr. Tanton acted as chairman in a most pleasing manner. In his opening remarks he referred to the work of the I. O. D. E., and the object for which this program was given. In 1919 they decided to raise $500,000 as a war memorial for educational purposes—to assist the children winning the scholarships whose father had paid the supreme sacrifice, and this in a very small degree try to compensate, and make easier for them the family had sustained. This fund was not fully realized at that time, and the I. O. D. E. felt this year of Jubilee was the fitting time to complete the amount. The first case was a scholarship was a resident of Napanee, Gordon Mayhee.

The program opened with the singing of "O Canada". The writer could not help but feel when listening to the singing of this "National Anthem" (composed by Calixa Lavallee).

Reeve Boyes called the attention of the Council to the fact that the bathing beach was now open, and that someone should be appointed to look after the bathing grounds and see that no degradation took place. Referred to Town Property Committee.

Council Chamber.—Consent of the last issue of debentures had all been disposed of by the Town Treasurer.

Coun. Kimmerly read a communication from the Hon. C. A. Magrath, Chairman Hydro Electric Commission, referring to the increased development of electric power for the province.

A by-law to construct a permanent pavement on Thomas Street, from Bath Road to Centre Streets, was put through its several readings and finally passed.

Permission was given the Victorian Order of Nurses to hold a pavement dance on the evening of July 15th.

The Clerk read a communication from the Board of Commerce, recommending the improvement of Market Square. Also that 3½ more feet of Bridge St. be paved, that is, from the Belleville Road to Robert St., and from East St. to Dundas St. Moved that the communication be filed.

A deputation of property holders waited upon the Council protesting against a permanent pavement being put down on Bridge St., between Robert and West. U. M. Wilson was spokesman for the party. He said that everybody on the street, within the block, with but two exceptions, had voiced their protest against the roadway being paved. The street was in good condition, and they were not looking for it to be raised to the grade of a permanent pavement. Mr. Wilson also presented a petition from Geo. Thompson against a permanent pavement for the Market Square.

The speaker thought an expenditure of $10,000 was not warranted, that the West side of the Market could be graded up and put in good shape for traffic for $1,000. That was all that was needed, and all that the people could afford at the present time.

Mr. C. H. Spencer also spoke in protest against a pavement on the Market Square. It would be a hardship on the property holders on the north side, as they were taxed for the pavement on Bridge street—getting it both ways would be too much of a good thing.

Considerable discussion took place pro and con by members of the Council and others present.

At this juncture Wilfred Wilson handed in a petition from E. Pringle and others, for a permanent pavement on the Market.

The petition was amended to the former motion by Coun. Simpson, seconded by Coun. Dunbar, that a permanent pavement be constructed on the Market Square, and that the required notice be published in the local papers.

Amendment was put on the following division :—

Yeas—Messrs. Simpson and Dunbar.

Nays—Messrs. Boyes, Fitzpatrick, Kimmerly, Jewell, and Roy.

A motion was made that the other portion of streets recommended by the Board of Commerce be paved.

This motion was also defeated.

The following was submitted a resolution, seconded by Coun. Kimmerly, that the Town Council of Napanee petition the Liquor Control Board to open a liquor store in Napanee. The resolution stated that the locating of liquor stores throughout the province, and in places adjacent to Napanee, would vitally affect business interests here if a store were not established in this locality. The motion was put to a vote and carried.

The standing of the Council on this question was as follows:—

Yeas—Messrs. Simpson, Fitzpatrick, Kimmerly and Roy.

Nays—Messrs. Boyes, Dunbar, and Jewell.

BAY OF QUINTE CONFERENCE BRANCH W.M.S.

The second annual meeting of the Bay of Quinte Conference Branch W.M.S. of the United Church of Canada held in Pembroke June 7-9, was attended by upwards of 150 delegates from the five Presbyterials comprising the Conferences, viz., Belleville, Cobourg, Kingston, Lindsay and Renfrew.

The meeting was pervaded from first to last by a spirit of optimism, and the reports of the year's work were most encouraging. It had been a year of alertness, energy and prayerful devotion. Though a time of reconstruction and change, each had undertaken her new duties with surprising cheerfulness and ability, and the results had been very satisfactory.

Mrs. E. J. Corkill, Napanee, reported that supplies had been sent to mission hospitals, homes, and to Indian schools, and to Africa and India.

Mrs. P. S. Jull, Brooklin, said that the Strangers' Department was providing more and more the great need of such a work. There are eleven hundred voluntary workers from coast to coast, with whole-time paid workers at points of entry and centres of distribution of immigrants, carrying cheer to lonely hearts and comforting the sad and discouraged.

Mrs. W. J. Garland, Cobourg, told of thirteen new Mission Bands and seventeen new Baby Bands. There are now 179 Bands with 4,455 members.

The Corresponding Secretary, Mrs. F. R. Edwards, Cannington, reported 316 Auxiliaries, with 13,825 members, and givings of $86,913.39.

The Associate Helpers now number 1,223. Renfrew Presbyterial having 144 such members, reported Mrs. J. W. Wagar, of Centreville.

The very comprehensive financial statement by the Treasurer, Mrs. H. Irvine, Lindsay, showed that the response to the call had been most gratifying.

The Department of Literature, through but newly established, has already done much to further the use of good literature in every Auxiliary, Mrs. John Turner, of Almonte, showed.

The Young People's work was very ably described by Mrs. M. C. McKinnon, of Perth. Miss Templeton, of Belleville, gave a short talk on missionary methods with 'teen-age girls.

A strong plea for more readers of the Missionary Monthly was made by Miss M. A. Beatty, Pembroke. The ideal of every W. M. S. member a subscriber is far from realization.

Christian Stewardship and Finance was carefully explained by Mrs. R. G. Lawlor, Norwood. Three things defined:—acceptance of the Lordship of Christ, acknowledgment and proof (worship and service).

"Publicity" was strongly urged by Mrs. S. E. Revelle, Kingston. "If we are to have the sympathy and help of the public, we must let them know we are doing a work worth while."

The speakers for the meeting were Mrs. John Macgillivray, Toronto, President of the Dominion Board; Mrs. H. A. Lavell, B.A., Kingston, Honorary President of the Board, and Miss Marion Coon, missionary, Kiating, West China.

Mrs. Lavell's subject was "Canada", in this year of Jubilee of Confederation. Miss Coon gave a graphic description of her work in China, while Mrs. Macgillivray's message was one of rejoicing for the work of enthusiasm and devotion which had brought such gratifying results.

(The next annual meeting will be held in Lindsay, 1928.

Officers elected:—President, Mrs. J. T. Daley, Port Hope; Vice Presidents, Mrs. W. H. Ashton, Campbellford; Mrs. R. Barbour, Gore's Landing; Mrs. F. A. Larke, Brockville; Mrs. R. O. Jolliffe, Kingston; Recording Secretary, Mrs. C. A. Callery, Canifton; Corresponding Secretary, Mrs. F. R. Edwards, Cannington; Treasurer, Mrs. H. Irvine, 50 Bond Street, Lindsay; Secretaries, Christian Stewardship and Finance, Mrs. R. G. Lawlor, B.A., Norwood; Strangers, Mrs. P. L. Jull, Brooklin; Supply, Mrs. E. J. SOFTBALL

The Napanee Leafs are looking more like a real ball team at each appearance. The best of it is that they are at last beginning to behave like a ball team rather than a group of nine girls. Four times during their game against the Treasures here last Friday they made plays which would be applauded in any big league stadium.

When they played the Nationals in Newburgh they saw and studied a play which the champions attempted there. True, the Nationals did not work it successfully, but the Leafs watched it closely enough to get the principle of the play, and after a few nights' practice they combined to use it perfectly against the Kingston City champions. With first and third occupied, the runner from first started to steal second. The catcher made a very prominent throw in that direction as if to head off the runner, and the runner from third started for the plate. She would have made it easily if the play had been allowed to go to second, but shortstop came in on the run, interrupted the throw and returned it to catcher who tagged out the runner easily. It was no fluke for the girls have been working at the play for several evenings.

Marion Embury, at second, cut short a threatened rally with a beautiful catch of a hard liner and a fine throw to first for the only double play of the evening, while both Violet Whitton and Dorothy Johnston completely outguessed the Kingston infield in base running. Ruth Dickson is now a very fine outfielder, handling three out of four in a fine manner. The other two regular outfielders were missing from the game, and had they been present the Leafs would likely have had the decision. Their infield after one adjustment was made, was far superior, and their regular outfield will not be excelled anywhere. They outhit their opponents 15 to 8.

This game, which was called at the end of the 8th, on account of darkness, will be continued at the Driving Park on the afternoon of July 1st. That will be the last local appearance of the Leafs before their league schedule opens on July 5th.

They are improving, but they can still improve a lot. Seven errors do not look so well, and tie games will not win championships. Let them continue with the good work of improvement, and let the fans help them along and they will go a long way.

REV. BELL WILL LEAVE LOCAL CHURCH PULPIT

PLYMOUTH CONGREGATIONAL PASTOR GOING TO LADY-SMITH

The Rev. E. Frazer Bell, Sunday morning read his resignation as Pastor of the Plymouth Congregational Church to his congregation, and asked for his release to take effect the latter part of August. He will take the pastorate of the First Congregational Church at Ladysmith.

The Rev. Bell's resignation ends seven years of work in Madison, Wisconsin, as Pastor of the Plymouth Congregational Church, during which time 300 members were taken into the church and a primary department for the Sunday School and a church dining room were placed in the remodelled basement of the building.

During the Rev. Bell's stay here he was President of the Madison Ministerial Association for two years, and, at his own church, organized a Pipe-mouth bowling league with 40 members as well as a baseball league with the same number of members in attendance at the Plymouth religious day school more than tripled during his stay here.

His interest in athletics for members of the church dates from the time he was athletic director in the United Y.M.C.A. at Louisville, Ky., during the World War, before his assumption of the pastorship of a Dubuque, Ia., church. He came to Madison from Dubuque.

The Rev. Bell's college and seminary training was received in Canadian schools.

While the Rev. Bell was working with the men of the church, Mrs. Bell has worked with the young people, and has organized the girls of her Sunday School into a junior choir of 16 members. The choir recently sang at the district conference of the church.

Mr. Bell at one time lived in Camden, and graduated from Newburgh Academy in 1900.

GREEN FEED FOR DAIRY CATTLE

(Experimental Farms Note)

The farmer who expects to run a dairy herd successfully must plan for an adequate supply of green feed to carry his cows from the time the pastures begin to fail until real winter feeding begins. This is a critical period and if he allows his cows to fall either in flesh or in milk production, he cannot expect profitable returns for his labour.

At the Experimental Farm, Nappan, sufficient green feed is supplied to carry the milking herd from about the twentieth of July until the pastures are done and they are stabled for the winter, which would be about the last week in October. The number of days which it will be necessary to feed green feed will, of course, vary from year to year, but to be on the safe side one must figure on about one hundred days, and it will take at least twenty pounds per cow per day. The man with ten cows would then require ten tons of green feed, and to be sure of having enough he should plan on having an excess over and above what he actually thinks he will need. On average soil, two acres should yield sufficient for these requirements. The crop which we have found most satisfactory is a mixture of oats, peas and vetches, seeded at the rate of one and one-half bushels of oats, one bushel of peas and one-half bushel of vetches per acre. There are other crops which might prove satisfactory, but taking one year with another, the above crop can be depended upon to give a satisfactory yield of succulent and nutritious fodder.

OBITUARY

Mrs. Don. Fitzpatrick.

Estella Denison, only daughter of James and Cora Sills Denison, was born in Richmond Township just west of Selby, in 1901, and died in the Kingston General Hospital, Sunday, June 12th, 1927. After her mother's death she remained at home until in the fall of 1922 she married Don. Fitzpatrick of Selby. From very early childhood she was a member of the Methodist Church, and all her life a member of and greatly interested in the Sunday School. At the time of her death she was a member of the Young women's Bible Class. She was very fond of music and at different times was the pianist of the Sunday School and Young People's League, and often supplying for the church services. Her interests were, however, not at all confined to these two organizations, but was also an active member of the W.M.S. and W.C.T.U. She was of a bright and cheerful disposition, and the very large attendance at her funeral, which was held in the United Church at Selby, on Tuesday, June 14th, was both an expression of sympathy for the members of the family and of deep affection for the deceased. The funeral was conducted by her Pastor, Rev. Jas. Batstone, assisted by a former Pastor, Rev. T. H. P. Anderson. Very appropriately her Pastor referred to her work in the Sunday School and League. She leaves to mourn her death, her husband, Don Fitzpatrick; her father, James Dennison; Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Denison, of Toronto, and Merril Denison, of Selby. The interment was in Riverside cemetery Napanee.

Prohibition Union Executive Oppose Action of Town Council

At a meeting of the Prohibition Union Executive, held Tuesday morning in Napanee, the action of the Town Council in petitioning for a Liquor Store in Napanee was discussed and the following statement was ordered to be issued to the local press:

1. We consider the action of the Council to be a reflection upon our citizens, as only one other Council in Ontario (Deseronto) has passed a motion asking for a Liquor Store.

2. That in view of the absence of one member of the Council the vote was only Four to Three in favour of the motion, and it is questionable whether it represents even the opinion of the Town Council.

3. We consider the business of the Council is to represent the views of the majority of our citizens, and again and again the citizens of Napanee have declared themselves in favour of Prohibition.

4. We heartily commend the action of Reeve Boyce and Councillors Jewell and Dunbar in opposing this resolution, thus representing a majority of the citizens of Napanee.

5. We further recommend the organization of Citizens' League for the purpose of selecting and electing candidates for Town Council who shall worthily represent the views of the citizens of Napanee.

OBITUARY.

Mrs. Donald Fitzpatrick.

There passed away at Kingston General Hospital, on June 13th, in her 28th year, one of Selby's most popular and highly respected citizens in the person of the late Mrs. Donald Fitzpatrick, who before her marriage about four years ago, was Stella Denison, only daughter of Mr. James and the late Mrs. James Denison, who passed away seven years ago.

While in failing health for many months, and in spite of the best of loving care and most skilful medical treatment, she came with characteristic promptness, having passed away at 2 a.m. on the above mentioned date, with a faith firmly fixed on all that is eternal.

The late Mrs. Fitzpatrick was a young woman of a lovable, cheerful and Christian character, having gained many friends by her winning ways and kindly interest in everyone. Although deceased had been in failing health for many months, she never complained, just remarked that "I would like to live a while longer, but if I can't everything is all right".

The late Mrs. Fitzpatrick was a staunch member of the United Church at Selby, and was a ready helper and willing worker in all its various departments. Being gifted with outstanding musical talents, her services were much sought after and were always cheerfully given.

In all the branches of the church she will be greatly missed, but especially will she be missed in the home, where she was a perfect housekeeper, a loving wife and an ideal hostess.

The funeral which was largely attended, was held in the United Church at Selby, conducted by her Pastor, Mr. Batstone, and former Pastor, Mr. Anderson, after which the remains were laid to rest in Riverside cemetery beneath a bed of flowers which she dearly loved.

The heartfelt sympathy of the entire community goes out to the sorrowing young husband, father and brothers, in their darkest hour, and our most ernest hope is that a loving Father will comfort and sustain them in this their irreparable loss.

Wellington Edmond Bell.

Wellington Edmond Bell, late of Madison, Wisconsin, passed away at the home of his brother, Mr. E. Frazer Bell, on Saturday, June 18th, aged 56 years.

He was born in Camden, Addington County, on March 14th, 1871, the second son of the late Aylsworth P. Bell and Theresa Breault Bell.

He leaves behind one son, Edward Frazer Bell, Jr., of Venice, California; three brothers, Elwell B. Bell, of Belleville, Ont.; Rev. E. Frazer Bell, of Madison, Wis., and Rev. Aylsworth B. Bell, of Rochester, N.Y.; and two sisters, Mrs. George Campsall of Young, Sask., and Mrs. E. J. May, of Moose Jaw, Sask.

Deceased died of bronchial pneumonia. His wife predeceased him eight years ago. For the past two and one-half years he has made his home with his brother, Frazer, in Madison.

Funeral services were conducted at 2 o'clock Monday, June 20th, in Madison, the Rev. Robbins W. Barstow, D.D., officiating. Burial at Forest Hill cemetery, Madison.

Mr. Bell has been a member of the Methodist Church for many years, and while he lived a quiet life, he was a good Christian man, honest and honorable. At one time he was captain of the 4th Hussars of Addington, and was a good soldier.

Mrs. D. A. Nesbitt.

After a prolonged illness there passed away at the Kingston General Hospital, on June 15th, 1927, Rachel Anne Lynes, widow of the late D. A. Nesbitt, B.A., I.P.S., Napanee, Ont.

While a resident of Kingston only just a few years, she was greatly beloved by all who knew her.

She is survived by two sons, Dr. H. A. Nesbitt, Lindsay, and Dr. P. L. of Ottawa; four daughters, Mrs. F. D. Farley and Miss Pearl Nesbitt, Kingston; Miss Mary C, of Toronto, and Miss Constance E. New York City. Also two brothers, Mr. A. Lynes, Moose Jaw, Sask., and Dr. J. B. Lynes, Savanna, Ill.

The funeral service, which was private, was held at the home of her son-in-law, Mr. F. R. Farley, Johnson St., Thursday, at 11 a.m., and was conducted by Rev. Dr. Brown, of Sydenham Street Church.

The remains were taken by C. N. R. to the family plot, Lindsay, Ont., for interment.

AN APPRECIATION

Late John Gordanier.

Again Morven has been called upon to mourn the loss of another of its widely known and highly respected citizens, by the death of Mr. John Gordanier, which took place very suddenly and unexpectedly, on Tuesday morning of May 17th, 1927, at his home in Morven.

Mr. J. Gordanier was the son of Mr. and Mrs. William Gordanier, and was born in Morven, and with the exception of a few years, has always lived in the Morven community.

On April 5th, 1883, he was married to Miss Anna Eliza Bell, the wisdom of his choice was evidenced by the most happy character of their union, and the unfailing devotion to each other during the many years of their married life. He was an enterprising, efficient, and prosperous farmer, but above all, he was a true man in all his business transactions, and the confidence of his fellow citizens in his straightforwardness, ability, and honesty, have been shown at different times by giving his positions of trust in local affairs, and certainly "happy is the man who enjoys his fellow's trust". We are therefore glad that Ernesting Gordanier has had the benefit of his life-long service and helpful contributions in its affairs. Not only was he valued as one of our outstanding citizens, but also as one, whose life and work counted much for the church. He was converted to the Lord Jesus Christ early in life, and has continued in the Faith, serving the Methodist and United Church for about fifty years, rendering during that half century earnest and valuable service in various departments of the church work.

For many years he has been Secretary of the—Brick Church Trustee Board, and has helped as Envelope Steward. For several years served very efficiently as Recording Steward for the Official Board of the Morven Circuit, retiring from that position in 1914. But following the re-arrangement of the present Morven Circuit, he was appointed Circuit Treasurer of the Official Board in August, 1922, and continued to serve in that capacity until the time of his death. He always proved himself to be a willing helper whether the tasks were hard or easy, short or long, he could be depended upon to render great help. Thus during his lifetime devotion to the Church of his choice, he has well earned the confidence and esteem of all who knew him. He proved himself to be a true Christian man of a quiet, unassuming and very modest disposition, adorning his faith with humility and zeal for what he considered right and just. Careful to give his church his moral and financial support, diligent to attend the Worship of God his Saviour; and looking forward to that better land into which he was quietly ushered, as he passed to his eternal rest on Tuesday, May 17th. He will be greatly missed by loved ones who remain, also by the large circle of friends and fellow members of his church, but we sorrow not as those who have no hope.

The funeral service was held in the White Church on Thursday, May 19th, where a large congregation gathered to sympathize and mingle their tears, also to pay their tribute of honor and respect to his memory.

He leaves to mourn, his only son, Ernest; two sisters, of Napanee, Mrs. H. V. Fralick and Miss M. Gordanier.

CONFEDERATION AND AFTER

SIXTY YEARS OF PROGRESS

CANADIAN RED CROSS

The activities of the Red Cross for soldiers did not end with the Armistice The need of some line of action to correct the conditions responsible for the large number of unfit men of military age discovered in Canada resulted in the arrangement of a Peace-Time program of work. So, in addition to its loving Father will comfort and sustain them in this their irreparable loss. disabled soldiers confined in hospitals and comforts and extras are distributed to relieve the monotony of hospital life. The soldier fretting over his family or his business finds a sympathetic friend in the Red Cross visitor, who leaves nothing undone to relieve the worry. Red Cross convalescent Homes and sheltered workshops, as well as parcels of comforts and necessities for himself and family give the soldier settler and the unemployed, not only valuable aid but the assurance that his services to the Empire are not without appreciation.

That health education may be properly and permanently taught to fewer than one hundred and thirty-eight thousand school children are enrolled in over five thousand class rooms under the banner of the Junior Red Cross, pledged to its program of health, service to others and good citizenship.

Over five thousand crippled children have been restored to health as a result of the pennies saved by our schoolmates. The Juniors of Alberta and Saskatchewan have established a children's hospital in their respective provinces. Under this branch Red Cross fresh air cottages and baby clinics are doing good work.

Health education among the adults takes the form of Home Nursing classes nearly twelve thousand women and girls have been instructed in the elements of nursing and the principles of healthy living and hygiene in the home.

Through the medium of its Outpost hospitals and nursing stations the Red Cross provides skilled professional service in unorganized areas. Last year two thousand one hundred and thirty-eight patients were nursed, seven hundred and forty-three of these being confinement cases, most of whom would otherwise have been unattended. There are thirty-nine Outpost Hospitals, but if funds were forthcoming many more would be in operation.

In the Red Cross Seaport nurseries at Quebec, St. John and Halifax the immigrant mothers and children are given rest and refreshment on their arrival. Last year thirty thousand new Canadians were thus welcomed and given advice and assistance. In this connection twelve thousand families were kept in touch with by means of follow-up cards.

The Red Cross is always in readiness to aid towns and villages burned to the ground and areas swept by forest fires and cyclones.

The Society encourages the training and employment of Public Health Nurses and strives to promote the observance of rules for the prevention of disease. It also publishes and distributes health literature.

CONWAY WOMEN'S INSTITUTE

From June 6th to 17th, Conway Women's Institute held, in the Parish Hall, Sandhurst, a very pleasant and profitable sewing course, under the able management of Miss Ralston, of Hamilton. There were fourteen members in the class, with an average attendance of twelve. Thirteen dresses were completed, and still more to finish, while seven others were brought in by members for Miss Ralston's criticism and advice. On these dresses Miss Ralston made alterations and suggestions. She taught many practical things to help the home dressmaker and general seamstress and finished with a touch of the fancy in the way of silk flowers, both soft and wired. This closed what was pronounced a most agreeable and successful sewing course, and now we are anticipating a course along another line in the near future.

Gained in Health And in Weight

Now Gives All the Credit to Dr. Williams' Pink Pills.

When a young girl becomes pale, complains of exhaustion at the least exertion, has dizzy spells, headaches or stomach trouble, she should know that these are some of the many symptoms of anaemia, which means that her blood is thin and weak. In such conditions there is the most urgent need for a tonic that will promptly restore the missing qualities to the blood and thus bring back health and strength. For this purpose there is no tonic can equal Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. Thousands of weak and ailing girls have found new health and happiness through this medicine. Miss Gladys Vansickle, Kentville, N.S., used this treatment successfully and says:—"I cannot praise Dr. Williams' Pink Pills too highly for what they have done me. I was in a very poor condition, suffered from severe headaches and nervousness. My appetite was poor, and very little exertion would leave me tired out. On the advice of a friend I decided to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and in a few weeks I began to feel better. My appetite improved, and the headaches were less frequent. I continued the use of the pills until I had taken six boxes, by which time I felt as well as ever, and I gained in weight from 98 pounds to 114 pounds. For this reason I advise all weak girls to try this medicine."

Try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for anaemia, rheumatism, neuralgia, nervousness and stomach trouble. Take them as a tonic and cultivate a resistance that will keep you well and strong. You can get these pills through any medicine dealer or by mail at 50c a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Both the vocalists were indignant, for each considered herself superior to the other, and now someone had said that their talents were equally divided.

So an eminent professor of music was asked to give his opinion, the vocalists agreeing to abide by his decision.

After hearing them, the master turned to one:

"Miss Rena," he said, "you are the worst singer I ever heard!"

Then, exclaimed the other triumphantly, "I am better than she is".

"Pardon me, Miss Rita," interrupted the professor suavely, "you can't sing at all!"

Buying only small stocks enables the small-town merchant to carry the novelties and new styles people are looking for — on which the margin of profit is greater than on staple lines. Hand-to-mouth buying keeps down the capital investment, and additional quantities or odd sizes can always be ordered by Long Distance.

Thanks to this method of conducting business retailers have never been able to show as many up-to-date styles as now.

By using Long Distance the wide-awake small-town merchant with his low overhead expense can make his store the buying headquarters for a large surrounding territory.

WISE AND OTHERWISE

Two is company—until they become one, then it seems more like a crowd.

Why some wives don't complain of their husbands is because they're not worth mentioning.

You must admit that this constant talk about women's clothes is a lot of fuss about practically nothing.

Most of the splinters in the banister of life are unnoticed until we begin to slide down.

Paring a corn is both risky and ineffective. It is much better to use Holloway's Corn Remover and eradicate them entirely.

Another of last week's police court applicants said he had not spoken to his wife for three years. We presume he was too polite to interrupt.

Mrs.—"You know, Edward, I speak as I think."

Mr.—"Yes, and probably a little more."

The student who admitted in court last week that he had drunk two quarts of champagne is specializing in fizziology.

"Now be a good little girl," said Peggy's father as he was leaving the house the other morning.

"And don't what?" added the youngster, giving him a quizzical look.

Complete in itself, Mother Graves' Worm Exterminator does not require the assistance of any other medicine to make it effective. It does not fail to do its work.

Mrs. Ferguson—"You are a wonderful husband—there is no doubt about that. But what would you be now if it weren't for my money?"

Mr. Ferguson—"A bachelor."

Odd-job Lady (to mistress)—"I put my husband always wants a front seat."

"Miss does, too, at the Follies, but a rear seat is good enough for him in church."

It Testifies for Itself.—Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil needs no testimonial of its powers other than itself. Whatever tries it for coughs or colds, for cuts or contusions, for sprains or burns, for pains in the limbs or body, will soon know that the medicine proves itself and needs no character. This shows why that Oil is in general use.

Farmer—"Samanthy, do you want me to bring you anything from the city to-day?"

His Wife—"Yes, Si; you might bring me a few jars of that traffic jam I see advertised in the papers."

A woman at Enfield said that after her husband had threatened to blow out her brains, he gave her some money and told her to go and buy him a revolver.

Magistrate.—"Did you?"

Woman.—"The shops were shut."

Mothers Value This Oil. — Mothers who know how suddenly croup may seize their children and how necessary prompt action is in applying relief, always keep at hand a supply of Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil, because experience has taught them that this is an excellent preparation for the treatment of this ailment. And they are wise, for its various uses render it a valuable medicine.

A man was standing disconsolately on a station platform. On being asked by a friend why he looked so miserable, he replied, "I've missed my train—and by half a minute."

"Good heavens!" said his friend. "Cheer up! Anyone would think, to look at you, you had missed it by half an hour."

Help for Asthma. Neglect gives asthma a great advantage. The trouble once it has secured a foothold, fastens its grip on the bronchial passages tenaciously. Dr. J. D. Kellogg's Asthma Remedy is daily benefiting cases of asthma of long standing. Years of suffering, however, might have been prevented had the remedy been tried when the trouble was in its first stages. Do not neglect asthma, but use this preparation at once.

Second Litigant—"Oh, I'll be there."

First Litigant—"I'll follow you to the Supreme Court."

Second Litigant—"Oh, I'll be there, too."

Second Litigant—"Well, ih that case my lawyer will be there."

EXPECTANT MOTHERS

Chatham, Ontario.—"I want to tell you how much good your medicine has done me. Before my baby came I felt so weak and run-down that I could hardly do my work. My head ached continually and I felt as dizzy as I could be. I had another baby last year and a half old and it gave me a lot to do. So I thought I would try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, as I had read so much about it in the little book. I found a difference right away as my head was relieved and my tired feelings gone. My sister had been doing my washing and she continued doing it, as she said it helped me so much. I started to do it again. It sure did help me, and I had taken just two bottles when my baby came. He is a fine big boy, now nearly five months old. I am taking your medicine again and I am able to do my work all by myself now. I always recommend the Vegetable Compound to women, and especially to expectant mothers, as I believe they need help at those times."—Mrs. OLIVER MENARD, 24 Harvey St., Chatham, Ontario. C

Weeds—a menace

Neglect is the friend of weeds. Neglect is responsible for the alarming spread of this pest in Ontario. Weeds now take an annual toll of at least five million dollars out of the wealth of the province.

The Department of Agriculture asks for united, active co-operation to exterminate weeds on every farm, highway, lane and waste space in town and country. Destroy weeds wherever found, as often as necessary to prevent their going to seed.

Write for bulletin No. 88, "Weeds of Ontario".

WARNING

Under the provisions of The Weed Control Act 1927, now in force, the destruction of noxious weeds is no longer optional. The destruction of noxious weeds is now compulsory.

Every occupant of land and every owner of unoccupied land is required to destroy all noxious weeds before their seeds ripen. Municipal councils are required to destroy all noxious weeds growing upon the highways. Let everyone co-operate to end the weed nuisance.

Today's Useful Hint on Jam and Jelly Making

—By Elizabeth Palmer—

Once you have tried the new short-boil method of making jams and jellies with Certo, you will discard the old, uncertain way as out of date piece of kitchen drudgery.

Certo gives a pure, fruit product—the jellying principle of fruit refined and bottled.

Certo jams and jellies jell perfectly—just the right firm every time—never a failure. They taste better, because they are fresher, delicious, fresh flavor of the fruit is not boiled away. They look prettier, because you preserve the bright, natural color. You can boil again more jam or jelly from the fruit because you save the pectin which used to boil away.

A book of nearly one hundred recipes for delicious jams, jellies and marmalades comes with each bottle of Certo. Even if you are not an experienced cook, you can make perfect jams and jellies every time the Certo way.

Send for this new (free) booklet.

SIXTY YEARS OF PROGRESS

CANADA'S FUEL PROBLEM

At the time of Confederation Canada had no fuel problem. Every farm had a wood lot and forests skirted the towns and cities. Wood was almost the universal fuel and it could be obtained at very low cost. Wood is now about the least economical fuel. "King Coal" has usurped the place of the monarchs of the forest.

Canada possesses one-sixth of the world's supply of coal but the areas of production are so distributed that she is forced to import over half her annual supply.

The coal industry of Vancouver Island has to face the competition of cheap oil fuel from California, Mexico and Peru. Alberta needs to extend her markets so as to absorb the production she is capable of making. New Brunswick faces the problem of how best to mine her thin seams; in Nova Scotia there are problems of markets and submarine mining.

The greatest problem is connected with our imports of coal into the coalless area of Central Canada, and the most urgent phase of this is to secure a substitute for about 5,000,000 tons of anthracite imported from the United States, and to this problem the Fuel Board is giving special attention. There are several reasons for this, among the most important being:—(1) The certainty of the ultimate exhaustion of the American anthracite supply; (2) possibility of an embargo against export; (3) rising prices; (4) the fact that Canada cannot control supply, price, or quality of this coal.

The danger of Canada's dependence on American anthracite was emphasized by the strike in the United States coal fields in 1922. Manufacturing industries were jeopardized and hardships endured by people generally. A substitute was a necessity for the imported anthracite. Attention was turned to the production of coke. In 1923 the consumption of coke in Ontario and Quebec was 275,000 tons; in 1925 this has risen to 667,000 tons. At the last session of the Federal Parliament a Bill was introduced providing a subsidy applicable to the erection of by-product coking plant. This measure had a dual purpose—to assist the Canadian mining industry and to relieve the fuel situation in the industrial areas. If 70 per cent of Canadian coal is used the manufacturer is entitled to the full subsidy but if less than 50 per cent no subsidy is paid.

There would be no fuel problem if our coal fields were situated near our industrial centres, but unfortunately they are in the far east and far west, whereas our great centres of population and industry are in Ontario and Quebec. To meet this situation the question is so to adjust freight rates that the eastern and western coal can reach central Canada at a price that will enable it to compete with the United States product.

The coal situation would have been more acute had it not been for the development of the water-powers. In 1913 the consumption of coal was 4.2 tons per capita; in 1926, only 3.5. During this period population increased about 25 per cent, but the installed turbine water-power 170 per cent. It would require 27,000,000 tons of coal to do the work done by the 4,556,000 turbine horse-power installed at the end of 1926.

Coke and "white coal" will go far to solve the fuel problem and free the Dominion from dependence on the United States mine operators.

Why Torture The Little Ones

Mothers, do you think it fair to torture your little ones by forcing them to take ill-tasting oils when they need a laxative medicine? Don't you find that the child's dread of these medicines often do more harm than good? Baby's Own Tablets are a modern substitute for these nauseous doses. They are a purely medicine the child requires and so pleasant to take that they are as easy to administer in a glass of water. They are the perfect remedy for all the minor ailments of little ones, being absolutely guaranteed from injurious drugs.

Baby's Own Tablets accomplish all that castor oil and other bad-tasting remedies can do. In fact they accomplish more as they do not leave the child exhausted from its struggle against taking medicine. They relieve teething pains, banish indigestion and constipation, break up colds and simple fevers and promote healthful, refreshing sleep. They are sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

A man was leading a very woebegone horse along a road. On arriving at an inn he went in to have a drink, first asking a small boy to mind the horse for a few minutes.

Hardly had he begun to drink when the boy rushed in, crying: "You horse has fallen down."

The man went outside and gazed at the animal, which was lying half asleep in the road. Then he turned to the boy and said, angrily, "You little wretch, you must have been leaning against it."

In all infantile complaints that are the result of the depredations of worms in the stomach and intestines Miller's Worm Powders will be found an effective remedy. They attack the cause of these troubles, and by expelling the worms from the organs insure an orderly working of the system, without which the child cannot maintain its strength or thrive. These powders mean health and improvement.

SHIPS THAT SAIL THE SEVEN SEAS
SHIPS of all nations meet in the ports of British Columbia, where the harbors are open all year. Great ocean-going boats carry the products of British Columbia's forests, mines, farms and fisheries over the seven seas to Japan, China, New Zealand, Australia, India, Africa, South America, Great Britain and the ports of Europe.
British Columbia, with its great natural resources, is capable of sustaining a happy, prosperous population of twenty million people. In 1926 its forests produced lumber to the value of $82,000,000; pulp and paper valued at $18,000,000; agricultural products, $70,000,000; manufactured products, $430,000,000; yet there are but 560,000 people in this province participating in the prosperity and helping in its development. Truly a land of opportunity for men and women possessing initiative, energy and ambition!
Plan a trip to British Columbia. See its magnificent snow-clad mountains, its beautiful mountain lakes and turbulent streams; its great trees 10 to 60 feet in circumference; and, the mighty Pacific in its many moods.
More than one million tourists came in 1926 and went away proclaiming "Canada's Evergreen Play ground" as the scenic wonderland of the world. Plan to come this summer—it is a trip you will never forget. Mail coupon for detailed information.

BATH PASTORAL CHARGE

One of the finest entertainments ever enjoyed in Beulah United Church was offered by the Salvation Band of Kingston, on Thursday night of last week. It was clear from the opening number throughout the entire program, that reverence for the House of God governed the selection of every item rendered. The instrumental music was interspersed with splendid vocal choruses, and the entire entertainment was balanced and pleasing. Rev. Mr. Ross spoke in eulogistic terms of the program, and is trying to negotiate with the Band for more socials on his charge. Refreshments were served by the Ladies' Aid in the dining hall of the church to the pleasure of the people who were present. The Salvation Army Band of Kingston will always be welcome to Bath Pastoral Charge of the United Church.

WEDDING BELLS

Holland—Bell.

On Wednesday, June 1st, 1927, a wedding was quietly solemnized in the Victoria Avenue Anglican Church, Belleville, when the Rev. George Marshall, Rector, united in marriage Jessie Frances, third daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Bell, to Russell Norman, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Holland, Yarker. The bride was attended by her sister, Miss Georgia Bell, while Mr. Russell Grass, of Napanee, supported the groom. The young couple, who will reside in Yarker, were the recipients of a large number of handsome and valuable gifts, testifying to their popularity.

The following are clippings taken from the Belleville Daily Intelligencer:—

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Rose were the hosts on Friday evening of a charming miscellaneous shower given in honor of Mr. and Mrs. R. N. Holland, the bride formerly Miss Jessie Bell. The home presented a charming appearance with its pretty decorations of blue and white, finished with a huge white bell, under which the bride received and opened the many lovely gifts. Although quite unaware before hand of the intended presentation Mrs. Holland made a graceful address, thanking all for their kindness and thoughtfulness. The evening was spent in games and music and dainty refreshments were served at a late hour, after which the guests formed a circle about the bride and groom, and sang "For They Are Jolly Good Fellows". The happy evening broke up about midnight.

Mrs. Holland was the guest of honor at a meeting of Lydia Lodge, No. 356, L.O.B.A., on Thursday evening, when she was presented with a beautiful salad bowl, as a token of the organization's regret at her leaving the city. Ice cream and cake were served, after which all departed, wishing her every future happiness and prosperity."

A miscellaneous shower was also held in the bride's honor by the members of the Benevolent Society. About twenty-five close friends attended this function, and the bride received a miscellaneous array of useful presents. During the evening a very tasty luncheon was served, and the delicacies were highly enjoyed by the partakers.

"Mrs. Holland was also feted by the Sunday School members of the Victoria Avenue Church, and by The Canadian Departmental Store, of which she was an employee."

EBENEZER W. M. S.

The monthly meeting of the Ebenezer W.M.S. was held at the home of Mrs. W. J. Sexsmith, on Wednesday, June 15th, 1927, with a goodly attendance. The President, Mrs. W. G. Jenkins, occupied the chair. The meeting opened with Hymn 81, followed by the prayer in May's Missionary Monthly, led by the President. Roll call answered by a Bible verse. Devotional leaflet, "Faith and Its Obstacles", read by Mrs. Jas. Whiteman. Hymn 91. Scripture reading, Matt. 14: 25-36, read by Mrs. S. W. Smith. We were then favored by a solo by Miss Maysel Whiteman, Mrs. Jas. Whiteman and Miss Bessie Mastin. Papers on "New Days in Old India", were then read by Mrs. E. I. Anderson, Miss Maysel Whiteman and Mrs. Walter Scott. Collection was then taken. Business of the meeting. Hymn 95. The meeting was closed by the "Apostles Creed" being repeated in unison by the members and visitors, after which a social half-hour was spent, during which the hostess served an excellent lunch.

Mrs. S. W. Smith,
Press Secretary.

Mr. Netram, interpreter and companion of Dr. E. Now vast audiences listen breathless to the message of the Cross. What has wrought the change? Missionaries. Christians have lived among us. Henceforth all the emphasis is on the life. There is no other challenge but that which is given us by one of India's great ones, 'How shall I find Jesus? Show me how to find Him.' That was my challenge.

For countless ministries of healing, truth implanted in school and college, the widespread publishing of the Gospel, we thank God. Lord, Our Father, Thou who knowest the hearts of all, make us worthy of the great work to which Thou hast called us. And in the midst of our busy days recall us to Thyself, that in quietness and confidence we may drink deeply of the living water. O Thou who willest that all men should come to a knowledge of the truth as it is in Jesus Christ, bless those who labour in distant lands and in the home lands, those of our own country, bringing the glad news to waiting people. May all Thy people grow in love to Thee, our common Father, and so bring in the reign of brotherhood and peace. For Thy name's sake, Amen.

Religious Education Council of Camden and Sheffield

The annual convention of The Religious Education Council of Camden and Sheffield was held in Yarker United Church on Thursday, June 23rd, with the President in the chair, Rev. Mr. Parcells, Mr. Mackenzie to lead the devotional exercises.

Next came the President's address. While Mr. Purcell's address was brief, yet it was crowded full of facts and suggestions. In speaking of the importance of the work, he showed us that the important question of the present day is "What kind of citizens will we have?". This is preventative, taking the children before they go astray and inspiring them with a vision of God. It is corrective also, reaching out after those who have wandered into sin. It is also instructive, that we may love the Lord our God with all our heart, mind, soul and strength. While the building of character is the greatest task on earth with greatest results, yet the President deplored the lack of workers.

Then the Secretary, Mr. G. A. Wagar, gave his report, which was very encouraging, showing some advance in all departments, with an enrollment of 967 scholars.

The Superintendents of Departments' reports were mostly brief. Mrs. Martin showed that the Sunday Schools were taking an active interest in missions. Mrs. (Rev.) Anderson reported from the Temperance work, the scholars where the Teachers' Training Course had been studied.

The Round Table discussion conducted by Rev. Dr. Pletcher, of Oshawa. The Art of Religious Education and How to Secure Co-operation" We need to have a gathering of S. S. workers to talk over the matter, showing wherein success had been won, and also to find a solution for difficulties. There are a number of fundamental considerations. Are we as enthused over our job as to dignify it by making it a speciality, having the building attractive, bright, comfortable and tidy. Money is needed in religious education more than in farming and manufactures and medicine. Yet many churches are spending more money on caretakers than they are on Religious Education. To make a success of Religious Education all the officers and teachers must recognize the importance of the task and have building clean, bright and attractive with comfortable and appropriate accommodation. Plan and preparation is needed by Superintendent and teachers. The lack of teachers can only be supplied by having Teacher Training courses. It takes as much grains and preparation to teach religion as mathematics.

The question was asked "How to retain and interest teen age boys?" Mr. Fletcher said we must challenge them. We believe in the work to prepare themselves. The Overland Car Co. at Toronto advertised for help. At the appointed hour fifty young men were at the door in line. The foreman appeared with the statement: "All those who thoroughly understand 'Ignition' step out of the line". One young man above requirements, a license or "Instruction Permit" will be issued, good for 60 days, which will permit the holder to operate motor vehicles when accompanied by a licensed driver. This permit will then be exchanged for a regular operator's license when the holder passing the required examination.

Mr. J. M. Graham, of Napanee, has been appointed as examiner under this Act for those persons who require an examination.

Operator's licenses for motorcycles must be obtained direct from Motor Vehicles Branch, Toronto.

FAREWELL TO REV. W. R. AND MRS. TANTON.

Last Sunday evening the congregations of St. Andrew's and Grace United Churches united with Trinity Church in bidding farewell to Rev. W. R. Tanton. The church was filled to overflowing. Mr. Tanton was assisted by Rev. W. P. Woodger, minister of Grace Church, who read a telegram he had received from Rev. A. J. Wilson, of St. Andrew's, who wired greetings and farewell from New York as he was about to sail for Europe. Mr. Tanton, in a very fine message, reviewed some of the great truths he had tried to preach during his four years' ministry. He referred particularly to the mission of the church, and the sufficiency of Jesus for individual, community and world salvation. Mr. Tanton leaves a large number of friends in all the churches, and the United Church in Napanee, particularly, feels a great loss in his going.

On Monday evening, the congregation of Trinity United Church met to give a loving farewell to their Pastor and his wife. After a few hymns were sung, Mr. J. E. Robinson, Recording Steward, expressed on behalf of the Board of the Church, their sincere appreciation of Mr. Tanton's ministry, and of his fine manhood, and of the helpmate qualities of Mrs. Tanton. He then called on Mr. Vanderwoort to speak for the Church Bible Study group, and Mr. Chas. Hart for the Young People's Department of the Church. These both spoke of the contribution their Pastor had made, and of their lasting indebtedness. Rev. W. P. Woodger, of Grace Church, was then invited to speak for the congregation assembled. Being asked to be present and of an opportunity of speaking. He characterized the ministry in two classes, those who preach a Churchianity, and those who preach a Christianity. Mr. Tanton, he said, belonged to the latter class, and practiced what he preached. He was sorry to lose the presence of his friend, but expressed every hope for a pleasant pastorate in Cobourg. These speeches were interspersed by instrumental and vocal music given by Misses Lenore Black, Betty Armitage and Catherine Baird and Mrs. F. Smith. Then Messrs. Limbert Graham and Alpine Woods and Mr. and Mrs. Tanton were called to the platform, and Mr. Woods read the following address, and Mr. Graham presented a cheque on behalf of the congregation.

Napanee, June 27th, 1927.

Rev. W. R. and Mrs. Tanton.

The congregation of Trinity United Church, on the eve of your departure for a new field of labor, wish to formally express their appreciation of your work since coming among us.

Four years ago you were strangers to the most of us, but to-night you are our friends. During your pastorate, the affairs of Trinity Church have prospered financially, socially, intellectually and spiritually.

Financially, the claims on the church have been met, and the debt reduced. Socially, the needs of the young people have been recognized and in some measure provided for. Intellectually the scholarship of the pulpit has had its effect, and spiritually, the one great reason for the existence of the church has been stressed. The messages from the mount have been given clearly and courageous. Little has been said of creeds, but the dominant note has been the life and teaching, "The Man of Galilee", and you have practiced what you have preached.

In Mrs. Tanton, the women's organizations and the Sunday School have had an efficient worker, and the hospitality of the Parsonage will long be remembered.

In leaving Napanee, you both carry with you the best wishes of not only this congregation, but of the citizens generally. We will follow your course through life with interest, and will always be glad to hear of your success. Our homes will always be open to you, and we shall seek to preserve the happy relationship that exists between yourselves and this congregation.

We ask you to accept this purse as a small token of our esteem, and with it our best wishes for your success in your new field.

Signed on behalf of the Church:

ALPINE WOODS
Chairman Property Committee.
J. E. ROBINSON,
Recording Steward.
ANNA WOODS,
President Ladies' Aid.
ALMA THOMPSON,
President W.M.S.
C. L. GRAHAM,
Superintendent Sunday School.

Mr. Tanton then, on behalf of his wife as well as himself, expressed his appreciation of all the kind things said, and the wonderfully fine fellowship they had all had together, and of the co-operation that had been so much appreciated.

The Ladies' Aid then served ice cream and cake, and the congregation was dismissed with the singing of "God Be With You Till We Meet Again."

Mrs. Tanton was also the recipient of an address and silver cake tray by the Ready Helpers S. S. Class, and the W.M.S. at a Thank-Offering tea made her a life member and presented her with a diploma. Last Tuesday night, at the "Eastern Star" Lodge meeting, she was also given a silver teapot and a basket of roses.

Mr. Tanton was presented with a leather key-tainer and bill-tainer by the "Endeavour Class" at a social evening last Friday, and at the Rotary Club of which he was a charter member and its 1st Vice President, on Tuesday, after a very fine address of appreciation made by Mr. Wilfrid S. Wilson, he was given a desk fountain pen and stand as a token of their affection and regard.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Tanton leave Napanee with the best wishes of the whole community for their future welfare and happiness.

ALEXANDER CAMPBELL

By Allan R. Davis.

The following is a biography taken from the "Annual Report of the Association of Ontario Land Surveyors".

Alexander Campbell was admitted as a Deputy Provincial Surveyor on September 20th, 1830. He was then a member of the Municipal Council of the Township of Adolphustown. Henry Davis, grandfather of the present writer, who had married Campbell's sister, Sarah, was then Town Clerk; and both of their fathers had sat in that same Council since its organization in 1792. Those earliest records of municipal organization in Ontario are still preserved, and disclose some important facts, as for instance: "Water voted no fence; pigs not to run till three months old, and then to wear yokes 18 inches by 24; no person to set brush or stubble on fire without taking two Freeholders with him under the penalty of forty shillings; fences are to be 4 feet 8 inches high; the weed called Thistle, should be crushed in its growth, and the Pathmasters are to be the judges." These are but a few of the Prudential Laws which were passed from year to year, and were strictly enforced and scrupulously observed.

Alexander Campbell, grandfather of the surveyor, was one of the first United Empire Loyalists, of the Peter VanAlstine company, to land in Adolphustown on that memorable 18th of June, 1784, fresh from the Revolutionary War. This active Scot helped to organize Fourth Town, which later became known as Adolphustown; and after holding a place in the Council for several years, gave place to his son, Archibald, the surveyor's father. One of the daughters of the original Campbell married Thomas G. Ridout, Surveyor-General of Toronto, the father of that fervent U. E. Loyalist descendant, the late Lady Edgar, whose son, Professor Pelham Edgar, is a well known citizen of Toronto.

Surveyor Alexander Campbell was born about the year 1800 on the family homestead, and had two brothers, John and Archibald, and several sisters. John married Jane Hoyck, of Adolphustown, and they moved to Marysville, in Hastings County, where they reared a large family, one of whom, Archibald, now 90 years old, still resides on his father's farm, but all the rest of his brothers and sisters are gone, as well as two sons and one daughter. His youngest daughter, Mrs. James Topping, still remains at Marysville. A granddaughter, Miss Carolyn Campbell, a teacher in Toronto, spends her vacations with her grandfather on the farm.

Surveyor Campbell's other brother, Archibald, married Mary Valleau, of Adolphustown, where both lived and died at a ripe age, leaving no family. A sister, Phoebe, married John Bogart, of Adolphustown, and they reared a large family, one of whom, Gilbert, succeeded Surveyor Campbell as Postmaster at Napanee. Another sister, Ellen, married Mr. MacHenry, of Napanee, who reared a family of three children, one of whom, Donald, became a prominent teacher in the high schools of the province. A sister, Lanah, became Mrs. Maybee, of Hastings County, but no family survives. The other sister, Sarah, who married Henry Davis, on the opposite side of Hay Bay, raised a family of eight sons and one daughter, some of whom left large families, and many descendants remain.

Surveyor Campbell married the widowed mother of Mr. John Taylor, a prominent citizen of Belleville for many years, who recently passed away. Possessing keen business ability, this alert Surveyor, unlike most of his profession, used the latter as a hobby, while he made money in the mercantile life, as a builder, as Postmaster of Napanee, and as the proprietor of a local newspaper. He erected a beautiful stone residence for his family on the Napanee River, opposite the town. He built the leading hotel the town has ever had, known as the Campbell House, and still in active use. He made surveys in the Napanee district, particularly on the Selby Road leading northerly from the town, and becoming one of the chief arteries connecting with the vast timber areas stretching far into the back country.

Mr. and Mrs. Campbell had four children, two sons and two daughters. One of the latter, Jane Ann, married William Pralick, Napanee, and the issue of this marriage was one son and two daughters, all of whom grew up and were married in the Napanee district. The other daughter, Mary, became Mrs. Dorland Pruyn, whose husband was deputy sheriff at Napanee for many years. A daughter lived but a few years. One son, Alex. Pruyn, was the other issue of this marriage, and he, in recent years, after burying his parents in the Taylor plot at Belleville, married Nelle Cummins, of Nevada, Missouri, and they now reside in Los Angeles, California, where Mr. Pruyn is in business. The two sons of Surveyor Campbell were Alex. and Thomas, who did not remain at home after growing up, but went to the mining districts of the United States. The former died in Napanee about 1876; and the latter, who left a wife, died in Virginia City, Nevada, leaving no issue.

Surveyor Alexander Campbell was about fifty-two years of age at the time of his death. He and Mrs. Campbell are buried in the family plot in the Napanee cemetery, where one of their sons is buried, and also the Pruyn granddaughter. Two daughters of the Pralick family, Mrs. Thomas Huffman and Mrs. John Anderson, survive, and are residing in Seattle, Washington.

Mr. Campbell made three surveys for the Government in Upper Canada:—

Resurvey Township Seymour—1832.
Lots 28-31, Thurlow for Indians — 1835.
Concession line four and five, Fredericksburg—1836.

A teacher had given his class an object lesson on the beetle, and asked if anyone could give him a description of the insect.

For a few minutes there was silence.

"Come now, boys," said the teacher, "think, when you are asleep and in bed, what is the black object comes in the dead of night crawling along the passage and creeping gradually up the stairs?"

"I know, sir," said a little boy. "That's my father."

CONFEDERATION AND AFTER

SIXTY YEARS OF PROGRESS

THE ROYAL MILITARY COLLEGE OF CANADA

Through Confederation new burdens were laid upon Canada. Up to 1870 British regulars stationed in different parts of British North America served as centres for the education of militia officers. In 1870 and 1871 the regulars, with the exception of small garrisons at the naval bases of Halifax and Esquimalt, were removed and the Dominion lost its source of military education. The Canadian Permanent Force came into being in 1871 and training schools were established in connection with it. These were wholly inadequate, and there was no provision for the training of officers for higher command, as a result the militia rapidly deteriorated. The conduct of the militia was subjected to severe criticism and British officers with the force in Canada urged the need of higher military training.

The question was taken up by the press and later was the subject of warm debate in the House of Commons, and in 1876 the Government, of which the Hon. Alexander Mackenzie was leader, passed an Act of Parliament establishing a military college. According to this Act the institution was established "for the purpose of imparting a complete education in all branches of military tactics, fortification, engineering, and general knowledge in subjects connected with, and necessary for, a thorough knowledge in the military profession and for qualifying officers for command and staff appointments." The college opened its doors on June 1, 1876, with eighteen Gentlemen Cadets in attendance.

The peninsula, fronting Kingston, Ontario, was selected as the site for the new institution and the first classes were held in the old "Stone Frigate", which had been used as a military training-school during the War of 1812.

The first commandant was Major (afterwards Lieutenant-General) E. Y. O. Hewett, who had had wide experience both as a soldier and as an educator. He established the institution on a sound basis, inspired the cadets with a love of their profession and gave the college its motto—"Truth, Duty, Valour."

The Royal Military College received its first real test in 1885. At the time of the Riel Rebellion the cadets, as a body, volunteered for active service in the field. Thirty-seven saw service with the expeditionary force, four of whom were wounded. At this time only eighty-eight graduates had left the college, and between twenty and thirty of these were in the Imperial Army.

Between 1878 and 1908 cadets of the Royal Military College were with the Imperials in about forty military expeditions in every hole and corner of Africa and Asia. Seventy-four graduates were on service in South Africa during the Boer War (1899-1901). Twenty-five of these were with the Imperial Army. Seven were killed in action or died of wounds.

The great value of the institution was realized during the World War. Over nine hundred graduates and ex-cadets served in the war, three were commanders of the original Canadian Divisions, one was awarded the Victoria Cross and three others, killed in action, were recommended for it. They paid a heavy toll for Empire, about two hundred and fifty being killed.

The Royal Military College has been a great bond of Empire. Yearly, graduates joined the Imperials, and as military officers, educators, and engineers have made their influence felt in every part of the broadly scattered Empire.

"My dear fellow, where are you going at this time of the night?"
"I am house hunting."
"What for?"
"I am hunting for my own house."

THE ROYAL FARMER.

Prince of Wales Acquires Farm at Lenton, Near Nottingham.

A great deal of interest has been aroused among Midland farmers by the news that the Prince of Wales has acquired a farm at Lenton, near Nottingham, England, says Answers. A portion of the prince's famous herd of Shorthorns is to be transferred to the new farm from Cornwall.

Lenton has associations with the early days of the Shorthorns, and in the middle of last century the Lenton herd was one of the finest in the country.

The Shorthorn, which is one of the most useful breeds of cattle known, is of British origin, but it has now spread all over the world. A great part in the development of the breed was played by Wilkinson, of Lenton, and those interested in stock-raising are looking forward to possible fresh progress as a result of the return of part of the prince's herd to one of the original homes of their race.

Some idea of the high esteem in which the Shorthorn is held may be gained from the fact that 2,500 guineas was paid at Birmingham the other day for a bull destined for Argentina.

Apart from the interest which the prince's new farm has to stock breeders, people in the Midlands generally welcome his acquisition of Lenton. The sportsmen and farmers of the district already know his Royal Highness in the hunting-field, and they are looking forward to his being more frequently in their midst in future.

ARCHERY GOOD EXERCISE.

Try It and See How Your Love for the Bow Grows.

The bow and arrow may be out of fashion, but they are not yet nearly dead.

A great lover of archery has been arguing with boys, and girls who know nothing about it. He explains that there is no joy equal to watching the flight of an arrow as it sings on its way to the mark, or even to a near hit. Try it, he says, and see how your love for the bow grows.

It takes muscular exertion to use it. You furnish not only direction, but accuracy and force also depend on you. There are few muscles that are not exercised when using the bow. It broadens and straightens your shoulders, strengthens your wrists, improves your sight, steadies your nerves, and in very fast and deed makes you a better man physically and a better sportsman. There is no exercise on earth, this archer says, which is its equal in developing coordination of mind, hand, muscle and eye.

Some men play archery golf. Instead of holes they have targets set up at intervals, with sacks stuffed with straw to be shot at.

Changing a Name

By OTILLIA F. PFEIFFER

(©, 1926, Western Newspaper Union.)

He was a man of strange temperament, cherishing a hobby purely individual which centered about a name fully as strange and uncommon—Ian Ssaar.

Having acquired a competence and a social and business position at the age of fifty that was unassailable, Ssaar was actuated by two predominating characteristics—pride and exclusiveness.

Until a few days before the present Ssaar had conceived the proud satisfaction that nowhere in the great city, nowhere country wide was there another human being who bore his name. But now poison had come into the cup of his triumphant assurance, there was fly in the ointment! Lo, and behold! After years of seeming and confidence a sharer in his fame, his haughtiness, his whimsical love of being different from his fellow beings had appeared—Miss Winifred Ssaar of Weston, an obscure little Iowa town.

The discovery had nettled and then disgruntled him. Somehow it had been pleasing to him to know that he was the last, the only living descendant of Bruno Ssar, a noted explorer.

He was seated in his sumptuous library watching the clock, and there was impatience and the suspense of an unfulfilled purpose in his restless eyes. He started up as a servant ushered his expected visitor into the room.

"Been waiting for you, Alstyne," hailed the master of the mansion relievedly. "Something special and particular. Sit down."

His caller was a young man he had known for several years and greatly liked. Hugh Alstyne had a free-and-easy manner, as if he did not worry much, but intelligence was manifest in his really handsome face.

"I hope it's something to keep me busy for a while," said Alstyne, indolently reposing in the arms of a capacious rocker. "I've given up commercial reporting and I don't want to go back to the law."

"You are right," nodded Ssaar, "there is some travel, a difficulty to be overcome, and some policy and knowledge of human nature to be exerted. To begin with, you know how I value and treasure my name. By a mere chance I yesterday ran across it as borne by another healthy specimen."

"Odd, isn't it," remarked Alstyne, "I suppose you had ransacked all genealogy to be sure that you couldn't be classed with the Browns, Smiths and Robinsons."

"I thought I had," returned Ssaar, palpably perturbed. "I have never known of the remotest branch of the Ssaar family in this country, yet—there you are."

Ssaar pushed across the table a small publication, a sectional magazine published at an Iowa county seat. It was evidently the production of some ambitious editor who catered solely to neighborhood clientele, and was mildly and crudely a potpourri of miscellaneous poetry, sketches and farm interests. Its front page was taken up with a poem entitled "At Twilight," readable, really meritorious. A few brief lines under the name of the writer, Winifred Ssaar, welcomed "a new and shining literary star to our galaxy of writers. Miss Ssaar being besides well known in educational circles."

"H'm! quite melodious," commented Alstyne. "Some pretty ideas and well expressed. A striving amateur, I infer. What of it?"

"To be squelched!" announced Ssaar with spirit and definiteness, "at once and effectually. Can't you see she has broken into writing? How soon may not her name be blazoned wide? My name! It is made common and ordinary. I want you to go to Weston where this young lady lives. You may have to bribe the editor to refuse further contributions; you may have to buy her off. You can draw on me for any amount, but relegate this poetical young lady back to obscurity in some way."

"Willing to kill budding genius, are you, just to suit a caprice?" suggested Alstyne satirically.

"Don't debate it," replied Ssaar. "Reach the matter delicately, only retire that name. Are you equal to the task?"

"You have employed me in a number of little commissions," said Alstyne, "harder than this one. You are willing to make up to this young lady in money for what she loses in literary enjoyment?"

"That's it, make it a commercial transaction if that is the only way out. I allow you free swing."

Hugh Alstyne was highly successful in his enterprise. He went down to Weston to find Miss Winifred Ssaar, an orphan school teacher, lovely and gentle beyond compare. He claimed to be enraptured with her poems, made a contract to buy enough to fill a volume to be published under a nom de plume. Some new thoughts had been inspired in his mind by association of the writer "At Twilight." Then he went back to report to his employer.

"Once you suggested starting me out in an independent business career that I would steady down and attend to it," he said.

"That's right," nodded Ssaar. "What has that got to do with this Miss Winifred Ssaar?"

"Just this," replied the wise and love inspired Alstyne, "I shall be glad to obliterate her name by marrying her. Then you will have the field all to yourself."

JULY ROD AND GUN

Full of stories of interest to all sportsmen, Rod and Gun and Canadian Silver Fox News for July has just been issued. Among the many breezy stories of outdoor life is a very fine salmon fishing story by A. Bryan Williams, a well known British Columbia authority. Another interesting feature is the first of a short series of unusual stories of Canadian wanderings by Robert James, appearing under the general title of "Tales from the Wardroom Mess".

Samuel Alexander White contributes another of his fine stories of the old Northwest fur trade rivalry, "The Gantlet Runners". Bonnycastle Dale, well known outdoor author, writes of trout fishing in the Tabusintac River, N.B.

The regular departments, "Guns and Ammunition" and "Fishing Notes" contain some very interesting reading matter with reference to their special branches of sport, and "Kennel", under the editorship of C. G. Hopton, contains many notes of great interest to the fancy.

Houses of Cork.

Among the great number of new houses required for men to work the new Kent (England) coalfield are some that are being built on a novel plan.

The walls are six inches thick apart from the inner ½-inch coating of plaster. The outer three inches are of concrete, while next to the plaster are two inches of compressed cinder, called breese. Between the concrete and the breese is one inch of compressed cork! The whole is built solidly about a steel frame, the cork taking the place of the usual airspace in the wall.

The cork, being a non-conductor of heat, keeps the heat in during winter and keeps it out in summer, and those already in occupation are proving very comfortable on that account. Over a hundred have been built during the past twelve months, and 300 more are under construction.

WEDDING BELLS

Parks—Harrison.

A very pretty wedding took place on Wednesday, June 22nd, 1927, at Mr. N. E. Parks', Hay Bay, when their only daughter, Minnie Amelia, was united in marriage to Rev. Richard Bruce Harrison, B.A., of Lakefield. Rev. Mr. Merriam performed the ceremony, in the presence of twenty-five guests, who were the immediate relatives and friends of the bride and groom.

At one o'clock the bride entered the drawing room on the arm of her father, to the strains of the wedding march played by Miss Myrtle Harrison, sister of the groom, under an arch of evergreens, trimmed with white satin ribbon and a white wedding bell, the bride, in her ivory gown of crepe, with veil and bouquet of ophelia roses, made a pretty picture. The bridesmaid, Miss Olive Russell, wore a chic gown of mauve georgette, and also carried a bouquet of ophelia roses. The groom was supported by Mr. Frank Parks, brother of the bride.

The house was decorated with ferns, evergreens and sweetheart roses. After congratulations, a dainty buffet luncheon was served by the Misses Evelyn and Marjorie Parks, Vivian Bunner and Dorothy Spragett, cousins and friends of the bride. The groom's gift to the bride was a pair of binoculars; to the bridesmaid a gold bar pin with amethyst setting, and, a bar pin to the pianist; to the best man a gold pen knife.

Amidst showers of confetti and good wishes the happy couple left by motor for Beverley Lake, where they will spend a honeymoon camping. The bride travelled in French two-tone suit of sand and brown with hat and shoes to match and a maize silk Paris blouse.

The latter part of July they are leaving for England, where they will spend two weeks before going to Portugal to study the Portugese language previous to taking up their duties on the mission field at Dondu, Africa.

The bride was the recipient of many beautiful gifts. The groom's and bride's parents gave them substantial checks. Before leaving Whitby Ladies' College, the bride, who was a most successful teacher there, was given a dozen sterling silver teaspoons by the staff and teachers.

GOLF.

NAPANEE WINS THE BAY OF QUINTE CUP

Under the present practice the holders of the district golf cup are determined by a one day play-off tournament, and this year this was held on Wednesday last over the course of the Picton Golf Club. Each of the four clubs, belonging to the Association, Trenton, Belleville Golf, and Napanee, sent teams of eight to Picton, and the result of the draw brought Napanee and Picton together in the morning, with the following result :—

The Captains of our Club were particularly gratified at the good showing made by these junior players, two never having played over Picton course before. The morning game had quite a spectacular finish, when Laurie Douglas, the last player to come in and whose game Napanee needed for a win, placed his approach shot from off the green within two inches of the hole, thereby winning the hole and the game for the Club. In the afternoon game Carson Graham played a difficult shot from the bank off the home green to within two feet of the hole and made the putt to win his game and bring the cup to Napanee.

The visiting players were entertained to lunch at the Club House by the members of the Picton Ladies' Golf Club, and to dinner down town by the men of the Picton Club.

After dinner the annual meeting of the Bay of Quinte Golf Association was held, Mr. J. W. Robinson, the President, acting as Chairman. The officers appointed for the coming year are :—

Mr. Jas. Hepburn—President.
Mr. W. J. Wiggins—Secretary.

The committee to arrange for the tournament to be played next year will consist as usual of the President, Secretary, and Captains of the four Clubs.

Weak, Listless Girls

Need Such a Tonic as Dr. Williams' Pink Pills to Restore Health.

When a girl in her teens becomes pale and sallow, especially if at the same time she shows inclination to tire easily, a listlessness and inattention to her work or studies, she needs Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, a tonic which directly and specifically corrects the condition from which she is suffering. A chemical analysis of the blood of such a girl would show it to be deficient in just the elements Dr. Williams' Pink Pills can supply. But an analysis of the blood is not needed—the physical signs are plain. Among these signs are a pallor of the cheeks and lips, dark circles under the eyes, easily tired and breathless after slight exertion. Poor appetite, headaches, and sometimes fainting spells follow, often the patient is nervous and is startled at the least noise. In all run-down conditions there is no other tonic will build you up so quickly and so surely as Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. The statement of Miss Dorothy Lushbin, Bush Island, N.S., will bring hope to other weak girls. She says:—"I wish from my heart I could persuade every person who is in a run-down condition to use Dr. Williams' Pink Pills a trial. About a year ago I was a weak girl suffering from impoverished blood and a run-down system, with many of the attendant symptoms. I had often heard of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and, decided to take them, and after using six boxes I feel as well and strong as ever. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills will be my standby in the future if ever my blood needs building up again, and I shall always find pleasure in recommending them to others."

You can get these pills from your druggist, or by mail at 50 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

A Fair Penitent

By SAIDEE E. BALCOM

(Copyright, Western Newspaper Union.)

"A model young man, brainy, kind to everybody makes friends wherever he goes," spoke Ames Purvin heartily.

"Alas! too many," silently decided Rita Dwight, his niece.

Newspaper writer and author, Wilfred Dayton had done some brilliant things in a literary way. Socially he was regarded as the life of a group where young spirits needed an inspiration and a leader. Rita had met him half a dozen times and on each occasion experienced a growing preference for him. That he was attracted by her his words and activities plainly showed. The demand upon his time and attention by other fair damsels, however, was viewed disconsolately by pretty Rita.

There was a lawn party at her uncle's home, where two young ladies who were relatives of a leading member of the set were particularly singled out by Dayton for marked attentions. His sociality in giving them a good time had quite made Rita uncomfortable, almost cross, and she had drawn aside from the merry laughing group to a secluded garden covert. Dayton passed by with a gentleman friend.

"I say Dayton," observed the latter, "which of the two new beauties has made an impression on you, for both seemed to positively charm you."

"Mistake," retorted Dayton lightly. "It was my part to see that, being strangers, they must never chide us for inhospitality. My interest in the direction of a real attachment was centered weeks ago."

Suddenly the sun seemed to shine its brightest and Rita's clouded face grew serene. Weeks ago? That tallied with their acquaintance. Could he be alluding to her?

After that, Rita returned to the others and scattered her bright smiles promiscuously, but awarded the fondest ones to Dayton, who basked in the sunlight of her favor and was glad. His handclasp was a trifle more intense than usual when he took her good night. Going into the house Rita found her brother Herbert, aged ten, curled up in a chair in the library engrossed in devouring some typewritten pages. By his side on the floor was a portfolio, open.

"Why, Herbert! what are you ever about?" she challenged him.

"But Mr. Dayton may not like that," reprimanded Rita. "You do not wish to be bold and intrusive, do you?"

Reluctantly the lad surrendered the screed he had appropriated and went grumblingly from the room. In replacing the papers Rita dropped the portfolio and its contents poured forth. Four photographs caused her eyes to dilate. They were counterfeit presentments of as many especially lovely young ladies. She seemed to cease breathing as a packet of perfumed notes met her gaze. They were addressed to "My Darling Boy," "Sweet Honey," or "My Beloved," and signed "Your Kitten, Fay," "Only One, Dolly," "Your Truest and Fondest Mabel." Each note was a cushingly irrational mixture of love terms.

"Like all of them, but who can blame him, he is so attractive and handsome," half sobbed Rita. "A confirmed flirt. Oh, how I have overestimated him, but—"

The dainty pink fingers tore at a ribbon as if their owner was lavishing the susceptible hearts of Fay, and Dolly, and Mabel. Then a sense of womanly power influenced Rita to decide upon a desperate course of action so far as Wilfred Dayton was concerned. He should suffer, indeed, for causing her this heartache.

For a week after that her chosen friends were amazed at a new reckless boldness that Rita displayed. She turned fun and frolic into an apparent quest for human hearts to fascinate. She flirted outrageously always when Dayton was present, and he began to look hurt and serious, and then failed to put in an appearance at functions where Rita was present.

She sent the portfolio to his address by a messenger, unaccompanied by any note of explanation. She herself retired from social festivities. She had lost the only man she loved and was wretched and heartbroken.

One day she had a visitor whose appearance, for she was the sister of Dayton, reopened the wound that had caused Rita such pain.

"Wilfred is ill," said Miss Dayton soberly, "and I think your coldness towards him has something to do with it. Have you had any misunderstanding?"

Rita was ready for tears and they came. She could not help her unlocked her heart. She was shocked, indignant when, after she had recited the unfaithfulness of the culprit in having half a dozen loves, Myrtle Dayton burst into a laugh that seemed cruel mockery.

"Oh, you little simpleton!" she cried. "Why, those pictures and notes were given by the police to Wilfred to write a story on. They were found on an adventurer who cut a wide swath in society in another city. I shall send Wilfred to you at once, and he will want to come."

A fit penitent, Rita Dwight received him with downcast eyes and humble mien. But Wilfred Dayton did not chide her. He simply told her how he loved her.

OLD FOLK-LORE REMEDIES.

Does the Sting of a Bee Really Cure Rheumatism?

Scientists have started experiments to ascertain whether old folk-lore remedies contain anything of importance to medical science.

Questions such as: Does the sting of a bee really cure or alleviate rheumatism?—Does a spider's bite improve the blood?—Will insects' ethics relieve kidney ailments?—and other legends common in many parts of the country are to be investigated.

Fifty students of a homeopathic college will form human test tubes in which poisons will be tried. The tests will continue for six months, and will cover a vast range of subjects.

Fluid from bees' stings, poison from spiders, and substances which make certain plants irritating or give supposed medicinal properties have been made into tiny capsules.

The students were lined up, one evening and fifty capsules were produced. Twenty-five contained only milk, and the remainder were composed of assorted poisons. Each student took a capsule, not knowing whether it was milk or poison, and the observation began immediately.

Doctors examined the tubes' respiration, and kneecap reactions. They made and recorded all kinds of psychological and medical tests. The process will be repeated over a number of weeks, and the doses of the various types of poisons will be changed from time to time.

Physicians expect to know at the end of six months whether there is any truth in the legends. They pointed out during a discussion of possibilities that before vaccination was introduced milkmaids were considered to be immune from smallpox, which scientists now say was due to immunity given by the cow.

AVOIDED AN OPERATION
Mrs. Dayman Gives Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound the Credit
Colborne, Ontario.—"When I was first married I was very thin and weak, the doctor said I was weak and could never be cured to have a child but I did, and from the time I suffered all the pain and doctored for nine months I took medicine. Life became a burden, and doctors said an operation could help me, but my husband was opposed to that. I had heard of Lydia E. Pinkham's medicine advertised, so I told my husband that I thought I would try it, that I might get some relief. I had not taken one bottle when I could feel it helping me. I took five bottles and had better health. Now I have three girls and a boy and have done my work up to confinement. I am now at the Change of Life and owe my good health to Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I take a bottle when I think I need it."—Mrs. Susan Dayman, R. R. No. 5, Colborne, Ontario.

MAGIC BAKING POWDER

Loaning a Lover

By RALPH HAMILTON

(©, 1926, Western Newspaper Union.)

It was to be the event of Madge Leslie's life, long anticipated two weeks' sojourn at Orchard Lake, and it was like a drenching with ice cold water when Beatrice Ward came to her home and announced a change in her plans.

"At the last moment I find I cannot accompany the party," said Beatrice. "That must make no difference with you, however, dear. I have seen the Norton girls and their mother had arranged everything admirably. All is provided for, even an escort for you. Of course we planned to have my brother, Walter, as your especial chevalier, but he is going with our family to Point Aldro. We have been invited there by my mother's friend, the rich one in the family, and it wouldn't be policy to cross the wishes of a relative with half a million."

The intimation of mercenary interest jarred upon Madge like a discordant note. True or false at soul, Beatrice Ward never allowed anything to ruffle her outwardly. Inexperienced Madge had taken her at surface indications, never surmising that in the depths of that calculating nature lurked ambition and self interest solely.

The lake party was to have originally included Mrs. Norton, who was to act as chaperone, her two daughters, Nellie and Blanche, and Beatrice and Walter Ward, and Alison Deane, the fiance of Beatrice. Two young men friends of his were to come to the lake to make the occasion interesting for Nellie and Blanche.

"My dear," pursued Beatrice, "I am going to loan you a lover. I have spoken to Alison, and he seems only too glad to be your knight errant. In fact, his willingness is scarcely a compliment to my reputed arts of fascination. Modest little woodland flower that you are, he seems to value you as beyond the average flighty and resentment girls of our set," at which Madge flushed profusely, for she liked Alison Deane greatly.

Alison Deane won something more than the friendly regard of Madge by his most courteous and delicate attentions, and she marveled why he so constantly sought her company and really seemed to enjoy it after having known the flashing, brilliant Beatrice. One morning, after the arrival of the party at the lake, Madge and Nellie were seated on a rustic bench near some garden shrubbery when the latter made the remark:

"I suppose you hear pretty often from Beatrice?"

"She wrote me only once, on her arrival at Point Aldro," replied Madge in a tone that expressed disappointment.

"Then I have some news for you," rattled on Nellie, eclipsed as she received a letter this morning and Beatrice appears to be having the time of her life. She enclosed a newspaper clipping describing a high social function where she was the admired one of all present. I'll consider her name with that of Marvin Drury, son of one of the wealthiest men in the city, and just listen what Beatrice says about it."

Nellie unfolded the missive in question and began to read: "Of course you have heard of Marvin Drury, and the newspaper allusion has some foundation. It is not often that a one season debutante like myself carries off the palm ahead of all rivals, and Marvin has given me a ring and sends flowers daily, and if it comes to breaking the news to Mr. Deane a little later, do it gently, for he has helped me put in the time very agreeably. That's all ever now—"

"Oh, Nellie!" suddenly gasped Madge, and astounded her companion by hastily placing her hand over the letter. "See, there is Mr. Deane, and he must have heard what you read."

He was not in evidence the rest of that afternoon. Madge was so shocked at the apparent perfidy of Beatrice, so sorrowful to realize the terrible blow its discovery must be to Deane that she was unhappy all the rest of the day.

She was duly amazed as Deane appeared swinging along jauntily and actually whistling a gay tune. He espied her and came toward her, nothing of the anticipated despair of a grief racked lover in his face or actions.

"Oh, Mr. Deane!" thundered Madge in a broken tone, "Beatrice—"

"Yes," said Deane, and smiled. "Fortunately I overheard what Nellie read. I went to town to telegraph my faithful love that was."

"That was," voiced Madge, aghast. "Exactly. My lady confirms the letter. I am glad to know that I am free," and his tone grew tender, and he clasped her hand. "Don't you understand that the lover she loaned you as I have been really did retain you for keeps, if you will only consent? Long ago I realized that Beatrice had more of ambition than love in her nature, and her latest action has proven that I was right. Think as well as you can of her, trustful, innocent treasure that you are, but find a lasting place in your tender heart for me, if you believe me worthy of it."

And the eyes of Madge suddenly opened to the fact that back of her sympathy and interest, there had been and for some time, a deeper love than first day that Alison Deane was "loaned" to her as a lover.

SPINDLE TUBER, A DESTRUCTIVE DISEASE OF POTATOES

(Experimental Farms Note)

Poor tuber shape in potatoes is attributed to several causes, among which, are climatic and soil conditions, as well as natural varietal characteristics. Recognizing the effect of these conditions upon the shape of the potato tuber, there remains another cause which is of a more serious nature and though of comparatively recent recognition in certain potato growing areas of the Dominion, is proving an important limiting factor in potato production. The latter is due to a disease known as spindle tuber, which in common with mosaic and leaf roll causes a "running out" which progresses more or less steadily from season to season until the affected strain finally becomes unproductive. Experiments conducted at the Plant Pathological Laboratory, Fredericton, N.B., revealed that this disease reduced the yield in certain Green Mountain and Irish Cobbler strains tested, 9 per cent and 14 per cent the first season, and 39 per cent and 36 per cent the second season, respectively. The symptoms of the disease appear on both vines and tubers, those on the latter being more conspicuous. Affected vines present a staring upright appearance and are frequently a darker green color than healthy vines. The leaves are smaller, more erect and in advanced stages of the disease their surfaces may appear quite uneven or rugose. Tubers from diseased plants are abnormally spindling, long, cylindrical, smooth, with irregular outline and pointed at either the seed or stem end. The eyes are more numerous, larger and shallower than those occurring in healthy tubers and cases have been observed where the eyes were very conspicuous on the brow protruding considerably above the tuber surface. The disease is spread in the field by the agency of aphids or plant lice, and the cause of the same is still unknown. The loss from the disease is of a two-fold character—it reduces the yield and by virtue of the fact of producing abnormally shaped tubers, injures the market quality of the stock. Every effort should be put forth by growers finding this destructive disease in their potatoes, to eliminate the same, lest it should become a serious menace to the potato growing industry. The following control measures are recommended: (1) The use of disease-free seed for planting purposes. (2) Proper isolation of the seed field from other potato fields harbouring the disease. (3) Thorough rogueing of the seed field throughout the growing season.

HANDLING CLAY SOILS

(Experimental Farms Note)

In the proper handling of clay soils adequate drainage must be provided, late summer or fall ploughing should be practised and the land must be worked only when it is dry enough not to puddle. For maintaining the fertility of clay, the liberal use of manure, the inclusion of legume crops in the farm rotation and, in some cases, the application of dressings of superphosphate (acid phosphate) are desirable practices. Cereals and hay crops are especially well adapted to these fine-textured soils.

While the ability to determine the optimum moisture content for ploughing and other working of clay soil is largely a matter of experience, some farmers follow the rule of ploughing when the soil is still moist enough to be moulded in the hand, but sufficiently free from excess moisture to crumble easily when the moulded ball is struck. For the control of weeds, summer ploughings of clay soil are advisable, followed by frequent working until late fall. Narrow lands with open well-cleaned furrows 30 to 40 feet apart, will provide surface drainage where underdrainage is unwarranted. Many clay farms, however, have wet areas where tile-drainage would be profitable. Clay soils are often deficient in organic matter and if manure is not available in liberal amounts, the ploughing under occasionally of a second crop of clover will increase their organic matter content. A broadcast dressing of 200 to 300 pounds of superphosphate per acre just before sowing cereal crops usually results in a profitable increase in the yields of the cereals and of the clover crops which follow. The fine roots of such crops as grasses, clovers and cereals are able to make their way into the most dence clays and take advantage of the large water-holding capacity of these soils. Alfalfa is also a very desirable crop for clay soil which has good natural or artificial drainage.

Further information on the management of clay soils, as well as that of other types, may be obtained by writing to the Publications Branch, Department of Agriculture, Ottawa, for a copy of Bulletin 72, New Series, on "Crop Rotations and Soil Management for Eastern Canada".

The proprietor of a certain local newspaper recently published a paragraph to the effect that his cook had bought half-a-pound of pepper at a grocer's, and, when analysed, the pepper was found to contain 50 per cent dust.

The proprietor added that if the guilty grocer did not send him immediately half-a-pound of pure pepper he would publish his name in the paper.

The next day seven grocers sent the specified amount of pure pepper to the newspaper office.

Care of the Flower Garden.

Do not allow weeds or grass to grow in the perennial or annual borders. One thorough weeding at this time will probably be sufficient to allow the flowers to make full growth which will crowd out a second crop of weeds. To obtain a finished appearance, trim the grass at the edge of the borders with a sharp knife. Low growing edging plants, such as Alyssum, will be improved by shearing off fading bloom. In a few days these will start sending out a fresh supply of buds. Supply trellis work or pergola for rambler roses, Clematis, and similar vines at the back and sides of the border. Some of the taller flowers, such as Delphiniums, Hollyhocks, Zinnias, Cosmos and Dahlias will need to be supported by stakes driven in behind them. If these are stained brown or green, they will blend very nicely with the surrounding foliage.

Late Vegetables.

If for some reason or other there have been no vegetables planted yet, there is still time if one is willing to spend a little extra care to get a crop. As a matter of fact, the bulk of our growth takes place during July. Corn, Beets, Beans, Carrots, Melons, Cucumbers and Pumpkins may still be put in, and, if well grown tomato and cabbage plants can be secured, it is just too late to set these out either. Turnips are usually sown about this time. To make up for the late start, it will be necessary to fertilize well, and in this connection an application of nitrate of soda (about one tablespoon either dissolved in a gallon of water, or dry, to the square yard) between the rows will be most beneficial. Cultivate well, and, if at all possible, soak the garden at least once a week.

A Weed Destroyer.

Prof. T. G. Bunting, of Macdonald College, Quebec, recommends the following spray as a destroyer of weeds: 2 pounds of sal soda and 1 pound of white arsenic are put in a gallon of water and boiled for 15 to 20 minutes or until the liquid becomes clear. This solution is then diluted to make 15 to 20 gallons of spray material and is sprayed on the weeds it is desired to destroy. When using this spray, one should bear in mind that it will kill all grass and other plants as readily as weeds. Therefore, it is advisable to cover any useful thing before applying. It is particularly recommended for destroying weeds along driveways or at the edges of the beds where flowers and grass can be protected by a bit of tin.

Destroying Insect Pests.

About this time of year the gardener may expect attacks from the black plant lice, thrips and leaf hoppers, which feed on the tender tips of shrubbery and other plants. Spraying a fine mist with whale oil soap will usually clear off the pests. Mix at the rate of 1 pound of whale oil soap to 6 gallons of water. Such preparations as Nicotine and Abol, are also very effective in controlling insects of different species and very convenient to handle, coming ready mixed.

Wishing to give his Scotch steward a treat, a gentleman took him to London, and on the night after his arrival took him to an hotel to dine. During the early part of the dinner the steward was noticed to help himself very liberally to the champagne, glass after glass disappearing. Still he seemed very downhearted and morose. Presently he was heard to remark, "Well, I hope they'll not be long wi' the whisky, I dinna get on verra weel wi' these mineral waters."

"Would not be without it for anything"

"My mother," says Mrs. Richard James, Victoria, B.C., "has used Magic Baking Powder for ever so long and could not be without it. I also am using it for all my baking and think it is the best there is for making nice cakes, biscuits etc."

Similar sentiments are held and expressed by thousands of Canadian housewives.

How to make
Strawberry Jam
keep the color and flavor of the fresh berries

Your jam will taste enough like fresh berries to use in strawberry shortcake if you make it this new, easy, short-boil way with Certo. Save the following recipe for it for your first batch of strawberry jam.

Cut in halves lengthwise with stainless knife about 2 quarts of small or medium-sized fully ripe berries. After halving, crush out 2 lbs. berries, or measure 4½ level cups of berries, packing solidly into cup; add ¼ cup water. Bring to a hard boil over hottest fire and stir constantly before and while boiling. Bring to a full rolling boil and boil hard for 2 to 3 minutes. Remove from fire and stir in ½ bottle Certo. Skim and stir repeatedly for just 5 minutes after taking from fire, to cool slightly. Pour quickly into clean jars and seal at once with hot melted paraffin.

The short boiling time, possible only with Certo, prevents the loss of delicate flavor and the darkening in color often used to occur during the old long boil. It also gives you a large amount of jam, since you save the large quantity of juice which used to boil away.

Certo is a pure fruit product—the jellying substance of fruit removed and bottled. A book of simple recipes comes with each bottle.

ROTARY CLUB

Patriotic songs and the Confederation Jubilee celebration featured the meeting of the Rotary Club this week. Solos were rendered by Mr. Reg. Wiseman and Rotarian Waite, and Mr. H. A. McIntyre, of Toronto, was the pianist for the occasion. Other guests were Rev. W. P. Woodger and Mr. H. C. McHoull. A presentation was made by the Club to Rotarian W. R. Tanton, who leaves this week for Cobourg. Morley Wilson was chairman of the meeting, and the guest of honor was Mr. W. S. Herrington, K.C.

Mr. Herrington delivered an address on what he termed "The Grandfathers of Confederation—the United Empire Loyalists". He gave a very interesting historical sketch of the early days in this County and there some amusing and instructive sidelights on the problems of the administration of justice, the practise of medicine, and the educational and religious endeavors of these early settlers, who the speaker claimed paved the way for Confederation.

CONFEDERATION AND AFTER

SIXTY YEARS OF PROGRESS

TOWN PLANNING IN CANADA

Active Canadian interest in Modern Town Planning—which is defined as the scientific and orderly disposition of land and buildings in use and development with a view to obviating congestion and securing economic and social efficiency, health and well-being in urban and rural communities—may be said to have received its first impulse from the visit in 1910, of Mr. Henry Vivian, founder of the English Co-partnership Housing Movement, as the guest of Earl Grey, then Governor-General and himself an enthusiastic advocate of the more orderly planning of towns and cities.

Planning of some kind has always characterized the growth of towns and cities but the absence of thorough scientific method has usually left neglected areas, which has drifted into congestion and squalor and have themselves become direct causes of social discontent, inefficiency, disease and crime. Modern town planning is directing special attention to these areas and is building up a science of the social organism intended to secure decent living and working conditions for the large masses of people whose interests have been so largely neglected in the past and to meet the exigencies of modern traffic.

Mr. Noulan Cauchon, Ottawa, Consulting Engineer and Sociologist, has been a student of the movement for some years and about this time began the development of a plan for the Capital City, using its features as a basis for stimulating public interest in the subject. In 1912 the first provincial town planning act was passed in New Brunswick. An important town planning conference was held in Toronto in 1914, as a result of which the Dominion Government agreed to appoint a Town Planning Adviser for Canada with an appropriate staff of assistants. Mr. Thomas Adams, Town Planning Adviser to the British Local Government Board (now Ministry of Health) was appointed. A town planning educational movement was inaugurated, which, though much distracted by war conditions, resulted in the course of a few years in the passing of provincial town planning acts practically all over Canada. These town planning acts gave enabling power to the towns and cities to appoint town planning commissions to initiate civic legislation which would exercise wider and more intelligent control over the disposition of land and buildings in urban areas and ensure more orderly, efficient and healthful development.

In 1913 the Dominion Government appointed a Commission to develop a comprehensive plan for the Capital City. War conditions interfered with the project and nothing was done to carry it into operation.

For a number of years the aspirations of the late Sir Wilfrid Laurier to make the Capital City attractive and beautiful was exemplified by the Ottawa Improvement Commission, which has constructed many drives and boulevards and transformed waste land into beautiful parks and driveways. In 1927 the powers and duties of this commission were enlarged and the organization was reshaped into a Federal District Commission with powers to extend its work into the region surrounding the Capital. Throughout the Dominion there is now an active and intelligent interest in town planning method and it is expected that within the next few years many towns and cities in Canada will recognize the advisability of adopting new methods of developing urban areas which may be said to have received the endorsation of the whole civilized world.

LENNOX W. I. ANNUAL MEETING

The Woman's Institute annual meeting was held at Dorland United Church on June 24th, with one hundred and twenty-five in attendence.

The opening ode was sung, the Lord's Prayer repeated, and community singing followed. The President, Mrs. J. B. Miller presided, and welcomed all branches, and also Mr. Putnam, of Toronto, and Mr. Laughland of Napanee.

Mrs. Fred Allison, of Adolphustown, extended a hearty welcome to all, and suggested taking some special line of work and working co-operatively towards that end. Mrs. Allison said they were very proud of their branch, being twenty-seven years old.

Mrs. Andrew Miller, of Ernesttown, fittingly replied.

The President in her address welcomed all representatives and visitors and reminded us that while in Adolphustown we were on historic ground. That the first Methodist church, in Ontario was over one hundred years old. She also told us that fifty new branches had been formed in Ontario in the past year, two of them being in our own district. Farming being our basic industry, Mrs. Miller urged us to support it in every way we could. She thanked us all for our loyal support and asked us to continue our splendid Institute work.

Community singing by Adolphustown.

The minutes of last year's annual were read by our Secretary, Mrs. A. P. Young, telling of the very successful meeting at Milton.

The Secretary Treasurer's financial statement was: receipts $1637.00, expenditures $1139.00, balance on hand $498.00.

No report of the Federated Convention at Ottawa was given, owing to the absence of the delegate.

Business discussion followed. It was unanimously voted that the district fund be five cents a member.

Odessa gave a very cordial invitation to meet there next year, which was accepted.

Then followed the reports of eight branches. All were very interesting indeed, showing a wide variety of community work being done; classes being held, addresses given, helping the needy, remembering the sick and shut-ins, supplying libraries with books and magazines, decorating halls, distributing health literature, and best of all, many of the branches are helping in various ways their school, giving prizes, etc.

The President then introduced Mr. Putnam, who said he was so interested in hearing the splendid reports given that he had forgotten his speech but that proved to be a fallacy, as we had the pleasure of listening to a very thoughtful, concise address. The rapid growth in Eastern Ontario he especially stressed, and as each community had different needs, he advised us to make a survey and work for what was most needed. The outstanding feature of the recent conventions had been discussions, which was a most healthful sign.

All branches were urged to study their own neighborhood, and try especially to help the schools by providing attractive grounds, wholesome games and sports, pleasant interiors, properly heated and ventilated, and good teachers.

Mr. Putnam spoke of the strides in advancement the Woman's Institutes were making, and said that some years ago the courses and demonstrations were for one day only, and that the two weeks course must be of much more value, and these courses were free for the asking, and urged all branches to make use of them.

Two things particularly recommended by our Superintendent were the social hour and roll call. He said "never think the social hour is time wasted," and that some of the cleverest ideas which had come to fruition had been evolved there. Officers of local branches receiving literature should make a point of having their members see the same. The value of the Federated Institutes was mentioned, Mr. Putnam saying it was by organization only that we could hope to get what we asked for. Owing to the rapid growth in Eastern Ontario he thought we could and should have an annual convention at Kingston, as it was such a stimulus to a branch to have as many as possible attend, the Provincial annuals. He asked the Presidents of the branches to express their opinions and it was the unanimous consensus that such was wanted and Mr. Putnam said he would see that he could to arrange for it in the near future.

A solo was then beautifully rendered by Mrs. Connors, of Wilton, accompanied by Mrs. Storms.

Mr. Laughland spoke a few words of encouragement, telling us the agricultural office was always ready to help, and also told us to make use of the moving picture machines, and that he was there ready and willing to help in any time he was called upon.

The following officers were then elected, with the Superintendent in the chair:—

President—Mrs. J. B. Miller, Napanee.

Vice Presidents—Mrs. Ernest Wright, Violet; Mrs. Fred Hamm, Ernesttown. Secretary Treasurer — Mrs. A. P. Young, Conway.

Federated Representative — Mrs. Fred Hamm, Ernesttown; and Mrs. J. E. Mabee, Odessa.

A hearty vote of thanks was tendered Mr. Putnam for his address, and to the Adolphustown ladies who so graciously entertained us.

The National Anthem was sung.

Delicious refreshments were served, and a happy social hour spent.

OBITUARY.

George B. Paul,

Oldest son of the late James Harvey and Mary Dunlop Paul, died at his home in Newburgh, on Sunday, July 3rd, after a long period of ill health. Born in 1871, he lived the early part of his life on the farm in Camden and in cheese business at Tweed. From 1897 until his father's death, in 1917, he spent in ranching in British Columbia and Idaho. Returning then to his native village, he engaged in undertaking business until ill health compelling his retirement from active life over years ago. He was a Conservative in politics, and was in the Village Council for some years; was a member of L. L. & A. at Newburgh, and a member of the United Church. His funeral on Tuesday was largely attended, his brothers acting as pall-bearers, with members of local L. O. L. acting as honorary capacity. His is the first death in a family of eleven, he being survived by two sisters, Mrs. Andrew Moore, of Switzerville, and Mary J.A., of Syracuse. His brothers are Betsy and Clare, of Newburgh; John S., of Toronto; Reuben, of Detroit; Brdce, Edward and Frank, of Saskatchewan, and the late James H., of Jamesville, N.Y. Rev. Mr. Anderson, of the United Church, officiated, and burial was made in the family plot at Newburgh cemetery.

Harry A. VanDeBogart.

At the home of his brother, Frank B., of Richmond, there passed away on Tuesday, July 5th, 1927, Harry A. VanDeBogart, aged 55 years, 4 months and 14 days.

He suffered a stroke a few years ago, from which he rallied. Two weeks ago another stroke followed, and although receiving all possible loving care, he never recovered from the effects. When a child he fell from a wagon, injuring his back, which caused him to be lame the remainder of his life.

He was educated in the Public School of Richmond and Napanee Collegiate, taking a teacher's course. He taught school but two years, the confinement of the school-room proving too severe for his delicate health. He returned to the old homestead where he lived until the death of his eldest brother, William L., last fall, when he went to live with the brother where he died.

He leaves to mourn three brothers and four sisters, Frank B., of Richmond; Ledru R., of Gold Hill, Oregon; Richard A., of Vinna, B.C.; Mrs. Carleton Woods, of Robins; Mrs. Thomas Woods, of Picton; Mrs. Pauline Burnham, of Seattle, Wash., and Mrs. Wm. Crossley, of Toronto.

The family is sadly, bereaved, this being the second death within ten months.

George Edward Smith

The community was grieved to learn of the passing of another of its pioneer residents, when on early hour on Friday, June 3rd, Mr. George Edward Smith passed away, following a lingering illness.

The deceased war in his 45th year, and is survived by his wife, four sons and three daughters. His father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. John Smith, four brothers and two sisters, all residing in Viscount district, also mourn his untimely demise, the first break in a family of nine.

The late Mr. Smith was married at Napanee, Ont., in April, 1906, to Ethel Mary Dean, and came west in 1908. They have resided in the Viscount district ever since. His illness of cancer and during the past two years has been a sufferer from this dread malady. He bore patiently with his affliction and was always of a cheerful mood and made a vast number of friends, as was testified by the large concourse of neighbors who paid their last respects by attending the funeral services held in the United Church and at the grave side on Sunday, June 5th. Rev. D. A. MacLean officiated, and offered soul-touching sermon.

Flowers in profusion covered the casket and grave. A "broken circle", father and mother; wreaths from brothers and sisters; Viscount Homesteaded School children and staff, Mr. and Mrs. T. C. Udell, Mr. and Mrs. Coen Burr, Mr. and Mrs. J. Cook, United Church, United Sunday School, Mr. John Wishart, sprays from United Ladies' Guild, Mr. and Mrs. Burr, Mr. and Mrs. Hannigan, Mr. and Mrs. G. Carlson, Mr. and Mrs. Thos. and Ed. Bergren, Mr. and Mrs. Hilding Newman, Miss Olga Palfy, and a cross from Sunny neighbors.

The remains were laid to rest in the Viscount Cemetery, scores of motor cars composing the funeral cortege. The pallbearers were: Messrs. Frank Yeomans, Fred Wishart, Ernest Udell, John Wishart, and Geo. Portt. The funeral was under the direction of Mr. W. Nickle.

The deepest sympathy of the entire community is extended to the bereaved family and to relatives in the hour of their great loss.

—The Viscount Sun, Viscount, Sask.

Mr. L. Fluke and son, Robin, are at Chaffey's Locks for the summer.

Mr. and Mrs. John Jaynes, Kingston, visited with Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Carter, recently.

Mr. George B. Paul, son of the late Harvey Paul, passed away early Monday morning. Mr. Paul had been a familiar figure on our village streets for the past eight years, and will be sadly missed by a host of friends. Quiet, yet possessed of a ready wit, he made many friends. He has served on the village council for a number of years, and was held in high esteem by those with whom he associated. The funeral was held in the United Church on Tuesday afternoon, the Rev. T. H. P. Anderson officiating, after which the remains were laid to rest in the family plot in Newburgh cemetery. Eight brothers and two sisters remain. Undertaker Ward Wartman had charge of the funeral.

Mrs. Quail has returned from Utica, accompanied by her daughters, Mrs. Hanna and Miss Gladys Quail, R.N.

Mr. W. J. Lockwood, of Camden, N.Y., and Mr. Harry B. Lockwood, of Utica, N.Y., spent a few days with their brother, Mr. Fred Lockwood.

Mrs. Johnston attended the Ottawa celebration, and remained a few days with friends.

Miss Agnes Hill, of Montreal, visited her sister-in-law, Mrs. M. Hill, during the week.

Mrs. E. W. Brewer and Miss Helen Sutton have been visiting their father, Mr. William Sutton, who has been quite ill.

Mr. and Mrs. Horace Paul, of Robin, were in attendance at the funeral of the late George Paul, on Tuesday afternoon.

Dr. J. Harvey Paul, of Syracuse, N.Y.; Mr. and Mrs. John Paul, of Toronto, and Miss M. Paul, R.N., of New York, attended the funeral of their brother, Mr. George Paul.

The Jubilee Thanksgiving service held in the United Church last Sunday night, was well attended, and much enjoyed by all. The Pastor, Rev. Mr. Anderson, spoke on "The National Ideals of to-day realized in the life of the nation's forefathers—ideals of justice, unity, brotherhood, political honor and peace". The committee is to be congratulated on the very striking yet appropriate decorations. A fine new flag recently purchased for the church, decorated the front of the church.

A carload of U. S. tourists had a narrow escape from injury and death, when their car overturned on the Newburgh Road, just east of the Strathcona turn, on Tuesday last. The road is very narrow at this culvert and there is a deep ditch on each side, without protection. Strangers do not know the depth of the ditch on account of the long grass, and in trying to give room for a truck, they slipped off the side. Fortunately they escaped with minor bruises, although the car was badly damaged.

Mr. W. A. D. Anderson left on Monday morning to engage in business in Oshawa. He was accompanied by Rev. and Mrs. Anderson.

NAPANEE CELEBRATION

Ideal and slightly cooler weather prevailed for the annual celebration which was held in Napanee last Friday, and which was marked by one of the largest throngs seen here in some time.

In honor of Confederation the public buildings, business houses and residences were gaily decorated with flags and bunting and presented a picturesque appearance.

From early morning people began to arrive from all points in the district, and at the opening of the initial ceremonies in the Harvey Warner Park at 10 o'clock, the spacious grounds were filled with people, while many more were parked at every available spot.

The Parade.

Promptly at 10.30 the procession left the Armouries, headed by the school children, groups representing the early settlers and carrying miniature teepees and thatched cottages. Immediately following were the Boy Scouts and members of "B" Company, Frontenac Regiment, under the command of Capt. H. L. Babcock, the Napanee Band bringing up the rear.

Then arriving at the park the procession was called to order by the chairman, Mr. J. M. Simpson, who in a brief address gave a synopsis of the day's programme. After the playing of the Doxology by the band, Mr. W. S. Herrington, K.C., gave a brief but interesting patriotic address which was followed by the rendition of "The Maple Leaf".

Presented Medals.

The presentation of the Confederation Jubilee Medals to the school children then took place. "O Canada" was played, after which the Union Jack was saluted and a general salute and volley from the firing party of "B" Co., after which the service was brought to a close by the singing of The National Anthem.

Afternoon Performance.

Fully 6000 people were at the Driving Park in the afternoon to witness the different sporting events. The grandstand was packed, the enclosures were filled to capacity, while a dense throng was out on the playing field to watch the ball game.

The first game was exhibition softball, the opposing teams being the Treasures of Kingston vs. Napanee Leafs. These teams battled to a tie after two weeks ago and this game was arranged to show which team was superior. The first few innings were a swatfest, the ball being pounded to all parts of the diamond.

Treasures Won Out.

The local girls although hitting freely played a very loose game in the field and several inexcusable errors were chalked up against them. After seven hectic innings the visitors won out by the score of 26-15.

Batteries — Treasures, Beck and Compeau; Leafs, Johnson and Grass; Umpires, at the plate, Naphin; bases, Perry.

Baseball Game.

Then followed an exhibition baseball game between Adolphustown and Napanee, both teams being in the running. The Napanee players had visitors off their feet, knocking Dickenson out and Joe Prout relieving him. Lucks pitched a good game for the first few innings, but retired in favor of Prout.

Score—Napanee, 16; Adolphustown, 5.

Batteries — Adolphustown, Dickenson and Pollard; Napanee, Loucks and Scrimshaw. Umpire, Naphin.

Presentation and Address.

On Tuesday evening, June 21st, a few of the members of Centreville Sunday School gathered at the home of Miss Pauline Thompson, previous to her departure for Toronto, and presented her with a beautiful French ivory set, consisting of mirror, brush and comb and tooth brush holder, and the following address:

Dear Pauline,—It is with deep regret that we learn you are about to leave us. As one of the disadvantages of a small place like Centreville that our young folk have to leave us. During the past three years you have been a faithful organist of our Sunday School, and also an active member of the Young People's class. We will miss your cheery face and pleasant smile from our church, Sunday School and social gatherings.

On behalf of the members of the Sunday School of the United Church of Centreville, we ask you to accept these four pieces of French ivory, as a slight token of our appreciation for your service in the past, and may God ever be your guide and help in your new duty.

Signed on behalf of the members of the United Sunday School of Centreville.

MR. FRED BROWN,
Superintendent.
FLORENCE LOCHEAD.
ISMA JOHNSTON.

Pauline responded in a few well chosen words, thanking them very kindly for their thoughtfulness, and assuring them that it had always been a pleasure for her to attend Sunday School.

HOW "FRUIT-A-TIVES" GAVE HER NEW LIFE

MRS. J. F. RUTKOWSKA.

"For several years I suffered with severe constipation and was a nervous wreck, I had great pain in my limbs and such terrible headaches I thought I would go crazy. I had no appetite, could scarcely eat anything without great distress. After reading about "Fruit-a-tives" I decided to try them. Before I had taken three boxes, I was getting perfectly well. I sincerely think "Fruit-a-tives" saved my life." — Mrs. J. F. Rutkowska, Tolstoi, Manitoba.

Indigestion, billousness, headaches, nervousness, pains in the back and limbs are largely caused by allowing poisons to accumulate in the body. "Fruit-a-tives" is natire's remedy, made from intensified fresh fruit juices combined with tonics. "Fruit-a-tives" stimulates the bowels, liver and kidneys to normal action and brines about a condition of delightful health. Buy a box of "Fruit-a-tives", today. Enjoy life again. 25c and 50c, everywhere.

"I have valued this farm $1,000 less than I would if clean of this weed"

The actual evidence of loss in value of weed-infested farm land is shown in the extract from the report of an inspector valuing a certain farm for loaning purposes. Here is the evidence:

"It is badly infested with sow thistle—as are all the farms in the neighborhood. I have valued $1,000 less than I would if clean of this weed."

This $1,000 represented 10% of the value of the farm. Many inspectors would discount the value to an even greater extent. What is your weed crop costing you? Fight weeds—you would fight fire. Help your neighbor—help yourself.

Every occupant of land and every owner of unoccupied land is required to destroy all noxious weeds before their seeds ripen. Municipal councils are required to destroy all noxious weeds growing upon the highways.

A Remedy for Earache. — To have the earache is to endure torture. The ear is a delicate organ and few care to deal with it, considering it work for a doctor. Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil offers a simple remedy. A few drops upon a piece of lint or medicated cotton and placed in the ear will do much in relieving pain.

There may be other corn removers, but you will not be completely satisfied until you have used Holloway's Corn Remover.

"The modern girl," declares a critic, "can get dressed in two minutes." This includes of course, a minute and a half deciding what to wear.

A dear old soul declares she can't imagine what women's clothes are coming to. Well, it's plain that they're not coming anywhere near the ankles.

"Shop girls have a splendid chance of getting married," says a writer. The only trouble is that even when they are married they have a habit of still calling, 'Cash, please!'

The Many Purpose Oil—Both in the house and stable there are scores of uses for Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil. Use it for cuts, bruises, burns, scalds, the pains of rheumatism and sciatica, sore throat and chest. Horses are liable very largely to similar ailments and mishaps as affect mankind, and are equally amenable to the healing influence of this fine old remedy which has made thousands of firm friends during the past fifty years.

"No," remarked the determined lady to the indignant taxi driver, after giving him his exact fare, "you can't cheat me. I haven't ridden in cabs these ten years for nothing."

"Haven't you?" he replied bitterly. "Well, you've done your best."

The thief entered the author's bedroom, switched on the light, and pointed his revolver. "Don't move, guv'nor! I'm a desperate man lookin' for money," he threatened.

"You are?" cried the author eagerly. "Good Lord, so am I. I'll come and help you to find some."

Miller's Worm Powders will purge the stomach and intestines of worms so effectively and so easily and painlessly that the most delicate stomach will not feel any inconvenience from their action. They recommend themselves to mothers as a preparation that will restore strength and vigor to their children and protect them from the debilitating effects which result from the depredations of worms.

On the last day of school prizes were distributed. When one day returned home his mother was entertaining callers.

"Well, my boy," said one of the callers, "did you get a prize?"

"No," replied the boy, "but I got horrible mention."

Freedom From Asthma. Asthma is one of the most distressing troubles, sudden in its attacks and prolonged in its agonies. Frequently many things are tried, but nothing seems to give hope of relief. Dr. J. D. Kellogg's Asthma Remedy is the one help which can be depended upon. If you have tried other remedies without success, do not fail to get at once a package of this uniformly successful preparation.

Willie, looking very dejected, was on his way home from school when his appearance attracted the attention of a kind-hearted old lady.

"What's troubling you, my little man?" she asked.

"Dyspepsia and rheumatism," replied Willie.

"Why, that's absurd," remarked the old lady. "How can that be?"

"Teacher kept me in after school because I couldn't spell them," was Willie's dismal answer.

Address and Presentation

On Saturday evening last a number of the Y. P. S. members met at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Davey and presented their daughter, Mary, with a beautiful ring, and the following address:—

Bath, July 2nd, 1927.

Miss Davey,

Bath, Ont.

Dear Friend,—To find so many of our young people moving away from our Society, is a source of deep disappointment to all of us; and yet it is something over which we have no control. Your own case is a little different from the others, as you were gone before some of us knew you had any intention of going. However, we are glad you have returned to the old home for a day or two, and we take this opportunity of making an informal call.

You were one with us in the organization of the Young People's Society, and for two years we have toiled together with unalloyed pleasure and success. You brought into the work which we all love so well, the spirit of loyalty and kindness, and such a spirit endeared you to all the members.

As a mark of the esteem then in which you are held, and a slight token of our sincere regard, we ask you to accept this ring. As it encircles your finger may it remind you of the band of friendship which you have formed by your kindly deeds and earnest Christian life. We shall miss you very much indeed, in the church, the Sunday School and the Y. P. S., but our loss will be a rich gain to others.

Signed on behalf of the Y. P. S.

MRS. G. E. ROSS.
MRS. E. HORNE.
THELMA SHEPHERD.
EVELYN YOUNG.

Miss Davey was taken completely by surprise, but made a very neat and appropriate reply. Rev. Mr. Ross and Mrs. Ross accompanied the young folks, as usual, on this exploit of good will, and all had a good time.

Miss Davey has recently taken a position in Oshawa, and was home for the week end. She returned on Sunday afternoon.

From Berries or Cherries to Jam or Jelly

In Fifteen Minutes

Do you know the new short-boil Certo method of making jams and jellies, which makes success certain? No longer need you have any fear as to the result, for the "set" is perfect every time. And the drudgery is gone, too. For instead of tedious lengthy cooking, one or two minutes' boiling is enough when Certo is used.

This short cooking saves the bright natural color and the fresh flavor of the fruit. Besides it avoids the great waste of boiling away the juice, so that the actual cost of your jams and jellies made the Certo way is about two cents a glass less than by the tiresome old-fashioned method.

Greater ease, better jelly, lower cost—this is the combination which, naturally appeals to women everywhere. A book of simple recipes for all sorts of delicious jams, jellies and marmalades comes with each bottle of Certo.

DRAGGING-DOWN PAINS RELIEVED

Woman Suffered Nearly a Year. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Brought Her Health

Moose Jaw, Sask.—"I am going to try to tell you what Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has done for me. I suffered very badly with dragging-down pains and inflammation, also pains in my right side over my hip and down my whole side into my leg. I had it nearly a year when I went to a doctor and he said I would have to have an operation. But my mother said to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound as it saved her life years before. I took two bottles and found I was better, so I kept on using it and also used Lydia E. Pinkham's Sanative Wash. I have had no more children since then and am perfectly well. I used to have to lie down two or three times each day, and now I do all my housework without trouble. I always keep the Vegetable Compound in the house as I find a dose now and then helps me. I am willing for you to use this letter any way you see fit and I will answer letters. If I can help any other woman I'd be only too glad to try."—Mrs. ESTHER HOUGHTON, 414 Morse Square, Moose Jaw, Saskatchewan.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is a dependable medicine for all women.

He had been in failing health for some time, so that the end was not unexpected. He is survived by his widow, three daughters, Mrs. Nelson Bell, Mrs. T. Jackson and Mrs. M. H. Switzer, all of Enterprise, and one son, who resides in Picton. The funeral, which was largely attended, took place from his late residence to the United Church, at 2 p.m., on Wednesday, July 6th. IN MEMORIAM

In loving memory of our dear husband and father, Albert E. Milligan, who passed away on July 10th, 1925.

We cannot forget you, our own father, dear;
Your memory grows sweeter year after year;
You cannot return, so tears are in vain;
But of this we are sure, we can all meet again.

—Wife and Daughters.

IN MEMORIAM

In loving memory of Sidney Samuel Walkin, who died June 30th, 1920.

Deep in our hearts lies a picture
Of a loved one laid to rest;
When at times we feel we will keep it,
Because he was one of the best.
Friends may think we have forgotten,
When at times we seem to smile;
But they little know the heartache,
That the smile hides all the while.
For it is not the tears at the time that is shed,
That tell of the heart that is torn;
But intermittent tears in after years
And remembrances silently borne.

—From Father and Mother
Brother and Sister.

Red Hot July Days Hard on the Baby

July—the month of oppressive heat; red-hot days and sweltering nights is extremely hard on little ones. Diarrhoea, dysentery, colic and cholera infantum carry off thousands of precious little lives every summer. The mother must be constantly on her guard to prevent these troubles, or if they come on suddenly to fight them. No other medicine is of such aid to mothers during the hot summer as is Baby's Own Tablets. They regulate the bowels and stomach, and an occasional dose given to the well child will prevent summer complaints, or if the trouble does come on suddenly will banish it. The Tablets are sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Red Hot July Days Hard on the Baby

July—the month of oppressive heat; red-hot days and sweltering nights; is extremely hard on little ones. Diarrhoea, dysentery, colic and cholera infantum carry off thousands of precious little lives every summer. The mother must be constantly on her guard to prevent these troubles, or if they come on suddenly to fight them. No other medicine is of such aid to mothers during the hot summer as is Baby's Own Tablets. They regulate the bowels and stomach, and an occasional dose given to the well child will prevent summer complaint, or if the trouble does come on suddenly will banish it. The Tablets are sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

"The Patsy," Sparkling Comedy, a Chautauqua Feature

The Patsy," the hilariously funny comedy from the pen of Barry Conners, author of "Applesauce," "The Mad Honeymoon," etc., will be the feature dramatic offering of the coming Dominion Chautauqua, and will be presented here by a fine cast of New York actors. This popular play, which enjoyed an entire year's run at the Booth Theatre, New York City, is one of the biggest comedy successes of a decade.

"The Patsy" deals with Patsy Harrington, a quaint and adorable combination of flapper and Cinderella. Patsy Kennedy is in love with Tony, her sister's cast-off fiance. How she wins his heart, with the aid of six lessons in which the unconscious victim himself administers, furnishes three acts of hilarious comedy, romance, laughter.

The very low rates of Interurban Service—to towns within a radius of say 25 miles—enable you to make such selling trips frequently.

ODESSA

(For last week)

The School Board regrets very much the leaving of two of the staff, Miss Code, Smith's Falls, and Miss Allison, Adolphustown. Both are giving up their positions to continue studies at Queen's University. — The popular primary teacher, Miss A. Higgard, held her annual school picnic and junior athletic day last Thursday at Lake Ontario Park. Kenneth Dowley and Miss Flossie Dawson were the proud winners of the medals. Other prizes for the year's department and work were presented by Mr. F. W. Cunningham. The following kindly used their cars, all being filled to capacity, Norman Snider, C. Wallace, F. Thin, Watery Blood Always Dangerous

If Not Corrected Serious Results Sure to Follow.

In no trouble is delay or neglect more dangerous than in anaemia — thin, watery blood. It is very common in young girls and in persons who are overworked or confined within doors. It makes its approach in so stealthy a manner that it is often well developed before the trouble is recognized. But taken in time the tonic treatment through the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, so enriches the blood that good health and strength is speedily regained. The correction of anaemic conditions by Dr. Williams' Pink Pills is as certain as anything can be. Miss Teresa Heffey, Dunraven, Que., is one of the many anaemic sufferers who has found new health through the use of this medicine. She says :—"I cannot express too warmly my thanks for what Dr. Williams' Pink Pills have done for me. I was suffering from a badly run-down condition. I was very nervous, had little desire for food, and would feel tired out at the least exertion. In this condition I began taking Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and before using them very long found my health gradually improving, and under their continued use was completely restored. For this reason I earnestly advise all weak girls to take these pills, feeling sure that they will do for others what they did for me."

"The Patsy," Sparkling Comedy, a Chautauqua Feature

"The Patsy," the hilariously funny comedy from the pen of Barry Conners, author of "Applesauce," "The Mad Honeymoon," etc., will be the feature dramatic offering of the coming Dominion Chautauqua, and will be presented here by a fine cast of New York actors. This popular play, which enjoyed an entire year's run at the Belmont Theatre, New York City, is one of the biggest comedy successes of a decade.

"The Patsy" deals with Patsy Harrington, a quaint and adorable combination of flapper and Cinderella. Patsy is secretly in love with Tozy, her sister's east-off fiance. How she wins his heart, with the aid of six lessons in love which the unconscious victim himself administers, furnishes three acts of hilarious comedy, romance, laughter.

Farm Hand Killed By Gun Shot Wound

The district of North Fredericksburgh was shocked on Saturday by a shooting fatality in which Fred Neil, employed on the farm of W. M. Goodman, lost his life. The dead man, believed to have been 27 years of age, had only been in Canada for a few months, having recently immigrated from Great Britain. On Saturday morning he was apparently in his usual health and spirits when called by his employer, Mr. Goodman, who left the unfortunate man in the stable while he visited the pasture. On his return to the stable Mr. Goodman was horrified to find the man lying dead in the woodshed with a gun at his side, death having probably been instantaneous from a self-inflicted wound.

INDUCTION OF REV. I. N. BECKSTEAD AT TAMWORTH

On Thursday evening, June 30th, an induction service was held in the Tamworth United Church. The service was conducted by Rev. T. H. P. Anderson, of Newburgh, assisted by Rev. Geo. MacKenzie, of Yarker, and Rev. A. H. Bunt, of Enterprise. There was a large and representative gathering of the congregations of Reidville, Marlbank and Tamworth. Very appropriate music was given by the choir. On the platform with the ministers conducting the Induction service was the Rev. Mr. Poston, of Christ's Church, Enterprise.

The Rev. G. MacKenzie gave the address to the Minister, and the Rev. Mr. Bunt gave the address to the congregation, and exhorted to a thorough loyalty—to the Church, their Minister as the representative of Christ, and to Their Task.

After the induction service the ladies served refreshments and a very enjoyable social hour was spent. Mr. and Mrs. Beckstead and Miss Helen making acquaintances and leaving a most favorable impression. Mr. Beckstead was fourteen years at Lansdowne, and is one of the most efficient ministers of the church. He is a splendid and scholarly preacher, a faithful pastor and Young Peoples' leader. Tamworth is to be congratulated, and we are certain under the spiritual leadership of the new pastor the church work will greatly prosper.

BASEBALL

Napanee 6, Odessa 5.

About seventy-five ardent baseball fans braved the elements to witness the ball game at the Napanee Driving Park on Wednesday afternoon. The game itself was deserving of a better crowd, but Jupiter Pluvius played havoc all afternoon with intermittant showers, and the general public did not know whether there would be a ball game or canoe races. The leadership of the league was at stake, and had the weather been at all favorable there is no doubt that a bumper crowd would have been present.

Napanee and Odessa have been staging a great fight for the leadership of the County League. Wednesday's defeat of a week ago at the hands of Newburgh, brought Napanee and Odessa tied, and on the result of Wednesday's game, Napanee are now out in front with a half game advantage.

For seven innings, Bentley, who pitched for Napanee, had the visitors at his mercy, and they were unable to score. Napanee by consistent hitting behind men on bases, accumulated eight runs, and it looked like a shutout. But "Freddie" Bentley weakened and Odessa scored two runs in the eighth and three in the ninth, the last out coming when there were runners on second and third.

Bentley had great support in the field, Daverin, Huffman, and Joyce making some nice catches. Joyce and Naphin let two Texas-leaguers drop between them, and Naphin once uncorked a wild throw to the plate on a slow hit ball down the infield.

It was a long, drawn out affair and it ended in semi darkness. In the latter stages of the game rain fell and made it very hard to handle the soggy ball.

Frank Gallagher, of Adolphustown, handled the game and gave good satisfaction. Kilgannon started the game for Odessa, and went seven innings before going to the bench. McConnell, who replaced him, showed a nice burst of speed and was not scored upon during his stay on the mound. He should be hard to beat on his next assignment. Harry Lee, at first base for the visitors, played a good game, and handled many difficult chances.

NAPANEE GIRLS WON FROM BELLEVILLE

The Bay of Quinte League opened on Tuesday in Belleville, and the Leafs defended the Beavers without difficulty, stepping off to a 5-0 lead and being content to hold it. The Napanee girls began in the first inning, and by combining two Belleville errors with four hits and a sacrifice, put six runners across. Mary Stinson, who had been in a bad batting slump, hit a home run out of the lot with the bases full in that inning. In the second Marion Grass got a homer over the fence with one runner on. In the third two hits and three bases on balls gave them three more. The fourth innings saw Marion Douglas' timely single drive in two runs. Three singles accounted for three more runs in the fifth, but the Leafs were able to score in the sixth or seventh. Seven Leaf batters struck out and two walks gave them nine runs in the eighths, and three more were scored on three hits, a walk and an error in the ninth.

When Belleville went to bat in the last of the eighth Napanee was leading by fifteen runs, Lillian Wagar having been pitching the whole ball, and the girls behind her giving excellent support. It was then thought that it was safe to try out some other players. Margaret Douglas, who pitched so well on Dominion Day, went into the box, Dorothy Johnston played first base, Mary Stinson caught and Marion Grass played at short. Margaret has a fine swift ball on which there is a very noticeable curve, but she could not seem to control it. Two hits, four walks and two Napanee errors gave the Beavers seven runs, so Dorothy Johnston went in and finished the game.

The Leafs, on their showing, were much the better team, and had no changes been made, they would likely have held their fifteen run lead. Their manager would be wise to take fewer chances of the sort in a league game. If the locals can three more pitching fixtures now, they get the championship, and will move into the playoffs with Kingston. They play the Beavers at home on Thursday, July 7th, and are confident of another victory. Let everyone come and help them out.

WEDDING BELLS

Clancy—Shane.

On Wednesday, June 29th, at St. George's Cathedral, Kingston, Ont., Rev. R. W. Spencer, of Camden East, united in marriage Mary Madeline, younger daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Shane, Newburgh, Ont., and Austin S., son of Mr. and Mrs. S. Clancy, also of Newburgh. The bride looked charming in a gown of powder blue embroidered georgette over flat crepe, with blonde hat trimmed with blue velvet flowers, and shoes and stockings to match. She carried a beautiful Prayer Book, the gift of her Rector. She was attended by Miss Mary E. Ferguson, Toronto, who wore a rose-wood georgette dress trimmed with silk and metallic lace, with hat to match, and blonde shoes and stockings. The bridegroom was supported by Mr. W. A. Shane, Toronto, brother of the bride. The groom's gift to the bridesmaid was a silver mesh purse, and to the best man a pair of white gold cuff links with Masonic emblem embossed. The bridal couple left by motor for a tour of Eastern Ontario, the bride travelling in a smart costume of navy blue georgette, with blonde shoes and hat to match, and wearing a fox fur, the gift of the groom.

Mr. and Mrs. Clancy will reside in Detroit, Michigan, on their return.

Kennedy—Thompson.

A quiet wedding took place at the home of Mrs. Percy Thompson, near Enterprise, on Wednesday, June 29th, at 11 a.m. when her daughter, Mary Bernice, was united in marriage to Mr. Percy Kenneth Kennedy, by Rev. H. A. Bunt, B.A., Pastor of Enterprise United Church. The bride looked charming in a gown of blue georgette, with hat to match, and carried a bouquet beath an arch of evergreen and yellow tea roses. Only the immediate relatives of the contracting parties witnessed the event, after which all did justice to a splendid wedding dinner.

Amid showers of confetti, and with the good wishes of all, for a happy wedded life, the young couple left about 2 p.m. for a motor trip to Colborne, Toronto, Niagara Falls, and Peterboro'. On their return they will reside on the farm adjoining the bride's home, which the groom purchased some time ago. The good wishes of the whole community go with them into their new home.

On Thursday, July 7th, 1927, Mrs. Shorts, one of the late Capt. Peter Shortts, passed away at the home of her son, Mr. Fred Shortts, with whom she had resided for the past year, having given up her own home following the death of Mr. Robert Shorts, which occurred in 1925. Mr. Robert Shortts, of Sandwich, is a son, and a daughter, Mrs. Jarvis, resides in Chatham, while one son, Roy, sleeps in Flanders fields, having fallen at the Battle of Ypres in 1917.

Mrs. Shortts' maiden name was Sarah Ann Conway, the daughter of Charles and Jane Conway, and was born in the Village of Newburgh, in the year 1833, and always resided here. Her illness began thirteen years ago, when she suffered a stroke, but recovered sufficiently to be around. She felt the loss of her husband very keenly, and often expressed a desire to depart. Her last illness was of a few weeks' duration, during which time she was tenderly cared for by loving friends, but failed to rally, and passed peacefully away on the morning of Thursday, July 7th. The funeral was conducted by the Rev. T. H. Eaton, of the United Church, of which she was a member, after which the remains were laid to rest in the family plot of the Newburgh cemetery. The many gifts of flowers from dear friend and other friends, and the large numbers who attended the funeral, evidenced the sorrow and kindly feeling that had been shown which the community felt in the passing of Mrs. Shortts.

Rev. Dr. Endicott, Moderator of the United Church of Canada, arrived in Kingston on Sunday, after an eight months' tour of the Mission fields in India and China. He declared his belief that the "Red" hand of Russia is losing its grip on China, and at the same time Anti-British feeling is distinctly on the wane. In fact he declares conditions generally in the storm centre of Far East are beginning to show obvious signs of improvement.

A few days ago, Mr. Hanna, Chairman of the Liquor Control Board, was quoted as saying that only 120,000 persons in Ontario are interested in beer. In this number only a dozen had been cancelled for abuse. Mr. Hanna found this condition "pretty satisfactory." And this is true then the "pet arguments which those who were propagandists for Government control is demolished. These figures show that Mr. Hanna is dealing with a Temperance Province and that the desire for liquor was neither as widespread nor as insistent as it was represented to be. If 120,000 in a province of 3,000,000 represents the real desire for liquor, what foundation in truth was there for those pitiful tales of the multitudes who were supposed to be frequenting bootleggers; of the hundreds of thousands of beer, women, boys and girls who were supposed to be breaking the law to obtain liquor. That they did not exist now becomes apparent. The O. T. A. changed the habits of many people, and replaced the desire for strong drink by sobriety and temperate habits.

At the evening service in the United Church last Sunday, Mr. Montcrief, tenor soloist of Sydenham St. Church, Kingston, sang a very fine selection. Mrs. Montcrief and daughter were also guests of Mr. J. Ramsay. Rev. Mr. Anderson gave a fine address on "What our Church teaches about Jesus Christ".

The S. S. picnic is billed for the 27th, and the Parsonage lawn social for the 29th inst. Save these dates and see bills.

Miss H. M. Paul spent a few days with Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Paul, at Switzerville.

Mrs. Boyce visited with her cousin, Mrs. Vine, Napanee, over the week end.

Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Hudgin, of Selby, visited at the Parsonage, on Sunday.

Rev. and Mrs. Bunt, of Enterprise, were recent guests of Mrs. C. Wagar.

MR. DAVIS' PERSISTENCE WILL BE REWARDED

The following article was clipped from a Brockville paper:—

A. R. Davis, of Yonge, is a man of persistence. And his persistence is about to receive its reward. For the past seven years or more Mr. Davis, who hails from Adolphustown, where Sir John A. Macdonald spent his boyhood after his migration, with his parents, from Scotland, has been clamoring for the erection of a suitable memorial to Sir John at that point, coupled with corresponding recognition of the boyhood home of Sir Wilfrid Laurier at Arthabaskaville, Quebec. Nothing save a signboard erected by a local organization at Adolphustown, has hitherto marked the connection of these sites with the early history of the two men who are generally ranked as the greatest statesmen that Canada has ever produced. Filled with the idea that this omission should be corrected, Mr. Davis has waited upon the heads of Dominion governments of all political and Conservative, without obtaining more satisfaction than an intimation that something would be done. Although years passed without that "something" being done, Mr. Davis never faltered in his self-appointed task. He interviewed men in authority, wrote letters to the press and conducted a widespread agitation for the marking of Laurier's and Macdonald's boyhood homes. And now a Napanee newspaper informs us that E. H. Scammell, of the Confederation Jubilee Committee at Ottawa, together with Major Pinard, Chairman of the Historic Sites and Monuments Board, were recently at Adolphustown, charged with the arrangements for erecting a cairn, with a suitable inscription on a bronze plaque, over the stone foundation, all that remains of Sir John's earliest Canadian residence on the south shore of Hay Bay. A bronze plaque, similarly inscribed, will be placed upon the Macdonald stone house on Dalhousie street, Kingston, and at Arthabaskaville another monument will be erected to commemorate the association of that place with the great Canadian statesman, Laurier.

This belated recognition of the part played by Arthabaskaville and Adolphustown, in the story of these two great Canadians is primarily due to Mr. Davis' efforts. It was he who solicited the Historic Sites Board on-that-be and who kept on soliciting that interest until action was taken. Mr. Davis is entitled to the very hearty vote of thanks for his energy and perseverance in this connection. Had he not taken the initiative, it is possible that neither spot would have been marked. The visitor to Arthabaskaville will now be unable to pass the house in which Laurier lived during his early years of public life without being made aware of its significance, and the tourist who passes along the shores of Hay Bay will have it brought forcibly to his notice that in that environment was spent the boyhood of Macdonald. It is a most fitting manner in which to mark the memories of these two men, who accomplished so much for the benefit of Canada, in this the Diamond Jubilee year of its Confederation.

DORLAND

Everyone is busy making hay these days. The crop will be more abundant than was anticipated last spring. —The community was shocked by the passing on Monday evening of Mrs. L. P. Trumpour, of Napanee, who was for many years a resident of Adolphustown. The sympathy of all goes out to the stricken family.—An interesting meeting of the W. M. S. was held at the home of Mrs. Frank Lloyd last Wednesday afternoon. Over fifty from different parts of the circuit were present. A special programme of music and readings suitable to the Jubilee Anniversary, was prepared. Rev. J. Plant outlined the work and progrss of the different missionary enterprises. Much interest was evoked by a debate by four of the members, re Christian Stewardship and Tithing. — Among recent visitors are Mr. and Mrs. H. White, of Hamilton, at Andrew Magee's; r. and Mrs. Vosper and son, of Kingston, also Mr. Geo. Haycock, of Montreal, at J. S. Haycock's; Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Davidson and children and Mrs. and Mrs. Howard Foster, of Richmond, at E. Foster's.—Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Magee and son visited friends at Kingston on Sunday last.

Hinchey's; Master Robbie Hinchey at Mr. Tom McGill's; Mr. Harold Thompson at Mr. Fred Brown's; Mr. Clarence Brown at Frank Thompson's.—Mr. Arthur McKeown at Mr. Bride Weese's.

DEBILITY DUE TO INDIGESTION

Perfect Digestion Comes Through Rich, Red Blood

There can be no perfect digestion unless you have rich, red blood. This is scientifically true. It is also true that there is no tonic for the stomach that is not a tonic for every other part of the body. The way, then, to tone up the stomach is to tone up the blood.

The many so-called stomach remedies merely try to digest your food for you. How much better it is to tone up the stomach so that it will do its own work as nature intended. There is no pleasure in eating predigested food. Tone up your stomach and your appetite and digestion will soon be normal.

If your digestion is weak and your blood thin you need the help of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills to enrich the blood and restore strength. In addition use care in the selection of your food and your stomach trouble will soon pass away. Mr. Gordon Dundas, Peterboro', Ont., tells as follows what this medicine did for him. He says: "Something over a year ago I was a gasoline salesman when I was taken sick. I felt very miserable and lost twelve pounds in weight. I did not sleep well and could not eat as I could scarcely retain anything in my stomach. I went to a local doctor who told me the fumes of the gas had got into my system. He gave me some medicine and told me I had better go to the country for a change of air. I did so, but I still felt listless and groggy, and had no ambition. On the advice of a friend I decided to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. I had not been taking the pills long before I was beginning to rest better, to eat fairly well. I kept on taking the pills until at the end of the seventh box I knew I did not need any more, as I had gained the weight I had lost, slept well and had no appetite. I have since had splendid health and cannot say too much in praise of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills."

You can get these Pills from any medicine dealer or by mail at 50 cts. a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

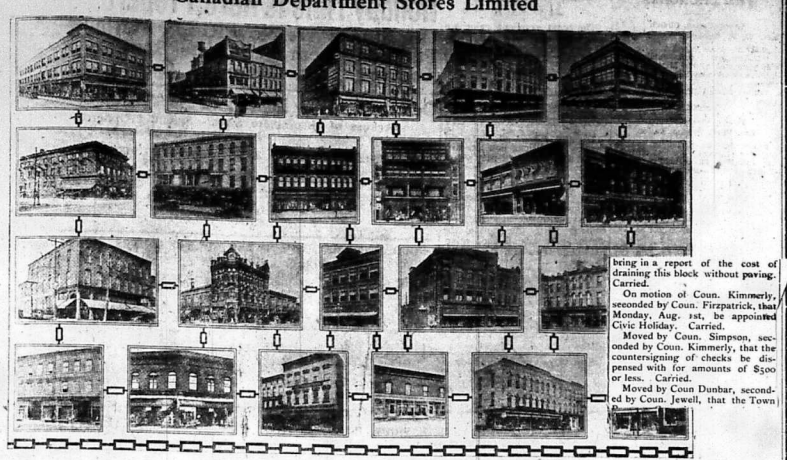
Canadian Department Stores Limited



Above are shown the twenty-two stores which have recently merged to form Canadian Department-Stores Limited, perhaps the most important mercantile movement that Canada has experienced in many years.

These are all old and firmly established businesses, situated in most of the principal distributing towns and cities in Ontario, with one in Montreal, who have combined under one executive management composed of five prominent Canadian merchants, Mr. R. A. Bramish, North Bay; Mr. A. Robinson, St. Catharines; Mr. C. M. Reid, Belleville, and Mr. Chas. Austin, Chatham, with Mr. G. H. Rennie, formerly Assistant General Manager of the Robert Simpson Company, Toronto, as President, and General Manager.

They have consolidated to reduce the cost of doing business and buy in much greater quantities.

While the chain store idea has developed to tremendous proportions in the United States, this is the first consolidation of department stores which has taken place in Canada and it's progress will be noted with interest.

BETTER JAMS AND JELLIES

At Lower Cost

The modern, short-boil method of making jams and jellies with Certo delights women everywhere because it is so simple, so sure, so practical and so improves the color and flavor of their jams and jellies.

With Certo your fruit jells perfectly every time, with only one or two minutes' boiling. This saves the bright color and delicately luscious flavor of your fruit, and gives you a larger amount of jam or jelly from your fruit, because you save all the juice which used to boil away.

Women who have figured the cost both ways find their cost per glass two or three cents less when they use Certo.

Certo is a pure fruit product—the jellying substance of fruit refined and bottled. A book of simple, tested recipes comes with each bottle.

WISE AND OTHERWISE

When is a ship in love? When she is attached to a buoy.

The most obstinate germs fail to resist Holloway's Corn Remover. Try it.

Teacher—"The head of the Redskins is called a "chief", isn't he? Well, can any of you tell me what the chief's daughter is called?"

Pupil—"Mischief !"

All mothers can put away anxiety regarding their suffering children when they have Mother Graves' Worm Exterminator to give relief. Its effects are sure and lasting.

"Should wives be paid wages?" asks a writer in a recent article in a magazine.

"Certainly !" says a married man of our acquaintance. "What do you think I send my wife out to work for?"

Milleton, who is noted for his economical habits, met a friend of his, a doctor, and said, "I am on my way home, and I feel very seedy and worn out generally. What ought I to take?"

A "taxi !" was the curt reply.

To Quality Sells It—The fact that so many thousands of intelligent people continue to use Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil speaks volumes for its healing efficiency. Ever since it was first introduced it has grown steadily in public favor, owing entirely to its manifold usefulness in relieving and healing sickness. As a specific for cuts, burns, scalds, and various inflammatory pains its record is beyond reproach.

An elderly and wealthy dame was much interested in prison reform and was visiting a large jail. "Don't any of your old friends come to see you on visiting days?" she asked of a big, burly convict.

"Nope," responded the former burglar, "they're all here with me !"

Children suffering from worms soon show the symptoms, and any mother can detect the presence of these parasites by the writhings and fretting of the child. Until expelled and the system cleared of them, the child cannot regain its health. Miller's Worm Powders are prompt and efficient, not only for the eradication of worms, but also as a toner up for children that are run down in consequence.

Diplomacy Again. — Probably the most complete definition of diplomacy was given by a little boy in English class. "It's the thing that gets you into trouble," he said, "when a boy bigger than you has told something that isn't so and you tell him so without using it."

Father, ruefully gazing on his last shilling: "Money has wings, and house rents make it fly," he said.

"Yes," said his fifteen-year-old son, "and some houses have wings, for I've seen many a house fly."

"You're smarter than your old dad maybe, my son, but I always thought that no part of a house except the chimney flue !"

Persistent Asthma. A most distressing characteristic of this debilitating disease, is the persistence with which recurring attacks come to sap away strength and leave the sufferer in a state of almost continuous exhaustion. No wiser precaution can be taken than that of keeping at hand a supply of Dr. J. D. Kellogg's Asthma Remedy, famous as the most potent remedy for eradicating the disease from the tender air passages.

When Jones' aunt passed away all his poverty-stricken friends rallied round him with words of cheer and comfort. But Jones remained sad and dejected.

"She left a will and testament, I suppose?" murmured Jenkins, carelessly.

"Ooh, yes," said Jones, "she left a will and testament."

They waited expectantly, and then Jones said "I am to have the Testament."

THE BEE'S DANCE.

"Round Dance" of Bee Excites Others to Find the Nectar.

A busy bee, finding flowers with abundant nectar, takes a little load and disappears home. Very shortly there are more bees on the flowers. How do they know the nectar is there and how do they find it?

Prof. J. Arthur Thomson, in the Scottish Journal of Agriculture, quotes experiments by Prof. Karl von Frisch to explain this problem.

It had been found that when a bee which has sucked to the full returns to the hive it starts a "round dance" on the comb. This excites the workers close by and they hurry out to find the nectar themselves. But before they leave the hive they note by the flavor and their stomachs a clue by scent of the kind of flower to seek.

Then off alone, the discoverer reassembles in the five. If the flowers with the nectar have no scent the discoverer can give no clue.

The professor's answer to this is the astonishing one that a hive bee excited by a discovery of nectar, at once sprays the blossoms with a characteristic scent formed in a glandular pocket near the hind-end of her body. This scent serves as a reliable clue to the searching bees.

It has been noticed that when a patch of flowers begins to be exhausted the visits of, new bees decline. Soon they stop. This is regulated by the fact that when a bee returns with little nectar she does not dance, and so no more seekers go forth.

NO LAUGHING MATTER.

German Policeman Fines Man for Laughing in the Street.

At Stettin, in Germany, laughter is liable to lead to trouble.

A German couple, Herr and Frau Stanzer, stepped out of a shop while the latter told her husband a funny story. The husband burst into a hearty guffaw, whereupon a policeman rushed to the scene, charged the husband with disturbing the peace, and fined him the equivalent to a dollar.

This affront so amused Herr Stanzer that he again burst out laughing. Before the final chuckle had ended he was being led away to the police court. A witness testified that he had not laughed but had "bleated like a sheep."

This remark so tickled the laughing husband that he could keep solemn no longer, and enjoyed another hearty laugh. He was fined 12.50 Still with a smile on his face, Stanzer handed the clerk, 17.50, telling the official to credit him with $5 on his next laughs. "Contempt of court," said the Bench, and fined him another 7?2.

Harnessing a River.

The Isargo river, in Italy, is being taken from its bed about eight miles south of Brassanone, and carried through a tunnel to within two miles of Bolzano, where it will be dropped 700 feet.

The horse-power to be generated at this new electric station will be 220,000, and the current will light the country as far south as Florence, three hundred miles away.

Two subsidiary stations in lateral valleys are also to be constructed, and the total power of the district will be 215,000 horse-power, or three-fifths of the whole estimated hydro-electrical potentialities of Scotland.

Charcoal.

Charcoal is the carbonaceous substance left from wood after its other elements have been driven out by heating, without allowing it to undergo combustion. This is done by burning the wood with only a limited supply of air, so that the other elements are consumed while the carbon remains almost undiminished.

THE MONGREL

Story of How Dog Carried Message Though Wounded Unto Death.

The story is told of an American regiment that was cut off from support and from communication with the main body in 1918. Surrender or destruction was to be its fate unless help could arrive. But there was no regular means at hand for summoning that help.

As a last resort, a message was fastened to the collar of a nondescript mongrel that had been trained for such work at the canine war-school in England. He was boosted over the trench top and sent on his way to the division headquarters, far distant. It was a forlorn hope, at best. Nobody counted much on it.

The moment the stubby tailed and reasom "yaller dawg" appeared in the open, the Germans knew on what mission he had been sent. Sharpshooters opened a blaze of fire on the evasively running little cur as he scuttled up the hill in full view of them. Then, as an added bit of trooperstsmanship, three German machine guns cut loose on him.

Twice, before he reached the shelter of the hill's farther side, he fell and rolled over as bullets found their mark in him. But always he struggled gamely to his feet and scrambled on. At the hilltop he fell a third time and lay there. As the watchers gave him up for a goner, he writhed to his feet, dragging his hindlegs behind him, crippled, and vanished over the crest.

In time—but only barely in time—he crawled into headquarters. There, as the message was untied from his rope collar, he gave a tired little sigh and died. His work was done. His regiment was saved. At last he had time for the luxury of dying. Up till then he had been too busy.

Nor was he by any means the only mongrel to give up his white life, that men might live, during the days of the war. The British War Office archives contain many another instance of the sort. The English have learned to appreciate the brain and loyalty and dauntless stamina of mongrels as Americans have not. That is why so many crossbreds were used by them as war-dogs.

Stop the Cough—Coughing is caused by irritation in the respiratory passages and in the effort to dislodge obstructions that come from inflammation of the mucous membrane. Treatment with Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil will allay the inflammation and in consequence the cough will usually stop. Try it and you will be satisfied.

THE BRITISH ARMY.

Offers More Chances to Young Recruit Than Ever Before.

"Join the army and see the world," used to be the slogan of the recruiting sergeant. The army still offers recruits a splendid chance of seeing the world for nothing, but the sergeant's trump card is now: "Join the army and make some of it pay."

Soldiering in the British army is no longer a blind-alley job. In a sense, perhaps, it never was, for employers have found that former noncommissioned officers make an ideal man for any position of trust. Then, too, soldiers of outstanding ability have always been able to rise to commissioned rank. That once attained, at least a few of them have gone on to high command and the winning of deathless military fame.

Luck, however, did play some part in gaining the first step from noncommissioned to commissioned rank, and the man who joined up as a private, intending to be a officer some day, must have been of a fairly sanguine disposition.

To-day that is all changed. Partly because experience has shown what good officers rankers often make, and partly because of the shortage of candidates for commissions from the great public schools, a scheme has been started under which thirty young non-commissioned officers are sent to Sandhurst to train for commissions every year. As the course lasts eighteen months, there are forty-five of these men always in residence.

So far, the scheme has worked extremely well. The last list of successful candidates for commissions, published the other day, is headed by the names of three of these rankers, who have won the first, second, and third places in order of merit. There are four other rankers in the first dozen places, while the other "non-coms" in the list have also done creditably.

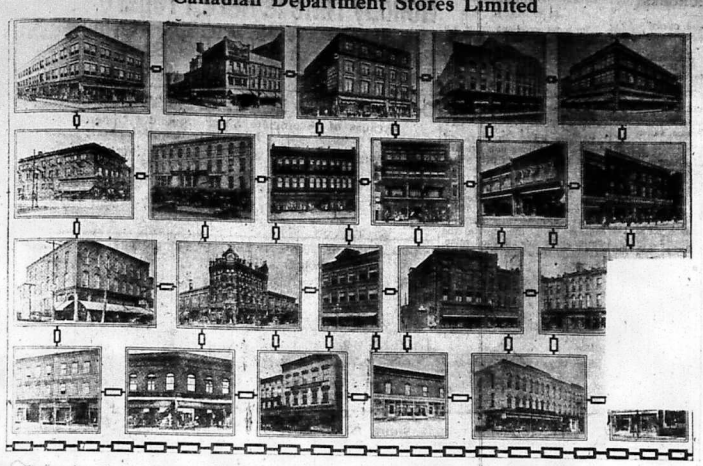
Canadian Department Stores Limited



Above are shown the twenty-two stores which have recently merged to form Canadian Department-Stores Limited, perhaps the most important mercantile movement that Canada has experienced in many years.

These are all old and firmly established businesses, situated in most of the principal distributing towns and cities in Ontario, with one in Montreal, who have combined under one executive management, composed of five prominent Canadian merchants, Mr. R. A. Beamish, North Bay; Mr. A. Robinson, St. Catharines; Mr. C. M. Reid, Belleville, and Mr. Chas. Austin, Chatham, with Mr. G. H. Rennie, formerly Assistant General Manager of the Robert Simpson Company, Toronto, as President, and General Manager.

The have consolidated to reduce the cost of doing business and buy in much greater quantities.

While the chain store idea has developed to tremendous proportions in the United States, this is the first consolidation of department stores which has taken place in Canada and it's progress will be noted with interest.

WISE AND OTHERWISE

When is a ship in love? When she is attached to a buoy.

The most obstinate corns fail to resist Holloway's Corn Remover. Try it.

Teacher—"The head of the Redskins is called a "chief", isn't he? Well, now, can any of you tell me what the chief's daughter is called?"

All mothers can put away anxiety regarding their suffering children when they have Mother Graves' Worm Exterminator to give relief. Its effects are sure and lasting.

"Should wives be paid wages?" asks a writer in a recent article in a magazine.

"Certainly!" says a married man of our acquaintance. "What do you think I send my wife out to work for?"

Milleton, who is noted for his economical habits, met a friend of his, a doctor, and said, "I am on my way home, and I feel very seedy and worn out generally. What ought I to take?"

"A taxi!" was the curt reply.

Its Quality Sells It.—The fact that so many thousands of intelligent people continue to use Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil speaks volumes for its healing efficiency. Ever since it was first introduced it has grown steadily in public favor, owing entirely to its manifold usefulness in relieving and healing sickness, as a specific for cuts, burns, scalds, and various inflammatory pains its record is beyond reproach.

An elderly and wealthy dame was much interested in prison reform and was visiting a large jail. "Don't any of your old friends come to see you on visiting days?" she asked of a big, burly convict.

"No'm," responded the former burglar, "they're all here with me!"

Children suffering from worms soon show the symptoms, and any mother can detect the presence of these parasites by the writhings and fretting of the child. Until expelled and the system cleared of them, the child cannot regain its health. Miller's Worm Powders are prompt and efficient, not only for the eradication of worms, but also as a toner up for children that are run down in consequence.

Diplomacy Again.— Probably the most complete definition of diplomacy was given by a little boy in English class. "It's the thing that gets you into trouble," he said, "when a boy bigger than you has told something that isn't so and you tell him so without using it."

Father, ruefully gazing on his last shilling: "Money has wings, and house rents make it fly," he said.

"Yes," said his sixteen-year-old son, "and some houses have wings, for I've seen many a house fly."

"You're smarter than your old dad maybe, my son, but I always thought that no part of a house except the chimney flue!"

Persistent Asthma. A most distressing characteristic of this debilitating ailment is the persistence with which recurring attacks come to sap away strength and leave the sufferer in a state of almost continual exhaustion. No wiser precaution can be taken than that of keeping at hand a supply of Dr. J. D. Kellogg's Asthma Remedy, famous as the most potent remedy for eradicating the disease from the tender air passages.

When Jones' aunt passed away all his poverty-stricken friends rallied round him with words of cheer and comfort. But Jones remained sad and dejected.

"She left a will and testament, I suppose?" murmured Jenkins, careworn.

"Oh, yes," said Jones, "she left a will and testament."

"She left it all and testament, I suppose?" murmured Jenkins, careworn.

THE BEES DANCE.

"Round Dance" of Bee Excites Others to Find the Nectar.

A hive bee, finding flowers with abundant nectar, takes a full load and flies straight home. Very shortly there are more bees on the flowers. How do they know the nectar is there and how do they find it?

Prof. J. Arthur Thomson, in the Scottish Journal of Agriculture, quotes experiments by Prof. Karl von Frisch to explain this problem.

It has been found that when a bee which has sucked to the full returns to the hive it starts a "round dance" on the comb. This excites the workers close by and they hurry out to find the nectar themselves. But before they leave the hive they note at the discoverer and thus obtain a clue to scent of the kind of flower to seek.

They go off alone, the discoverer remaining in the hive. If the flowers with the nectar have no scent the discoverer can give no clue.

The professor's answer to this is the astonishing one that a hive bee, excited by a discovery of nectar, at once sends the blossoms with a characteristic scent formed in a gladular pocket on the hind end of her body. This scent serves as a tell-tale clue to the searching bees.

It has been noticed that when a patch of flowers begins to be exhausted the visits of new bees decline. Soon they stop. This is regulated by the fact that when a bee returns with little nectar she does not dance, and so no more seekers go forth.

NO LAUGHING MATTER.

German Policeman Fines Man for Laughing In the Street.

"At Stettin, in Germany, laughter is liable to lead to trouble.

"A German couple, Herr and Frau Stanzer, stepped out of a shop while the latter told her husband a funny story. The husband burst into a hearty guffaw, whereupon a policeman rushed to the scene, charged the husband with disturbing the peace, and fined him the equivalent to a dollar.

This affront so amused Herr Stanzer that he again burst out laughing. Before the final chuckle had ended he was being led away to the police court. A witness testified that he had not laughed but had "bleated like a sheep."

This remark so tickled the laughing husband that he could keep solemn no longer, and enjoyed another hearty laugh. He was fined $2.50 Still with a smile on his face, Stanzer handed the clerk $7.50, telling the official to credit him with $5 on his next laugha. "Contempt of court," said the Bench, and fined him another $12.

Harnessing a River.

The Isargo river, in Italy, is being taken from its bed about eight miles south of Brassanone, and carried through a tunnel to within two miles of Bolzano, where it will be dropped 700 feet.

The horse-power to be generated at this new electric station will be 220,000, and the cutrent will light the country as far south as Florence, three hundred miles away.

Two subsidiary stations in lateral valleys are also to be constructed, and the total power of the district will be 315,000 horse-power, or three-fifths of the whole estimated hydro-electrical potentialities of Scotland.

Charcoal.

Charcoal is the carbonaceous substance left from wood after the other elements have been driven off by heating, without allowing it to undergo combustion. This is done by burning the wood with only a limited supply of air, so that the other elements are consumed while the carbon remains almost undiminished.

If You See It In The Beaver It's So

THE MONGREL.

Story of How Dog Carried Message Though Wounded Unto Death.

The story is told of an American regiment that was cut off from support and from communication with the main body in 1918. Surrender or destruction was to be its fate unless help could arrive. But there was no regular means at hand for summoning that help.

As a last resort, a message was fastened to the collar of a nondescript mongrel that had been trained for such work at the canine war-school in England. He was boosted over the trench top and sent on his way to the division headquarters, far distant. It was a forlorn hope, at best. Nobody counted much on it.

The moment the stubby tailed and fearsome "yaller dawg" appeared in the open, the Germans knew on what mission he had been sent. Sharpshooters opened a blaze of fire on the elusively running little cur as he scuttled up the hill in full view of them. Then, as an added bit of true sportsmanship, three German machine guns cut loose on him.

Twice, before he reached the shelter of the hill's farther side, he fell and rolled over as bullets found their mark in him. But always he struggled gamely to his feet and scrambled on. At the hilltop he fell a third time and lay there. As the watchers saw him up for a power, he writhed to his feet, dragging his hindlegs behind him, crippled, and vanished over the crest.

In time—but only barely in time—he crawled into headquarters. There, as the message was untied from his rope collar, he gave a tired little sigh and died. His work was done. His regiment was saved. At last he had time for the luxury of dying. Up till then he had been too busy.

Nor was he by any means the only mongrel to give up his white life that men might live, during the days of the war. The British War Office archives contain many a other instance of the sort. The English have learned to appreciate the brain and loyalty and dauntless stamina of mongrels as Americans have not. That is why so many crossbreds were used by them as war-dogs.

Stop the Cough.—Coughing is caused by irritation in the respiratory passages and is the effort to dislodge obstructions that come from inflammation of the mucous membrane. THE BRITISH ARMY.

Offers More Chances to Young Recruit Than Ever Before.

"Join the army and see the world," used to be the slogan of the recruiting sergeant. The army still offers recruits a splendid chance of seeing the world for nothing, but the sergeant's trump card is now, "Join the army and make sure of a career!"

Soldiering in the British army is no longer a blind alley job. In a sense, perhaps, it never was, for employers know that the former non-commissioned officer was an ideal man for any position of trust. Then, too, soldiers of outstanding ability have always been able to rise to commissioned rank. That once attained, at least a few of them have gone on to high command and the winning of deathless military fame.

Lark, however, did play some part in gaining the first step from non-commissioned to commissioned rank, and the man who joined up as a private, intending to be an officer one day, must have been of a fairly sanguine disposition.

To-day that is all changed. Partly because experience has shown what good officers rankers often make, and partly because of the shortage of candidates for commissions from the great public schools, a scheme has been started under which thirty young non-commissioned officers are sent to Sandhurst to train for commission every year. As the course lasts eighteen months, there are forty-five of these men always in residence.

So far, the scheme has worked extremely well. The last list of successful candidates for commissions, published the other day, is headed by the names of three of these rankers, who have won the first, second, and third places in order of merit. There are four other rankers in the first dozen passes, while the other "non-coms" in the list have also done creditably.

Two Women Owe Health to Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

St. Adolphe, Manitoba.—"I was very weak and had great pains during my periods so that I could not sweep the floor. The pains were in the right side and extended to the left and then down-wards. It seemed as if the body was heavy and would drag down. It is for these troubles I took the Vegetable Compound. I saw about it in a paper and one woman prevailed on me to take it. It has helped me in every way, the pains are less, and I have more appetite. It is a pleasure to recommend Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to other women."—Mrs. J. L. Nerves More Wonderful Than Radio.

Nerves are long, thin, living threads, which—like the wires of a telephone system—carry messages between different parts of the body. These messages are waves of something electrical; they can be started off by an electric shock, and recorded by electrical instruments, said Prof. A. V. Hill in a recent lecture in London, England.

They travel faster than an aeroplane; they tell us what is happening outside or inside us; they take orders to our muscles. All that we feel, pain, touch, heat, cold, taste, smell, light, sound, is due to streams of such nerve-waves, started by tiny "microphones" dotted over the outside and scattered throughout the inside of the body.

And our replies to these messages, the orders we send to our muscles, are also streams of waves, starting out from the nervous system which lives — well protected — inside our skulls and backbones.

PROGRESS MADE THE CHAIN STORES NECESSARY

We are living in days of change. Conditions now are different from those of fifty years ago.

In its time the individual store was sufficient. To-day, the growing demand for fine quality, always close personal contact with the rest of the world, and above all, good value, has made the chain store a necessity.

By uniting the tremendous power of twenty-two stores in one purchasing office, Canadian Department Stores Limited is able to offer you the same high grade merchandise at lower prices.

See these newer and finer values at Store No. 10, successors to The Robinson Co., Limited.

NAIL POINTS.

Prehistoric Man Made Use of Nails In His Home.

When you drive a nail into your wall to hang a picture on, do you ever pause, to think that you are using something with a history almost as old as that of humanity itself

A nail, over two and a half pounds in weight, and thick in proportion, was found in the ruins of Troy. And similar enormous nails have been recovered from the remains of lake dwellings and other places where prehistoric man made his home.

All nails were originally made at home. Then, when the smith became a specialist craftsman, he made the nails of the community, until a special nail-smith started in business. In the fifteenth century there was a guild of nail-smiths in Augsburg.

The first nail-making machine was invented in Britain at the end of the eighteenth century, and a little later the first nail factories were at work in Birmingham, England.

Do Bachelors Kiss Best?

Most of the film actresses agree that a real artiste gets no thrill out of screen kisses. Still they say she is able to differentiate between the genuine article and something not quite as good.

Carmel Myers conducted her intriguing blonde and brunette experiments with a half-dozen leading men. Ramon Navarro and Lew Cody were among them. Both Cody and Navarre, under the spell of her blonde wig, became almost timid lovers. But when they met her in other pictures, with her black hair challenging them, they changed into impetuous Lotharios, kissing her as if they meant it.

"In all my screen career I never have done any hectic love scenes with a married man so I can't say whether married men kiss better or worse than single ones."

WEDDING BELLS

Carter—Dellar.

A very pretty wedding was solemnized at the First Presbyterian Church, Port Colborne, on Wednesday, July 6th, when Harriet Dellar, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. E. Dellar, Port Colborne, became the bride of John Douglas Carter, son of Mr. and Mrs. L. E. Dellar, of Port Colborne, became the bride of John Douglas, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. John Cuthbert, of Port Colborne. The marriage ceremony was performed by the Rev. J. F. Wedderburn, under an arch of orange blossoms, roses, and ferns.

Promptly at one o'clock, to the strains of Lohengrin's wedding march, played by Mrs. Edward Cushman, the bride entered the church on the arm of her father who gave her in marriage. The bride was charming in a dress of white georgette trimmed with tulle and seed pearls. Her veil was of silk embroidered tulle made in cornet effect and held in place with a wreath of orange blossoms. She carried a beautiful shower bouquet of ophelia roses and lily-of-the-valley. The bridesmaid, Miss Esther Kyle, of Ayr, Ont., looked beautiful in a blue georgette dress trimmed with silver sequins and a large white mohair hat. She carried a bouquet of sweetheart roses. Verna Delline, the bride's little sister, made a pretty flower girl and carried a basket of roses. Mr. Leslie R. Cuthbert, brother of the groom, acted as best man, and the ushers were Mr. Lester Delline and Mr. Harold Delline. During the signing of the register the girls choir beautifully rendered "O Perfect Love".

Following the ceremony a reception was held at the bride's home on Forest Ave. The home was decorated with pink and white streamers, while roses and peonies formed the table decoration. Miss Ella Catherwood, Mrs. Gerald Jenkins, and Mrs. Douglas Horne, friends of the bride, assisted Mrs. Frank Wolfe, who catered for the luncheon. Later in the afternoon the bride and groom left amid showers of confetti and best wishes of their friends on a motor trip to Muskoka. The bride wore an ashes-of-roses flat crepe dress with white mohair and velvet hat and black coat trimmed with white fur. The happy couple were the recipients of many beautiful and useful gifts.

Among the out-of-town guests were Mr. John S. Cuthbert, Sr., of Hamilton; Mrs. R. Hughes, Miss W. A. Cuthbert, Mr. T. Pryer, relatives of the groom, and Mr. and Mrs. Earl Delline and son, Harold, of Napanee; Mrs. York and Mrs. Delline, grandmothers of the bride.—Port Colborne Citizen, July 7th, 1927.

Sills—Wilson

The home of Mr. and Mrs. T. A. Stafford, Plaunt Street, Renfrew, Ont., was the scene of a very pretty wedding at high noon on Tuesday, July 5th, when Beatrice Day Wilson, daughter of the late W. D. Wilson, of Calabogie, became the bride of Mr. J. L. Sills, B.Sc., of Hamilton, the Rev. Thomas McNaught officiating. The drawing room was artistically decorated with white and pink peonies and ferns, making a beautiful setting for the ceremony. The bride looked attractive in a beautiful gown of dove grey crepe georgette crepe, made in a long bodice effect, trimmed with Swiss hand made embroidered lace in silver and gold thread and wearing a large drooped hat to match, and blonde shoes. She carried a shower bouquet of cream roses and lillies of the valley.

The bridesmaid was Miss Gladys Wilson, sister of the bride, wearing a very dainty gown of cope blue georgette crepe trimmed with French valenciennes lace with hat of leghorn and georgette, and brown shoes. She wore a shoulder bouquet of sweetheart roses. The groom was attended by Mr. Fred Totten, of Renfrew. Following the ceremony a buffet luncheon was served. Later in the afternoon Mr. and Mrs. Sills left for an extended motor trip, the bride wearing a travelling dress of Nile green crepe, with hat to match of crocheted straw and coat of black and white check with large collar of white fur. Mr. and Mrs. Sills will reside in Hamilton.

Mr. Sills is the only son of Mr. and Mrs. Merle Sills, Napanee.

Miles—Card.

The home of Mr. and Mrs. Irvin Card, Palace Road, was the scene of a pretty wedding on Monday evening, July 11th, 1927, at 8 o'clock, when their only daughter, Ilah Luella, was united in marriage to Douglas Homer Miles, youngest son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Homer Miles. Rev. R. E. Merrick, of Morven, officiated. The bridal party entered the drawing room to the strains of Lohengrin's wedding march played by Miss Isabella Card. The bride, who was given away by her father, wore a gown of powder blue georgette over pale pink taffeta, and carried a bouquet of pink and white roses. She was attended by her cousin, Miss Bessie Card, who wore a gown of peach georgette over rose taffeta, and carried a bouquet of pink and white roses. The groom was attended by his brother, Mr. Wilfred Leland J. Miles. The groom's gift to the bridesmaid and flower girl were pearl necklaces. During the signing of the register Miss Card played "Barcarolle" from Hoffman. After the ceremony a dainty luncheon was served. Mr. and Mrs. Miles will leave the latter part of this week for their new home in Oswego, N.Y.

Father, ruefully gazing on his last shilling: "Money has wings, and none more than a house fly."

"Yes," said his sixteen-year-old son, "and some houses have wings, for I've seen many a house fly."

"You're smarter than your old dad maybe, my son, but I always thought that no part of a house except the chimney flue!"

Persistent Asthma. A most distressing characteristic of this debilitating disease, is the persistence with which recurring attacks come to sap away strength and leave the sufferer in a state of almost continual exhaustion. No wiser precaution can be taken than that of keeping at hand a supply of Dr. J. D. Kellogg's Asthma Remedy, famous as the most potent remedy for eradicating the disease from the tender air passages.

TOWN COUNCIL

A special meeting of the Council was held in the Council Chamber on Monday night.

The members present were Reeve Symons and Councillors Jewell, Kimmerly, Dunbar, Howitt, Fitzpatrick and Simpson.

Mayor Roy presided.

A communication was received from the legal office, Dept. of Highways, in respect to a sign at the west end of the town. On motion the matter was referred to the Streets Committee.

A petition was received from the property holders on Thomas Street, between John and East Streets, for the construction of a permanent pavement on that block. Moved by Reeve Boyes, seconded by Coun. Fitzpatrick, that no action be taken, and that the town's engineer's bring in a report of the cost of draining this block without paving. Carried.

On motion of Coun. Kimmerly, seconded by Coun. Fitzpatrick, that Monday, Aug. 1st, be appointed Civic Holiday. Carried.

Moved by Coun. Simpson, seconded by Coun. Kimmerly, that the countersigning of checks be dispensed with for amounts of $500 or less. Carried.

Moved by Coun Dunbar, seconded by Coun. Jewell, that the Town Property Committee be authorized to purchase a new set of 10-ton scales for the Market. Carried.

Considerable discussion took place on the general plan of paving the market. It was finally decided to leave the matter in the hands of a committee of three from the Town Council and three from the Napanee Chamber of Commerce to report to the Council on a definite plan.

The following accounts were ordered paid :

Denison Bros.	$43 97
J. H. Brown,	10 25
A. T. Turnbull	17.85

The Hydro accounts were referred to the Clerk, with power to act.

ENTERPRISE

The Twelfth was surely a success, as Wagar's Grove held a large crowd. The shower in the morning, instead of hindering, only helped to swell the numbers. It certainly was many of the ladies' to be able to take the day off from work. The committee of management is surely to be praised, as there were no accidents on the grounds during the day.

The bride and groom are home from their honeymoon. We all hope they had a lovely time, and wish them every success for the future.

We are glad to be able to rectify a slight mistake made in the Beaver last week with regard to the exams. from the junior fourth to senior. Aileen King passed with 64 per cent. which we consider good. The mistake was easy enough made, as the teacher, in her great rush of work, may have missed it. We hear Miss McDonald said if she had two months longer with her junior fourth she could have put them all through the entrance, which speeks well for her. Miss McGee and Miss McDonald, as both must have put forth extra effort to have the class up so well.

Do you know the W.M.S. sells ice cream on the evening of July 30th? If you don't, just keep this date in your mind and come with your nickles ann dimes.

Mr. and Mrs. I. M. Loucks and son Gardiner are visiting at his father's, Mr. Jacob Loucks.

We see many new faces around, and surmise they are here to spend the holidays.

Her Weight in Gold

By MURIEL LEE

(©, 1928, Western Newspaper Union.)

"I'm through!" announced Bruce Atwood with fixed determination.

"I'll stick," asserted his mining partner, Dan Forster.

"Don't blame me, Dan," went on the first almost pathetically, for he and Forster had been close friends. "I have cheerfully invested half of my resources in this Golden Bar proposition to find that I am not adapted for the business. There's gold in the bed of the old Minouka, for we have found it, but it's all guess work as to locating the particular spots where it is massed up in sufficient quantities to pay for taking it out."

"Well, if you haven't the patience to wait until the dams and blins are put in, quit it and no hard feelings. One thing, though, do you intend to draw out your share of the capital now in the bank to cover work contracted for?"

"Not a penny of it," replied Atwood promptly. "Go the limit on that, Dan. You see, I have only a few thousands left and I'm going to make a new try in real legitimate business. I've got a fair opportunity to do it down in Appleton.

"What line, Bruce?"

"Boots and shoes, an established store. Owner sick and has to sell out. I've got some new ideas as to running such a business. I'll not be content to simply drudge along and make a living. If I can't see a big future in the proposition, I'll sell out and get to the big cities."

Within the week Atwood was sole proprietor of the shoe store in Appleton. He had the place renovated and bought a dazzling electric sign. He spared no money to make the show windows attractive. The opening day was signalized by a band concert. Atwood circularized the district for miles around and on Saturday there was a constant rush of farmers and their families and sales were beyond his fondest anticipations.

The new advertising wrinkle of the week was the settling in place of a handsome, weighing scale, capacious and orbate, with a brond alluring dial and everybody was invited to weigh themselves free of charge. Very few passersby ignored the opportunity.

One afternoon Atwood was standing near the door when a young lady and an old gentleman, evidently her father, halted, as the former spoke in musical accents, "Oh, papa, I want to weigh myself. I haven't done so since I came home from my visit East."

Atwood came forward and waved his hand toward the scale, receiving a smiling recognition of thanks from the bewitching young lady as she stepped upon the scale platform.

"One hundred and twenty-two pounds," announced Vivian Dalton. "Why, papa, home cooking has increased my weight over six pounds in a week."

"That adds so much more to your value," was the affectionate reply, "worth your weight in gold. The fortunate young man who wins you will have to qualify up to that standard."

"Oh, what a lovely pair of slippers!" exclaimed Vivian, and in her haste to get nearer to the show window her foot caught in the extending top plate of the platform and tore away the heel of her shoe entirely and a part of the sole. She would have fallen only that Atwood caught her. For a fleeting moment he held his arms this dainty, sweet creature, whose value he estimated even beyond that expressed by her proud and loving parent. She had to come inside and remained seated while the cobbler repaired her disordered footgear and both she and her father expressed their thanks for the prompt and helpful attention.

"I can't forget her," sighed Atwood the next morning. "My manager says her father is the money king in the town. Pretty plainly he indicated that her husband-to-be must have her weight in gold.' H'm! One hundred and twenty-two pounds. Why that would be a little fortune. I'll forget her. Probably I'll never see her again. I couldn't match her with silver even in the present state of my finances."

But the next day Miss Dalton came into the store to buy the pretty slippers she had fancied. During the following week she again visited the place to introduce a lady interested in charity for the poor. Would Mr. Atwood contribute a pair of shoes to children of poor families.

"Oh, surely." And more than that, "just bring in the sizes needed as new worthy applicants in need appear." And the radiant smile from Vivian that rewarded his good heartedness fully compensated for his impulsive generosity.

Another month went by and those two met at several local functions. Then Atwood was invited to the Dalton home and was made to feel as a welcome guest.

One day he received a letter from Dan Forster. Golden Bar had paid out rich! Enclosed in the missive was a receipt from the United States mint for Atwood's half of the proceeds of the last clean-up.

"Fortune has smiled on me," he told Mr. Dalton and Vivian, meeting them on the street that afternoon and he showed them the mint receipt. "Gold! We're wading in it down at the Bar. And I've been reckoning—in the pure metal I've got enough and to spare, to weight down the scales for over 122 pounds. I was thinking of Miss Dalton's value, you see," he smiled, and Mr. Dalton looked pleasingly interested and pretty Vivian flushed consciously.

THE ROYAL FARMER.

Prince of Wales Acquires Farm at Shorthorn Headquarters.

A great deal of interest has been aroused among Midland farmers by the news that the Prince of Wales has acquired a farm at Lenton, near Nottingham, England, says Answers. A portion of the prince's famous herd of Shorthorns is to be transferred to the new farm from Cornwall.

Lenton, has associations with the early days of the Shorthorns, and in the middle of last century the Lenton herd was one of the finest in the country.

The Shorthorn, which is one of the most useful breeds of cattle known, is of British origin, but it has now spread all over the world. A great part in the development of the breed was played by Wilkinson, of Lenton, and those interested in stock-raising are looking forward to possible fresh progress as a result of the return of part of the prince's herd to one of the original homes of their race.

Some idea of the high esteem in which the Shorthorn is held may be gained from the fact that 2,500 guineas was paid at Birmingham the other day for a bull destined for Argentina.

Apart from the interest which the prince's new farm has to stock-breeders, people in the Midlands generally welcome his acquisition of Lenton. The sportsmen and farmers of the district already know his Royal Highness in the hunting-field, and they are looking forward to his being more frequently in their midst in future.

ARCHERY GOOD EXERCISE.

Try It and See How Your Love for the Bow Grows.

The bow and arrow may be out of fashion, but they are not yet nearly dead.

A great lover of archery has been arguing with boys and girls who know nothing about it. He explains that there is no joy equal to watching the flight of an arrow as it sings on its way to the mark, or even to a near hit. Try it, he says, and see how your love for the bow grows.

It takes muscular exertion to use it. You furnish not only direction, but accuracy and force also depend on you. There are few muscles that are not exercised when using the bow. It broadens and straightens your shoulders, strengthens your wrists, improves your sight, steadies your nerves, and in very fact and deed makes you a better man physically and a better sportsman. There is no exercise on earth, this archer says, which is its equal in developing coordination of mind, hand, muscle and eye.

Some men play archery golf. Instead of holes they have targets set up at intervals, with sacks stuffed with straw to be shot at.

Every Motor Car Driver must now secure a
LICENSE TO DRIVE

EVERY person, not being a licensed chauffeur, driving a motor vehicle in Ontario must secure an Operator's License to drive. This law came into effect on July 1st. Application forms for licenses may be obtained from every garage and issuer of motor car licenses in the Province.

Operator's Licenses will be granted without examination, upon filling up the application form, to all those who have been driving a car continuously for at least six months and who have driven at least 500 miles, and who have no physical or mental disability which may interfere with the operation of a motor car. A nominal fee of $1 is charged.

Inexperienced drivers and those suffering from disability as above will be given opportunity to pass an examination by Inspectors of the Department. These Inspectors are located at convenient points throughout the Province. Your garage knows the name of the nearest examiner to you. The examination fee is $1.

All drivers must carry their Operator's Licenses at all times when driving. If a car is driven by two or more persons, each must have a license. Traffic patrol officers may call for the production of Operator's Licenses, both on city streets and country highways. You will be open to a penalty under The Highways Traffic Act if you are not able to produce yours.

Operator's Licenses issued now will be good until January, 1929. In Provinces and States which require an Operator's License, the possession of an Ontario Operator's License will be necessary by every one driving a motor car registered in this Province. Do not attempt to leave the Province in charge of a car without your Operator's License.

FOR YOUR PROTECTION ON THE HIGHWAY

The Department of Highways is determined to keep the highways safe for you and all other users. With the higher speed limit and the abnormal increase in motor traffic, incompetent drivers must be weeded out and identification of all drivers must be made possible.

The Department has enjoyed the heartiest co-operation from the vast majority of motor car drivers in the past. It anticipates that this new measure for safety will meet with the same sensible and public spirited support.

Don't delay in securing your application form. Fill it out at once so that your Operator's License may be issued without delay.

His Last Dollar

By EVELYN LEE

(Copyright, Western Newspaper Union.)

"Twenty dollars," spoke Sigmund Levi, pawnbroker.

"I will take it," answered Roslyn Dare, and placed his watch and chain upon the counter.

He had seen better days. They were days now, indeed. Looking back a single year, when he had come to the city with a comfortable patrimony, he had invested it gradually in an automobile accessory which on the surface seemed capable of earning a fortune. In theory and as a model it demonstrated to perfection. Practically used it would not stand the test.

"I've beggared you, but I've been honest with you," said John Moore, sorrowfully. "The man I bought the device from was honest, too. There is only one hope—to go east and report to him the obstacle that stands in the way of our selling a half interest for enough to keep us for life. Don't quite hate me for bringing you to this."

"Not at all," declared Dare. "We all make mistakes. I'm young, not afraid of work and I shan't allow myself to starve."

He stowed safely away the $20 now, and stood for a moment calculating where he would go to get a cheap room and board. The door of the pawnshop opened as he was about to leave and a young girl carrying a long pasteboard box entered. She was dripping with the outside rain, her apparel was poor and threadbare, the wind had thrown her hair into disorder, her face was pale and anxious looking, and her eyes were burning with a token of excitement and suspense. For all that, a rare, natural beauty shone in every feature, and the evident fact that she was in deep mental distress aroused the sympathy of Dare. She advanced to the counter and placed the box upon it.

"See, sir," she spoke plaintively, "I could not borrow money, but I have brought my coat and hat and some little trinkets. Won't they make up the amount of the loan?"

The sordid-faced pawnbroker opened the box, tossed over its contents casually and shook his head. The girl choked up and clutched at the counter to support herself.

"Oh, don't say no!" she pleaded in broken, despairing accents. "It means life or death for my dear sick father unless he has his favorite Amati. He has not yet missed the violin. It would break his heart if he knew it was gone. Listen, sir, his wild, wayward nephew stole it from the home and pawned it here with you. I never knew it until I found the loan ticket. An hour since, for the first time in weeks, my father seemed to revive like his old self. 'You will prepare a light repast and prop me up with pillows,' he said to me, 'and bring me my precious Amati, and we will have an old-time musical soul feast.'"

"Lady," said the pawnbroker, "I cannot let the instrument go without the $20 borrowed upon it. I never break a business rule, but I will give you $100 for the violin."

"Oh, I would not dare sell it!"

"Two hundred. You are poor: that will mean more to your sick father than sentiment."

"Give the young lady her property," spoke Dare, moved by a mighty impulse, and he placed the $20 bill upon the counter. The pawnbroker glared at him distastefully, for he fully comprehended the value of the violin. The young lady stared in amazement at Dare, but she took up the violin once the pawnbroker reluctantly rendered, and hugged it lovingly, her grateful eyes, swimming with tears, turned upon Dare. He accompanied her to the door."

"Young lady, the gentleman has just pawned all he has of value to give him food and shelter. Five hundred dollars for the violin," said the pawnbroker, but Dare hurried the girl out under the awning.

"Oh, sir!" she spoke," is it true that your great good heart has sacrificed—"

"You're attention to the man," interrupted Dare lightly. "I am temporarily out of funds, but as a man having an interest in a hundred thousand dollar proposition, I would be pretty callous to refuse to save a poor old man, would I not?"

She clung to his arm as she piloted the way down the street, he intimating that he would like to see her home, and hoping he could be of further service. They reached the poor, obscure rooms where Robert Dalzier and his daughter lived, and for an hour Roslyn Dare revelled in music that seemed to bring his soul in perfect consonance with all that was sweet and worthy in life.

"I shall surely pay you back," pledged the girl earnestly. "There is a room on the next floor my fugitive 2-pound occupied, and you could share your poor meals until—until fortune comes back to you, as it surely will, for all your noble goodness."

Dare found work the next morning. The delightful company of father and daughter evenings brought a new and joyous delight into his life. At the end of two weeks Vera, who had secured employment as well for herself, brought to him the money he had advanced. He refused to accept it, but asked her love instead.

And John Moore returned with good news, and each succeeding day was fairer than its predecessor and, fully proven, Robert Dalzier played the wedding march at the ceremony that made Vera and Roslyn man and wife.

AUTOMATIC SKY CAMERA.

Highest Peak of Mechanical Perfection In Aerial Photography.

The highest peak of mechanical perfection in aerial photography has been reached in a new camera used at the R.A.F. School of Photography at Farnborough, England.

When the pilot wishes to take a photograph of the ground below him, he presses a button, which sends an electric current through "FS," as the camera is known. The camera does the rest. It takes one hundred photographs at regular intervals on a strip of film nine inches wide, without fault or stop, unless the pilot stops it.

It sets its own time for exposures, and five seconds before each photograph is due a red light appears on the dashboard and warns the pilot so that he may tilt his machine to the desired angle.

After the photograph has been taken, the roll moves along and prepares to take another snap, while the word "set" appears on a dial in front of the pilot. The same process is repeated one hundred times, when the camera automatically stops.

The pilot can also take pictures in the intervals between the regular snaps by pressing another button. Dials and pointers denote how many exposures have been made, at what intervals, the length of the exposure, and whether the camera is ready for another picture.

"FS's" will shortly be used on an aerial survey of little-known country in Rhodesia, where its ability to take a chain of hundred pictures will be an obvious advantage, as they can afterwards be linked up into a plan.

WHERE ANTS EAT MEN.

Mr. Cecil Gosling Tells of His Experiences on the Amazon.

A land where ants eat men was discovered on the Mamore, one of the great tributaries of the Amazon, by Mr. Cecil Gosling, formerly British Minister to Bolivia, who describes a perilous journey, which he made through some of the wildest parts of South America, in an interesting book, "Travel and Adventure in Many Lands."

Mr. Gosling on one occasion had lost himself in the forest when he came to a half-caste's hut.

"What do you suppose would have been your fate if you had been really lost?" said the half-caste.

"The Jaguars might have eaten me," said Mr. Gosling.

"That is possible," said the half-caste, "but it is far more likely that you would have been devoured by ants. You would have seen the ants collect round you from all sides.

"Instinct would have compelled you to go on, but the time would not be far distant when, exhausted by lack of food and water, you could go no farther. You would have laid down, and the ants would have collected round you in myriads and would have eaten you."

Mr. Gosling travelled at times through forests inhabited by wild Indians who shoot at sight with poisoned arrows, a wound from which means death. He had to go without bread for seven months.

Houses of Cork.

Among the great number of new houses required for men to work the new Kent (England) coalfield are some that are being built on a novel plan.

The walls are six inches thick apart from the inner ½-inch coating of plaster. The outer three inches are of concrete, while next to the plaster are two inches of compressed cinder, called breeze. Between the concrete and the breeze is one inch of compressed cork. The whole is built solidly about a steel frame, the cork taking the place of the usual air-space in the wall.

The cork, being a non-conductor of heat, keeps the heat in during winter and keeps it out in summer, and those already in occupation are providing very comfortable on that account. Over a hundred have been built during the past twelve months, and 200 more are under construction.

Address and Presentation

On Monday afternoon, June 27th, at the closing exercises of the Tamworth Consolidated School, the following presentation was made to Miss Mary Milligan. It was presented by Master Roy Milligan, and the address was read by Miss Muriel Hunt.

We, the pupils of Tamworth Consolidated School, Room 2, learn with deepest regret of the approaching departure of our much honoured teacher, and while we are gathered together here, with all the accompanied happiness of holiday time, this thought is a dark cloud which hangs menacingly on our horizon joy. We are losing one whose work during the four years she has been with us has taught us to regard her not only as a faithful teacher but also as a sincere friend. She has been a teacher who has placed our interests before all others on all occasions, devoting her whole time and ability to the advancement of our welfare, and as a friend she has proved herself sincere on all occasions.

Her cheerfulness in work has led us to believe that to instruct was a pleasure and this combined with her many other congenial characteristics, has tended to the increase of our sorrow.

Considering all this we feel ourselves under a great weight of indebtedness which we are not in any way able to repay, and with this thought in our minds, we present you this scarf as a slight token of our good will, and beg you to accept it in the spirit in which it is given, not for its intrinsic value but as a remembrance that will bind us always in the same spirit of friendship with you.

Now as our separation must be, we join unanimously in wishing that success and happiness may ever 'attend you in your future life.

Signed on behalf of your pupils. -

NO BETTER MEDICINE FOR LITTLE ONES

Is What Thousands of Mothers Say of Baby's Own Tablets

A medicine for the baby or growing child—one that the mother can feel assured is absolutely safe as well as efficient—is found in Baby's Own Tablets. The Tablets are praised by thousands of mothers throughout the country. These mothers have found by actual experience that there is no other medicine for little ones to equal them. Once a mother has used them for her children she will use nothing else. Concerning them Mrs. Charles Hutt, Tancook Island, N.S., writes: "I have ten children, the baby being just six months old. I have used Baby's Own Tablets for them for the past 20 years and can truthfully say that I know of no better medicine for little ones. I always keep a box of the Tablets in the house and would advise all other mothers to do so."

Baby's Own Tablets are sold by all medicine dealers or will be mailed upon receipt of price, 25 cents per box, by The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Why Firestone Tires Are Better

One of the outstanding developments by Firestone Engineers is the Gum-Dipping process which impregnates and insulates every fibre of every cord with rubber—adding strength to the cords and reducing internal friction and heat so destructive to tire life.

The Firestone Dealer in your locality will gladly explain to you the extra value of Gum-Dipping. He is prepared to demonstrate how the cords of the carcass are saturated in a rubber which makes motoring more economical with added comfort and safety.

Our Sweater Coats in the new Blazer stripes, Red and Black, Gold and Black, Blue and Black, Blue and White, are just the correct thing for sport wear. They are of medium weight all-wool worsted yarns and are priced at $4.50. They look very smart with Cream Flannel Trousers.

We are showing an attractive range of open-neck Pullover Sweaters in fancy patterns. They look particularly well with the sporty odd Trousers so many young men like. The price is very reasonable, $3.50.

We have a very nice medium weight Sweater Coat in new shades of Fawn and Lovat, made with three patch pockets. There are three shades that would match the Tweed Knickers we are also showing. Moderately priced at $3.50.

A popular priced range is the medium weight all-wool Coat that comes in shades of Oxford, Camel, Light Heather, and Lovat. At the price of $2.25 you can find many uses for one of these garments.

OBITUARY

James H. York.

The community was grieved to learn of the death of another aged pioneer, in the person of James H. York.

Deceased was past his 83rd year. Although not being well for many years, he was never confined to his bed for any length of time, until nearly five weeks before his death he was compelled to give up his hard fought fight, and on Tuesday, June 28th, passed peacefully away.

He is survived by his two daughters, Mrs. Frank Donnelly, of Tamworth, and Edith, at home; one grandson, James Perry Young, also at home, and one sister, Mrs. Hugh Close.

The funeral was held on Thursday afternoon, at 2 o'clock, in the United Church at Tamworth. The remains were laid to rest in the neighborhood cemetery, beside his late wife, who predeceased him some thirty-two years ago.

Janet E. Dopking.

On the morning of June 17th, at the ripe old age of 85 years and 2 months, there passed peacefully away out of life's earthly shadows, Janet E. Dopking, who was a loving and devoted mother, a good neighbor, always ready to give her services in time of sickness and trouble.

She was one of a family of ten, all of whom had predeceased her, having been born and spent her life near Enterprise, being the daughter of William E. Wagar and Lucinda Clark.

In 1864 she was united in marriage to Norman Parks, who predeceased her in 1872. Later she married Alexander Dopking, who died sixteen years ago.

Two daughters mourn the loss of a loving mother, Mrs. George Hyland, Kingston, and Mrs. Gordon Wagar, Enterprise; also three grandchildren and three great-grandchildren.

The funeral service was held on Monday, June 20th, at 1.30 p.m., at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Gordon Wagar, Enterprise, with whom she has resided for a number of years; Rev. Mr. Bunt, Pastor of the Enterprise United Church, of which she was a life long member and a willing worker, officiated. The remains were placed in the White Church cemetery, near Moscow.

An elderly and wealthy dame was much interested in prison reform and was visiting a large jail. "Don't any of your old friends come to see you on visiting days?" she asked of a big, burly convict.

"Nom," responded the former burglar, "they're all here with me!"

The most obstinate corns fall to rout Holloway's Corn Remover. Try it.

They waited expectantly, and then Jones said, "I am to have the Tetty."

FAREWELL TO REV. C. J. AND MRS. WILSON

Addresses of appreciation were presented to Rev. and Mrs. C. J. Wilson, on the occasion of their departure from Roblin for a new field of labor at Maynooth.

Dear Mr. and Mrs. Wilson,—To-night the Mission Circle is assembled for its last monthly meeting under your charge. We are a loyal body, a united body, a body we know you are proud of, and a body who is proud to have had you as our real leader and chief executive. When we stop to consider that in 1923 this Mission Circle was first organized, and that at the end of three years raised one hundred dollars for the furthering of God's Kingdom, we indeed are very grateful to Mr. Wilson, who has given us so much of his time, encouragement, and leadership; and also to Mrs. Wilson is a great deal of thanks due for her hospitality on so many occasions. Not only has the Mission Circle been a financial success, but it has educated us all in the four-fold life, the program of the C. G. I. T. and C. S. E. T., based on the verse "And Jesus increased in wisdom and in stature and in favour with God and man". Its success has been in a measure due to its officers and the support and cooperation of each of its members, but we always knew that someone was behind us ready to help us out of every difficulty, and we were in it we way encouraged to do our very best. We are suffering a dreadful loss, one from which we will never emerge the same, but we know that the young people in Maynooth are gaining two wonderful friends and helpers, and we are not selfish enough to wish to deprive them of this advantage. We stand ready to welcome Mr. Oliver, and to help him in every way possible. In order to show our appreciation, we ask you to accept this easy chair as a reminder of our love and never dying loyalty, and we trust you may long be spared to carry on the good work of righteousness, to fight the good fight, to keep the faith, to stand firm for Jesus' sake.

Signed by Roblin Mission Circle.

Dear Mr. and Mrs. Wilson,—We, the friends and neighbours of Roblin appointment, could not let this opportunity slip of showing in some way our appreciation of your unselfish and painstaking services during the seven years you have laboured amongst us. Both in sickness and in health we have ever found you at the post of duty. Although your work calls you to another field of endeavour, we feel that distance will not prevent fond memories and prayerful remembrance for those whom you have left behind. We hope and pray that in the new field, a more abundant harvest will be your reward, and trust that to you and Mrs. Wilson also may be extended health and strength for every trial. We would ask you to accept this purse as a small token of our regard for your unselfish service here.

Signed on behalf of the Roblin appointment.

GEO. H. BROOKS.
JOHN H. KIMMETT.

Rev. C. J. Wilson.

Dear Brother,—Now that you are about to go from our midst, we take this opportunity of showing our appreciation of your unswerving devotion to duty as our Pastor; your kindly interest in young and old at all times, and the example you have given us of what a true loyal Orangeman should be. We recall the many times you have taken part in our celebrations and services, giving of the best that was in you and the high ideals you have placed before us, especially in the cause of true Temperance.

On behalf of Roblin Orange Lodge, we ask you to accept this volume of Young's Analytical Concordance, trusting it may not only answer a worthy purpose in your chosen work, but that it will ever keep green in your memory those ties of fellowship we have enjoyed together. We pray the Lord and Master may extend unto you and Mrs. Wilson renewed health and strength and many years of that same service you have so unselfishly given here.

Signed on behalf of Roblin Orange Lodge.

FRED McCONNELL, W.M.
JOHN BOTTING, Secty.

MIXTURE EXPLODES WOMAN BADLY BURNED

Husband Also Injured in Fire Which Destroys Their Home.

Mrs. Frank A. McKim, who resides near Tupperville, was admitted to the Public General Hospital, Chatham, on the afternoon of July 5th, suffering from severe burns received in a fire, which destroyed her home that day. Her husband was also burned badly about the hands and face in endeavoring to smother the flames. Enquiries at the hospital elicited the information that Mrs. McKim's condition was critical. She was burned practically over her entire body.

Mrs. McKim, it appears, was preparing a mixture for covering cloth which was to serve as a waterproof cover for a haystack. The mixture was in a container resting in a big pan on the kitchen stove and exploded, causing a fire, which soon gutted the dwelling. Mr. McKim, who was in the yard, rushed to his wife's assistance and had great difficulty in smothering the flames, and carrying her to safety.

Farmers of the vicinity flocked to render aid, but, aside from moving some of the furniture, they were powerless to control the fire.

Mrs. McKim is a sister of Mrs. John H. Allison, Palace Road, and the youngest of a family of nine children, seven of whom are still living.

Mrs. McKim passed out, after nine hours of intense suffering, and was conscious to the last.

OBITUARY

Mr. Michael Asselstine.

The community suffered a great loss in the death of Mr. Michael Asselstine, the veteran woolen manufacturer, of Odessa, who passed away at his home, on July 12th, in his 82nd year. Mr. Asselstine was born just across the road from his late home and spent his entire life in the community. He was united in marriage with Jennie Chatterson, in 1868, and with her led a very industrious and devoted life until her death in 1923.

His was a pioneer mill, the business having been established in 1810. It has remained in the family ever since. He personally owned and operated the mill for over sixty years. It was not until two years ago that he was compelled by failing health to give up the work and thus the wheels of the oldest woollen mill in Canada ceased to turn.

Mr. Asselstine was a man of the strictest integrity in his business and was always proud of the fact that not a pound of shoddy had ever entered his mill. He was a regular attendant of the Methodist Church, of which he was a faithful member and generous supporter.

He has left to mourn his loss ,two daughters, Frances, of the old home, and Mrs. J. M. Shaver, of Winnipeg; an aged mother who lately celebrated her 103rd birthday; two sisters, Mrs. Emma Powley, of Orillia, and Miss Kate Asselstine, of Kingston, and a brother, Henry, of Toronto.

The largely attended funeral service was conducted by Rev. G. McQuade, of Odessa United Church. Mr. McQuade spoke feelingly of the influence of the man into whose business not a pound of shoddy had ever entered, and whose life had measured up to the same standard.

Many and beautiful were the floral tributes offered by sorrowing neighbors and friends.

Keep Children Well During Hot Weather

Every mother knows how fatal the hot summer months are to small children. Cholera infantum, diarrhoea, dysentery, colic and stomach troubles are rife at this time and often a precious little life is lost after only a few hours' illness. The mother who keeps Baby's Own Tablets in the house feels safe. The occasional use of the Tablets prevent stomach and bowel troubles, or if trouble comes suddenly —as it generally does —the Tablets will bring the baby safely through. They are sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

An Irish applicant said to a magistrate: "Sure, a man has threatened to kill me, yer honor."

WISE AND OTHERWISE

When is a fish like a bird?—When it rises and takes a fly.

If one be troubled with corns, he will find in Holloway's Corn Remover an application that will entirely relieve suffering.

Protect the child from the ravages of worms by using Mother Graves' Worm Exterminator. It is a standard remedy, and years of use have enhanced its reputation.

"Have you seen Norah's new evening gown?"

"No, what does it look like?"

"Well, in most places it's very like Norah."

"Well, Mother Lena, how is your husband to-day? He went out in the middle of the service."

"Yes, sir, he's ageing rapidly — he walks in his sleep now!"

Smith—I say, Jones, did you know the war was over in China?

Jones—No; is that so? When did it finish?

Smith—I did not say it had finished. I said the war was over in China.

Bobby—Tommy Smith wanted me to fight, mother, and I wouldn't do it.

Proud Mother—You were perfectly right, dear.

Bobby—You bet, I did fight with him once and he licked me.

Muscular Rheumatism Subdued. — When one is a sufferer from muscular rheumatism he can do no better than to have the region rubbed with Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil. Let the rubbing be brisk and continue until ease is secured. There is more virtue in a bottle of it than can be fully estimated.

"John," said his wife, "how do you spell 'osteopath'?"

"O-s-t-e-o-p-a-t-h."

"That's what I thought," she said as she tore up the letter she was writing and began over again.

And she couldn't understand why he laughed.

Dread of Asthma makes countless thousands miserable. Night after night the attacks return and even when brief respite is given, the mind is still in torment from continual anticipation. Dr. J. D. Kellogg's Asthma Remedy changes all this. Relief comes, and at once, while future attacks are warded off, leaving the afflicted one in a state of peace and happiness he once believed he could never enjoy. Inexpensive and sold almost everywhere.

The only son of the family was at home on his first vacation. He and his father were discussing affairs of the day, and finally the boy remarked, "Say, dad, I hope when I am as old as you are I shall know more than you do."

"I will go one better, my boy," the father replied. "I hope that when you are as old as I am, you will know as much as you think you do now!"

One of the most effective vermifuges on the market is Miller's Worm Powders. They will not only clear the stomach and bowels of worms, but will prove a very serviceable medicine for children in regulating the infantile system and maintaining it in a healthy condition. There is nothing in their composition that will injure the most delicate stomach when directions are followed, and they can be given to children in the full assurance that they will utterly destroy all worms.

The delicate fragrance of Old English Lavender is most refreshing, and Yardley of England has created Perfumes and Powders, Bath Salts and Talcums, that are famous the world over for the Lavender odors. A complete stock at Wallace's, Napanee Agents.

"Was the banquet a success?"

A DOMESTIC LESSON

By JESSIE E. SHERWIN

(Copyright, 1926, Western Newspaper Union)

"When Serena Bartlett married William Farson," observed Mr. Abel Ward.

"Better get it right, as you never do," objected Mrs. Dorcas Ward. "You mean Selina."

"I don't. Her name is Serena, as I have every reason to know. Think I've forgotten making out all kinds of documents for 'Serena, daughter of John Bartlett,' when he died and I was employed in the county clerk's office back there at Farmington?"

"SELINA—Selina! Poor spelling, Abel, as well as failing memory."

This was too much for the self-opinionated Abel and he left the room, slamming the door after him.

"Always stubborn and always wrong!" he ground out, as expressing his opinion of his arbitrary wife.

"Guessing at things as usual and never getting them right!" commented Dorcas. "I hope I'm not in my dotage, that I can't remember a simple familiar name."

It was a sample of the weekly, sometimes daily, quarrels and bickerings in the Ward family. At the end of twenty years of quite comfortable and harmonious domestic life, Abel and Dorcas were forming a habit of contrariness and contradiction that bade fair to wreck the family institution. It had been accentuated more recently by involving Lelia, their only daughter, in the general ensemble. She was away at school approaching a creditable graduation, and it and her first love experience were marred by the temperamental idiosyncracies of her parents. Her prospective fiance was Gerald Eyre. Abel had liked him from the first, and took pride in believing that he came from "the well established Eyre family" whom he had heard of when a lad. That was enough to arouse the perverse spirit of Dorcas. She made Lelia miserable by expressing a dislike for the lover whom Abel favored, and when she told he was thinking of the Ayres, not the Eyre family, which led to the usual battle of discussion and variance.

Abel was so wrought up that when he arrived at the office he made a confidant of his partner as to the nagging spirit of his wife in general, and the Serena-Selina incident in particular.

"All right, go and see this Serena lady and get her to establish your claim. Prove thereby to your wife that you are correct. Follow up that system a few times, and you will probably break up her really unpleasant disputatious pastime."

Now it was singular in a way, though quite natural, that the same thought should have occurred to Mrs. Ward. That was why at the same hour husband and wife arrived at the home of their old-time acquaintance, forty miles distant by rail. Dorcas looked suspicious and Abel confused as they met unexpectedly on the porch of the lady's home, but, before they could explain or recover mutual equanimity, she who was now Mrs. Farson, appeared at the door of the house. She was attired in mourning, looked sad and troubled, but she welcomed these old-time friends in a pleasant way, showed them into the parlor and looked questioningly at them as she noted that they were palpably embarrassed.

"May as well tell just what we came for," blurted out Abel, and he recited the object of the visit. He concluded with the words:

"Just tell Dorcas that it's Serena, will you?"

"No, Selina!" interposed his persistent helpmeet.

"You are both in error," continued Mrs. Farson.

"Then what is it?" challenged Abel.

"It is, and always has been, Cyrathea."

Abel sort of slunk down in his chair and Dorcas cast a vagueful look at him, as if he had cheated her out of a treasured possession.

"Will you let me say something that is in my heart, dear friends?" suggested the lady seriously. "It is plain that you are entering a perilous experience in wasting your time and hurting one another's feelings, prompted by trivial matters on which you disagree. I speak from experience, and the speaker sighed sorrowfully. "My husband and I parted about a year ago as a result of our petty quarrels. He died away from home, and the reproach of it will make me unhappy to the end."

"I say, Dorcas," spoke Abel, as they got outside, "that young Eyre may not belong to the family I supposed, after all."

"As you like, Abel," responded Dorcas in a penitential tone. "We are both liable to mistakes, you know."

"Suppose we quit making them?" suggested Abel, giving the arm of his better half an affectionate squeeze.

"I think we had better do so," replied Dorcas, meekly, "and we will begin by agreeing that Eyres or Ayres, our prospective son-in-law, is a worthy young man and will make Lelia a good husband."

"Sort of a lesson—a warning in what Beek—I mean Cyrathea, says eh?" submitted Abel.

"Yes, that's what I mean Cyrathea, has set me thinking," acknowledged Dorcas humbly.

Day Dreams

By GEORGE E. COBB

(Copyright, Western Newspaper Union.)

It was as if she possessed the treasure of the world that Olive Morse kissed a little square box she had just received by mail. There was haste, a fluttering excitement in face and manner, as if the act was stealthy and guilty, and evidently a harsh call had something to do with her perturbation. Olive hastened downstairs to confront her spinster aunt, Selina Brooks, sour, chilling, severe as usual.

"Did you get some mail?" challenged Miss Brooks peremptorily.

"Yes, aunt," replied Olive. "It was a letter from my old school chum, Netta Deane. She has married Warren Nagel."

"About time, I should think!" snapped Aunt Selina. "Been engaged for three years. Well, don't let that put any nonsense in your head. I am going to pass the day with Mrs. Wadhams."

Olive suppressed a sigh of relief. Her hand lovingly caressed that little box through the folds of her dress. She had not told her aunt that a letter was not all that the postman had brought. She could scarcely repress her joy at realizing that she was to have a full day to herself. As she thought of the letter Netta had written her and the box and its inclosure she anticipated twelve hours filled with girlish dreams of romance.

Olive had received her first piece of wedding cake, for it was that the box contained. She longed for Aunt Selina to depart whilst she might hasten to a favorite nook in the woods, where she could read and reread that gushing letter, so full of joy and hope. It was a spot inclosed with vines—a veritable lady's bower and one where she was sure to be free from intrusion, where she could repose on the most velvety of green swards and dream the blissful hours away.

Olive's correspondence with her girlhood friend was the only variation in an otherwise blank and dreary existence. Shut out from social pleasures of every kind, she had lived in fancy and sympathy the existence of Netta, following step by step the events in the experience of her friend and longing for the actual companionship of the outside world that seemed so sunshiny and sweet. When her aunt had gone Olive put on her outing cap and crossed the meadow in the direction of the woods. Her eyes were bright, her cheeks aglow as she reached the sequestered spot where she had spent so many peaceful hours wending the day dreams that had become a radiant part of her life.

Olive sat down on a little knoll in her sheltered hideout and read over the letter that told of her dear friend's wedding. Then she uncovered the box, carefully folded back the paper here surrounding the dark rich square of cake, broke off a corner and laughed outright as the old-fashioned custom came to her mind that if she would make a pillow of her apron and place the bon under it and partake of the cake her future husband would come to her in her sleep.

Presently she drifted into somewhat dimy visions. She must have slept for an hour when she awoke and her eyes half unclosed. The vines at one end of the knoll were drawn aside and there stood revealed in the bright sunlight a young man arrayed in the silken garb of a cavalier of an age long gone by, a jeweled sword at his side, a jaunty hat, with pure white plumes set upon his head. The fave Olive would never cease to remember. She smiled and the intruder smiled back. She sighed deliciously, for in her it was surely fancy—a dream in this hour of fantasies. Then a whistle sounded outside and the handsome cavalier faded away like a spirit in thin air.

Olive closed her eyes, smilingly recalling her dream, longing for a world where dreams come true. When she went home she wrote a long letter to Netta, reciting the incident of her "phantom lover" and felicitating over the ideal suitor that fancy had brought to her.

"Mrs. Wadhams has her hands full with ten transient boarders," recited her aunt, when she returned. "There's a party of movie people acting out a play for the author. He's the main actor, too. We saw them play a part of the play. Spanish play, I think, for Mr. Davenal, the principal character, wore a regular court suit just like I've seen in pictures, plumed hat, blue silk coat, bejeweled sword. Why, what is the matter, Olive?"

"Oh, nothing, aunt," declared Olive, suppressing a cry of enlightenment. "Tell me more about him—them," and in a few minutes Olive was assured that her cavalier visitor was an actuality.

Two nights later she knew it. She was awakened from sleep to find the room full of smoke; outside all was ajgare. Some one dashed into the apartment with the glad command:

"Wrap yourself up in the bedspread and I'll try to get you to safety. The house is on fire!" And amid the flame radiance Olive recognized the intruder of her woodland bower.

Raymond Davenal was "just romantic enough" to see the workings of destiny in these two odd meetings. Rescuer, and her ideal, to Olive he became the center of all her thoughts after that, and when she wrote again to her friend Netta it was to announce that she had become engaged to Raymond Davenal, "the author of the most popular photo plays on the motion picture screen!"

As attacks and counter-thrusts were made interested in prison reform and read whatever a large bill. Don't lose any of your old friends' come to see you on visiting days! She asked of a Mr. Beek carried.

"Here," responded the former banker, "they're all here with me!"

Enjoy a Real Tour on Gum-Dipped Tires

When you tour on Gum-Dipped Tires all roads seem equally good. There is nothing to compare with the smooth, sure performances of these big, low-pressure tires. Jolts and vibrations disappear. Stretches of rough going cannot disturb you or harm the mechanism and well-built structure of your car.

If it is slippery and muddy underfoot, Gum-Dipped Tires, having double the road contact, cling to the road and hold the car unwaveringly to a true, straight course. On grades there is extra traction; at sharp curves or in quick stops you will have perfect control of wheel and brake. Skidding is almost impossible.

Through the development of the exclusive Gum-Dipping process, Firestone has tremendously increased the mileage in balloon tires. This insulates and impregnates every fibre of every cord with rubber, reduces internal heat and friction and delivers thousands of extra miles with added comfort and safety.

Ask any Firestone Dealer to show you the structure of Balloon Gum-Dipped Tires and to tell you their advantages. He is an authority on this type of tire and is in a position to serve you better and save you money. See him to-day.

Exterminate Weeds

Many million dollars worth of farm products are ruined annually by weeds. The loss in rental and sale value incurred by weed-infested farms is incalculable. The weed pestilence has become intolerable.

Exterminate weeds on every square foot of land on your own property, on unoccupied lots and farm lands, on every highway and lane, in city, town or country.

WARNING

Under the provisions of The Weed Control Act 1927, now in force, the destruction of noxious weeds is no longer optional. The destruction of noxious weeds is now compulsory.

Every occupant of land and every owner of unoccupied land is required to destroy all noxious weeds before their seeds ripen. Municipal councils are required to destroy all noxious weeds growing upon the highways. Let everyone co-operate to end the weed nuisance.

CANADA'S ELK

Pair Were Sent to Ireland, But They Did Not Live Long.

The creation of extensive wild-life sanctuaries in British Columbia, Alberta, and other parts of the Dominion has resulted in the increase in decrease in the number of large mammals that formerly were found almost to extinction, writes Dan McCowan. It is from these great national game reserves that a new Canadian industry is arising, the transport of surplus big game to other parts of the Dominion, and to lands afar.

As might reasonably be expected, there are many problems to be faced and solved, first in capturing the animals, and later, forwarding them to their new home. Even then the troubles of the emigrants are by no means at an end, there being further hazards from climate environment and foreign food. In 1924, a handsome pair of elks from Western Canada, was presented to the Irish Free State. The animals, carefully crated, were sent express to seaboard. Having a special attendant to feed, water and otherwise care for them while on the journey, they arrived in Dublin in excellent condition and were immediately turned loose in a fenced area of Phoenix Park. Thirty minutes later they were both dead. The fence surrounding the paddock formed no barrier to these high-leaping deer, and thus when released from the crates, they surmounted the wires and rails with ease and were in a free state indeed. For a week, no one thought of shooting the fleet-footed animals but someone summoned the fire brigade. The deer, pursued by men in high-speed trucks and wagons, were soon overtaken and recaptured. But the excitement attendant on such a wild adventure proved too much for the travel-weary creatures and they died in the hands of their captors.

Much happier was the outcome of a similar experiment in transporting elks to New Zealand, a land that is entirely devoid of large mammals. Various kinds of "green-feed" was provided for the journey, but the elk refused to eat, until a curious thing happened. Whilst the capacious wooden crates containing the hungry animals stood upon the wharf awaiting shipment, a small boy, filled with boyish curiosity, ventured alongside the better to view the large deer. He was munching a fine big British Columbian apple. Presently, he casually proffered the half-eaten apple to one of the elks. It was eagerly accepted and apparently keenly relished. At once the food problem was solved, and for the remainder of the journey the captives lived, and doubtless thrived, on the produce of the sunny apple orchards of British Columbia.

ODESSA

The many friends of Michael Asselstine were sorry to hear that he passed away on Tuesday morning of last week, after a long and serious illness. The funeral was held from his late home on Thursday afternoon, Rev. G. C. McQuade officiating. To mourn his loss are two daughters, Mrs. (Rev.) James Shaver, Winnipeg, and Miss Francis, at home; two grandsons, Jack and Billy Shaver, and an aged mother, residing in Kingston, who has passed her 103rd year, also a brother in Toronto. Interment took place in the family plot, Union Cemetery. Mr. Asselstine had reached his 81st year, and his long life was spent where he was born, on the old homestead. He owned and operated the Asselstine Woolen Mills until very recently, when failing health forced him to abandon his business. His sterling qualities and upright business ability won for him the respect and esteem of everyone in the community.

A variety shower was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Gilbert on Thursday evening of last week for their daughter, Mrs. Garfield Smith, Fredericksburgh. The large home was filled almost to capacity with relatives and friends, and the numerous and beautiful gifts were proof of the esteem in which Mr. and Mrs. Smith are held. A Napanee orchestra was engaged for the occasion.

The Ladies' Aid Society lawn social, held on the parsonage lawn of the United Church last Friday night, was largely attended and a success financially and otherwise. The Odessa Brass Band played several choice selections.

Kind Fate

By AUGUSTUS G. SHERWIN

(C) 1926, Western Newspaper Union.)

A man with a cane, a rope, following him at the end of a rope, slowly, cautiously crossed the road feeling his way, his ear low at a painful tension to catch the merest echo that might indicate danger in his uncertain course. Albion Drake, one-armed only, hastened to guide him safely over the street. The helpless one smiled his gratitude and went his way grop-ingly.

A bird with a broken wing fluttered down from a tree bough, clumsily dropping rather than flying, secured a stray piece of bread in its bill, and laboriously ascended to its nest by climbing. Its infant brood hungrily welcomed it and the mother bird, proud and triumphant at accomplishing its purpose, crippled as it was, burst forth into a full flood of glorious, triumphant song.

"A double lesson. I'll take it to heart," Albion Drake told himself. There were scars on his face besides the empty sleeve that commemorated the Argonne. He had left the service on the shelf so far as active warfare was concerned, and it was a gloomy outlook ahead. He had given up his position to offer his services for his country, and there was no nook or corner in the old place of employment. For a time the home coming seemed a flowery path. There were arches and wreaths and music for the returned heroes, receptions, newspaper mention, the warm plaudits of friends. Then, as if the public had done its duty, many like himself were allowed to drift. The unfit were relegated to forgetfulness.

The brightest spot in the situation was Myrtle Farr. She and Albion had been nothing more than very dear friends when he went overseas, but she had been a faithful correspondent and the cheering, encouraging words she had written him had meant longing and love. He had come back to find her orphaned, cast on the world homeless, and his spirits gloomed as he realized that he could offer her no glowing promise of fortune in the present, no assurance of care and support in the future.

Like a broken reed he must seek support from others instead of hoping to be able to take his place in the world as a helper. He felt that he stood in the way of Myrtle by remaining in his home town, for she loyally favored no companionship among the group of young men except his own. She loved him, this he knew, and although he knew that she would smilingly meet obscurity and poverty with him if he asked her, he was too much of a man to risk becoming a possible burden to her.

"I have a chance to superintend a small business in Dover," he told Myrtle that evening, "with a prospect of finally securing a share in it."

"You are going away?" voiced Myrtle in a desolate tone.

"I must. There is nothing here for me. People are kind enough, but they do not know where to fit me in for work. Don't look forlorn, Myrtle. You shall hear from me regularly, and I'll send you some memento now and then."

Albion went away and the first letter Myrtle received from him was quite encouraging. Albion regretted that he had not a certain comparatively small amount of capital that would purchase an interest in an enterprise in which he could be useful, and where the assurance of a permanent competence was certain.

It was at the end of two months that Albion Drake was greeted with the surprise of his life. Going home he found a young lady awaiting him in the parlor. She was Myrtle Farr. Her eyes aglow with the fervor of some event that had led to her traveling over 200 miles to tell of it to Albion.

"The prayer rug, the idol—Oh, Albion!" she fluttered. "The foreigner you was so good to was a member of a noted family in Teheran. When his relatives learned of his death they sent an envoy to secure his body and the rug and the idol that were sacred, treasured relics to them. You had left for home, but they traced you. Yesterday a consular agent came bearing for you, learned of my possession of the relics, and—oh, have I done right? Is their possession and as a token of gratitude of his family for your kindness, the agent insisted on leaving for you the sum of $5,000. Now you can buy that share in the business, can't you, Albion?"

"I must be the business," replied Albion, "that the amount will insure me an interest that will bring me an income for life. Myrtle, dear, you must surrender the dearest wish of my heart. Will you share it with me?"

How to make
Raspberry Jam
keep the color and flavor of the fresh berries

Here is an easy new way to make perfect raspberry jam without cooking away the delicious, fresh flavor of your berries and their beautiful bright color.

With Certo you do not have to "boil your fruit down." One or two minutes' boiling is enough to give a perfect, tender jell. You cannot have a failure and you get half again more jam from your fruit because you save the juice instead of cooking it away.

Crush thoroughly about 2 quarts ripe berries. Measure 4 level cups (2 lbs.) crushed berries into a large kettle, add 6½ level cups (5¾ lbs.) sugar and mix well. Use hottest fire and stir constantly before and while boiling. Add ½ cup to a full rolling boil and boil hard for 1 minute, remove from fire and stir in ½ cup Certo. Skim and stir repeatedly for just 5 minutes after taking from fire, to cool slightly. Then pour quickly and over hot jam at once with hot-melted paraffin.

A book of nearly 100 recipes for all sorts of delicious jams and jellies comes with each bottle of Certo.

RUN-DOWN AFTER BIRTH OF BABY
Ottawa Woman Made Strong by Taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Ottawa, Ontario.—"I was terribly run-down after the birth of my third baby. I had awful bearing-down pains and was afraid I had serious trouble. I was tired all the time and had no appetite. My sister-in-law is taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and cannot praise it too highly, and asked me to try it. I have had splendid results and feel fine all the time now. Any one who needs a thorough, reliable medicine I learn from me what to take."—Mrs. RENE PAQUIN, 312 Cumberland Street, Ottawa, Ontario.

Terrible Backache

Hamilton, Ont.—"After my baby was born I had terrible backache and headaches. I could not do my work and felt tired from the first minute I got up. But worst of all were the pains in my sides when I moved about. I had to sit or lie down for a while afterwards. I could keep my house in order, but many things had to go undone at the time, because of my ailments. I was told by a neighbor to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, as she said it would build me up. I was relieved before I had taken the first we bought and have not had any trouble like it since."—Mrs. T. MARSLE, 60 Burton Street, Hamilton, Ontario. C

EARNING A BRIDE

By ALVAH J. GARTH

(Copyright, 1926, Western Newspaper Union)

There was no reason why Richard Clyde should not be a happy man. He had a beautiful home, a loving wife, a daughter good and beautiful. His business cares were nominal in a handsomely furnished office, where he answered a few letters and had a steady income from a prosperous investment business.

The worm in the bud was fancied illness. Clyde had leisure to nurture all kinds of dismal forebodings. Thus, for a year a slight siege of rheumatism had magnified into locomotor ataxia, and for double that period of time losing weight was laid to anemia. When his physician had dispersed the final symptoms of both distresses, Clyde looked around for some new ailment—and found it—a wen!

"It is simply a growth in no wise connected with the nerves or arteries, harmless as a wart or corn," his physician told Clyde. "The slightest operation in the world will remove it entirely, for it has no roots."

"No cutting or slashing, or blood poisoning for me!" objected Clyde, with vigor. "I shall let it develop till we see what comes of it."

"Nothing will come from it except vagaries," tersely responded the physician, but the wen became a petted idiosyncrasy of the impressible Clyde. He nursed it, he measured it daily. He thought of it the first thing in the morning, and the last thing at night. He guarded it from contact as though a wrench might tear it loose and drench him with his life blood. He studied up tumors, cancers and goitres.

One afternoon a stranger entered the Clyde office. Its proprietor had been reading an article in a medical journal of a case that bore a very distant analogy to his own, where abrasion, metallic poisoning and inflammation had raised a lump the size of an egg on the foot of a man in England. The instance persisted in monopolizing Clyde's thought, and he was nervous, irritable, and scowled at the caller.

"Mr. Clyde," spoke the latter, a well-groomed, refined appearing young man with a slight air of timidity, "I have come to see you about a subject of great importance to myself. I suppose you don't remember me."

"I don't," responded Clyde, gruffly, barely glancing at the card tendered and scanning the name it bore. Then a faint recollection of having seen a person resembling his visitors among guests of his daughter at a house party came to him. Before he could speak, however, there was a sudden and startling interruption.

Overhead there was a terrific detonation, then a sound of crashing glass. From windows overhead there rained down outside a shower of brittle particles. Bits of plaster from the ceiling fell all about the desk. Frantic cries and rushing footsteps on the floor above told of an unusual commotion.

"An explosion! There's a chemical concern overhead!" gasped Clyde. He struggled to his feet. His visitor grasped his arm and as he noticed the hallway without rapidly filling with vapor, rushed thither, urging, dragging, half carrying the shaken Clyde with him. The latter gave utterance to a terrible yell.

"My arm! Let go! The wen!" but he was forced to the nearest elevator, crowded with excited people, and pushed in.

Agitated, bareheaded, Clyde stood on the ground floor, confused and frightened as a second detonation fairly shook the building. Then in a minute or two a building employee came down. He quieted the fears of the huddled group by announcing that two explosions had occurred, a fire started, but quickly extinguished, and no further danger. Timorously Clyde went back to his office.

He shuddered as he noted the effect of the second explosion. A great hole had been torn in the ceiling, driving down the heavy plaster and a shattered beam. Had he retained his seat at the desk he would have been maimed or killed.

"Where's the fellow who dragged me out, just in time?" he panted. "I owe him everything. His card? Ah, here it is—'Ronald Weston.'"

"Ronald Weston," he again read from the card. "He must be found at once! Wanda, a strange young man has saved my life! And he delivered me from the frightful menace of that wen! No telephone number."

"It is 2004 Central, and his address is 227 East Seventh avenue."

"Why, how do you know that?" fairly shouted her father.

"Because—because—oh, papa!" fluttered Wanda, "he came to see you about me. We are engaged, and he wants your permission to marry me."

"He can have it!" declared the jubilant Clyde. "Saved my life! Delivered me from the power of that hateful wen. Yes—you both have by blessing!"

Pine Cliff

By JESSIE E. SHERWIN

(©, 1926, Western Newspaper Union)

"All right and title," repeated Wilbur Deane after the lawyer who had informed him that he was a legatee to a small portion of the estate of Peter Groll. "That means that I own a house and lot at—what's the name of the outlandish place?"

"Pine Cliff, but 'a house and lot' scarcely describes the benefice. In the first place it is remote. Fish and game abound, nearly nothing else. It is in the wildest part of Wisconsin, the favored begira of the sportsman. A rough lumber shack is the general residence amid burned-over stumps and primeval forest."

"Well, I need a change and I think I will go up there and look over my inheritance."

"There is your deed," remarked the lawyer, handing Deane an envelope. "You have simply to record it. I think your uncle told me that the last time he visited Pine Cliff, he made arrangements to allow an old trapper and his child to occupy the place for a nominal rental, but that is only a verbal lease from season to season."

"Very good," smiled Deane, indulging in visions of bachelor housekeeping, of free deer meat, wild honey and choice game, and nightfall saw him on the train bound north on his experimental journey. It was not a pleasant one, except for a few hundred miles. Then came belated connections, a final fifty miles in an emigrant cahoose, twenty more in a broken down wagon over a corduroy roadway and at dusk he reached what there was of Crossbill Corners. There was a block structure labeled "Hotel," half a score of lumber camp cabins and a general store and postoffice combined. It was after a night of sweltering upon a homemade cot without a mattress or covering, that Deane awoke the next morning to hire a guide who would pilot him to Pine Cliff, better known as "Old Dayton's place."

"Why that?" inquired Deane, seeking enlightment.

"Oh, Jacob Dayton and his daughter have lived there for five years and the original owner seems to have forgotten all about it," was the explanation.

"Yes, I have heard the tenant had a child," remarked Deane.

"A child? She's grown up into a good deal of a smart, chipper young lady since she came here. Why didn't you notify them you were coming? They fixed most of the vacationers here and drive them in their rig whenever they wish to camp along Bascombe river."

Deane viewed the only piece of real estate he had ever owned in a listless way. The house was intensely ugly looking, the few acres about it covered with stumps and rocks. One token of color and beauty attracted where a brief reach of hollyhocks and wild rose showed. Deane paid his guide his charge and crossed the creek on boulders. As he approached the house a tall, pretty girl, seemingly 18, came to the doorway. It was a pleasure to gaze upon the only womanly creature Deane had seen passing over some two hundred miles. She wore a neatly fitting calico dress and daintily decorated moccasins, and her delicate hands and perfectly arranged wealth of curling brown hair might have aroused the envy of some exclusive devotee of fashion. There was a winning grace in her smile and the bend of her head. Deane exerted himself to appear as a thoughtful gentleman extending full consideration to a young lady entitled to the completest courtesies of attention. In a few well-chosen words he revealed his identity and the object of his visit.

"Father will be here soon," said Erma Dayton. "We have wondered that no one has been here to see about the place through the years and we were thinking of removing to the city. You see, father and I have made the best of our lot, and he is getting old. This is my work," and inviting Deane inside, she indicated a table where a mass of feathers and some fish hooks and wire showed.

"This is my work and has been for some time," she explained. "There is a chicken farm across country twenty miles and its owner furnishes me with my feather supply. I made a few baits for a fishing party some time ago and seemed to have invented a trout bait as to fineness and color with which they were very successful. Since then these rich anglers who come here seem to think they cannot do without my special invention, and some of them spread the news among the club members in several large cities and I have had a lot of orders as a result. Then, too, a sporting goods house in Chicago has written me, asking if I am in a position to supply them."

It was a pleasure for Deane to cooperate with this willowy, fair maid, sweet and innocent and yet so fully imbued with the commercial instinct. He remained as a boarder at the place for a month and then returned to the city as Erna Dayton's envoy. Just as winter came on father and daughter were comfortably settled in Deane's flat, a portion of which was used as a work room where Erna employed a score of girls assisting her in binding the trout flies. She fed the feathers farm, averring that they were especially adapted to her purpose.

With the following spring when the city trade was supplied for the season, Deane, his bride and her father went up to the renovated old shack at Pine Cliff to while away the beauty and solitude of a restful environment that would always be dear to them.

"The greeting. 'How are you?' doesn't seem to me to represent any sincere and sensible inquiry," observed a boarder. "What is true," replied the young lady with a smile, "is that the same people I know I am tempted to say 'why' instead of 'how'?"

FOUR FAIR CONTESTANTS FOR THE BIG SWIM

No sporting event in years has attracted as much attention as the 21-mile swimming race to be staged August 21st in Lake Ontario in front of the Canadian National Exhibition Grounds at Toronto. Scores of the world's greatest swimmers, including George Young, winner of the Catalina Channel contest, will contest without a mattress or covering, long grind. In this group are four with splendid records. At the left is Ethel Hertle, 19-year-old New York High School girl, 880-yard champion of the United States and long distance champion of the State of Connecticut. She was for six hours the closest swimmer to George Young and Norman Ross in the Catalina swim. Top centre is Madame Jane Slon, champion long distance swimmer of Europe. She is a Frenchwoman but resides in Brussels. Lower centre is Mrs. H. Martens, of Toronto, who is a strong swimmer with remarkable staying powers. Right is Mrs. Dorothy Hepworth, of England, who is already train-ing at Montreal for the big event.

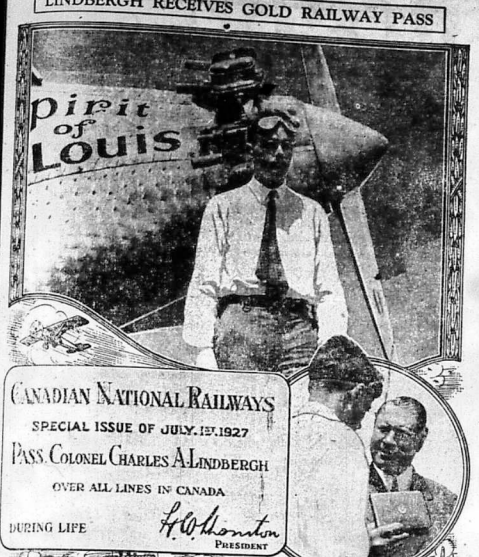
LINDBERGH RECEIVES GOLD RAILWAY PASS



When Col. Charles A. Lindbergh visited Ottawa on the occasion of Canada's celebration of the Diamond Jubilee of Confederation he was tendered an enthusiastic welcome by the thousands of Canadians who crowded the flying field and Parliament Hill for the celebration. On his arrival in the monoplane "Spirit of St. Louis" in which he made his wonderful flight across the Atlantic, the intrepid airman was greeted at the field by Sir Henry W. Thornton, K.B.E., Chairman and President of the Canadian National Railways, and was presented with a life pass, good on Canadian National lines in Canada.

This pass is handsomely engraved in black enamel on a sheet of Canadian gold, mined in Canada.

German Lance Heavy.

"Among the most interesting of the war trophies that have found their way over here," says the Manchester (Eng.) Guardian, "are some specimens of the German lance. It is not a wooden pole, but an eleven or twelve foot steel tube. It is very heavy, and at first seems quite unmanageable in a man of ordinary strength. But two-thirds of the way down from the head towards the butt is a swelling of thick tube to give a grip. And if you hold it there, and there only, you find that it is so evenly poised that, as one admiring observer remarked, you could write your name with it.

"There have been some descriptions of cases where these tubular lances have been trumped up in action like an overburdened steel mast on a racing yacht. Perhaps that may be accounted for by the peculiar shape of the head. There is no point or spear of any kind. Instead, there is a solid piece of iron shaped exactly like the end of a giant poker, square and quite blunt."

The Nursing Mother

Often Finds Herself Weak and Feeling Worn-Out.

The nursing mother more than any other woman needs rich blood and plenty of it. The demands upon her health are many and severe. Household duties and the care of her children exact heavy toll, while hurried meals, broken rest and indoor living tend to weaken her. No wonder she is often indisposed through weakness, headaches, backaches, and nervousness. In this condition the blood will always be found weak and watery, and relief will come only through enriching the blood. For this purpose Dr. Williams' Pink Pills is the best blood-making tonic known. Through their use many weak, ailing wives and mothers have found new health and strength. As an example of this Mrs. Sarah Cortes, Ellenstown, N.B., says :—"While nursing my baby I became run-down, very weak and nervous. My head ached all the time and I was not able to do my work. I had often read of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and began using them, and what a blessing they proved. Before I had used a half dozen boxes I felt like a new person, and by their continued use for a while I was entirely restored to my former health and strength. I take pleasure in recommending Dr. Williams' Pink Pills to everyone suffering as I did."

You can get these pills through any medicine dealer or by mail at 50 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Those who enjoy reading the best books of the day, can get any of them at a fraction of their cost through our Lending Library. Hundreds of the best sellers always on hand at the trifling cost of three cents per day. Paul's Bookstore. 14tf

German Lance Heavy.

"Among the most interesting of the war trophies that have found their way over here," says the Manchester (Eng.) Guardian, "are some specimens of the German lance. It is not a wooden pole, but an eleven or twelve foot steel tube. It is very heavy, and at first seems quite unmanageable in a man of ordinary strength. But two-thirds of the way down from the head towards the butt is a swelling of thick tube to give a grip. And if you hold it there, and there only, you find that it is so evenly poised that, as one admiring observer remarked, you could write your name with it.

"There have been some descriptions of cases where these tubular lances have been trumped up in action like an overburdened steel mast on a racing yacht. Perhaps that may be accounted for by the peculiar shape of the head. There is no point or spear of any kind. Instead, there is a solid piece of iron shaped exactly like the end of a giant poker, square and quite blunt."

OBITUARY.

Mrs. Luke Trumpour.

Mrs. Luke Trumpour, an esteemed lady of Napanee, passed away on Monday evening, July 11th, in the Kingston General Hospital. She was ill only two weeks before being taken to the hospital, where she underwent an operation. It was then found that it became known that her condition was serious. Mrs. Trumpour was Edith, eldest daughter of Mr. Thomas and the late Mrs. Gurren, and was born at Sandhurst, Ont., in 1875. She lived in Adolphustown several years, residing to the River Road and later to Napanee about six years ago. She was a member of St. Mary Magdalene's Church and was keenly interested and active in its work, being specially devoted to the cause of the Woman's Auxiliary. She was also a valued member of the I.O.D.E. Besides her bereaved husband, she leaves two daughters, Marjorie, librarian, in Detroit, and Dorothy, at home; also her aged father, Mr. Thomas Gurren, two brothers, Thomas and George, and one sister, Mrs. Holden Robinson, all residing at Sandhurst. The funeral service was held on Wednesday, July 13th, from her late residence, Bridge St., to St. Mary Magdalene's Church. The service was conducted by Rev. J. H. H. Coleman, assisted by Rev. R. J. Dumbrille and Rev. A. Strother. She was laid to rest in the family plot at Sandhurst, within sight of her old home.

BETTY HOLLAND WINS A PONY

As a result of the recent "Star Contest" in Toronto, Miss Betty Holland, granddaughter of Mrs. John Fraser, Bridge St., Napanee, has become the possessor of the pony "Merrylegs".

Betay Holland's winning essay is as follows :—

"In October, 1692, during her father's absence, Madeleine de Vercheres was left in charge of his fort. Her garrison consisted of her two brothers of ten and twelve years, two faint-hearted soldiers and a couple of old men. An attack was made by the Indians, and Madeleine, gathering the women and children into the block-house, placed her followers at intervals along the wall. The cry of 'all's well' was kept up until the Indians believed that the fort was full of soldiers. Thus the fourteen-year-old girl was able to hold the fort until help was brought. I admire Madeleine because of her courage and her gift of leadership. It must have been difficult to give her few followers confidence in her powers, when no doubt she was at much afraid of the Indians as they were. She was only a young girl, unused to fighting, though if she had been an experienced soldier, her deeds would still be worthy of the highest praise."

TRULL ANNUAL FAMILY RE-UNION

Saturday, July 16th, sandwiched in as it was between days deluged with rain, proved a very happy choice for the day of the annual Trull picnic. Members of the clan to the number of one hundred and fourteen registered, and happy smiles everywhere bespoke satisfaction with the day's proceedings. Whether in the games or in reminiscent chats, or at the tables laden with tempting viands, all seemed to find an outlet for expressing themselves. A touch of sadness marred the perfection of the day, as three homes were remembered where death has entered during the past year—those of Mr. Cameron Trull, Mr. Irvin Trull, and Mr. Arthur Moore. The deepest sympathy of the gathering for these was expressed, and a sincere present could recall being at the first Trull picnic thirty-three years ago, and all look forward to many happy anniversaries of the occasion, on the first Saturday after the 12th of July, at Oshawa-on-the-Lake.

WEDDING BELLS.

Burleigh—Morris.

At the United Church, Forget, Sask., a very pretty wedding ceremony was performed on Wednesday, June 15th, 1927, at 10 o'clock a.m., when Mrs. Rhoda Augusta Thompson Burleigh became the bride of Mr. John Morris, Forget. Rev. Mr. Dennis Stoughton was the officiating Clergyman, the bride being the eldest daughter of William J. Thompson and the late Mrs. Thompson, of Thorpe. Mr. Thompson, now residing in Lowville, N.Y., was unable to attend the wedding. The bride entered the church on the arm of her brother-in-law, Mr. W. L. Burleigh, of Kisbey, Sask., to the strains of the Lohengrin's bridal march. She wore an ivory crepe gown with silver trimming, with bridal veil caught with lily-of-the-valley, and a gift of the groom, a necklace of pearls. Her daughter, Miss Virlie, and the step-daughter, Miss Rilla Morris, acted as bridesmaids, gowned in peach georgette with silver trimming, with bandeau of rhinestones.

The groom was ably supported by his son, Orrin Morris, also his stepson, Dibbs Burleigh. After the ceremony and signing of the register, Miss Virlie Burleigh, daughter of the bride, sang "O Promise Me". After the ceremony the wedding party and a number of friends drove to Carlyle Lake, where the wedding dinner was served to twenty-one near guests, including family, of Kisbey, and Mr. and Mrs. John L. Burns, Forget, Sask. A very sumptuous repast was prepared, the dining room being decorated in Richmond roses and sweet peas, with ophelia roses and lily-of-the-valley hanging over the bridal pair. After the repast the bridal party drove to Forget, to the home of the groom, where a large supper was held. In the evening a dance and reception was held in the Thieven Hall, with a ten-piece orchestra in attendance. Over three hundred friends and relatives were present.

Mr. and Mrs. Morris received many beautiful and costly gifts from their friends. Mr. Morris is a very prosperous farmer, and the bride a niece of Mrs. F. V. Stormes, Toronto, Ont. They will reside at Forget.

MILK AND ARITHMETIC

There does not seem much connection between these—factual fluid—the friend of your children, and hard figures. Unless it be the farmer figuring out the milk production of his herd or the pounds of milk he has shipped to the city or creamery. Yet there was lately been shown a very close connection between Milk and Arithmetic.

In certain schools in Montreal, last winter, tens of thousands of half pints of milk were distributed by the Child Welfare Association. Result—Underweight children gained in weight, pupils did better arithmetic and they missed the ravishes of the typhoid epidemic.

This milk was distributed at recess time, the children taking the milk from the bottle through straws. Many of the pupils paid for this milk 3½ cents per pint being the nominal charge, several philanthropic organizations defraying the cost. Very amusing incidents are asked in which little peaked white faced boy "What did you have for breakfast this morning?" He answered, "A piece of orange and a cup of good black coffee". Staggers: What a breakfast to work and play on! Such a boy is expected to grow, to study, to play and perhaps to do a certain amount of work by starting the day on an ill-sorted diet of pastry and caffeine.

Records kept by school nurses show, in cold figures, the remarkable gain in weight by practically all the children that used milk in school. In the study of Arithmetic the children show a big improvement after the milk drink. The teachers reported the experiment a decided success, and stated that the children did better work, were less restless and easier to manage in every way. Another principal states that the children under him have been free from disease and less susceptible to colds than when no milk was used in the schools. We trust the day is not far distant when it will be the regular custom in our schools to serve milk to all pupils at the morning recess.

A man was very ill. He had a good doctor, but the doctor was puzzled about his case, so he held a consultation. Four other doctors came, looked wise, shook their heads, and went away. Then the original doctor summoned the patient's wife and must tell you that your husband is in a serious condition," he said. "As he is religiously inclined, I should advise that you send for a minister without delay." "Yes, doctor," answered the wife. "Shall I just get the family minister, or will he need a consultation?"

ADJOURNED VESTRY MEETING

The adjourned annual Vestry meeting was held at the Church of St. Mary Magdalene on Monday evening for the election of Churchwardens for the current year and for the transaction of other business. The delay in holding this meeting was due to the removal from this Parish of the late J. H. H. Coleman, and the coming of his successor, Rev. R. J. Dumbrille, formerly Rector of Kemptville.

The formal resignation of the People's Warden, W. J. Doller, was accepted with regret, and expressions of sincere appreciation of the good work he did for the church while he held that important office.

The Vicar appointed W. S. Herrington, K.C., at his Warden, and the Vestry unanimously elected William A. Grange as People's Warden. The sides-men who held office last year were re-elected. The Advisory Board for the current year are W. H. Boyle, John Fennell, T. B. Wallace, Herbert Daly, W. J. Doller.

Auditors—John Fennell and C. Waite.

OBITUARY

Mrs. William J. Walsh.

A sad gloom was cast over the community on Friday morning, July 1st, when it became known that Mrs. Wm. J. Walsh, a long and much respected resident of North Fredericksburgh, had passed peacefully away at the Kingston Hospital. All that loving hands could do was of no avail, and although her sufferings were severe she bore them with Christian fortitude.

The deceased was formerly Jane Ann Moore, a daughter of the late Isabella and Conrad Moore. Her early childhood was spent in Fredericksburgh and in 1886 she married Wm. J. Walsh. To this union were born eleven children, two of whom predeceased her some years ago. Mrs. Walsh was highly esteemed by all who knew her, and her kind, unselfish disposition, unassuming manner, reliability, and readiness to help others will ever keep her memory green. She was a consistent and enthusiastic member of St. Patrick's Church, Napanee, where the funeral was conducted by Rev. Fr. O'Connor, attended by a throng of sympathizing friends. The spiritual and floral tributes were numerous, showing the high esteem in which the deceased was held.

Besides her sorrowing husband, she leaves to mourn her loss, two daughters and seven sons, Mrs. A. B. Smith and Miss Nellie, at home; Edmund, Swan River, Manitoba; Percy, of Toronto, and Robert, Albert, Harry, Fred and Joseph, of Napanee; one sister, Mrs. Geo. Richardson, and four brothers, James and Robert, of Gretna; Andrew, of Moneida, Sask., and David, of Dakota. Her remains were laid to rest in the Roman Catholic cemetery, Napanee.

The custom of having distinguished men as pall-bearers comes from the Romans. In the Latin pallium was a piece of cloth used to cover the shoulders. When a great man died, his pallium was laid over the body and held off the ground by his friends at his funeral.

A BIOGRAPHY.

GILBERT S. CLAPP
By Allan R. Davis.

Gilbert S. Clapp, member of Ontario's old Land Surveyors, was of Quaker and United Empire Loyalist descent. His ancestors came to Canada after the Revolutionary War. Joseph Clapp and Benjamin Clapp are named in the early records of Adolphustown, that historic township on the frontier of the County of Lennox and Addington. Benjamin Clapp held the distinguished office of Overseer of Highways in that municipality in the year 1792, and Gilbert D. Clapp was appointed assessor in 1804. Several of the Clapp families moved into the adjoining counties of Prince Edward and Hastings, where many of their descendants are found to-day. Those who remained in Adolphustown have become dispersed in recent years, until the name has disappeared from the municipal records, though descendants still remain.

While no definite record is available it is now assumed that Gilbert S. Clapp was the son of Gilbert D. Clapp, of Adolphustown. He was born in 1809, and settled in Napanee, where, after the ordinary education and experience, he was admitted as a Deputy Provincial Surveyor on March 16th, 1835. He then began an active and successful career, and married Miss Mercy Simmons of that district, whose several sisters also married in that community. One of these became Mrs. Parker, the mother of Sir Gilbert Parker, the renowned novelist —reared in Hastings County. Another became Mrs. Tobey, of Napanee, who reared a large family; and another married Mr. Madden, whose tannery in Napanee was a well-known building for many years.

The family of Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert S. Clapp consisted of but one daughter, Fanny, who was reared and educated there, and their comfortable home became a favorite social centre until the Surveyor's untimely death in his fiftieth year, in 1859.

Later, the widow married Mr. W. V. Delior, of Napanee, and the issue of this marriage was two sons, Morley, killed overseas in the World War; and Sidney, now in business in Western Canada.

The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert S. Clapp married Dr. R. A. Leonard, of Napanee. After practising his profession for some time, Dr. Leonard received the appointment of Postmaster which position he held until his death a few years ago. His wife predeceased him only a few months, and they are buried with her parents in the family plot.

Mr. and Mrs. Leonard have left a family of three daughters and one son, all of whom are now married and settled in life. These are Marion, Mrs. A. F. Lace, 59 Gormley Street, Toronto; Hazel, Mrs. E. S. Byers, of Gananoque; Frances, Mrs. R. J. E. Graham, of Belleville; and W. E. Leonard, who married Miss Girvin, of Winnipeg, and is now in business in Toronto.

Like all the other surveyors of Central Ontario, Gilbert S. Clapp had a wide and laborious practice in the new settlements of that heavily timbered country, and also beyond the confines of the settled portion northward, where the Government was always surveying new townships, building roads and bridges, and delimiting the vast timber areas which made many fortunes for operators, but which now have practically all disappeared. These burnt-over lands and protruding rocks are now calling for that reforestation which inevitably must come with future generations, to ensure that re-settlement and activity of former years.

WEDDING BELLS

Davis—Etka.

On Wednesday, June 29th, 1927, at 10 o'clock, a wedding was quietly solemnized in the Methodist Parsonage, Church Street, Highland Park, Michigan, when the Rev. J. A. Halmhuber united in marriage Hattie Adelaide Etka, youngest daughter of Mrs. Jane Etka, 944 Penrose Ave., Detroit; to Wilbert Carman Davis, eldest of Mr. and Mrs. Wesley Davis, Selby. The bride was attired in orchid georgette, trimmed with lace and wore a picture hat to match. She was attended by a friend, Miss Marjorie Kelderhouse, while Mr. Cecil Etka, brother of the bride, supported the groom.

Following the ceremony the wedding party repaired to the bride's home, where a dainty buffet luncheon was served, after which Mr. and Mrs. Davis left on a motor trip for points in Canada, where they will spend their honeymoon with the groom's parents and other relatives, and on their return will reside in Detroit, where the groom is an employee of the Burroughs Adding Machine Co.

Godard—Amey.

A quiet but charming wedding took place in St. Paul's Anglican Church, Regina, on July 14th, when Rae Amey, R.N., Toronto, daughter of Mrs. Ashton Amey, Odessa, was united in marriage to Dr. W. Robert Godard, Imperial, Sask., third son of Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Godard, 130 Emerald St., S., Hamilton. The ceremony was performed by Rev. F. Franklin, in the presence of a few friends. Dr. and Mrs. Godard will reside in Imperial, Sask.

TYPING WITH HER TOES

Australian Girl Born Without Arms Works a Typewriter.

Marvellous feats are daily accomplished by the halt and the maimed. Every day, almost, some new accomplishment by someone whose limbs or senses are incomplete is announced. But few can rival the determination, courage, and successful endeavor shown by Miss Lilly Brockendart, an Australian girl, whose ability to do most things of everyday life without the use of arms—she was born without arms—has amazed everyone with whom she has come in contact, writes an Australian correspondent.

Twenty years ago, when she was born, her mother prayed that the baby girl might die rather than go through life without arms. And yet the daughter has proved a blessing and a joy to her mother.

When Miss Brockendart was a baby the curious flocked to see her. Many offers were made to her mother by showmen, who wished to teach the armless girl to write with a pen between her teeth and to introduce her as an attraction in their sideshows. Mother love was too strong, however, and though her purse was none too richly lined Mrs. Brockendart engaged a private tutor to do what he could for her child. At first it was proposed that the girl should be taught to write with her teeth, but Miss Brockendart solved the puzzle by deciding to "educate" her toes.

It was found that, with practice, she could hold a pencil between her big toe and the one next to it on her right foot. Many months of patient endeavor were rewarded when she managed to scrawl huge letters and figures.

Months passed into years, with the toes becoming daily more flexible, and elongated until they resembled fingers. By this time Lilly had acquired such control that she could, by using crayons, make fairly presentable drawings in colors. Then she tried the slender brushes used by artists and essayed water-color paintings.

Lilly now aspired to become a poet and writer. To add flame to the fuel of her desires, some generous friend presented her with a typewriter. But it is not quite so easy to operate a typewriter with one's toes as it is to hold a pen or pencil between them.

At first Lilly was in despair. She would sit by the hour trying to use her toes to spell out words on the typewriter. Ultimately a bright idea came to her. She had tried to use thimbles on her toes, and out of their use came the solution of her difficulty. She wrote to a rubber manufacturer, giving details of her needs, the measurements of her toes, and instructions regarding the sort of hard rubber tips she wished made.

A SEVENTH CONTINENT.

Explorer Believes Land Lies Under the Antarctic Ice Floes.

Existence beneath the vast ice floes of the Antarctic Ocean of a seventh continent, an unknown but habitable land twice the size of North America is claimed by Sir Douglas Mawson, noted Australian explorer and scientist. His belief, he says, was established on his last expedition into the Antarctic two years ago, when he discovered King George Land and other islands, and he is now making plans for an expedition to search for the continent in 1928 or 1929.

Sir Douglas believed the undiscovered land to be the depositary of fabulous mineral wealth, including possibly gold, silver, copper, iron and oil, which may some day augment the world's dwindling supply.

He further believes that human life can be established and sustained on the new continent, although it may be necessary "to live underground and with many artificial helps to existence." The first step, he said, would be in "coast settlements."

Mawson declared that sounding ocean currents and their phenomena had helped him reach his conclusions on the hidden continent. He concluded with the belief that within forty years the continent will be populated "and its mines will be working."

DENMARK'S NEW STAMPS.

New Series Outlines Ancient Sailing Vessel.

One of the favorite popular titles of the late Queen Alexandra was that given to her on her arrival in England in 1863 to become the bride of the Prince of Wales, the future King Edward VII. The title was "The Sea-King's daughter from over the sea." There has been nothing about the Danish postage stamps in the past to represent the renown Denmark has won on the seas, but a new series of stamps, designed by Axel Jensen, fills the gap. The bold outlines of an ancient sailing vessel are picked out in white against a background of solid color on these new stamps, with a most effective and artistic result. The stamps are printed on paper with the watermark of multiple crosses as used for Denmark's stamps since 1912. Six denominations have appeared, namely, 15 ore carmine, 20 ore grey, 25 ore light blue, 30 ore orange, 35 ore red-brown, and 40 ore green.

Indians' Good Work.

The Indians of the three Prairie Provinces—Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta—last season produced in round figures one million bushels of grain, of which about half, or 488,000 bushels, was wheat, according to a recent Government report. There are about 35,000 Indians in the area in question and the land reserved for their use includes some of the most fertile soil in the Prairies. They had 97,000 acres under cultivation in 1926. They own about 25,000 head of cattle and 35,000 horses of a good type.

A Mandatory Territory.

Tanganyika is the portion of the former German East Africa, which was entrusted to British administration under a mandate of the League of Nations. The capital is Dar-es-Salaam, the "harbor of peace."

The custom of having distinguished men as pall-bearers comes from the Romans. In the Latin pallium was a piece of cloth used to cover the dead. When a great man died, his pallium was laid over the body and held off the ground by his friends at his funeral.

LAYING THE FOUNDATION FOR NEXT SEASON.

(Experimental Farms Note.)

Some beekeepers may now be wondering why their bees failed to store as much honey as did their neighbours, even though the season, kind of hives were used and the locality equally as good. The amount of honey a colony will store is not dependent on equipment and locality alone, but to a large extent upon the care given the bees during the ten or eleven months prior to the main flow. There are two periods in the year when it is essential to have a large force of bees of the right age in order to store. The first period is during the winter months, and the second is during the main honey flow; and the length of time the second period is largely dependent on the strength during the first period. A strong colony, consisting mainly of young bees in the fall, will winter better and build up more rapidly the following spring than will a weak colony or one that is made up of old bees. Next season's crop will depend largely upon the fall management of this year and there is no time that the foundation is laid for next year's success or failure. The force of young bees that is to carry the colony through the winter must be reared during the months of August and September; therefore, every colony should be examined during the latter part of July and early in August and all weak or failing queens replaced by young, vigorous queens. A young queen is usually more prolific than an old one and is more likely to survive the winter and to build up the colony more rapidly the following spring. A prolific queen is useless unless she has sufficient space for maximum egg production and sufficient food for the brood. Good queens, plenty of room, and an abundance of food are the chief points of fall management.

A WEAK STOMACH

Can Be Strengthened Through the Use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills

Wonderful is the process by which the chemistry of the body transforms food the food we eat into blood. And the whole of our well-being depends upon this being maintained day after day, year in and year out. Sometimes the process becomes faulty. Poisonous food begins to poison the blood instead of feeding it. This is followed by all the pangs of indigestion, such as gas on the stomach, pains around the heart, often nausea after eating, and a dislike for all kinds of food.

The only way to overcome these troubles is to tone the digestion so that you can assimilate all your food. To do this you have only to take Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. A short course of these pills will quickly tone up the stomach and banish indigestion. Here is a bit of convincing proof given by Mrs. Chas. Ladner, Ellerslie, P.E.I., who says:—"For many years I was a sufferer from stomach trouble. Everything I ate caused distress, sour stomach and belching. I could not eat meat or potatoes, and I grew weak and nervous. No medicine seemed to help me until I was persuaded to take Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and these simply worked wonders. I took the pills faithfully for a couple of months by which time every symptom of the trouble disappeared, and there has not since been the slightest symptom of stomach trouble. No wonder I praise Pink Pills."

You can get these pills through any medicine dealer or by mail at 50 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

A TORY STORY.

President of the University of Alberta a Man of Many Interests.

Dr. H. M. Tory, president of the University of Alberta, is a man of many and diverse interests. We hear of him sitting as chairman of a government commission investigating taxation, and again as being re-elected president of a research council of Toronto. His tremendous energy and unique personality have done much to bring the University of Alberta to the fore, remarks the Toronto Star Weekly. Nevertheless this little habit gives rise to some amusing stories and the following is one of the best:

At prominent Ottawa man when passing through Edmonton ran up to Dr. Tory and arranged to meet him at noon next day at his office, and they were to go out to lunch together. While lunching they could discuss some important business matters.

The next morning was a strenuous one for Dr. Tory. It was already getting late when he recalled his appointment and rushed off home to change his clothes. Alas! he also mind was still with the morning's work as he divested himself of his clothes. Absentmindedly he searched for the garments he was to wear, seized his pyjamas instead of his suit, donned them, and rolled into bed. In a few moments he was sound asleep.

About this time Dr. Tory's secretary was informing the visitor from Ottawa that Dr. Tory was out but was expected back at any moment. Mr. ——— went into the president's office and sat down to wait.

At last when the hands of his watch approached two o'clock his patience was exhausted. He had begun to gather up his hat and gloves, when the door burst open and Dr. Tory himself rushed in; very much upset and making his apologies.

But the question is did the reveal to his visitor that Mrs. Tory a few minutes before happening to step into his room was horrified to find her husband asleep in bed.

HE WASN'T STARING AT HER.

Mr. Massey Got Himself Disliked by the Lady.

Vincent Massey, first Canadian ambassador to Washington, tells an amusing anecdote of his boyhood's days. Travelling one day from Montreal to Toronto he seated himself directly opposite an elderly lady of bitterly spinsterian mien. Many worlds away from his surroundings, the young man fell into a brown study and, all unconsciously, fixed his wide open eyes upon the face of his vis-a-vis.

The state of things must have continued for some time when, roused sharply from his dreams, Mr. Massey heard a voice, trembling with too-long-suppressed anger.

"I said," it was apparently repeating for, at least the third time when he became conscious of his whereabouts, "perhaps you'll know me next time, young man!"

With a gasp he recalled his still wandering attention. "I—er—I really beg yours pardon!" he, murmured in a dazedly apologetic way. "I'm afraid I was day-dreaming and didn't notice when you came in. How do you do, Miss—er—Mrs.—er——"

His voice trailed off despairingly as he slowly took in the unchanged antagonism in the lady's face. "I have not met you," she reproved with icy precision of enunciation, "I was referring to the ill-mannered way in which you were staring at me."

Elephants as Firemen.

A herd of wild elephants put out a fallen burning tree and saved a terrible blaze in the forest at Travancore, India.

During a gale a big tree was uprooted and fell across the main road, near Theoram custom-house. Laborers went to clear the road but the tree on fire and returned to the custom-house.

The fire was spreading to the adjoining woods when the leader of a herd of elephants saw it, and called his followers by loud trumpeting.

Within a few minutes a number of these four-footed firemen were busily employed with their trunks as hoses, turning streams of water on the blazing tree and the burning woods. A running stream near by served as their supply of water. Soon the fire was got out.

Gain Wider Markets.

That Canadian products were well thought of in the countries he visited and that the Governments of those countries, especially Australia and New Zealand, were anxious to increase their trade with Canada, was the statement given to the Canadian Press by Burton M. A CAMERA ROMANCE

By ALDEN CHAPMAN

(Copyright, 1926, Western Newspaper Union)

"There's something going on at the old home, sir," quoth the gardener of Graylands to his young master.

Roscoe Blair strolled leisurely in the direction indicated. His clear, boyish eyes showed a token of curiosity as he neared the dismantled barn at the edge of the estate. A man had a motion picture camera in an automobile. Near by a second man was putting on the striped suit of a convict. At a signal the latter, assuming the terror of a typical fugitive, ran toward the barn and disappeared within, the other, meantime turning the crank that operated the camera. As the assumed convict disappeared he turned toward Blair.

"I suppose we are intruding," he said, "but we needed just such an exterior for a part of a movie. It is usual to pay for the privilege—"

"Oh, that is all right," interrupted Blair graciously. "Take all the pictures you like."

"Thank you," acknowledged the camera operator, as his assistant reappeared and cast off his assumed attire. "Let's see—what's next?" scanning a written sheet. "Oh, yes! Old-fashioned home, kindly-faced mother, beautiful daughter! Wonder if we can hit that conveniently?"

"I think you can, almost directly at sand," said Blair. "I noticed yesterday some new tenants in the first house down the road."

The operator drove on and located the cottage described without difficulty. Its door was open. He looked into an exquisitely neat and orderly little parlor. A white-haired old lady sat in a rocking chair reading aloud to a lovely girl engaged on some embroidery. There was an ancient piano set against the wall and an antique spinning wheel, evidently a treasured memento. The artistic impulse in the man of many scenes was deeply aroused.

In a few fit words he explained his mission.

"You are supposed to be the mother and sister of a wayward son and brother," explained the operator. "My partner outside acts him. There must be one other character, however, a young man. Is there anybody in reach who could get to act the part?"

"We are utter strangers here," said Mrs. Layton.

"Then I'll try and pick up some one in the town. I'll be back soon," and the operator was back in his auto briskly, but slowed up as passing the hair place its young proprietor hailed him.

"Well, did you find the people to suit you?" asked the latter.

"To the letter," replied the operator in animation. "A model interior and lovely old lady, and the girl—she dazzles. She is certainly a charming creature," and then the speaker referred to the object of his present quest.

"See here," spoke Blair smilingly, "I'll accommodate you if I will do it. You will certainly fill the bill of the manly and handsome young hero," complimented the operator.

"That altogether of yours has kindly consented to fill in," said the operator to Mrs. Layton later, and her daughter, Grace, fluttered and flushed as he added: "He is to represent the lover. You are to be seated as you are, madam. You," to the young lady, "are to stand at the window—thus—young man by your side. He is holding your hand and speaking to you earnestly. My man dashes in. He scouts at your lover and orders him out of the house."

Grace Layton blushed again at this second allusion. She shrank back timidly. With the utmost courtesy, however, Blair stepped to her side and so delicately carried out his part of the program that, although she trembled as his hand clasped hers, Grace went through the ordeal acceptably.

"A fine picture," said the operator, as he paid the money promised and departed. Roscoe Blair lingered a few minutes "to get acquainted with his new neighbors." The next morning his gardener brought over a brilliant bouquet with his compliments.

Three months later the camera operator reappeared. He drove directly up to the Layton cottage and knocked at the door, but there was no response. Just then Roscoe Blair came around the house.

"Why, hello!" he hailed, extending a welcoming hand. "Blessed man! I am glad to see you again. You came into my life in a grand way, I can tell you."

The operator was fairly overcome by the warmth of this effusive greeting. "I come on business to see Miss Layton," he explained.

"She and her mother have gone to town," explained Blair. "Back soon. What's the urgency, friend?"

"Oh, such luck for Miss Layton! Our director has been mixed with gelfold, of her ever since he saw her picture. He considers her a marvel of beauty, just as I do, and you, I suppose. He wants to book her and her mother, domestic scenes only, at one hundred dollars a week."

Roscoe Blair shook his head definitely. "Too late, my friend," he announced. "Miss Layton is otherwise engaged for."

"What do you mean?" asked the operator anxiously.

"That she is to become the mistress of Graylands next week," was Roscoe Blair's smiling reply.

BURIED IN A GLACIER.

Broken Alpen-Stock Recalls Tragedy of 1870.

A broken alpen-stock bearing the name "Dr. J. Beaty" was found by guides at the foot of the Glacier des Bossons, which "flows" down from the summit of Mont Blanc. This find brought back to memory the most terrible accident in Alpine history, when eleven climbers perished on the summit of the mountain in violent snowstorms which lasted for a week.

In September, 1870, Rev. G. McCorkindale, of Glasgow, and two Americans, Dr. Bean and Mr. Randall, set out from Chamonix with eight guides, and reached the summit in doubtful weather. When they began the descent a snow-storm started, and not one of the eleven was seen alive again.

Later, a party of guides found the bodies of five victims, including the clergyman and Dr. Bean, but the other six have never been discovered. It is probable they will eventually follow the alpen-stock. The glacier travels at the rate of 500 feet a year.

The longest period that a glacier or ice-river has retained its dead is forty-one years, the victims being Dr. Hamel and his guides, who perished on Mont Blanc in 1820, and whose bodies were found at the terminal of the Bossons Glacier in 1861.

Her Memory All Right.

Mrs. Geddes had a new maid, and she found it necessary to repeat her instructions several times before Nora obeyed them. The mistress had told her repeatedly about the finger bowls, and one day when there were guests they were again forgotten.

"Now, Nora," said Mrs. Geddes, finally, with the utmost courtesy, however, Blair stepped to her side and so delicately carried out his part of the program that, although she trembled as his hand clasped hers, Grace went through the ordeal acceptably.

"A fine picture," said the operator, as he paid the money promised and departed. Roscoe Blair lingered a few minutes "to get acquainted with his new neighbors." The next morning his gardener brought over a brilliant bouquet with his compliments.

LAYING THE FOUNDATION FOR NEXT SEASON.

(Experimental Farms Note.)

Some beekeepers may now be wondering why their bees failed to store as much honey as did their neighbours, even though the same kind of hives were used and the locality equally as good. The amount of honey a colony will store is not dependent on equipment and locality alone, but to a large extent upon the care given the bees during the ten or eleven months prior to the main flow. There are two periods in the year when it is essential to have a large force of bees of the right age in order to gather the first crop: during the winter months, and the second is during the main honey flow; and the strength during the second period is largely dependent on the strength during the first period. A strong colony, consisting mainly of young bees in the fall, will winter better and build up more rapidly for the following spring than will a weak colony or one that is made up of old bees. Next season's crop then depends largely upon the fall management of this year and not in the time that the foundation is laid for next year's success or failure. The force of young bees that is to carry the colony through the winter must be reared during the months of August and September, therefore, every colony should be examined during the latter part of July or early in August and all weak or failing queens replaced by young, vigorous queens. A young queen is usually more prolific than an old one and is more likely to survive the winter and to build up the colony more rapidly the following spring. A prolific queen is useless unless she has sufficient space for maximum egg production and sufficient food for the brood. Good queens, plenty of room, and an abundance of food are the chief points of fall management.

A WEAK STOMACH

Can Be Strengthened Through the Use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills

Wonderful is the process by which the chemistry of the body can change the food we eat into blood. And the whole of our well-being depends upon this being maintained day after day, year in and year out. Sometimes the process becomes faulty, and then food begins to poison the blood instead of feeding it. This is followed by all the pangs of indigestion, such as gas on the stomach, pains around the heart, often nausea after eating, and a dislike for all kinds of food.

The only way to overcome these troubles is to tone up the digestion so that you can assimilate all your food. To do this you have only to take Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. A short course of these pills will quickly tone up the stomach and banish indigestion. Here is a bit of convincing proof given by Mrs. Chas. Ladner, Elgersie, P.E.I., who says:—"For some years I was a sufferer from stomach trouble. Everything I ate caused distress, sour stomach and belching. I could not eat meat or potatoes, and I grew weak and nervous. No medicine seemed to help me until I was persuaded to take Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and these simply worked wonders. I took the pills faithfully for a couple of months by which time every symptom of the trouble disappeared, and there has not since been the slightest symptom of stomach trouble. No wonder I praise Dr. Williams' Pink Pills."

You can get these pills through any medicine dealer or by mail at 50 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

A TORY STORY.

President of the University of Alberta a Man of Many Interests.

Dr. H. M. Tory, president of the University of Alberta, is a man of many and diverse interests. We think of him sitting as chairman of a Government commission investigating taxation, and again as being re-elected president of a research council at Toronto. His tremendous energy and unique personality have done much to bring the University of Alberta to the fore, remarks the Toronto Star Weekly. Nevertheless this little habit gives rise to some amusing stories and the following is one of the best:

A prominent Ottawa man when passing through Edmonton, ran up Dr. Tory and arranged to meet him at noon next day at his office, and they were to go out to lunch together. While lunching they could discuss some important business matters.

The next morning was a strenuous one for Dr. Tory. It was already getting late when he recalled his appointment and rushed off home to change his clothes. Alas! his mind was still with the morning's work as he divested himself of his clothes. Absentmindedly he searched for the garments he was to wear, seized his pyjamas instead of his suit, donned them, and rolled into bed. In a few moments he was sound asleep.

About this time Dr. Tory's secretary was informing the visitor from Ottawa that Dr. Tory was out but was expected back at any moment. Mr. ——— went into the president's office and sat down to wait.

At last when the hands of his watch approached two o'clock his patience was exhausted. He had begun to gather up his hat and gloves when the door burst open and Dr. Tory himself rushed in; very much upset and making his apologies.

But the question is did he reveal to his visitor that Mrs. Tory a few minutes before happening to step into his room was horrified to find her husband asleep in bed.

HE WASN'T STARING AT HER.

Mr. Massey Got Himself Disliked by the Lady.

Vincent Massey, first Canadian ambassador to Washington, tells an amusing anecdote of his boyhood's days. Travelling one day from Montreal to Toronto he seated himself directly opposite an elderly lady of bitterly spinsterian mien. Many worlds away from his surroundings, the young man fell into a brown study and, all unconsciously, fixed his wide open eyes upon the face of his vis-a-vis.

The state of things must have continued for some time when, roused sharply from his dreams, Mr. Massey heard a voice, trembling with too-long-suppressed annoyance.

"I said," it was apparently repeating for, at least the third time when he became conscious of his whereabouts, "perhaps you'll know me next time, young man!"

With a gasp he recalled his still wandering attention. "I—er—I really beg your pardon!" he murmured in a dazedly apologetic tone. "I'm afraid I was day-dreaming and didn't notice when you got in . . . How do you do, Miss—er—Mrs.—"

His voice trailed off despairingly as he slowly took in the uncanny antagonism in the lady's face. "I have not met you," she reproved with icy precision of enunciation, "I was referring to the ill-mannered way in which you were staring at me."

Elephants as Firemen.

A herd of wild elephants put out a fallen burning tree and saved a terrible blaze in the forest at Travancore, India.

During a gale a big tree was uprooted and fell across the main road near Theoram custom-house. Laborers sent to clear the road set the tree on fire and returned to the custom-house.

The fire was spreading to the adjoining woods when the leader of a herd of elephants saw it, and called his followers by loud trumpeting. Within a few minutes a number of these four-footed firemen were busily employed with their trunks as hoses, turning streams of water on the blazing tree and the burning woods. A running stream near by served as their supply of water. Soon the fire was put out.

A broken alpen-stock bearing the name "Dr. J. Bean" was found by guides at the foot of the Glacier des Bossons, which "flows" down from the summit of Mont Blanc. This find brought back to memory the most terrible accident in Alpine history, when eleven climbers perished on the summit of the mountain in violent snowstorms which lasted for a week.

In September, 1870, Rev. G. McCorkindale, of Glasgow, and two Americans, Dr. Bean and Mr. Randall, set out from Chamonix with eight guides, and reached the summit in doubtful weather. When they began the descent a snow-storm started, and not one of the eleven was seen alive again.

Later, a party of guides found the bodies of five victims, including the clergyman and Dr. Bean, but the other six have never been discovered. It is probable they will eventually follow the alpen-stock. The glacier travels at the rate of 500 feet a year.

The longest period that a glacier or ice-river has retained its dead is forty-one years, the victims being Dr. Hamel and his guides, who perished on Mont Blanc in 1820, and whose bodies were found at the terminal of the Bossons Glacier in 1861.

Her Memory All Right.

Mrs. Geddes had a new maid, and she found it necessary to repeat her instructions several times before Nora obeyed them. The mistress had told her repeatedly about the finger bowls, and one day when there were guests they were again forgotten.

"Now, Nora," said Mrs. Geddes, extremely exercised over the omission, "this is the sixth time I've had to tell you about the finger bowls. Didn't the woman you last worked for have them on the table?"

"No, mum," replied Nora; "her friends always washed their hands before they cum."

PROGRESS OF DENMARK

YOUNG FARMERS GET A THOROUGH TRAINING.

One Hundred Years Ago Danes Were Ignorant Peasants — Today They Are Genial, Kindly, Intelligent and Thrifty—Secret of Success.

With the evidence of success and efficiency on every hand in the production, manufacture and distribution of their farm products, one cannot help being interested in how it all came about and what kind of people these Danes are, writes David J. Howel in the Montreal Star. The terms, genial, kindly, intelligent, hard working and thrifty have been applied to them and all are deserved, but there is something deeper than these and from which these qualities spring. There is a deep religious spirit, a high culture, a wide understanding and a feeling of solidarity that is remarkable and perhaps unequalled in the farming community of any other country. It is all the more remarkable in that less than 100 years ago this people was as dull, cowed and ignorant as any of the peasants in Europe.

Many influences have been at work in the development of the Danish people, and it is not possible to get a full understanding of it without considering at least the more outstanding factors in their recent history before touching the greatest influence of all, that of the work of the "Folk High Schools."

Early in the nineteenth century the old system of communal tillage had been discarded; the farmer, who formerly was a tenant of the manor had become a freeholder; villeinage had been abolished and the personal dependence on the squire had ceased. Rather than of late years had given the farmer all of the soil which had been cultivated in common. Through this the distribution of the land such as obtains to-day was determined. About 75 per cent. of the total agricultural land is in middle sized farms, ranging from 20 to 150 acres, the bulk of these farms being of 50 to 60 acres. Less than 10 per cent. of the land is in large estates of 500 acres and over. In the remainder of the land are some 4,000 large farms where the acreage ranges from 150 to 500 acres, and over 100,000 small-farm holdings, ranging 1½ to 25 acres. Over 92 per cent. of the farmers in Denmark own the land that they cultivate, and where they are tenants the leases are for long terms. This democratic distribution of the land and the feeling of independence in its holding are of great importance in the development that has taken place.

The attainment of political freedom in the beginning of the struggle was largely in the hands of the young university men and citizens but after the awakening of the peasants through the influence of Grundtvig and the Folk High Schools it was they that secured general suffrage. It is the influence of the teachings of Grundtvig and the resultant continuation schools that has proved the greatest factor in the rise of the Danish peasantry and their wonderful development as a farming community.

Nikolaj Frederik Severin Grundtvig was a prophet and spiritual genius, whose life was literally and inextricably woven with the history of the Danish people for many years, was the son of an orthodox Lutheran clergyman. He published a "Mythology" which caused a sensation, and this with an historical play made him famous as a Danish poet.

The Napoleonic wars ruined the country and the people sank into a torpor of hopelessness and discouragement, but the awakening came, marked by a revival of the old Lutheran Christianity, which was led by farmers, artisans and cottagers, in spite of the opposition of the clergy who prosecuted the leaders of the movement, it spread rapidly all over the country.

The Folk High Schools are continuation schools for adults from 18 to 30. The schools are privately owned, usually by the principal, who receives state aid but their methods and curriculum are in no way controlled by the State, these being settled by the principal and the teachers under him. The attendance is entirely voluntary the fees for board and tuition being very moderate, usually $20 to $25 a month for men and $18 to $20 for women. Two to four pupils usually share a room, bringing their own bedclothes. They eat at a common table, the fare being plain but plentiful.

Three lectures are as a rule given to the whole school daily, covering history, literature, geography, natural science, etc. This study in common, which sometimes includes discussion of the lecture subjects, constitutes the principal work of the school day, which starts at 7 a.m. Before and after each lecture the pupils sing together songs which have, as far as possible a bearing on the lecture. Gymnastics form a part of every day's work. At the larger schools the pupils are separated into different groups, each with its respective teacher, for the study of Danish grammar, reading, composition, etc.; in the same way they study arithmetic, drawing or manual work. In addition to gymnastics there are open air games, folk dancing and ball games every day if the weather permits.

The spirit in which the lectures are given and the whole work of the school undertaken is the vital thing that makes these schools so successful. The pupils constitute about 20 per cent. of the rural youth and only 1 per cent. of that of the towns. From this it is easily seen that the farming community has received the greatest benefit from them.

The fine spirit and understanding that these schools have created in the Danish people is largely responsible for the great success that they have attained in farming and their wonderful success in co-operative enterprises.

It was a wordy fight and the little man with what looked like two pounds of sausage under his arm gave his parting shot.

"The sooner," he said pleasantly, "that I never see your face again the better it will be for both of us when we meet."

Our Country, once a savage land,
Where roamed red men in search of prey,
Now doth among the nations stand,
With ever noble part to play.

This spacious land with riches vast
In forest, field, mine, stream, and sea;
Had waited while long ages passed
For white man's skill and industry.

Now iron spans this broad domain,
Connecting cities opulent;
And heard is industry's refrain
O'er much of our half-continent.

And waving grain on prairies wide,
Will millions feed across the sea,
And ships that fear not wind nor tide,
Will carry it where need may be.

A scenic land with cloud-capt mount,
And glacier creeping to the sea,
With streams, cascades, and lakes past count—
A grand and varied scenery.

A land where Peace and Freedom reign,
And diverse races choose to live;
Where earthly comforts all may gain,
If loyal service they will give.

Above all else the boast might be,
Of halls of learning for our youth,
And of our fanes where all are free
To bear the sacred words of Truth.

A DIET OF RAW MEAT

Eskimos of Greenland Live on Meat Exclusively.

That some races at least can stand a diet of raw meat is proved by the report of Dr. W. A. Thomas on the Eskimos of Greenland. These people have no vegetables, fruits, milk or grain. They live on meat exclusively from the time they are weaned until they die.

The Eskimo eats the muscles and the organs, but he saves practically all the fat for fuel purposes. As a rule, the meat is eaten raw. At least, he prefers it that way. He does not eat the liver of polar bear because both and he and his dog have learned by experience that polar bear liver is poisonous.

Dr. Thomas examined large numbers of men for heart disease, Bright's disease and high blood pressure. These diseases and conditions were no more abundant than in men who live on a vegetable or a mixed diet. If the Eskimo proves anything, men with high blood pressure can eat a sirloin of steak about once a day and eat it without harm to themselves.

Dr. Thomas found no evidence of scurvy or rickets among either children or grownups. The Eskimo baby is kept at the breast until he is four to six years old. This gives him time to develop teeth and jaws strong enough to tear raw meat. Then he is weaned and fed on meat almost exclusively. These children do not have rickets.

The animals used for food carry all the needed vitamins in their tissues, some in one tissue and some in another. The Eskimos get these vitamins through eating other animals, and so on down to the low marine animals which live on sea vegetation of some kind, from some source.

In Labrador the story was entirely different.

The Labradorians live largely on dried potatoes, flour, canned goods, cereals and cereal products. They get no fresh vegetables nor fruit. They are not heavy meat eaters. In that country rickets is almost universal, in spite of the almost twenty-four hours of daily sunshine in the summer season. Scurvy is very prevalent among children and almost as prevalent among grown-ups. The scurvy is the old-fashioned type—hemorrages, teeth falling out, black gums. The old whalers know what it means when rheumatic pains, tender, stiff joints and bleeding gums are noted.

Dr. Thomas thinks the Labradorian would regain his health if he would go back to the old meat diet of his wild days and of the Greenlander of the present day.

They are trying to determine by blood tests whether the Eskimo is an Asiatic or American in his origin. These tests are not completed, but other evidence seems to show that the Eskimo is nearer kin to the Chinaman than he is to the Indian.

Flag Language.

Visitors who stay at any of the ports should be able to read the language of the flags displayed by the vessels. Flags half-masted means that the vessel is in quarantine; a yellow flag with black quarters, plague; blue with a white centre square is the "Blue Peter," and signifies that a vessel is about to sail.

A red burgee—a flag with the V-piece cut out, denotes danger from explosion above or below water. The Union Jack upside down indicates extreme distress. The White Ensign denotes that the vessel wearing it is a man-of-war under the King's commission.

The Blue Ensign has no cross, and is worn by vessels on public service or merchant ships, liners, and so on, under the command of officers who hold the King's commission in the Reserve. The Red Ensign with no cross denotes "British," that is all. Buildings "fly" flags by the way, and vessels "wear" them.

Officially It Was.

Hon. J. G. Latham, Attorney-General of Australia, is known for his witty stories. One of these concerned a certain college in which rules were strictly forbidden during study hours.

One young student, however—he said—decided that he would find more entertainment in playing his ukulele than in studying French irregular verbs. Unfortunately, while he was really letting himself go on the instrument, the principal happened to pass and hear him.

A little while after a note was handed to the student.

"For purposes of discipline," it ran, "and as against all the evidence of my ears, I am compelled to regard the strange sounds that emanated from your study as music; and it must cease immediately."

Evil Eye on Crops.

Women dragging ploughs through the first furrows in the fields to prevent evil spirits blighting the crops may still be seen within short distances of Moscow.

Idolatrous worship and superstitious practices continue almost without check, it is said, in the Moscow Universities, according to a report by the Ethnographic Department of the Commissariat of Education.

The God of Ideas is still placated with special offerings in villages close to Moscow, wizards are asked to cure illnesses by applying toads to the skin of the sufferer, quacks and voodoo men conduct a thriving trade, and many other dark and liberal magics persist, in spite of the active educational work of the Government.

The Important Point.

As is fairly well known, Lord Dewar is a fluent and thrilling stories against his own countrymen.

His latest concerns an Englishman who lost his way in the fog on a Scottish moor. A search party went out, and a voice suddenly came through the mist: "Hallo! Hallo! I'm lost, I'm lost!"

Another voice was heard to say: "Aye, I'm hearin' ye; but what's the reward for findin' ye?"

Those who enjoy reading the best books of the day, can get any of them at a moderate rate from the rental list in the Lending Library. Hundreds of the best sellers always on hand at the trifling cost of three cents per day. Paul's Bookstore. 1f42

Attractive Convention Centre

In the Lake of Bays district of the Highlands of Ontario, where not more than a half century ago, Chief Bigwin and his Indian braves constructed their hunting expeditions, the Canadian holiday-seeker now finds a delightful vacation land. Splendid facilities for boating, canoeing, fishing and other sports are there in abundance in this land of lake and forest, and to provide for the comfort of visitors, Bigwin Inn, named after the Indian chief, has been provided. Not only aquatic sports are enjoyed here, for there also bowling, tennis, golf and tramping in the bracing, pine-scented air. The scenery which surrounds Bigwin Inn, an attractive lakeside hostelry—providing for the accommodation of 500 guests, is magnificent. Lake of Bays, of which the Inn is beautifully situate on the western slope of the Laurentian Range, 1,000 feet above sea-level, in a region where the air is always clean, cool and invigorating. The lake has a shoreline of 250 miles and is surrounded by thickly wooded hills.

As a convention centre Bigwin Inn is ideal. A spacious pavilion, with seating capacity for one thousand people, makes an ideal convention hall. In the artistic dining room, five hundred delegates may be banqueted at one sitting, while committees may meet around the spacious fire places in the rotunda. Bigwin Inn was chosen as the 1927 convention centre of the Canadian Weekly Newspapers Association, whose gathering brings together newspaper publishers and their wives from all parts of the Dominion of Canada.

Bigwin Inn which is one of the charming summer hotels of Eastern Canada, is conveniently located near Huntsville, Ont., and splendid boat and train service connections ensure the comfort and convenience of visitors to this delightful resort.—Canadian National Railways photograph.

Real Pleasant.

Nellie, aged four, was gazing intently at the visitor's new bonnet.

"Well, dear," asked the lady at last, "what do you think of it?"

"Oh," replied the small observer, "I think it's all right. Aunt Mary told mamma it was a perfect fright, but it doesn't frighten me any."

Changed by a Broom.

"If it had not been for an accident my family might have been confectioners still." Sir Austen Chamberlain, the Foreign Secretary, made this interesting confession when his portrait was placed recently in Cordwainers' Hall, the guild headquarters of the shoemakers. "My family was known with the Cordwainers," he remarked, "dates from two hundred years ago. When my ancestor was a boy he was apprenticed to a confectioner, but one day he took a broom and balanced it on the tip of his nose. Just at that moment the master confectioner came in, and my ancestor dropped the broom. He broke all the crockery in the shop, with the result that shortly afterwards he became apprenticed to a shoemaker."

Three Kicks In a Dollar.

According to a leading resident of Emperia, U. S. A., who presented a park to that town recently, there are three kicks in every dollar. The first of these is when one makes the dollar, for naturally, he says, "it has to be earned before you have it."

The second kick is when one saves the dollar, since he must save it to keep it. And the third and biggest kick of all is when it is given away. The corner-stone of philanthropy is in part constructed of this last principle.

Pin Money.

Until the end of the fourteenth century wooden skewers were used instead of pins, the metal articles being very expensive. Pins were acceptable New Year gifts to a lady; occasionally a sum of money was given for their purchase, in the form of an allowance, and called "pin money." The same still applies to small sums to be used in the purchase of sundries.

ENTERPRISE

The heavy rains at the end of last week caused a very small crowd at the annual lawn social given on the United Church grounds. The program was splendid, and those who were not there surely missed a treat.—We hear that the three pupils of Miss Madeline Wagar were all successful in their musical exams. Miss Erling just lacked two marks of honors, and had she been allowed to memorize her work as she had prepared herself for, she would surely have had them. But her standing was amongst the highest in the work she was doing in the Public School.—All are getting ready for the picnic on Wednesday at the Lake.—Mr. and Mrs. B. N. Sparks and Mr. C. Brown spent the week end at Glenside Cottage.—Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Hartwick and Mr. and Mrs. George McGarvey spent the week end at one of Mr. Morrow's camps.—Mr. and Mrs. Thos. Wagar and Miss Florence Walker took dinner with Mrs. C. Brown on Sunday, at her home in the village. —The hayy rains have put the farmers back with their harvesting. We are hoping for more weather for a while.—Berries do not seem to be a very good crop this year, at least not in this section of the country.

COSEY NOOK

(For last week)

The showers of last week has made everything fine. Haying is in full swing and reflects, seems to have a very promising crop. — Mrs. Amos Storey is very sick yet, and has been for some weeks. Glad to see her out again soon.—Mr. and Mrs. John Gray slid family from Marlbank, spent Saturday and Sunday at Mr. James Hawley's, Morven. — Mr. and Mrs. Amey, of Switzerville, spent Sunday at Mr. Peter Storey's; also Mr. and Mrs. Peter and Mr. Amos Storey's.—Mr. and Mrs. Roy Rose and Mr. and Mrs. Thos. Storey motored to Belleville on Sunday to visit Mrs. Snider and Mrs. G. Deline. They then motored to Picton and returned in the evening, much pleased with their trip.—Mr. Curran still continues quite poorly.—Mrs. John Lemon's mother, Mrs. Babcock, fell and hurt herself badly, but is some better at time of writing. — Master Gerald Rose is spending a week at Thos. Storey's.—Miss Marion Storey has passed her exams. at High School. —Mr. and Mrs. James Hawley and family spent a day in Kingston, last week.—A young daughter has applied for board at Mr. Lesley Storey's.

WISE AND OTHERWISE

One young fellow's idea of business management is a twelve-dollar collar on a fifty-cent dog.

Why suffer from corns when they can be painlessly rooted out by using Holloway's Corn Remover.

The difference between the millionaire and the pauper is—just about a million.

Nearly all children are subject to worms, and many are born with them. Spare them suffering by using Mother Graves' Worm Exterminator, an excellent remedy.

"What caused a delay at your friend the plumber's wedding?"

"He had to go back and fetch his best man."

Family Doctor—"Your son has measles in the worst form."

Mrs. Cashleigh—"Why, doctor, we are rich enough to afford the very best."

Colored Maid (to mistress): "Miss L., will you please, mam, vance me twenty-five cents on my wages? The leader of our church is gwine away, and we want to give him a little momentum."

It was a wordy fight and the little man with what looked like two pounds of sausage under his arm gave his parting shot.

"The sooner," he said emphatically, "that I never see your face again the better it will be for both of us when we meet."

Internally and Externally it is Good.

—The crowning property of Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil is that it can be used internally for many complaints as well as externally. For sore throat, croup, whooping cough, pain in the chest, colic and many kindred ailments it has qualities that are unsurpassed. A bottle of it costs little and there is no loss in always having it at hand.

An old negro was taken ill, and called in a physician, of his own race. After a time, as there was no improvement, he called for a white doctor. Soon after arriving the doctor felt the old man's pulse, and then examined his tongue.

"Did your other doctor take your temperature?" he asked.

"I don't know, boss," replied the ailing man; "I ain't missed anything but my watch as yet."

Asthma Victims. — The man or woman subject to asthma is indeed a victim. What can be more terrifying than to suddenly be seized with paroxysms of coughing which seem to fairly threaten the existence of life itself. From such a condition Dr. J. D. Kellogg's Asthma Remedy has relieved many to completely restored health and happiness. It is known and prized in every section of this broad land.

Tommy Brown, who had been apprenticed to Farmer Hicks, had not proved a conspicuous success, and so when old Mr. Brown came along one day to ask what progress the lad was making the old farmer looked dubious.

"Well," said he, "isn't as I want to discourage you or your son, but I really don't do nothing wrong—or nothing at all if he can help it. But I will say that, in my opinion, if you could find another hand he'd want another pocket to put it in !".

When a mother detects from the wrathings and fretfulness of her child that worms are troubling it, she can procure a reliable remedy in Miller's Worm Powders which will expel all the worms from the system. They may cause vomiting, but this need cause no anxiety, because it is but a manifestations of their thorough work. No worms can long exist where these Powders are used.

DOLLAR'S FORMULAE.

"Go Ahead and Do What You Feel Like Doing."

"Go ahead and do what you feel like doing and don't worry about what people say," is the formula for success of Capt. Robert Dollar, world-renowned lumberman and Pacific coast navigator, who spent some time recently in Toronto and Ottawa and amid his former business activities in the district of Bracebridge.

During his visit to Ottawa, Capt. Dollar strolled one afternoon down "Peacock Alley," the fashionable corridor of the Chateau Laurier, in his bedroom slippers. To do this requires a lot of nerve and "sand" but Capt. Dollar, in his meteoric and commanding career, has abundantly demonstrated that he possesses these qualities.

As a boy, the late Senator Edwards of Ottawa worked with Capt. Dollar in the camps and some years ago he tendered the noted navigator and lumber lord a banquet, the vet-eran of J. R. Booth being one of the guests. Capt. Dollar was relating some youthful reminiscences and, turning to Mr. Booth said, "I remember when you ran a small shingle machine in Hull. You had only one small machine, a couple of other boys and I packed the shingles. You never idled a moment and wore a pair of heavy woollen overall trousers. The oil and grease from the shingle machine made those garments so stiff that I venture to say when you took your pants off at night you did not have to hang them up. All you had to do was to stand them on the floor and there would remain in an upright position until you were ready to jump into them in the morning."

Quick as a flash, Mr. Booth replied, "I know you're right! Let me tell you that you were one of the best boys I ever had packing shingles and the most expert river-driver that the Ottawa Valley ever knew."

REPLACING CAMELS.

Motor Trucks Are Running Between Caspian Sea and Teheran.

Like old Dobbin on the farm, even the camels of the desert are yielding place to the modern car engine.

The Persian Caravan Company has purchased fifteen motor trucks to replace the camels on the route from the Caspian Sea to Teheran, the capital of Persia, which has decided to motorize her chief caravan routes. Plans are being made to motorize the famous 600-mile Trebison-Tabriz trail.

This trail traverses three mountain ranges over the same rough road along which Xenophon led his retreating ten thousand, and the desert through which the ancient caravans brought the wealth of Hindustan to the Black Sea to swell the coffers of the Roman Empire. Byzantine palaces and churches once enriched by that ancient trade, now are used as stables along the route where Western civilization promises to be the next conqueror.

Rugs, silks, saffron, wax and boxwood from Persia; copper, silver, walnuts and the world's chief supply of filberts from Armenia—although these names may lose their glamor when handled in cellophane instead of on belled camels and donkeys—but Asia bows before the conquest of modern mass production.

The caterpillar knocks out the camel's chief champion on two points. First, it hauls 20 tons to the camel's 400 pounds; and second, it crawls 50 miles a day to the camel's 20.

The Toiler's "Breather."

Investigations by the British Industrial Fatigue Research Board on fatigue and rest pauses in the course of industrial work have been sought to light some interesting figures.

Road-menders pause 11.9 minutes an hour; bricklayers' laborers, 11.3 minutes; dock laborers, 11.9 and 10.5 minutes for different gangs. Piece-rate workers take shorter rests than day workers, but in very heavy work the rests are long, sometimes lasting from 22 to 26 minutes.

Colliers' rest pauses vary from seven to twenty-two minutes an hour, according to circumstances, but the long rests are usually caused by lack of tubs and are therefore involuntary. These involuntary rests are estimated to have only a fifth of the value of corresponding voluntary rests in relieving fatigue.

Queen of the Desert.

To be loved by a real sheik is one of the finds in store for some romantic girls, but seldom does a dream come true.

The British girl, however, is reported to have succeeded in capturing the heart of one of these desert chiefs. The Emir Shalan, one of the most powerful and noted of Bedouin chiefs, met a girl called Lois in Damascus, fell in love with her on the spot, and offered to marry her and make her queen of the desert. She consented, but the British Consul in Damascus, thinking that the emir had kidnapped the girl, secured her release.

The girl declared she had married the sheik because she loved him, and the couple were therefore allowed to return to the desert unmolested.

Great Population Possibilities.

According to Prof. J. W. Russell, head of the Department of Geology of the University of Western Ontario, "500 miles due north of London lies, in the district known as the James Slope, extending from the shores of the James Bay inland about 125 miles and covering an area twice that of Western Ontario, the greatest settlement, agricultural and population possibility in Northern Ontario. It is one of the two great population pockets in Canada, the other being the Peace River district." Prof. Russell said that the James Slope had all the characteristics of Western Ontario in pre-settlement days.

SERVED COFFEE AT TWO A.M.

A Story of Canon Scott's Many Acts of Kindness During the War.

Among the Rev. Canon Scott's many acts of love and devotion during his long service in France with the Canadian troops, one stands out in bold relief.

A Canadian sergeant relates the following story: "It was on the Somme, in the month of Albert, on October 12, 1916. We had been without hot food or decent food for about two days. Our ranks were decimated after an attack on the well-known Regina Trench fortress.

"Our battalion, the 'Mad Fourth,' was finally relieved, and we began to drag our weary way back to billets in Albert, in small knots, no marching discipline was adhered to.

"A short time after getting on the main road we sotted an old shack, and clustered around a bonfire a bunch of the boys who seemed to have suddenly dropped all signs of fatigue on sighting the inferno. We hurried forward to the open side and were amazed to see two hands pandering out cigarette tins filled with steaming hot coffee. Never before or since did coffee tasted so wonderful to me as that cigarette tinful did.

"We drew nearer, the better to see this heaven-sent being who seemed to dole delectable coffee to thirsty soldiers at 2.30 o'clock on a raw October morning in a shell-torn area with but a flimsy roof for protection. Peering through the gloom we first saw a huge boiler, from which was issuing a wonderful aroma, and at which a young soldier was lighting watch. As the steam cleared we saw the figure of a man, tunic off, sleeves rolled up, head bare, with features covered with beads of perspiration, but withal a face was wreathed in happy smiles. That man was the Rev. Canon Scott, our beloved padre.

"He could have been coolly sleeping miles from the shell fire, but he chose to be near his 'boys,' helping them along, strengthening them.

"After a handclasp and a cigarette from him, we passed on our way, leaving him to tend to the hundreds that straggled by after us. The remainder of our journey was lightened, our spirits were happier, not only by the hot stimulant, but by the contact with such a man among men."

MOSQUITOES COST MILLIONS.

It Is Not Only to People That the Mosquito Is Deadly.

A young man in Somerset, England, was stung on the nose by a mosquito just as he had finished playing in a game of cricket. Within twenty-four hours he was dead. The case is not an isolated one for mosquitoes are well known to be deadly transmitters of disease from an unhealthy person to a healthy one, and their stings are in themselves poisonous.

It is not only to people that the mosquito is deadly. Its sting, and the microbes it carries, are just as fatal to cattle. In some countries where the mosquito abounds it is practically impossible to raise cattle for the cows are so tormented by the insects that the supply of milk ceases, and the quality becomes adulterated.

It is not possible to obtain accurate figures regarding the vast amount of money caused by the mosquito, the men and animals it kills, and the countries it destroys by making them practically uninhabitable; but it is safe to say that the loss it causes must amount to millions of dollars each year.

Soapy Substitutes.

The present generation can hardly conceive a time when there was no such thing as soap. Yet it is only comparatively recently that soap has been so largely manufactured.

Until the discovery of soap as we know it, the best cleansing agent was fuller's earth, the absorbent properties of which enables it to remove greasy and oily matter from most fabrics.

Another means of cleansing was the soap berry, the fruit of a plant which lathered freely on rubbing with water. Another was urine, while a plant known as soapwort, the lathering properties of which were due to the presence of a substance called saponin, which is also found in the horse chestnut.

It is by using a natural substitute for soap that the crofters of the Scottish Highlands experience in keeping their blankets soft and white for many generations.

Paid Better.

A tree at Kipling's home was injured by a bolt, during a storm. He was also the landlord of an Inn. Kipling wrote this man a letter of complaint, which the receipient promptly sold to one of his guests. Again Kipling wrote wrote, this time a more violent letter, which immediately brought double the price of the first.

A few days later Kipling called on the landlord and demanded to know why he had received such a series of his letters.

"Well, I was hoping you'd write me some more," said Bonifface.

And then he told the author what he had done with the two letters.

"They pay a good deal better than bus-driving," he added.

Spends $45,563,000 on Highways.

According to figures compiled by A. W. Campbell, Provincial Highway Commissioner, the provincial road system expended a total of $45,563,000 on the construction and maintenance of their highways in Canada.

Of this sum $25,625,000 went for construction and $16,000,000 to the maintenance of roads already constructed. The total expenditure involved 46,824 miles of railway.

The Broader Vision

By WINSTON SATTERLY

"Never talk poor," was the advice John Ellerton gave his boy, Ned, aged sixteen, when that young scion of the family went to the city to find work. "We're poor, haven't much stuff, in a worldly sense, but we are pioneers. Our ancestry came over with the Mayflower, and you're one of us saw the inside of a jail."

"Don't fear, dad," responded the volatile and ambitious Ned. I'll keep up the family end if it costs a limb."

He was bright, ambitious, perseverng, possessed of a powerful imagination, and, eager to get on. The first thing he chanced to gain the favor of Walter Lee, a bachelor aged thirty, who occupied a back room of Alden and company. There seemed to come with this rural applicant for employment, with his bright eyes, sunburnt brown face, farm ways and whiff of nature fresh from the fields, something that awoke the steady, plodding Walter Lee s vision of his own boyhood. It made more intense than ever his longing once more to wander in the woodland, and think only of wild flowers and out grown and winding brooks.

The brisk, chatty, energetic lad became a secret joy to the bachelor to Lee. Then one day, when he noticed that Ned got about with a sort of a limp, he asked the reason.

"To tell you the truth," explained Ned, "I got homesick for the woods, and over Sunday I cramped it twenty miles away from the city. Say, I was nearly in heaven when I got all alone near a regular old-fashioned creek! I hadn't gone barefooted since I left home, and I just whipped off those shoes of mine and let my feet wallow, and kick, and soak in the squashy mud and gravel. Oh, it was like the old times!"

Like one electrified by the memories evoked of like youthful experience, Walter Lee drank in the recital with beating pulses.

"Stepped on a bit of glass in my threshing around," proceeded Ned, "and got a slight cut. It'll mend soon, though. When I left home sister Nellie put me up a box of mom's prime tallow, and it mends in a jiffy. That's Tessie," continued Ned, as she revealed a photograph to Lee. "It's her on top of the hay wagon, leaning on a fork, only she's a deal prettier than that."

"She's pretty enough in all reason," remarked Lee. "It makes me homesick, all this country stuff, and when ever there was a spell of business letting up he would entice Ned into renewed visits to farm episodes. It was there that Ned was led into temptations. Recalling the paternal advice never to 'talk poor,' Ned proceeded to build up a fanciful rural environment that became a vision of glory amongst his business man. Ned put on all the fanciful frills he could devise in describing the old farm. Getting bolder, as his imaginative creations seemed to be absorbed by his listener, Ned expanded into gross exaggerations. He depicted the old farmhouse as a sort of modern palace. He divided it into rooms, luxurious apartments that had never existed. He described himself as he put marble statues in the garden and bloodied horses in the stables. Then one day he was overwhelmed, stunned, crushed, when Mr. Lee said:

"Ned, you've filled me with such a longing to get out on a real farm once more, that I'm going to take my first vacation in ten years and ramble for a month. You look after your work here as closely as you have done, and I'll lift you a step up the ladder when I get back. By the way, isn't Waltham town near your father's farm?"

"Oh, say! you ain't going there, are you?"

"Why not? It's ideal, according to your story," remarked Mr. Lee, and my one anticipation in life is finally to settle down with just about that kind of a layout. I thought I'd ramble around generally and drop in on your folks some day. I'd like to see a sweet-faced sister of yours, for one thing. Then I want to copy the house, I intend to build after years."

"Yes, sir!" gulped Ned, and mentally decided that the manager's dream was likely to receive a shock.

"Why didn't I stop at the nut store and trout brook and leave out the blooded stock?" he groaned the next day. "And, worst of all, the house! Say I just built a palace, didn't I? And the statues, and the screened porches! Oh, I've put my foot in it, haven't I?"

Not a word from Mr. Lee for a week—two of them. Then came a letter from Tessie telling what a delightful time Ned's employer was. He was making a stay at the village, she wrote, was a daily visitor at their home, and had nothing but words of praise for Ned, greatly to the delight of his proud mother.

"But when he comes, back?" fearfully enquired Ned, and one day Mr. Lee did come back. He shook hands with the perturbed Ned as if he truly loved him.

"Ned," he cried hilariously, "you have been the medium of making me a happy man. I found things just as you pictured them, except the house. I guess you romanced there, for you surely doesn't matter. We're going to build a new one."

"We?" repeated Ned, vaguely.

"Yes, Tessie and I. You see, we're going to get married this fall."

"NO MAN'S PORT"

By GENEVIEVE ULMAR

(Copyright, 1926, Western Newspaper Union)

"You're slipping, Bross," observed Mr. Ralph Warren, manager of Marvin Bross. "Down late mornings, sleepy till noon, out of the office half the beer before quitting time. It won't do. Watch your step!"

Bross was attentive, but unheeding. A month later, when someone asked Mr. Warren about the young man, the response came:

"Drifting. He was a pleasant, accommodating young fellow, but he idled his time away. Not vicious, not dissipated. Just caught with the glare of the town and it dazzled him. Started wrong somehow in choosing his business career, and indolence and carelessness have done the rest."

"Slipping, drifting and then down and out!" These were the three formidable phases that contended with well meaning, but happy go-lucky Marvin Bross and won the contest. He had come from a quiet country town where he would have been a success with his easy-going, smiling ways and familiarity with local business methods, and the city, instead of being an impetus to ambition, became a pleasant hunting ground for variety and enjoyment.

The last phase of Marvin's reckless experience became very manifest to him, as one chilly winter evening, homeless, out of money and work, he crept into the hallway of a public building and crouched behind a radiator.

"Looks seedy, but he's sober," observed one of two night watchmen a little later. "Here!" with a shake of Marvin's arm, "where did you come from?"

"It's not where I came from, gentlemen," remarked Marvin pleasantly, "but where I'm going to if you turn me out of this warm nest. I've had bad luck. What do you do in cases like mine?"

"He looks of the right sort, only down at heel," observed the other officer. "I would say No Man's Port. He looks the kind Old Salty favors."

"All right, take him there," came the response. "See here, my man, you're grazing vagrancy and the municipal court, so go with my partner and see what Old Salty can do with you."

"And who is Old Salty, if I may ask?" propounded Marvin.

"Every man a friend who deserves a chance. He'll be your free landlord for a night, anyhow."

Marvin followed the officer. He was curious, interested as they reached a store.

"Here's another derelict to add to your fleet, Salty."

The queerest appearing man Marvin had ever met nodded and regarded this newcomer keenly with one eye. He looked the retired old mariner complete. He had also only one arm and a stump up otherwise like some son of battle.

"You seem to need a meal and a bed," he observed to Marvin. "Dream ever have any food a sailor and don't have a talk with me in the morning," and he led Marvin into another room where a hearty but wholesome table was spread, and then as those of the dozen partitioned-off, compartments supplied with clean, comfortable cots. In the morning a substantial breakfast in a fatherly way and said:

"You talk right, now to get feeling right. The matter with you,sir, is that you have lost your bearings. Suppose I find them for you—will you try to do me credit?"

"If you mean a job," replied Marvin eagerly, "just try me. I've had my lesson."

Before the day was over Old Salty who was one of those philanthropists who do a good deal for humanity without saying much, had secured Marvin a position as attendant to a young man, a confirmed invalid, going South for his health. For five months Marvin applied himself diligently to his duties. He was well paid and when the invalid died his parents made Marvin a grateful present of a thousand dollars. He was a new and welcomed Marvin when he reported to Old Salty.

"You've stood the test," remarked the old mariner. "Now, then, to get back to the old basis. My lad, you made a mistake when you left peace and plenty for the city. You took the wrong road. A man can never mend a mistake without going back direct to the point where he missed and starting in all fresh again. Jog your memory. When and how did you come to start down the wrong road."

Memory did not fail Marvin, and he winced and looked sad. How clearly did he recall that last talk with pretty Lucy Duvenal back at his home town, he insistent upon venturing a business career in the city, she refusing to even consider marriage to a man who would make a wife into a dreaded unknown, a man who would turn away from home and friends. Then he had been his wilful way—down the wrong road.

"Go back and take the right one," directed Old Salty. "Write this sensible young lady that you are heartily mourning over you every day, that you are coming back to confess you've made a mistake and begin anew."

A month later Old Salty smiled benevolently as he read a note from Marvin Bross.

"I took the road to yesterday, as you advised me," it said—"and I'm what a pleasant one leading to the tomorrows of happiness and peace!"

Canada's First Locomotive Reproduced

The "Dorchester" was the name of the first locomotive placed in service in Canada and it was in use on the Champlain and St. Lawrence railroad, built in 1835 and connecting Laprairie and St. Johns, Quebec, a distance of 16 miles. The "Dorchester" was built in England by the Stephensons. The original ide now forms part of the Canadian National Railways system.

On the occasion of the annual procession of the St. Jean Baptiste Society at Montreal where a series of floats representing historical subjects were features, the "Dorchester", built at the Point St. Charles shops of the Canadian National Railways, was seen. Afterwards the reincarnation of the first Canadian locomotive appeared in the Diamond Jubilee parade at Ottawa.

OBITUARY

Samuel Hughes Bell.

On Tuesday, July 5th, 1927, Samuel Hughes Bell died at his residence in this district. The eldest son of the late Lithe and Annie Hughes Bell, he was born January 12th, 1867, in Addington County, Ontario, and removed to Manitoba in 1890, where he has resided continuously ever since. The deceased is survived by his mother, two sisters, Mary of Baldur, Man., and Mrs. R. E. Leslie, of Saskatoon, Sask., and by four brothers, J. F. Bell, of Plunkett, Sask., Jas. S. Bell, of Greenway, Man., Daniel Bell, of Chinook, Alberta, and Albert E. Bell, of Baldur. The funeral, held from the family residence on July 8th, was largely attended. The pall bearers were six cousins of the deceased, Harry and Alex. Huffman, Andrew and Edmund Embury, Collis and Roy McGill. Rev. Geo. Curtis, in a brief address, paid a warm tribute to the sterling worth and high character of the deceased.

"Sam", as he was affectionately known to a wide circle of friends, was one of God's gentlemen. Modest and unassuming in manner, he was steadfast and true to his ideals and few men ever fought a losing fight against disease with greater courage. Of many good qualities, perhaps sympathy and gentleness were the most outstanding in his character. A devoted son, considerate brother and kind neighbor, he was one of the few men whose life and character made their home and community a brighter and happier place in which to live. Our community does well to mourn his loss but "it is richer and better in that he was lived here and will remain a noble example and pattern of kindly thought, sympathetic character and courageous life.—Baldur Gazette.

Richard Franklin Bressett.

One of the pioneer residents of the Baldur district, passed away on June 14th, 1927, after great suffering from cancer, borne with wonderful courage and patience.

The deceased was born in Addington County, Ont., came to this district in 1889, residing here since then. Mr. Bressett married in 1891 Miss Ida Preston, who predeceased him more than ten years. He is survived by five children, Edward and Mrs. Harry Wilde, of Richmound, Sask.; Mrs. F. M. Brown and Stewart and Orval, of Baldur; also two brothers, S. and A. Breault, of Michigan; and three sisters, Mrs. Honan, of Rochester, N.Y.; Mrs. Hinchey, Shannonville, Ont., and Mrs. J. C. Kerr, Ninette, Man. Of the highest integrity in business, hospitable and kind in social life, he was held in high esteem in the community which was fully attested by the large number attending the funeral. The remains were laid to rest in the family plot in Baldur cemetery, beside his wife and little son, Melvin, there to await the dawn of the Eternal Day. Deepest sympathy goes out to the bereaved family.

Ann Jane McMath.

THUNDERSTORM DETECTOR.

Gives Warning of Presence of Storms 200 Miles Away.

The thunderstorm detector, which ensures that New York's lighting system shall be equal to any demand on it during periods of sudden darkness, is again in commission after its winter holiday.

The detector gives warning of the presence of storms as far away as 200 miles by ringing a bell at intervals of from five to fifteen minutes. As the storm approaches New York City the bell rings more frequently, and when the storm is about two hours away strikes about every half minute.

The operator at the central offices, when this occurs, orders the repairmen in the various districts to stand by and the generating units to be started. He then waits for the bell to start an hastened warning by ringing continuously. That ordinarily occurs from half an hour to an hour before the storm reaches the city.

A signal is thereupon sent out simultaneously to the fifty sub-stations and generating stations telling them to be ready to supply the increased load that will be demanded in a few minutes.

The increase in the amount of electricity the city needs for its lights during sudden darkness is approximately seventy-five per cent. A boy, before the detector was invented, used to be stationed on the roof of the building to report the presence of clouds in the direction which he might suspect of harboring thunderous intentions.

Storm clouds are nearly always accompanied by electrical disturbances in the ether, which are interpreted by the use of antennae, and made to give warning.

JUST PUTTING ON AIRS.

Beverley Jones Continues Joke on Octogenarian Friend.

A friend was commenting to Mr. Enoch Thompson on the remarkable vigor of Mr. Beverley Jones, well-known Toronto lawyer, who on June 11 celebrated his 85th birthday by presiding at the annual meeting of the Industrial Schools Association of Toronto.

Mr. Thompson, who also is an octogenarian, being 81 last February, agreed, and remarked, "That reminds me—some years ago Bedford Jones began to call me Mc-Tavish and has done so ever since. One day at the Yacht Club he gave me his reason for it. It seems he was in an Ontario town doing some business with a father and son. The father signed his name in a document, 'Evan McTavish,' while the son signed his John Thompson. So I asked the older man how it happened that his son had a different name. 'Oh,' he said, 'the boy is just putting on airs by using the English spelling. The Gaelic is good enough for me'."

Mr. Thompson, who is a good raconteur, with an excellent memory for funny stories, recalled also an incident that occurred the Hon. George Brown, founder of the Toronto Globe, first editor and a member of Confederation. He had an occasion to discharge an employee and next day was surprised to see him at his place. "Didn't I tell you to go?" he asked. "You did, Mr. Brown," answered the man doggedly, "but if you don't recognize when you have a good workman, I know when I've a good boss, and I'm not going."

He stayed.

Pleased the Girl.

The old gentleman and his daughter was spending a pleasant holiday in the English Highlands, staying at a house situated on the bank of a loch.

They had crossed the loch to visit a gearby town, and were waiting for a ferry boat to take them back again when the sky became overcast. Great black clouds hung low over the water, and rain seemed imminent.

The gentleman, fearing that his daughter would be soaked, waited for the boat to pull in, and then asked:

"I say, can you tell me where I might get hold of a mackintosh for my daughter?"

The old fellow rested on his oars before he replied. Then:

"Weel, there's no Mcintosh about here, but a little below the heid of the loch there's a braw MacDonald, a bachelor, who might suit the young lady!"

An Interesting Fossil Area.

The Jozgins section of Nova Scotia has been recognized since the days of the great geologists, Logan and Lyell, as affording the finest example in the world of fossil Coal Measure forests with standing from super-imposed one on another through some thousands of feet of sediments. This remarkable section is adequately represented in Canada's National Museum at Ottawa by a series of upright trunks with a background of a Carboniferous landscape and a panoramic view of the Jozgins section. The stumps with their great expanse of roots form what is considered by many familiar with foreign museums to be the finest exhibit of its kind in any museum.

The slaughter of whales in the Ross Sea, in the Antarctic, was protested at the annual congress of the Congressional Union of Australia and New Zealand, a resolution was passed urging the Governments of both Dominions to make representations to the Imperial Government with a view of stopping the wholesale destruction of the mammals; which was described as appalling.

MOUNTAINS OF ONTARIO

ARE NOT THE LOFTIEST IN THE WORLD.

Algoma Mountains Are Part of the Agawa Canyon — They Have a Growth of Thirty Miles—Covered With Dense Timber.

Mountains are not given much prominence in a geographical description of Ontario. Most folks take it for granted that Ontario is very short on mountains and leave the glory of its scenic beauties and charms to Alberta and British Columbia. Ontario has mountains.

They are a special brand of mountains, says Paul Montgomery in the Toronto Star Weekly. They do not stand the support of numerous foothills to set forth their grandeur. They are not spread all over the map but are all in a nest, tidy little pile ready for the inspection of the tourist. They cannot be listed amongst the loftiest peaks in the world but they are sufficiently elevated to give the citizen of Ontario a real thrill on beholding them for the first time.

Where are these Ontario Mountains? They are in Algoma about one hundred and twenty miles north of Sault Ste. Marie.

"I knew it," you remark to yourself, "there was a catch to it somewhere." These mountains had to be in some remote corner of the province where the wolves have been famed to act as pathfinders for men.

But these Algoma mountains are not hard to get at. A railway winds through the valley from which they rise on either side. If the visitor is willing to tackle the inconvenience of a pioneer road and the tack of parlor car accommodation the trip may be made without discomfort.

These Algoma mountains are part of the Agawa Canyon. They seem to happen all of a sudden, display their wonders for a stretch of thirty miles or so, and then end as abruptly as they commenced. A couple of years ago a large party of Ontario school teachers went to see these mountains. They were delighted with them but were put to some slight inconvenience owing to the fact that the railway officials would not risk the heavy cars of the special train on some of the bridges without breaking the train in sections and taking the cars across slowly a few at a time. The owners of the Algoma Central Railway must have a warning to the great scenic assets of the line, for a few months ago, when the writer went over the line, gangs of men were at work renewing and strengthening the bridges. The bridge across the Montreal river, just south of the Agawa Mountains, is now one of the engineering wonders of Canada.

The Algoma Central runs from Sault Ste. Marie to Hearst and taps all three of the transcontinental lines en route. It was built for the express purpose of tapping the rich pulpwood forests of Algoma and bringing valuable material to the hungry mills at the Sault. Naturally some wonderful fire-clay was found along the line and this has led to the formed into firebrick with which to line the roaring furnaces that feed the steel mills. Directly below, the Montreal falls road sway and the pick up water of the mile-wide stream crowds through the narrows on its rush toward Lake Superior. Looking up stream from the bridge the traveller sees the mighty Gibraltar. It is not the fortified key to the Mediterranean but can rival its namesake in bulk and majesty. It is the commencement of Ontario's mountain wonderland. The train climbs to an elevation represented by the height of this huge rock and then drops in a series of thrills down the canyon of the Agawa.

The Agawa is a river. To-day it has nothing of the pomp and majesty of the Montreal river. In ages gone by it must have been a mighty stream to cut the canyon which stands as a monument to its former power and fury.

When the railway was built thoughts of economy were uppermost but if the line were built for a special display of the scenic wonders it would probably follow the same course. The line twists and turns along the bank of the capricious river. Numerous waterfalls burl themselves down the canyon hails to swell its waters. Some of these falls are dainty and timid; others rush down with a defiant note that seems to tell of a day when these prolific waters had to be harnessed in the Canada that is to be.

Beautiful and grand as are the river and the numerous waterfalls, they lose place in the wonder of the scenic rocks that form the walls of the canyon. From fifteen hundred to two thousand feet they rise. Dense timber to the top of most of them, for the rugged walls proudly display their virgin monarchs of the forest. At other places the rock has been too sheer for a seed to secure itself and in such places areas of red granite show through. The deep green of the timber and the granite form reflected in the stream that flows on the canyon floor. This is repeated at various intervals for about miles and then the canyon ends as suddenly as it commenced. The line runs out on to level country and the journey through Ontario's mountain wonderland has ended.

Exporting Chewing Gum.

Canada's exports of chewing gum to England are increasing by leaps and bounds and chews. A recent shipment to the country amounted to more than 2,000,000 packages.

One of the principal manufacturers is Wrigley, an Englishman, a Canadian syndicate, with which Sir Harry Lauder, the Scottish comedian, is associated as a director.

There were 5,761,424 women workers in Great Britain in 1926, compared with about 2,000,000 in 1906.

A Power of Its Own—Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil has a subtle power of its own. All who have used it know this and keep it by them as the most valuable liniment available. Its uses are innumerable and for twenty years it has been prized as the leading liniment for man and beast.

BETTER THAN GOOD

By RALPH HAMILTON

(Copyright, 1926, Western Newspaper Union)

She would not forget him to her dying day! She said it fervently to herself and believed it. For only a fleeting moment had his eyes flashed down into her own, had his arm encircled her, but, though the peril of death menaced, Arline Drury treasured its memory raptly.

Their home was an old cabin at the lower edge of a high cliff. She had wandered along its spex gathering wild flowers, when her foot slipped. Over the edge of the yawning precipice she went, her body dangling in space, her descent only checked by hands clutching at exposed tree roots. As she sought to find a foothold against a projecting rock, it loosened. She heard it land far below with a crash. Her heart sickened. Then at the thing—chug! of an automobile she uttered a frantic, despairing cry:

"Help!"

Fifty feet away the driver of an automobile holding three young men like himself checked the machine with a shock, traced the cry, caught sight of the white, clinging hands. Bang himself flat, reached over and dragged the imperiled girl to safety.

He supported her, half fainting, in his arms, his senses thrilled as that lovely face was lifted to his own. He released her gently. Her beautiful eyes were swimming with tears of gratitude.

"Oh! how can I ever thank you!" she began, but he smiled reassuringly.

"Can I help you further?" he asked.

"My home is near at hand," she murmured. He lifted his cap courteously, regained the automobile. Chuchu! He was gone out of her life as swiftly as he entered it.

"Your aunt is ill again, Arline," said the father, "and the folks sent a messenger over early this morning to have you come and spend a few days."

It was the third day after that when the same young man who had come to her rescue reappeared in the vicinity. Walter Noble made inquiries concerning the girl he had so tragically met, and learned her name and the location of her home. He appeared as an amateur photographer making some pictures of the surrounding mining district, and seeking board and lodging for a week or two.

"My only helper is my daughter," explained Mr. Drury, "but if you are willing to bunk in rough and ready and take pot luck, why, you might make do."

This arrangement suited Noble to perfection. The second night of the stay of his guest Mr. Drury took him into his observatory and pointed to a large boulder lying on his table.

"I want to tell you something about a great discovery I have probably made," he spoke. "The other night, while sitting near here, I observed an unusually brilliant meteor flash across the sky. It seemed to fall somewhere near the observatory. The next morning I chanced to go up into the attic and there was a hole in the roof, and lying upon the floor was this boulder. I have made a study of meteoric phenomena. Inspecting this mass in my crude way, I find that it bears fossil residuum, proving that in whatever planet it came from the same organic life as our own has existed. Now I have little money, but if you would take a specimen of the rock to a city analyst and get me a report on its constituents, I would try and scrape up enough to pay for his labor."

Noble was glad to get into favor with the father of Arline. He started forthwith for the city with the precious specimen. It was five days after that he returned to Brownville. As he neared the cliff his pulses quickened imaginatly. Seated at the self same spot where he had last seen her, was the fair being, whose loveliness had attracted him hither.

She arose with a conscious blush as he approached her. She swayed unsteadily under the influence of his magnetic glance.

"You—you are the gentleman who has undertaken a kindly mission for father?" she faltered confusedly.

"I fear I am bringing back disappointing news," replied Noble, "I hope you are aware of your father's love that the boulder is meteoric. The analyst told me it was not. But he has sent an analysis," and Noble inplaced a sealed envelope in his pocket. "Why! the light suddenly dawns upon me!" exclaimed Noble in an animated tone. "The meteor stone must be a fragment of the rock you loosened that—that day I first met you," and the specters' Abe was rapt and glowing. "It fell upon the roof below."

"The day you saved my life, which I shall never forget," said Arline in a low, earnest tone, and then, side by side, each realizing that mutually they shared the same emotion, they went to the home below the cliff.

A shade of disappointment crossed the face of Mr. Drury as he read that his scientific mentor was only common earth clay. Then his eyes brightted.

"An analysis of the specimen," he read aloud. "Rich in gold and valuable ore by an outcropping of a great vein of metal. Why! if that is so, and I could acquire the means of expanding my scientific studies, what might I not accomplish?"

It was so and riches came, but to Walter Noble the finest of his discoveries he had saved was the treasure he most fervently cherished.

WOMAN COULD HARDLY WALK

Mrs. Horn Tells how Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Restored Her Health

Hamilton, Ont.—"I have taken Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and would not be without it now. I had a female trouble so badly I could hardly walk and I was all run down and could hardly get around to do my housework. I would be in bed three or four days at a time. I was told by your Vegetable Compound and by the time I took two bottles I was beginning to get around again. I took three bottles in all, and now I am all right. I have a baby girl seven months old. I have grown strong to work for, so have my children. I also used Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Wash, and I think it is good. But I owe my health to the Vegetable Compound, and I think if more of it was used women would be better off. I would not be without it if it cost much more."—Mrs. Nellie Jarmon, 926 East Cannon Street, Hamilton, Ontario.

Do you feel broken down, nervous and weak sometimes? Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is excellent to take at such a time. It always helps, and if taken regularly and persistently, will relieve this condition. C

OBITUARY

Mrs. James McIlwaine.

At midnight, on Monday, July 25th, 1927, there passed to rest at the home of her daughter, in Ernestown, Elizabeth McIlwaine, aged 86 years and 3 months.

Deceased's maiden name was Elizabeth Graham. She was born in Richmond. In 1857 she married James McIlwaine, and for sixty-four years they resided on the homestead near Selby. Her husband predeceased her in 1896. For the past eighteen years she resided with her daughter, Mrs. Sharp. Her life was spent for the welfare of her home and children.

About three weeks ago she took a cold, which developed into pneumonia, and although all that loving hands could do to stay the disease, she passed peacefully away.

She leaves one son, Andrew, of Adolphustown, and Ida, with whom she resided, to mourn the loss of a most devoted mother.

She is also survived by six grandchildren and seventeen great grandchildren.

In the absence of her pastor, the services were conducted at the house by Rev. Mr. Woodside, of Green Bank, Napanee, who based his remarks on the favorite passage of scripture in John 14:1-3. The Union Choir also assisted in the service, after which the remains were placed in Riverview cemetery beside those of her husband and daughter, Mrs. Peter Weese. She is most missed by the home circle, where her cheerful manner and holy example will ever be cherished.

The Rural Deanery Picnic of Lennox and Addington, held in the Napanee Driving Park, with the help and assistance of the Rector, Rev. R. J. A tourist studied his hotel bill. He was an experienced tourist and could usually take up his bill without studying. But this particular one was one of the worst which he had ever encountered. "Waiter," said the tourist, "did you make out this bill?" "No, sir," replied the waiter politely, for he had not yet been tipped. "It was made out in my office." "Then take it back and tell them they've made a mistake," said the tourist, pointing to the total. "I've got more money on me than that bill amounts to!"

LEAFS NEW CHAMPIONS

NAPANEE GIRLS WON THE BAY OF QUINTE LEAGUE

As is usually the case, when a team has a crucial game on which can decide a championship, the Napanee girls seemed over-anxious when they met the Belleville Beavers on Tuesday night. The contest was very tame, bits of excellent baseball being mixed with mishaps, of which a first year team would be ashamed.

The Leafs had not been hitting well for two weeks, and their infield has been often uncertain. Scattered as they are about the country, it is impossible for them to get together in practices, and they certainly need it. As individual players there are none better in the district, but as a team they are merely a group of nine stars, and team play is needed to win ball games.

But they listened to their manager's advice, and soon learned how to hit Miss Gray's slow ball, and their infield work, barring some bad throws, showed considerable improvement. Allan Wagar at second was playing well; Margaret Douglas at first base gave a perfect exhibition, and Hazel O'Neill at short base played the best game of the year.

The manager was freely criticised for not changing pitchers in several places where Dorothy Johnston seemed to be in trouble, but she was not as bad as the sometimes seemed, and was always pitching according to instructions. Beavers have one heavy hitter, who will usually get a long hit every time at bat, Warham, of centre field. The pitcher instructed to pass her whenever she came to bat with runners on them, and this strategy worked out very well." Warham usually hitches. She was passed three times, and three more times at bat hit at bad ones and went out at first. In only two innings, the fourth and fifth, did the Beavers have earned runs by consecutive hitting. Napanee's errors being responsible for all the rest. It is not fair to the pitcher to remove her when the game is being lost behind her.

Belleville got away to an early lead, finishing the first of the third with the score 3-0 in their favor. Napanee then passed to bat hitting for two runs, and from that time, the manager was much worried, knowing that they had finally solved Gray's delivery. At the end of Belleville's half of the fifth they had not yet got another hit past them again until the seventh, when the score stood 13-12 for Napanee. Belleville tied it in the eighth, on Napanee errors, and went into the ninth. In the ninth, but the Leafs got their bats working, and in a spectacular finish, successive hits by Stinson, McGuire, Wagar, Dickson and O'Neill, put the winning run across with only one out.

For excitement the game has had no equals here. Napanee was practically always behind, but managed to score dozen times, but sheer fighting spirit drove them through to their ultimate victory and Eastern League championship. In the outfield, Marion Douglas was the star, she played steady and errorless ball, while Ruth Dickson had the hardest luck of any player in the game. Following is the batting list:—

Belleville had a good batting lead, but failed to play for all previous games the Belleville team have been able to do this year. They made everything fell short of her. It is far better that a player should go too far back, and have the balls fall in front of them, than to play too far in and be charged with no errors, trying hard for a few short ones, but never being able to quite reach them. The infield was good in places and bad in places, easy ones going by and hard ones being stopped. Catching was perfect, as it has been for the last three games, and in spite of the general opinion, Dorothy Johnston pitched a heady game. She allowed thirteen hits, and passed six, three intentionally. Napanee committed nine errors, two of them, however, going to the pitcher herself.

The Leafs on the offensive showed to better advantage, with 12 hits, two 2d times, Stinson, McGuire, Wagar and Warham batting particularly effective.

Belleville is understood to be defaulting its remaining games here, and as the Leafs are scheduled to play a return game there, the championship will be decided on the best teams of the neighborhood until the playoffs are arranged.

Mrs. Calvin Emmons was hostess for a very enthusiastic meeting of the Auxiliary of the United Church last Wednesday. The programme was patriotic, suitable to the Confederation month. Mrs. Shaver was listened to with great interest, as each year her parents' talks are more appreciated. Mrs. Courtland Snider and Mrs. Stanley Snider delighted the friends with vocal and instrumental selections. During the social half hour, Mrs. Nickle and her daughter, Mrs. Hodgson (Ada) were given a very warm welcome among their former associates.

The many friends of Robert Bennett were sorry to hear that he passed away last Thursday morning at the home of his grandson, Carlton Daugherty, in Kingston, where he had made his home for several months. Although in poor health for some time, he kept up wonderfully well. Mr. Bennett was practically a life-long resident of the village, and one of the business men, until failing health forced him to retire. To mourn his loss are two daughters, Mrs. William Daugherty and Mrs. Delbert Snider; three grandchildren, and one great grandson, Keith Daugherty. The funeral was held from his late home on Saturday afternoon and interment took place in the family plot at Cataraqui cemetery. His wife predeceased him about five years ago. Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Holmes and daughter, Alice, left on Monday for two weeks' holidays, motoring to the former's parents at Consper, and also to visit relatives in Acton.

The happy couple have the best wishes of the whole community.—Miss Bolton season has been bringing many visitors our way. On Friday evening Mr. Geo. Finlay brought with him from Toronto Mr. Wm. Would not be Without Zutoo Tablets At Any Cost

Mr. A. O. Norton, the millionaire Jack Manufacturer, of Boston, who recently died, was a great "booster" for Zutoo Tablets.

He suffered from headaches from childhood and when he found Zutoo Tablets stopped their headaches in a few minutes and left no bad effects he began recommending them to his family and friends. In announcing his death, Mr. Norton says in closing:

"My family will be glad when ever needed with equally as good results. I have frequently given Zutoo Tablets to friends who were suffering from headache and they never failed to give quick relief. I always carry Zutoo Tablets in my grip on the road and WOULD NOT BE WITHOUT THEM AT ANY COST."

Samuel Alexander White contributes another stirring yarn of the old time fur traders. "Convoy Courageous", while Bonnyeastle Dale this month has as his subject the Atlantic Salmon.

Among the other interesting stories is one of fishing for rainbow trout in B.C. by Justin Wilson, and an article on paraphrasing bird nests by H. H. Pittman. Internal parasites in the shape of worms in the stomach and bowels of children sap their vitality and retard physical development. A POINT OF CONTACT

By GEORGE ELMER COBB

(Copyright, 1930, Western Newspaper Union)

The dainty fingers of Lettie Austin had failed to unfasten the catch holding up the car window. She sat down resignedly, although the breeze tossed her fair golden hair and disturbed her from reading the book she had brought on her home journey.

"Let me try, please," spoke a pleasant masculine voice, and, turning to note the accommodating supplicant, Lettie's face came so very near to the handsome smiling one of the young man in the seat behind that a swift flush enhanced her natural girlish beauty. He had no difficulty in adjusting the window by leaning over toward it, acknowledged her thanks with a courteous bow and resumed his own seat with a companion with whom he had been conversing.

The juxtaposition of eyes in that fleeting moment had quite upset Lettie, and while she set her gaze steadfastly upon her book her mind took in little of its meaning. She could not help but take in the conversation going on directly behind her. She caught most of its import—allusions to "juice," in which the speakers seemed interested in a business way.

Wadham, the young man Lettie had not seen called the other whom Lettie had seen and would not readily forget, Leslie Wadham, who, judging from what Lettie overheard was a salesman of current and electrical paraphernalia for a great light and power company.

"I'm on the track of a lot of wire bought on a cheap market and probably available at a fair price," she overheard Wadham say, and was reminded instantly of her father. He had wire, coils of it, hundreds of yards of it, thousands. Levi Austin was the inventor of an automatic telephone system, and for over three years his one ambitious dream had been to utilize the contrivance and bring to dead, isolated Blairville, the little town where they lived, telephone connection with the busy city of Springfield, 35 miles distant.

It was dusk when Lettie arrived at Blairville and she did not notice that the chevalier of the window incident left the train also.

It was a walk of a mile to the great barn of a place she called home. It was remote from the village, a 15-room mansion of another era and had been taken by her father because its roominess favored his mechanical ideas. It was the last habitation townward from the great stretch of woods beyond except a boy's home, sustained by charity from the city. As Lettie came in sight of her own home she started and stared. The usually gloomy mansion was aglow with lights from garret to cellar, and against their radiance she could make out nimble unfamiliar forms passing from room to room. There was wafted on the gentle night breeze the echo of many strange voices.

"What can it mean?" she spoke in mystified vagueness, and she hurried her steps to reach the front of the house where her father was emerging with what looked like sheets, blankets and pillows from a wagon, assisted by half a dozen boys.

"Glad you've come," said Mr. Austin, relievedly. "The boys' home burned down this morning and they had no place to go. A few things were saved from the blaze and we're trying to make the lads comfortable."

Between getting supper for the jolly, grateful group of castaways, and seeing them comfortably bestowed for the night, Lettie sat down finally completely worn but, but with a happy smile on her face.

The next day there came word from the city that the old home would be rebuilt and pledging repayment to Mr. Austin for any cost he might incur in keeping the boys together. It was the next afternoon when Lettie, coming down the hall, heard voices in the library. Her father had a visitor; he was the young man of the train.

"There's no use discussing it," Mr. Austin was saying. "I'll not sell my wire after scraping and saving for years to get it. I've just arrived at a point where I see my way clear to string the line from here across the woods to Springfield. Your company will make the connections and sell me current, I suppose?"

"Oh, that, certainly!" replied Leslie Wadham. "I declare! you interest me. If you'll show me how you are going to get the labor to string the wire, I'd like to buy a share in the proposition."

"The labor?" repeated Mr. Austin "Say! I've got nearly a dozen newly young lads here fairly wild to climb trees and fond morrisses and get the line strung complete within 60 days."

That was a great two months for the old inventor and his delighted juvenile assistants and Lettie and Wadham. The days were full of variety, adventure and progress—of love too. The young man came to Lettie each day on the optimistic statement: "Well, your father's line is nearly perfected. Tomorrow the company makes the point of contact and Blairville will have a perfect telephone service."

"What is a point of contact?" asked Lettie.

"The junction of the service supply line at Springfield. The point of contact, dear, at this end, however, is right here, she—and their lips met in recognition of this treasured feature of the proposition.

IN OLD JERUSALEM.

One of the Most Interesting Cities in the World.

Jerusalem is one of the most ancient and interesting cities in the world, says a writer in the Popular Pictorial.

Situated 2,500 feet above sea-level the district in which it stands is somewhat unlavitng, being both rugged and barren. The city occupies the greater part of the place occupied by two ravines—the Valley of Jehoshaphat and the Valley of Hinnom.

The walls of the city have a circuit of about two and a half miles. They were built by the Turks about three centuries ago partly on the site and mainly with the materials of still more ancient walls. The present walls vary in height from 20 to 50 feet. Banked, at intervals by massive towers.

The interior of the city is not attractive. The streets are generally narrow and ill-paved — merely long lanes with dead walls on each side of them. The best known is the Via Dolorosa, so named because Our Saviour is said to have borne his cross up it on his way to crucifixion.

The public buildings within the walls are numerous and occupy a large amount of space. The largest is Moriah now called El-Haram Esh-Sherif (the Noble Sanctuary). Christians are but rarely admitted to this building. Its area is nearly one-eighth of the whole city, and where not built upon is laid out as a lawn planted with trees.

The most conspicuous building is the centre of the area, on an elevated terrace, approached by four porticos, one of them with a beautiful marble colonade. It is lighted by forty-eight windows of stained glass and surmounted by a magnificent dome. This mosque occupies the site and is supposed to contain some remains of the Jewish temple.

Mohammedan Caliph, Omar, who took the city in 636 A.D. was responsible for the erection.

Within recent years a considerable improvement has taken place in the appearance and prosperity of the city. Pilgrims and travellers annually visit it in large numbers and numerous hotels have been erected to satisfy their wants. It was in 1892 that Jerusalem was connected with Jaffa by railway.

The Wettest Trade.

The lot of the Ceylon pearl-driver is not an easy one. Stones are suspended on a running rope over an outrigger projected from the boat's side in such a convenient position as to allow the driver to place one foot within a loop affixed to the stone.

The diver having placed himself with one foot on the stone, with a net round his neck to hold oysters, draws in his breath, closes the nostrils with one hand, and raises his body to give force to the descent. The manduck (or driver's attendant), in charge of the stone and nets, lets go, and the driver rapidly reaches the bottom, leaves the stone, which the manduck instantly hauls up and refixes, throws himself on the ground, creeping along, and fills his net with oysters.

This done, he jerks the rope, which is pulled up by the manduck in charge, and the contents of the net are discharged into the boat; the diver meanwhile rises to the surface.

IN MEMORIAM

In sad but loving memory of Simeon C. Storms, who departed this life on August 3rd, 1924.

In a graveyard sweetly sleeping,
Where the flowers gently wave,
Lies the one we loved so dearly,
In a lone and silent grave.

No one knows how dear we loved him,
No one knows the pain he bore;
Only God could see his suffering,
And He opened wide the door.

Friends may think we have forgotten,
When at times they see us smile;
But they never know the heartache,
That the smile hides all the while.

Sadly missed by Wife and daughter, Marjorie. 31a

IN MEMORIAM

In loving memory of Elmer D. MacArthur, who departed this life on August 5th, 1924.

Just a thought of sweet remembrance,
Just a memory fond and true;
Just a tear in silence falling,
And a longing just for you.

Oft and oft my thoughts do wander
To your grave not far away,
Where we laid you, dear Elmer,
Just three years ago to-day.

Ever remembered by your Wife and Son. 31ap

IN MEMORIAM

In sad but loving memory of Arthur Jackson, who died August 3rd, 1914.

A Thirty-Two Years' Sleep.

A remarkable case of a woman who slept steadily for thirty-two years was reported some time ago from Sweden. Karoline Karlsdatter was a schoolgirl of thirteen when she suddenly fell asleep over her books in the schoolroom. She slept for thirty-two years, and when she awoke found that her childhood and girlhood were long past, and that she was a middle-aged woman of 45.

Returned to Poland.

Three works of art of great value, hitherto kept in Berlin museums, have been given back to Poland by the German Government. One is a portrait of the Polish King Stanislaus, another is a sword and the third another portrait of a Polish king. An ancient Polish flag was included in the donation.

Coral Rock.

Coral rock is formed of a chalky substance secreted by myriads of little creatures of the sea. The coral sea is that part of the Pacific Ocean lying between Australia, New Guinea, the Solomon Islands, and New Hebrides.

Crossing an Appetite.

Tickling behind the ears with a feather, a custom which has led to a revival among the curious, is said to affect a certain nerve which creates an appetite for food.

Worth $230,000,000,000.

The United States is worth to-day $230,000,000,000. Fifty-four per cent. of its total wealth is in real estate.

The Secretary of State says we have recovered from the war. Maybe so, but we'd like to know just what we've recovered.

Beer For the Jury.

Soon after his appointment as medical-director of an asylum, Sir James Crichton-Browne had to attend an inquest on a patient who had died of heart disease. The evidence was heard, he relates in his recent book of reminiscences, and the coroner, turning to the jury, who were mostly laborers, said: "Now, gentlemen, are you agreed on your verdict?" The jury talked amongst themselves for a minute, and then the foreman spoke up: "We find as how the deceased died from natural causes, but," he went on (and Sir James became very nervous of some comment on his treatment of the case), "the jury wish to add that as this is the first occasion on which they have met the new medical director, they hope as how he will stand the jury some beer." With the coroner's sanction, he did!

Greeley's Reply.

A gushing youth once wrote to Horace Greeley:

"Dear Sir: Among your literary treasures you have doubtless preserved several autographs of our country's late lamented poet, Edgar A. Poe. If so, and you can spare one, please enclose it to me, and receive the thanks of yours truly."

The strenuous and irascible editor of the Tribune responded promptly:

"Dear Sir: Among my literary treasures there happens to be exactly ONE autograph of our country's late lamented poet, Edgar A. Poe. It is his note of hand for $50, with my endorsement across the back. It cost me exactly $50.75 (including protest), and you may have it for half that amount. Your respectfully,

"Horace Greeley."

"I have a stupid lot of students this year," said a professor of obstetrics gloomily. "There's a paper which shows plainly that the boy who wrote it does not understand that expansion and contraction are contradictory terms." "They are not always," said a professor of economics quickly. "Now in my classes I find it necessary to state exactly the rate that the constant expansion of debts is bound to result in their expansion!"

ANTS THAT DEVOUR CLOTHING.

No One Can Live Where They Are But Up the Crops.

Terrible ants infest the jungle and the swamps of South America. From half an inch in length up, they run, and they are armed with stings like wasps as well as formic-acid-laden jaws. Let their nests be but jarred, and instantly they let go and drop in their thousands, ready for war. Some of the ants are meat-eaters, but perhaps the most formidable one of all, the saubo ant, is a vegetarian. No one can exist where these ants live, because they eat up all the crops. In a recent book entitled "White Waters and Black," Gordon MacCreigh, who spent two years in the South American jungle, relates that one night saubo ants invaded a hut in which he and his companions were sleeping. One of the party had left his clothes on the floor. In the morning his khaki shirt was a little handful of rag; in a neat scalloped pattern, as caterpillars eat a leaf, the ants had clipped it away. His tan cord breeches were eaten, all but the buttons and lace-tips. His leggings and his boots were scalloped away down to the soles. The saubo ants are an inch long, adds Mr. MacCreigh, and has a spread of jaw of a quarter of an inch.

TREASURE BOUGHT FOR A SONG.

Valuable Pictures Found Black With Age and Dirt.

Two marvellously painted women's heads stand out prominently in a wonderful collection of Flemish and Belgian pictures recently placed on view at the Royal Academy in London. They are by Jan Van Eyck and Hans Memling. The first, which is a portrait of the artist's wife on a wooden panel, was discovered in the market place at Bruges about a hundred years ago. It was being used by a fish-wife as a tray to hold her fish. An expert bought it for a song, and it is now one of the "show" pieces of the Communal Museum in Bruges, with a value estimated at $250,000. Another romantic story attaches to the "Pall of Ivarus," by Pieter Brueghel. This picture was discovered by an expert in London in 1912, black with age and dirt. When it was cleaned it was sold to the Brussels Museum where it was recognized as a work of great value. A work with curious detail is the "Madonna and Child, with Saints," by Mabuse. The artist has painted a fly among the draperies in the picture with such amazing skill that one is impelled to try and brush it away before he is convinced that it is not a fly.

Pattern "Piracy."

Wool textile trade organizations are now devising methods of fighting a new form of "piracy"—the copying of new patterns of cloth. Large sums are spent every year in developing new colors and designs, but foreign manufacturers copy the patterns, so obtaining business that would otherwise have gone to the British firms.

The "pirate" has been a problem in many trades, books and music especially having been objects of his attentions in the past. Many millions of copies of British songs and novels were at one time printed in America without a single penny being paid to the composer or author.

In the world of dress exclusive models sold at high prices are often "pirated." Paris, but not too scrupulous, experts gain admission to the high-class dress salons and bring away mental notes of the main make-up of certain frocks, which they copy to the last detail.

Expert Criticism.

A good story was told recently by Sir John Lavery, the distinguished portrait painter, concerning an old gardener in the employ of a friend of his, who went one day to an exhibition of pictures in London.

Amongst them was one labelled, "The Fall."

The gardener surveyed this so intently that his employer, happening to pass along just then, was moved to ask his opinion of it.

"I think no great things of the painter," was the reply. "Why, sir, Eve is tempting Adam with an apple of a variety that was not known until about twenty years ago."

Aluminum Deposits In Iceland.

Rich deposits of aluminum clay and iron ore have been reported discovered in the large mountain "Sodarhnuker" between Onundarfjord and Sugandafjord, says a report to the U. S. Department of Commerce. The aluminum deposits are said to consist of a stratum two meters thick in the centre of the mountain, which upon analysis in Scotland was found to contain from 35 to 50 per cent. of aluminum oxide.

The Great Divide.

"The Great Divide" is the name given to the watershed formed by the Rocky Mountains in British Columbia, which separates the rivers flowing eastward into Hudson Bay from those which flow to the southward and empty into the Pacific Ocean.

Sicily.

Sicily is the largest and most fertile island of the Mediterranean Sea. It lies off the extreme southwestern point of Italy from which it is separated by the deep, narrow strait of Messina. The population is about three million. It forms part of the Kingdom of Italy.

London's Growth.

If London continues to grow at the rate it has maintained during the past century, it is computed there will be a population of twenty millions by the year 2000.

Steacy's

—On Thursday, July 21st, the Adult Class of the Fourth Line Sunday School sent a shower of birthday cards and greetings to Mrs. Baines, on the occasion of her birthday. For the past seven months Mrs. Baines has been confined to her home at Storms' Corners, on account of sickness, and the class of which she is a member, took this means of conveying their wishes for a speedy recovery. The "Sunshine" Mission Band held a meeting on the same day at the home of Miss Marion Reid, and at its close, a delegation, lead by their President, Mrs. James Robertson, gave Mrs. Baines with a beautiful bouquet of flowers and a birthday card in the centre, also a dish of lovely dainties, fruit, and ice cream, all of which was greatly appreciated by the recipient, for by the happy faces of the children they evidently thought it better to give than to receive. May this splendid Band, that scatters sunshine, prosper in all its undertakings.

Boosting Napanee

--is more than merely "thinking" or "saying" good things about the town. Real, honest-to-goodness BOOSTING means that every citizen of Napanee must carry out the following principles every day he lives here:

1. Assume his share of civic responsibilities and contribute his moral and material support to any movement toward good government. An efficient yet human civic administration is the backbone of a prosperous town.

2. Do his part in getting and keeping good churches and schools, for these institutions are the builders of progress for the coming generations.

3. Patronize home merchants and professional men, for they are mainly responsible for the comforts, pleasures and opportunities that this community affords to its citizens.

4. Contribute his every effort toward keeping our streets and yards clean and attractive. An attractive town is good business, for a healthy atmosphere is one of the first requisites for drawing new citizens of the right sort.

5. Be generous in thought, word and deed to his neighbors and fellow citizens. Most of the happiness in Life is gotten by doing for others and entering into the spirit of co-operation.

These are the principles that, when every person does his best toward actually carrying them out, will bring us all prosperity and happiness. We prosper only as those about us prosper, so,--

Every loyal citizen of Napanee is urged to become an active, working partner with us--let's do some REAL boosting for our town by MAKING IT BETTER IN EVERY WAY.

$10,000 worth of weeds on ten farms in one neighborhood

That is what an inspector valuing farm lands for loaning purposes reported. His report read:

"It is badly infested with sow thistle, as are all the farms in the neighborhood. I have valued $1,000 less than I would if clean of this weed."

And he only discounted the farm value 12%. Many inspectors would go much higher.

United action will exterminate the weed scourge. Destroy weeds wherever found. Under the provisions of the Weed Control Act, 1927, now in force, the destruction of weeds is no longer optional. It is compulsory. Your co-operation is needed to end the weed nuisance.

The Best Medicine She Ever Used

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills Highly Praised by a Quebec Lady

Mrs. David Logan, Thetford Mines West, Que., gives unstinted praise to Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for the good they have done in her family. Mrs. Logan says:—"I have been a user of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for many years, as occasion required, and have always found them a most reliable medicine. My husband, who was recovering from an attack of typhoid fever, and was in a very weak condition, took the pills, and through them gained health and strength. My daughter was in a run-down condition, and was forced to discontinue work. Again Dr. Williams' Pink Pills were resorted to and she was soon restored to excellent health. Then my eldest boy had an operation performed for adenoids, which left him in a weakened condition. Once more Dr. Williams' Pink Pills were tried, and he was soon in excellent health. So I can truly say that more than satisfaction has been obtained by the use of this medicine. The pills have done more good in my home than hundreds of dollars worth of more expensive medicines."

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills assist digestion, correct the lassitude, the palpitation of the heart, shaky nerves and the pallor of the face and lips that are the results of thin, impure blood.

You can get these Pills from any medicine dealer, or by mail at 50 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Two Irishmen were engaged upon some building repairs. Suddenly the whirr of an aeroplane was heard from on high. One of the Irishmen stopped work and gazed up at the machine. Then he said: "O'd not loike to be up there in that thing now." Said the other, also gazing: "An, O'd not like to be up there without it!"

"I've just been introduced to Professor Smart. Such a charming man to talk to! He doesn't make one feel like a fool, in spite of his cleverness." "Ah, my dear, that's because of his cleverness!"

What makes jelly jell?

Fruits contain, in varying amounts, both sugar and a certain jellying substance, but no fruit contains enough of either to jellify all of its juice.

That is why you used to have to "boil your fruit down," or concentrate it, until it had lost a large amount of its juice—and unfortunately much of its fine fresh flavor and beautiful color as well.

But now you can add jellying substance as readily as you add sugar to your fruit. For Certo is the jellying element of fruit—refined and bottled for your convenient use. With Certo only one or two minutes' boiling is enough to give a perfect, tender jell. You cannot have a failure and your jelly retains the delicate luscious flavor of the fresh fruit and its bright, natural color.

A book of specially tested recipes comes with each bottle of Certo. Send for this free (free) booklet.

What is your biggest asset?

The young people have the right idea about the importance of keeping up one's friends. Their modern point of view is that your friends are your biggest asset.

Keeping them up becomes a very simple matter when you can so easily call them by Long Distance. The service with its quick, and to most urban towns (within a radius of say 25 miles) is particularly low.

The finest kind of a habit is to have one day each week for calling up a friend or friends by Long Distance. The benefits are often quite startling.

EBENEZER W. M. S.

The Ebenezer W. M. S. met at the home of Miss B. Dunwoody on Wednesday, July 20th, at 2 p.m.

The program was on the Diamond Jubilee of Confederation, and was very interesting, and all joined in to help make it a success. The meeting was opened by singing a hymn of thanksgiving, followed by Scripture reading, Psa. 72, by Mrs. Anderson. A prayer of National thanksgiving was read by the President. A paper on National Life and Missionary Interest, was read by the President. The singing of "The Maple Leaf Forever", was followed by roll call, members answering by a verse of Scripture.

A welcome to the different Provinces according as they joined the Confederation, was read by Mrs. S. S. Brown and responded to by the members of the W. M. S. who represented the Provinces. A collection of $2.70 was taken up. Then the President gave a reading, "Canada, the Land of Dreams". The National Anthem was sung, followed by the Lord's Prayer in unison, after which a dainty lunch was served by Miss Dunwoody.

WISE AND OTHERWISE

How does a girl measure her lover's devotion?—By his sighs.

Corns are painful growths. Holloway's Corn Remover will remove them.

"Can you get your wife to economize?"

"Sometimes. All depends on how much I'm going to spend the money we save!"

Mother Graves' Worm Exterminator will drive worms from the system without injury to the child, because its action, while fully effective, is mild.

The Oil of the People.—Many oils have come and gone, but Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil continues to maintain its position and increase its sphere of usefulness each year. Its sterling qualities have brought it to the front and kept it there, and it can truly be called the oil of the people. Thousands have benefited by it and would use no other preparation.

Lady—"You should go to work. Don't you know that a rolling stone gathers no moss?"

Tramp—"Madam, not to evade your question at all, but merely to obtain information, may I ask what practical utility moss would be to a man in my condition?"

"I have a stupid lot of students this year," said a professor of chemistry, gloomily. "Here's a paper which shows plainly that the boy who wrote it does not understand that expansion and contraction are contradictory terms." "They are not always," said a professor of economics quietly. "Now in my classes I find it necessary to state explicitly the fact that the constant contraction of debts is sure to result in their expansion!"

The Secretary of State says we have recovered from the war. Maybe so, but we'd like to know just what we've recovered.

$10,000 worth of weeds on ten farms in one neighborhood

That is what an inspector valuing farm lands for loaning purposes reported. His report read:

"It is badly infested with sow thistle, as are all the farms in the neighborhood. I have valued $1,000 less than I would if clean of this weed."

And he only discounted the farm value 12%. Many inspectors would go much higher.

United action will exterminate the weed scourge. Destroy weeds wherever found. Under the provisions of the Weed Control Act, 1927, now in force, the destruction of weeds is no longer optional. It is compulsory. Your co-operation is needed to end the weed nuisance.

The Best Medicine She Ever Used

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills Highly Praised by a Quebec Lady

Mrs. David Logan, "Thetford Mines West, Que., gives unstinted praise to Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for the good they have done in her family. Mrs. Logan says:—"I have been a user of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for many years, as occasion required, and have always found them a most reliable medicine. My husband, who was recovering from an attack of typhoid fever, and was in a very weak condition, took the pills, and through them gained health and strength. My daughter was in a run-down condition, and was forced to discontinue work. Again Dr. Williams' Pink Pills were resorted to and she was soon restored to excellent health. Then my eldest boy had an operation performed for adenoids, which left him in a weakened condition. Once more Dr. Williams' Pink Pills were tried, and he was soon in excellent health. So I can truly say that more than satisfaction has been obtained by the use of this medicine. The pills have done more good in my home than hundreds of dollars worth of more expensive medicines."

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills assist digestion, correct the lassitude, the palpitation of the heart, shaky nerves and the pallor of the face and lips that are the results of thin, impure blood.

You can get these Pills from any medicine dealer, or by mail at 50 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Two Irishmen were engaged upon some building repairs. Suddenly the whirr of an aeroplane was heard from on high. One of the Irishmen stopped work and gazed up at the machine. Then he said: "Oi'd not loike to be up there in that thing now." Said the other, also gazing: "Well, Oi'd not like to be up there without it!"

"I've just been introduced to Professor Smart. Such a charming man to talk to! He doesn't make one feel like a fool, in spite of his cleverness." "Ah, my dear, that's because of his cleverness!"

What makes jelly jell?

Fruits contain, in varying amounts, both sugar and a certain jellying substance, but no fruit contains enough of either to jellify all of its juice.

That is why you used to have to "boil your fruit down," or concentrate it, until it had lost a large amount of its juice—and unfortunately much of its fine fresh flavor and beautiful color as well.

But now you can add jellying substance as readily as you add sugar to your fruit. For Certo is the jellying element of fruit—refined and bottled for your convenient use. With Certo only one or two minutes' boiling is enough to give a perfect, tender jell. You cannot have a failure and your jelly retains the delicate luscious flavor of the fresh fruit and its bright, natural color.

A book of recipes, tested recipes comes with each bottle of Certo.

What is your biggest asset?

The young people have the right idea about the importance of keeping up one's friends. Their modern point of view is that your friends are your biggest asset.

Keeping them up becomes a very simple matter when you can use the telephone to call them by Long Distance. The service will not be quick, and to most urban towns (within a radius of say 25 miles) the rate is particularly low.

The finest kind of a habit is to have one day each week for calling up a friend or friends by Long Distance. The benefits are often quite startling.

EBENEZER W. M. S.

The Ebenezer W. M. S. met at the home of Miss B. Dunwoody on Wednesday, July 20th, at 2 p.m.

The program was on the Diamond Jubilee of Confederation, and was very interesting, and all joined in to help make it a success. The meeting was opened by singing a hymn of thanksgiving, followed by Scripture reading, Psa. 72, by Mrs. Anderson. A prayer of National thanksgiving was read by the President. A paper on National Life and Missionary Interest, was read by the President. The singing of "The Maple Leaf Forever", was followed by roll call, members answering by a verse of Scripture.

A welcome to the different Provinces according as they joined the Confederation, was read by Mrs. S. S. Brown and responded to by the members of the W. M. S. who represented the Provinces. A collection of $3.70 was taken up. Then the President gave a reading "Canada, the Land of Dreams". The National Anthem was sung, followed by the Lord's Prayer in unison, after which a dainty lunch was served by Miss Dunwoody.

TAMWORTH SOFTBALL

After we had almost concluded that the Tamworth Go-Getters were scattered and gone, we find that they have organized again for the summer and are going stronger than ever. So far they have certainly lived up to their name. In the three games played during the past week they showed excellent form, and their playing was in nowise inferior to their last year's record. With a little more practice we hope to see them even surpass it. The first game was played with the Roblin girls on Wednesday, July 27th. The Go-Getters were obviously the superior team throughout the whole game. The final score was 24-4, in favour of Tamworth. The next evening the Go-Getters journeyed to Harrowsmith to try their luck there. Again they were completely victorious, with a score of 9-0. Harrowsmith played the return game at Tamworth last Monday evening, and again the Tamworth girls proved the superior team, with a 25-7 score.

It was the same old story in every game—the opposing team found it well-nigh impossible to touch the balls of our stellar pitcher, C. Lockridge. In the game played in Harrowsmith there were twenty-three strike-outs, and no hits. Neither were there any hits in the game vs Roblin, while C. Lockridge was in the box. A. Lott was the heavy-est hitter for the Go-Getters, scoring a home run in each game. So far the fielders have had little opportunity of displaying their prowess, since the pitcher has handled all the games quite efficiently by herself.

The line-up is as follows:—P, C. Lockridge; c, M. Redden; 1b, J. Milligan; 3b, A. Lott; ss, H. Whalen; rf, I. Carscallen; cf, H. Hannah; lf, J. Harrison.

SOFTBALL

Leafs 6, Ontaries 6.

The people of Deseronto were treated to an excellent softball game last Tuesday night, when the Napanee Leafs and the Belleville Ontaries clashed there. It was their first taste of big-league softball this year and they were delighted. It was the pleasant experience of both teams to go through a game without a disputed decision, and a really sociable sort of game where both managers sat together, advised each other, and joined in the impartial crowd in applauding the many excellent plays. After playing with the other Belleville team, Dr. Black, M.L.A., and Mrs. Black.

The three Deseronto players, before all their friends, rose to great heights, playing perfect ball, in the field. Lillian Wagar was in form, which means that the averages of the opposing batters must suffer. She allowed five well scattered hits, struck out seven and passed four. But for Napanee's one misplay in the last inning she would have won her game very easily. Violet Whitton had seven assists, while Ivy Hopping looked so dangerous at bat that she was passed every time.

Napanee, held scoreless four innings, got a counter in the fifth. O'Neill singling, stealing second and third and scoring on a passed ball. In the sixth the Leafs finally found the delivery of Miss Adams, and combined a triple, double and two singles with a walk for five runs. Owing to the roughness of the diamond, in the Ontarios' last inning, the ball took a bad bounce, and the resulting error was responsible for three Belleville runs.

Both teams played excellent ball. Miss Adams for Belleville showed plenty of speed, but was a bit wild, and tired at the end. She struck out four, walked eight, and allowed five hits. Her team mates held her up in fine style, making no misplays at all. Jennie Adams got a home run and Mary Adams a triple.

Ontarios—Lineup: Hunter E. Wilkins, H. Adams, A. Wilkins, Kelleher, O. Adams, J. Adams, Holway, Jerrell, Canning.

Leafs—Whitton, Douglas, Stinson, McGuire, Embury, O'Neill, Johnson, Hopping, Wagar.

WEDDING BELLS

Price—Ramsay.

On Saturday, August 6th, 1927, a very pretty home wedding was celebrated at "Sunny-view Farm", Camden, when Marjorie, only daughter of Mrs. J. A. Ramsay, was united in marriage to Russell V. Price, youngest son of the late R. B. and Mrs. Lillie Price. Precisely at 11 o'clock, the ceremony was performed by the Rev. T. H. Anderson, of Newburgh, in the presence of only the immediate relatives of the young couple. The very pretty bride, who looked charming in silk georgette, carried a handsome bouquet of white roses, white peonies. The young couple still standing under the pink and white arch, received with inspiring and sincere congratulations of the friends. Soon the company repaired to the dining room, where the color scheme of pink and white was continued, and enjoyed a sumptuous wedding dinner.

The bride's going-away gown was blue silk florentine crepe trimmed with touches of coral; her fur-trimmed coat was of navy pouriette, and her hat was white silk mohair. The newly married couple motored to Syracuse, and after visiting with friends, continued their motor trip around the lake. On their return they will reside at "Eagle Rock" farm, Camden. Among the guests were Mr. and Mrs. Calvin Arnold, of Roblin, grandparents of the bride, and Miss Pearl Price, nurse-in-training at Wellesley Hospital, Toronto.

ERNESTTOWN WOMEN'S INSTITUTE

The Ernesttown Branch of the Woman's Institute met at the Institute Hall on Thursday, August 11th, with forty-two members present. We were pleased to have visitors from Odessa, Bath, Bay View, and equally pleased to get seven new members. The roll call, "A Recipe for Cool Drinks", brought forth tempting recipes.

The minutes of the July meeting were read and adopted, also the minutes of a special meeting of the Executive, held at the home of the President. The following committees being appointed:—

Flower Show—Mrs. Mills, Mrs. Herbert Laidley and Mrs. Clarence Thompson; McIntyres, Mrs. T. G. Creighton and Mrs. Earl Bush; Hawley, Mrs. Fred Lawrence and Mrs. Henry Clement.

Lunch—Mrs. Ed. Smith and Mrs. A. C. Sharp.

Furnishings for Institute rooms — Mrs. Gordon Young and Miss Seeley.

Representative to Local Council of Women at Kingston—Mrs. Fred Hamm

One of the popular two weeks' courses was discussed, and it was decided to have the sewing class in October.

A letter was read from Mr. Laughton, of Napanee, asking our Institute to furnish a judge for cooking and sewing at Sillsville School Fair, and Mrs. Kellar was appointed, with Mrs. Edgar Thompson as alternative.

Miss Marguerite Seeley's paper on Pauline Johnston, our Canadian poetess, was very fine indeed, and showed careful, and much work compiling her subject. She gave a sketch of the Mohawk Indian poetess' life and told of her love of verse as a very young girl.

Mrs. Mallory, of Odessa, gave us a most interesting and clever paper on "Beverages, especially tea and coffee", telling us where each was grown, how cured and made ready for market; in fact, all about them, even some tempting recipes for making the same.

The judges for the pie contest were Mrs. Stanley Fraser, of Bay View Institute, and Mrs. Mark Fraser and Mrs. Wesley Sharp, of Odessa Institute. They said the many pies we had in the contest were so remarkably good they thought we ought to have a cooking school, and they provided—a "dainty bon bon dish—and won by Mrs. Gordon Young. The successful young cook very graciously gave us all the recipe of her most delicious pie called "Lemonade".

A tea for the Institute will be held on Mrs. N. B. Hamm's lawn, on Friday, August 26th.

Next month's program promises to be interesting, with the roll call, "picking hints", and an address by our District President, Mrs. J. B. Miller; a demonstration of hair waving by Mrs. Ed. Smith; a reading by Miss Jessie Thompson, and a paper, "Surprise Entertainments", by Mrs. Ernest Wright, of Violet.

Who is away from home?

Keep the family united. If some are away from home, the easiest and quickest way is of course by a Long Distance call. The young people nowadays put up a very brave front of cultivating to appear independent and self-reliant, but their hearts still thump faster when they hear Dad's or Mother's voice over the wire.

Even when they go into business, perhaps in distant cities, their nature does not change with their habitation. The tie still holds. The dear familiar voices are just as potent.

Have a regular time to call up the absent ones by Long Distance. The cost and service was never so rapid. The cost of Interurban Service to nearby towns—within a radius of say 25 miles—is very low.

Why suffer from corns when they can be painlessly routed out by using Holloway's Corn Remover. 44f

W. W. TRELEAVEN DIES AFTER SHORT ILLNESS

Stricken by a sudden attack of pneumonia while on his summer vacation, William Wesley Treleaven, of 21 Summerhill Ave., Toronto, passed away on Saturday morning, August 6th, at the residence of Mr. J. Edwin Miller, Napanee, in his fiftieth year.

His death came with tragic suddenness, as earlier in the week he had been in apparently perfect health and had been enjoying a beneficial holiday with his wife and thirteen-year-old daughter, Jean, with relatives in the neighborhood of Napanee and Kingston.

On Tuesday he became slightly unwell and decided to rest at the home of his sister-in-law, Mrs. J. E. Miller, but his condition gave no cause for alarm until Thursday, when a specialist was called in following alarming symptoms, diagnosed his illness as pneumonia, and held out little hope for his recovery. The end came at 10.30 Saturday morning.

The late Mr. Treleaven was born at Dungannon, Ont., but when a young man went to Toronto, where for a number of years he was a prominent figure in the dry goods business. He was a member of the North Toronto Business Men's Association, and was additionally well known, apart from his business connections, as the nephew of the late Rev. R. J. Treleaven, for many years a well known minister of the city of Toronto.

The remains were taken to Toronto on Saturday, and the funeral was held on Tuesday afternoon at 1.30 from St. Paul's United Church, Avenue Road, of which he was a member. The service was conducted by the pastor, Rev. W. Harold Young, and Rev. R. Newton Powell, of Centennial United Church, a former pastor of St. Paul's. Interment was made at Mount Pleasant Cemetery.

Besides his wife and daughter, Mr. Treleaven is survived by his aged mother, Mrs. Robert Treleaven, and three brothers, Norman and Frederick of Toronto, and Bert, of Dungannon.

The cost of election fever rises to such a pitch that it is hardly appropriate to speak of an other as a "gift" of the people.

OBITUARY.

William Scanlid.

"We have loved him in life,
Let us not forget him in death."

The people of Enterprise have scarcely recovered from the shock they received from the sad news of the tragic death of William Scanlin, who departed from this life on Thursday morning, August 4th.

William had just entered the land of golden youth, when his life seemed so promising, but even during his short span of 22 years he, by his charming personality, had won a host of friends.

The deceased was a former student of Reigiopolis College, Kingston, and a zealous and active member of the Catholic Church. His genial and generous disposition had endeared him to all with whom he came in contact, as was testified by the numerous spiritual and floral offerings.

The funeral took place on Saturday morning from his home in Enterprise to the Church of Annunciation, Chippewa, where a solemn requiem mass was sung for the happy repose of his soul by Reverend Father Farrell, who also delivered an impressive sermon, having for his text: "It is a holy and wholesome thought to pray for the dead that they may be loosed from their sins." 2 Mace., xii., 46.

Interment took place in St. Anthony of Padua's cemetery, Centreville. The wonderfully large cortege bore testimony to the high esteem in which he was held. The pall bearers were Oscar Fenwick, Edward Kearns, Andrew Burgess, Eric Jackson, William Barrett, and Stafford Murphy.

He leaves to mourn his death his sorrowing parents, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Scanlin, and only brother, James, to whom we extend our heartfelt sympathy.

It will allay the inflammation and prevent the ulceration and swelling that often results. Those who were periodically subject to sore throat from exposure to cold soon find themselves immune to attack.

The Collegiate office will be open during the last two weeks of the holidays on days and at hours announced elsewhere in this issue.

LETTER TO THE EDITOR

To Editor Napanee Beaver.

Dear Sir,—Since I am a subscriber to your paper for many years, and live in Winnipeg, I thought I would write a short editorial for your paper regarding conditions in Western Canada as to crops and things generally.

Last Spring the entire West suffered from excess rainfall during the four to six weeks of seeding time, consequently there is a decrease in wheat acreage but an equal acreage increase of the coarse grains. Since seeding time, which was later than normal by about a month, the weather conditions for growth have been ideal, and so much so that the harvest will be general by September 1st. Providing weather conditions hold, with no rust, etc., the yield will be away above the average. This means everything to Western Canada, and in no small degree to Eastern Canada as well.

The various Wheat Pools of Manitoba, Saskatchewan, and Alberta, each province having its own pool, with a central selling agency for all three, has been a boon to the Western farmer, and in many cases his salvation. He can market his grain to so much better advantage, deliver it to the elevator in the fall, taking an initial payment, and perhaps ten months after his final payment, realizing the top price the Pool is able to secure for him on the world market. He receives perhaps four payments or so and knows just about when to expect them.

In this way he retires his indebtedness on lumber, machinery, stock, land, etc., much more orderly and satisfactorily than before the Pool became operative.

Conditions in Western Canada are on a sounder basis than ever before as the day of Land Exploitation is past, and although taxes are fairly high, values are regulated by what real property can produce in revenue, crop, etc.

Winnipeg is beginning to grow again and hundreds of fine modern dwellings are being erected in all localities in and around the city. The prices of vacant building lots has not improved but remain stagnant. So many on the market that with all the building being done, they cannot be absorbed. All western cities and towns were over sub-divided fifteen years or least in advance. There is a steady flow of European immigration, but supposed to be mostly farm workers. They, however, drift back to the cities in a short time, and at the present time is causing local authorities some anxiety.

ENTERPRISE WOMEN'S INSTITUTE

The monthly meeting of the Enterprise Women's Institute, which took the form of a picnic, was held at the home of Mrs. R. Dudgeon, on Tuesday, July 29th.

An excellent programme had been prepared and the meeting throughout was much enjoyed by the large number of ladies present.

Arrangements were made for packing a box on August 16th, to be sent to a destitute family.

The appeal of the Federated on behalf of the Hospital at Tobermory was answered by a donation of five dollars.

The ladies of the Institute are taking the responsibility of having all the weeds cut along the streets and sidewalks, which will certainly be an improvement to the village.

The beautiful maple tree planted by the Institute on the 2nd Jubilee, the 1st of July celebration, upon the grounds of the new Community Hall, is thriving, and will certainly improve the appearance of that corner of the town.

Plans were made at the meeting for Grandmother's Day, which is to held at the home of Mrs. Eric Jackson on August 26th.

The meeting closed with the singing of "For She's a Jolly Good Fellow," everyone declaring they had spent an exceedingly delightful afternoon.

RETAIN YOUR VIGOR

This Can Only be Done by Keeping the Blood Rich and Red.

If you would regain your vigor and ambition, keep your blood and nerves in good condition. Anaemia, or thin blood lowers the vitality, starves the nerves and causes a general run-down condition. When the blood is thin the skin loses its color, the shoulders droop and weight is lost. The victim of anaemia loses appetite, suffers from indigestion, headaches and sleeplessness, and is nervous and exhausted after slight exertion. If you have any of these symptoms do not delay but begin treatment now with Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and you will be gratified with the prompt improvement in your condition. Among the thousands who have found new health through the use of this medicine is Mrs. Herbert Vaugh, Ludlow, N.B., who says:—"I had not been feeling well for some time and was gradually growing weaker. I would take dizzy spells and often faint. I was subject to severe headaches and found it hard to do my work. I took doctor's medicine for some time, but it did me no good, and I was still growing weaker. In this condition I began the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and in a short time found they were helping me. I continued the use of the pills for a while longer, and found that the trouble that had bothered me was gone and I was once more a well woman."

Get Dr. Williams' Pink Pills at your druggist's or write The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont., and the pills will be sent post paid at 50 cents a box.

7 Rules for Safety

You must obey them if you wish to be safe on the Highways

Traffic has increased so much on the highways that motor car drivers must become "traffic conscious". They must realize that safety for all motor traffic is largely in the hands of the operators of cars. Some do not yet understand this, while a small minority are perpetual offenders against common sense, decency and the law. Both these classes of drivers are a menace.

The co-operation of all intelligent and right-minded motorists is desired in giving caution and advice to the careless. In cases of flagrant breach of the law or rules of the road, other motorists should take license numbers and send them to the local authorities or to this Department with particulars.

These are the simple Rules of Driving It is necessary to observe each one scrupulously all the time.

1. Get your Motor Vehicle Operator's License.

Have it whenever you drive a car. If you get into an accident, or are stopped by a traffic officer or policeman, the absence of your Operator's License in itself will be considered a breach of the law and subject to fine.

2. Have your car in perfect mechanical shape.

Glaring Headlights—See that your lights are of one of the types authorized by the Department, and that your headlights are not glaring. Write the Department for free folder telling how to focus your lights.

Brakes—Get your brakes tested frequently so that your car will obey when you want to stop.

Steering Gear—No part of the car is so vital. Take care against breakage by frequent inspection.

Four Wheel Brake Signs—Put one on the rear of your car if you have four-wheel brakes.

3. Don't "loaf" on main highways when traffic is heavy.

If you are just "out for an airing" go where the traffic is light. County and township roads are in great demand these days. Slow crawling traffic is the cause of many accidents, because the motors behind must pass. Don't be selfish with the road by holding up those which has a right to proceed at a reasonable speed.

4. In passing traffic—Be careful.

When you overtake and pass another car, see that the road ahead is clear. Be sure there is a place in the traffic line which you can reach before you meet a vehicle coming the other way. Keep to your right on entering or leaving the crest of a hill. There may be a vehicle approaching which you cannot see. Always indicate what you intend to do either by the horn or signal with the hand.

5. When other cars try to pass you—Let them pass.

The law is very definite in providing that when a vehicle overtakes another and attempts to pass, the vehicle shall pull over to the right as far as the first vehicle go by. Some drivers still think it clever to speed up when overtaken, but that is against the law.

6. In entering Main Highways—Stop and Look.

Don't try to cut into traffic. Wait a minute and it will pass.

7. Don't stop on the Highway—Don't park.

It is dangerous to yourself and to others to park on the highway. If you wish to stop, move on to the first turn-out, and get your car entirely off the pavement.

USE COMMON SENSE—BE COURTEOUS.

Think of the dangers you create for yourself and others by careless, thoughtless driving.

It is better for you to let the other driver have the road, if it helps you to avoid an accident or a lawsuit.

IN MEMORIAM

In sad and loving memory of my step-father, Pte. Frank Davey, who died of wounds, August 18th, 1918.

Sleep on, beloved, beneath that foreign sod;
Well loved by us, but better loved by God.
Else he would not claimed you for his own,
And left us here to "carry on" alone.
Sadly missed by Elizabeth, Oshawa.

Mistakes Mothers Make in Care of Little Ones

Many mothers give their children solid foods at too early an age and say proudly that their babies "eat everything that grown-up people do." Such a course is almost certain to bring on indigestion and lay the foundation of much ill-health for the little one.

Other mothers administer harsh, nauseating purgatives which in reality irritate and injure the delicate stomach and bowels and at the same time cause the children to dread all medicine.

Absolutely no meat should be given to a child until it reaches the age of 18 months, and then only if approved by the doctor. For medicine, all strong, disagreeable oils and powders should be abandoned and Baby's Own Tablets given instead.

Baby's Own Tablets are especially made for little ones. They are pleasant to take and can be given with absolute safety to even the new-born babe. They quickly banish constipation and indigestion, break up colds and simple fevers, and make the cutting of teeth easy. They are sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

TAMWORTH

The death occurred of Mrs. William Shannon, on July 26th, 1927, after an illness of two years, which she bore with patience. The funeral was held at Christ Church, Tamworth, on Thursday, July 28th, Rev. Mr. Poston conducting the service. She leaves to mourn her loss, besides her husband, six daughters and one son, viz. Mrs. Earl Oderkirk, Kingston; Mrs. Walter Wilson, Massena, N.Y.; Mrs. Ross Loucks, Tamworth, Ont.; Ruby, Lucy, Willie and mary, at home. Those at the funeral from out of town were Mr. and Mrs. Walter Christman and daughter, and Mrs. Charles Murtha, of Carthage, N.Y.; Mr. and Mrs. William Bell and family, Watertown, N.Y.; Mrs. Pearl Joy, Napanee, Ont.; Mrs. Charles Shannon and Mrs. William McCabe, Oswegatchie, N.Y.

WISE AND OTHERWISE

Frequently the fellow who takes the leading part in the theatre is the usher.

Hard and soft corns both yield to Holloway's Corn Remover, which is entirely safe to use, and certain and satisfactory in its action.

Rub it in for Lame Back. — A brisk rubbing with Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil will relieve lame back. The skin will immediately absorb the oil and it will penetrate the tissues and bring speedy relief. Try it and be convinced. As the liniment sinks in, the pain comes out and there are ample grounds for saying that it as an excellent article.

"Two months ago he was the loveliest thing on earth, and now I loathe the sight of him."

"Yes, aren't men changeable?"

Mrs. Hawkins—"They tell me your husband's locked up, Mrs. Rope."

Mrs. Rope—"Yes, an' there's a woman in the case, I am informed."

Mrs. Hawkins—"A woman?"

Mrs. Rope—"Yes, they say 'e is charged with Miss Demeanour!"

Miller's Worm Powders act so thoroughly that stomachic and intestinal worms pass from the child without being noticed and without inconvenience to the sufferer. They are painless and perfect in action, and at all times will be found a healthy medicine, strengthening the infantile stomach and maintaining it in vigorous operation, so that besides being an effective vermifuge, they are tonical and health-giving in their effects.

Young habits are like young wildcats, soft, fluffy, purring. As they grow they become hard, harsh, tyrannical. They rule you with all the relentlessness of tyrants, and finally tear out your vitals with their sharp teeth and claws. Choke a bad habit while it is young.

Cause of Asthma. No one can say with certainty exactly what causes the establishing of asthmatic conditions. Dust from the street, from flowers, from grain and various other irritants may set up a trouble impossible to irradicate except through a sure preparation such as Dr. J. D. Kellogg's Asthma Remedy. Uncertainty may exist as to cause, but there can be no uncertainty regarding a remedy which has freed a generation of asthmatic victims from this scourge of the bronchial tubes. It is sold everywhere.

"You are a very backward pupil," remarked a schoolmaster, "and the hopeless sort that taxes one's patience to the utmost. It seems to me that you are never able to answer one of my questions. Why is it?" "Well, sir," the pupil replied, "if I knew all the things you ask me, I suppose my father would not go to the trouble of sending me here!"

How To Reduce Varicose Veins

Rub Gently and Upward Toward the Heart as Blood in Veins Flows That Way.

Many people have become despondent, because they have been led to believe that there is no remedy that will reduce swollen veins and bunches.

If you will get a two-ounce original bottle of Moone's Emerald Oil (full strength) at any first-class drug store and apply it night and morning as directed you will quickly notice an improvement which will continue until the veins and bunches are reduced to normal.

Moone's Emerald Oil is a harmless, yet most powerful germicide and two ounces last a very long time. Indeed, so powerful is Emerald Oil that old chronic sores and ulcers are often entirely healed and anyone who is disappointed with its use can have their money refunded.

The Low-Swung Body with no loss of headroom or road clearance

THE dream of every automobile manufacturer—to build a body low swung for beauty and for roadability, without loss of headroom or road-clearance—has become reality in McLaughlin-Buick for 1928.

McLaughlin-Buick engineers achieved this lower effect, not by the makeshift of smaller wheels with their increased tire wear, but by a complete re-designing of bodies, and by an entirely new and exclusive principle, the double-drop frame. The tallest McLaughlin-Buick now stands but 70 inches high, yet McLaughlin bodies are roomier than ever before.

See the low-swung body at McLaughlin-Buick builds it, and you will see at once why McLaughlin-Buick is the industry's accepted leader in beauty, luxury, performance—and especially in value.

The Weed Scourge

Is it fair to your neighbor if your weed-infested fields, fence rows and idle places are scattering weed seeds over his land?

Is it fair to yourself if your own weeds are scattering their seeds all over your land?

This weed scourge is costing Ontario $5,000,000 a year. A share of this money should be in your pocket! Instead, this money is wasted. And the waste is increasing!

The time has come for united action! The weed scourge should not be merely 'fought'—it should be exterminated! Weeds can be exterminated, but only by determined and united action. The help of every man, woman, boy and girl is needed.

WARNING

Under the provisions of The Weed Control Act, 1927, now in force, the destruction of noxious weeds is no longer optional. The destruction of noxious weeds is now compulsory.

Every occupant of land and every owner of unoccupied land is required to destroy all noxious weeds before their seeds ripen. Municipal councils are required to destroy all noxious weeds growing upon the highways. Let everyone co-operate to end the weed nuisance.

ODESSA WOMEN'S INSTITUTE

Mr. Putnam has suggested at different times that the Branches exchange programmes. Odessa Institute is making use of this suggestion. Some of the ladies of Violet Branch kindly came over and gave the programme on August 3rd, in the Town Hall. It is a very busy time and we appreciate very much so many of them coming, and at the same time sorry more of our members were not able to be present. At the Convention at Adolphustown Mr. Putnam said to have the programmes of educational value, and we can truly say the programme was educational and entertaining.

After the usual opening there was an opening chorus by Violet Institute. Then we listened to a very carefully prepared paper by Mrs. J. McDonald, "Help Us Grow", a paper on just what we can do to help our Institute. Everyone should help the President to make a meeting a success. All can do something; fill your own corner. She also said we should keep the teen age girls in mind. We could not have a greater example for them than a good Institute.

This was followed by a vocal duett by Mesdames Hogle and Valentyne.

Mrs. S. G. Hogle gave a short reading on a perfect husband. Have you all seen him?—In your dreams.

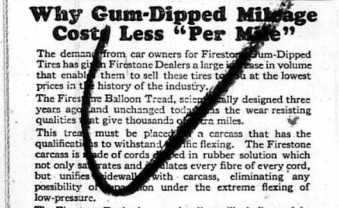
Mrs. Ernest Clark then favored us with a piano solo. Miss Margaret McCormick read a short sketch on a boy taking care of the baby; when a fellow does his best and then gets scolded for it. This was followed by a vocal duet by Mesdames Rose and Lemmon.

Mrs. Ernest Wright's paper on "Adapting Our Meals to the Children in our family' a paper of dietetic interest, was full of helpful suggestions. She gave a few thoughts on each line of cooking vegetables, fruits, cereals, meat, etc. What is good for children is good for adults, so we can plan our meals to suit the children and everyone eat the same. One way to get children to drink milk is "no milk no dessert" or buy them an attractive mug to drink from.

The meeting closed with community singing and a social half hour.

The roll call for September will be "Don'ts for the Kitchen".

The test of greatness is the number of kinds of soap, tobacco and hair oil named for you.



Why Gum-Dipped Mileage Costs Less "Per Mile"

The demand from car owners for Firestone Gum-Dipped Tires has given Firestone Dealers a large increase in volume that enables them to sell these tires to you at the lowest prices in the history of the industry.

The Firestone Balloon Tread, scientifically designed three years ago and unchanged today, has the wear resisting qualities that give thousands of extra miles.

This tread must be placed on a carcass that has the qualities that go with that fine flexing. The Firestone carcass is made of cords dipped in rubber solution which not only saturates and coats every fibre of every cord, but unifies sidewalls with carcass, eliminating any possibility of separation under the extreme flexing of low-pressure.

The Firestone Dealer in your locality will gladly explain the Gum-Dipping process, the scientifically designed tire tread, and other advantages that only Gum-Dipped tires can give. See him today.

Threshing is progressing merrily, and cutting is practically finished except for the grain which was sown late.—The weather on Thursday evening was a trifle cool for the Ladies' Aid social, held on the lawn at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. Magee, but a good crowd was in attendance and pronounced the ice cream perfect. The programme consisted of music, readings and an address by Mr. J. L. Haycock, Jr., on his visit to England. Another interesting item was the presentation to Mr. and Mrs. Frank Loyst of a set of French ivory toilet articles, accompanied by an address, expressing the regret of all departments of the church at their approaching removal to Clearmont. Mr. and Mrs. Loyst and their family have all been cheerful workers and will be much missed. They have sold their farm to Mr. German Wagar, of Newburgh.—Miss E. The theme of the day was Christian Stewardship, and was in charge of Mrs. Merrick and Mrs. Lund, assisted by several of the members. Mrs. C. L. Sharp read missionary messages contained in the Bible from Abraham to Paul. Singing and prayer brought the meeting to a close.

Former Napaneean Dies in Ottawa.

About five o'clock on Tuesday morning, August 9th, a former resident of Napanee, in the person of Mr. Guy Pybus, passed away at Ottawa. A few days previous to his death Mr. Pybus underwent an operation for a serious affliction, but to no avail. He was the youngest son of our townsman, Thos. Pybus, Sr. The remains were brought to Napanee and the funeral was held from his father's residence, Newburgh Road. He leaves a wife and four children, also two brothers, Robert, of Napanee, and Thomas, of Kingston, and one sister, Mrs. Chas. N. Loucks, of Napanee. Deceased was aged 42 years. Guy had many friends in Napanee, who will learn with regret of his death in the prime of his manhood.

Poultry Congress at Ottawa.

Capt. A. Hughson has returned home from the World's Poultry Congress, at Ottawa, where some 10,000 delegates were present, representing some 43 countries. Speaking of the meetings, there were five sessions going on at one time in as many halls. It would be impossible in one article to give an idea of the range of subjects discussed. The delegates from other countries were unanimous in speaking of the success of the congress and their admiration of Canada as a poultry country. There is no doubt in their minds that Canada is second to none in this very important branch of agriculture. A complete report of the papers submitted at the congress will be given by Capt. Hughson to the Napanee Poultry Association on resuming their regular meeting in October.

Mrs. Meeks was crossing the road near the corner of John and Dundas streets and stepped in front of the car driven by Mr. Boyce, so close that it was impossible to avoid an accident. Mrs. Meeks was taken into Wallace's Drug Store and Martin's ambulance was called to take her to Kingston General Hospital, but the injured woman passed away before reaching the hospital, and the remains were brought back to Napanee. The funeral took place from her late residence, Mill street, on Sunday afternoon. The late Mrs. Meeks leaves one daughter, Mrs. Earl Lake, West Toronto.

BASEBALL

ODESSA WINS THE LEAGUE CHAMPIONSHIP.

Odessa 12, Napanee 6.

The above score tells the story in brief of the final game in the Lennox-Addington League, which was played at the Driving Park Wednesday afternoon, in the presence of possibly 750 spectators.

During the season the local team started off with a rush and had only lost two games up until two weeks ago. They were, however, defeated by Odessa on two successive occasions during the past two weeks, and on the game played yesterday rested the championship of the County League. Odessa certainly deserved to win as their playing, particularly in yesterday's game, was brilliant.

In O'Neil they have a first-class pitcher, and the support he received was gilt-edged.

Excepting for the bad breaks in the third innings, when a number of misplays occurred, the locals also played a good game, a fast double play in the 9th receiving the plaudits of the crowd.

The teams lined up as follows:—

Odessa—O'Neill p; B. Kilgannon cf; Kearns c; Lee 1b; Sharp lf; McConnell 2b; Rowley rf; Reid 3b; V. Kilgannon ss.

Napanee—Huffman cf; T. Davern lf; Johnson 2b; Naphin 1b; Stewart ss; Bentley p; Barnes p; D. Davern 3b; Joyce rf; Skitch c.

Umpires—At plate, Smith of Kingston; on bases, Loucks, of Napanee.

Score by innings:—

Odessa	0	0	7	1	3	0	1	0	0	—12
Napanee	0	0	0	2	2	0	1	0	0	—6

MAPLE LEAF INSTITUTE

Mrs. Harold Brandon and Mrs. W. H. Smith opened their spacious home and lawn to entertain the Maple Leaf Institute members and their guests, at their regular meeting on Thursday, August 11th.

After the usual form of opening with the President in the chair, a considerable amount of business was attended to. The ladies decided to have a booth on the Agricultural grounds during the Napanee Fair. They wish to solicit the patronage of all to partake of their delicious home-made cooking, ice cream, coffee, etc.

Miss Evelyn Miller, of Peterboro', gave a speech entitled "The Pioneer Women of Canada." Miss Helena Balcanquel, another visitor, delighted all with a piano solo. The paper on current events is becoming a part of the programme much looked forward to, and Mrs. Bert Pretts again gave a splendid account of the world events in brief form.

Everyone was pleased to see Miss Mildred Milling again in our midst for her holidays, and she gave us a splendid account of her daily routine work at the Western Hospital, London.

Lunch was served to about thirty-five, and a generous collection taken.

One new member joined the ranks.

The meeting closed with "God Save the King."

BETHEL

The many friends of the late Mr. T. Leggett were shocked and sorry to hear of his recent sudden death, having been found dead on his cot in his shack near Croydon, where the township stone crusher is now located. Mr. Leggett made many friends in this neighborhood, while cooking for the township stone crusher workers, working for three months in this vicinity; and he sure was a great lover of the little folks who were always welcome to come in and chat with him.—Mr. and Mrs. Miles Valentinburgh, of Lima, New York State, drove through this neighborhood on Monday, en route from Roblin to Moscow, to visit his nephew, Fred Vanvolkenburgh, stopping with Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Jackson for dinner and tea, it being the former home in his boyhood days, he having born and brought up on the farm. After an absence of forty-six years, he sees many changes, but still many familiar places and some buildings are the same as when he was here.—Miss Dorothy Hamilton has returned to Oshawa, where she has a position in a ladies' departmental store.—Mr. Wilbur Benn sports a new car.—Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Blaney, of Godfrey, also Mr. and Mrs. Russell Gilligan, of Shannonville, spent a day with Mr. and Mrs. N. N. Sutton, and Mr. and Mrs. L. Shoppette, at their camp at Killarney Camp.—Miss Ina Hamilton is visiting her aunt at Verona, for a couple of weeks.—Miss Helen Benn has a position in Kingston.—Mr. Jack Davison, of Saltcoats, Sask., arrived on Saturday to spend a couple of weeks at Robt. Galbraith's, with his family, who will accompany him home later.—Mr. Hamilton will soon have his contract completed, rebuilding Wolfe Island, the Napanee river, known as the Curle Bridge, which is a great convenience for the people of this neighborhood and the River Road.—Some of our campers took a trip over to Long Lake near Verona, to enjoy a day's fishing, but returned, reporting no good, and better sport and lots of fish in Verry Lake. No need to look further. — Mr. George Jackson has finished his contract, painting the outside and inside of Brookside school, and is now painting for Mr. Alfred Galbraith, at Brookside.

The annual exhibition of Lennox County was held at Napanee on Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday and Friday of this week.

The visitors to the Fair on opening day were greeted by a beautiful bright sunshine, in the beautiful grounds of Victoria Driving Park. The officers of the Lennox Agricultural Society are to be congratulated on the splendid exhibits in all classes, and the largely increased number of entries in many of the various departments.

Amongst the many attractions were too good horse races; ball games; the fine exhibition of horsemanship by members of the R.M.C. Military Academy, which included jumping hurdles, tent pegging, push ball games, etc. A very special attraction was the fine music rendered by the Cobourg Kilties Band; also the good dancing exhibited by the Scottish lady dancers, the shows of the Midway, of course, held a large audience all the time.

The greatest of all the events of the day was the Baby Show, and the crowd which assembled in the evening were much interested in the charming galaxy of beautiful mothers and lovely babies.

Those who were successful in carrying off the prizes donated by the Gibbard Furniture Company, were :—

Boy, 12 to 18 months—Morrison Allcombrack.

Girl, 12 to 18 months—Ruth Shillington, Mary J. Coates.

The judges were Dr. Duane R. Hall and Victorian Nurse Lawder.

After the Baby Show, a fine concert was given by Miss Mary Daly and Mr. Reginald Hamilton, of Belleville, Friend and Jackson, comic singers and contortionists.

Owing to heavy rain, the Baby Show and concert were held in the Palace, and the Fireworks display was omitted.

Softball.

The girls' softball game played in the afternoon, was well contested. The result was : Belleville Ontarios 11; Napanee Leafs 12.

THE EXHIBITS.

The following special reports of some of the Fair Displays at the Fair will prove interesting reading, and should repay readers for the time expended upon their perusal :—

For Crippled Children.

One of the exhibits at the Lennox Fair that attracted an unusual amount of interest was the group of articles donated to the Napanee Rotary Club for the benefit of Crippled Children by some of the business men of the town. Tickets are being sold on these various articles and the winning tickets will be drawn at the Armouries, on October 31st, at the Big Rotary Hallowe'en Frolic, which takes place that evening. The proceeds from the sale of these tickets will be used for the aid of crippled children throughout this county and vicinity. The articles are as follows :

1. 5-piece Gibbard Solid Walnut Bedroom Suite.
2. Frigidaire Electric Refrigerator.
3. McClary Coal and Wood Stove.
4. Moffatt Electric Stove.
5. Cornell Air Chair.
6. One Ton Hard Coal.
7. Fluery Plough.

Tickets for any of these articles may be obtained from any Rotarian, and at many of the stores in Napanee for 25c. to $1.00 each.

WEDNESDAY.

The second day of the Fair opened bright with sunshine, and everything looked bright and fresh after the heavy rain of the previous night. Good weather prevailed all day, and it is estimated that the attendance was at least six thousand.

The Palace.

Throughout the day the Palace had a constant flow of pleased visitors who admired the tasteful display in the booths, the charming decoration, and particularly the beautiful flowers and plants which graced the great centre table running the length of the building. On either side of the main entrance to the Palace there was a very fine display of ladies' fancy and useful work. Then going to the left side of the building were the following booths, each having a wonderful attraction for the beholder : C. A. Anderson & Son, Tires and Batteries; Hydro Electric Shop; Floglaze display and demonstration, by Wallace's Drug Store, Ltd.; Boyle & Son, McClary Mfg. Co. exhibit of Ranges, Furnaces and Enamelware; Ker, fine examples of Linoleum and Congoleum; E. J. Roy, of the Napanee Iron Works, had a fine showing of homemade Bread, Cakes, Pies, etc., the good work of the goodwives, whose attractive homes in every part of the county are well known. Then beyond the West entrance is the fine display by The Gibbard Company, of Frigidair Refrigerators, followed in the contiguous booth by a charming well furnished living room, with cosy brick fireplace, shown by the same Company. The next reservation contains the display of Piano by H. VanLuven. Following this is the beautiful Art exhibit, containing many gems. On the platform in front of this is a fine showing of prizes given by the Ranee Mercer, for the benefit, on Hallowe'en, of crippled children. Then comes a booth of The Gibbard Furniture Co., a completely furnished bedroom. Next is the Seymour-Smith Hardwood Flooring exhibit, by Arthur Sills, of Belleville, and last, but not least, the fine display of fine Furs shown by Goudier, of Kingston.

Automobiles

There was a large showing of many makes of cars and trucks housed under the large tent to the north of the Palace building. The exhibitors were Napanee dealers, and also dealers from Kingston and Belleville.

Vegetables.

The Vegetable Tent contained a fine collection of vegetables, including tomatoes, celery, cauliflowers, etc., also some splendid specimens of potatoes, and other root crops. A large quantity of fine samples of seeds were also shown.

Poultry.

Never in the history of the Napanee Fair has there been so large a showing nor finer birds than are exhibited in the poultry house this year. The entries are said to be over five hundred. Capt. Hughson's White Wyandottes are wonderfully fine. W. E. Richardson displays many varieties of fine birds. Arthur Rooks, of Richmond, shows good specimens of Barred Rocks. The largest exhibitor probably is Harry Lash, of Peterboro', who shows a hundred and twenty-five birds representing twenty-seven varieties.

Live Stock.

Exhibits of horses and cattle in the stock barn were well worth looking at and no finer birds than are exhibited in the poultry house this year. The entries are said to be over five hundred. Capt. Hughson's White Wyandottes are wonderfully fine. W. E. Richardson displays many varieties of fine birds. Arthur Rooks, of Richmond, shows good specimens of Barred Rocks. OBITUARY

George I. Perry.

Death claimed a life-long resident of this district on July 23rd, 1927, when George I. Perry passed away at his home, North Fredericksburgh.

Mr. Perry was one of the best known farmers in the vicinity and surrounding country. For a number of years he was engaged in the hay and grain business and was well known to all the farmers. Besides he was a very successful farmer himself.

Mr. Perry had not enjoyed good health for the past three years, but was always bright and cheerful, and kept up the fight until the very last, managing and directing the affairs of his farm even though unable to engage in the actual work.

Mr. Perry was a son of the late Ebenezer Perry and a descendant of the late Commodore Perry. Besides his bereaved wife, he leaves to mourn his loss two brothers and one sister, Robert, of Denver, Colorado; J. J. of Pasadena, California, and Mrs. W. H. Baker, of Clavet, Saskatoon.

The high esteem in which Mr. Perry was held by his friends, was clearly manifested by the large number of sorrowing friends who came to pay their last respects. In religion Mr. Perry was a Methodist. The funeral was held Monday afternoon, July 25th, and was one of the largest that has been witnessed in the country for some time. The remains were placed in the family plot beside the White Church, Morven.

IS NEWBURGH GOING TO SEED?

No, Newburgh is not going to seed, but Newburgh's weeds are going to seed.

It seems a pity that on the streets and lots over which the Corporation has control, that the weeds in these places should be allowed to scatter their seeds under the vulgar names of ragweed, pigweed, bishop's folly, lambsquarter, etc. We venture to suggest that a botanist be employed to classify these seeds and give them their botanical names which would be more in keeping with the dignity of this old classic town.

Then there are some lots, privately owned, which contain weeds large enough and extensive enough to shelter an army larger than Agnes McPhail, M.P., would allow.

If this state of things is allowed to continue Newburgh will become a rendezvous for wild animals and all sorts of pests to prey upon the-more orderly citizens. Newburgh, naturally, is a pretty place, and a very little energy, at the proper time, on the part of the Council and property owners would add much artificiality to what nature has bestowed, so that Newburgh would be made a delightful place in which to live.

All honor to those who do try to keep their premises in order, but there is strong evidence that there is a good deal of negligence and lack of taste on the part of many; and the Council is delinquent in this regard by not setting an example and trying to create a public spirit in this direction.

WEDDING BELLS

Sayers—Burton.

Christ Church was the scene of a quiet wedding on Tuesday, July 19th, 1927, when the Rev. A. A. Adams united in marriage Miss Grace Vennetta Burton, daughter of Mr. Wesley William Burton, of Lacombe, and Mr. Lester Henry Sayers, of Tees. The bride wore a lovely suit of white silk and carried red roses. Miss Jean Walker, of Tees, a friend of the bride, was also present.

Mr. and Mrs. Sayers are remaining in the city for a few days, and will take up their residence at Ponoka, where Mr. Sayers is in business.

On the evening of July 31st, the home of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Sayers, of Tees, was thrown open to the many friends, some seventy-five in number, of their eldest son, Lester, and his bride, who were married in Edmonton on July 19th. The fine home was in gala dress for the occasion, beautiful flowers were everywhere, and the large verandah was gay with Chinese lanterns.

The event took the form of a reception and miscellaneous shower. The evening was spent in games on the lawn, after which Mr. Hewitt, the Presbyterian minister of the district, in a few well chosen words, voiced the sentiments of all present in wishing Mr. and Mrs. Lester Eayers "bon voyage" in this their new venture on life's sea, at the same time presenting to them a huge clothes basket full to overflowing with beautiful and useful gifts. The groom in his usual graceful manner, very nicely thanked the friends for their kindness.

It was indeed a pleasure for the friends to have this opportunity of expressing their good will and wishes in some tangible way. The groom is very highly respected in the neighborhood, and the bride, who has taught school in the community, has endeared herself to all who knew her.

Mrs. Henry Sayers, at the close of the evening, served a dainty lunch, and the guests departed, wishing Mr. and Mrs. Lester Sayers long life and happiness in their new home, which is to be in Ponoka.

BUTTER AGAIN WINS OUT

That butter fed boys gained in weight and height over oleomargarine fed boys is the result of a year's test lately finished in England. We have read much about feeding tests made on rats, pigs, dogs, and hens by Dr. McCollum of the Johns-Hopkins University and Dr. Palmer of the University of Minnesota, where in every case when butter was added to the basic diet greater gain was made than when oleomargarine was fed to these animals.

In the English test, growing boys were taken, ranging from 10 to 14 years. Twenty-six boys fed a basic diet, plus 1½ ounces of butter daily, made an average gain in weight of 6.30 lbs. and an increase in height of 2.22 inches in one year. Against this the sixteen boys of same age fed a basic diet, plus 1½ ounces oleomargarine daily, gained an average in weight of 8.21 lbs. and an average of 1.84 inches in height for the same period. The following is the cold blooded comment of the British Investigation :

"Sixteen boys (the oleomargarine squad) who remained under observation continuously for 12 months, gained during that period an average of 5.21 pounds per boy, and grew an average of 1.84 inches per boy.

When this result is compared with the result of feeding another batch with an equal quantity of butterfat, it is obvious that the vegetable margarine has failed.

"The group of boys who ate the margarine ratio did not grow any faster than the batch of boys who were taking only the basic diet, the average growth rate of 1.84 inches being the same. Milling and Baking Qualities of Garnet Wheat

Garnet seems entitled to rank among the good milling wheats. This is the considered opinion of Mr. L. H. Newman, Dominion Cerealist, as expressed in his new bulletin on "Garnet Wheat". The chief point in which Garnet may be open to a little criticism is in the colour of the flour which is slightly more yellow or creamy than that of Marquis. The unbleached flour of Garnet when freshly milled may be described as light yellow or creamy yellow, while that of Marquis may be described as creamy white. Since, however, bleaching and maturing processes have become highly developed and are becoming generally practised, the objection to the colour of Garnet, if it is an objection, would appear to be appreciably minimized.

Garnet seems to be about the equal of Marquis in weight per measured bushel and where the supply of moisture is ample it may even excel the older wheat. The two wheats are about equal in flour yield, but the ash content of Garnet is generally appreciably higher than that of Marquis. Garnet flour generally produces a little higher bread yield and a loaf of slightly greater volume than Marquis. In texture of crumb Garnet is almost equal to Marquis, and superior to Early Red Fife, Early Triumph and Kitchener. Good texture combined with high volume is commonly regarded as an indication of high baking strength.

EFFECT OF AURORA BOREALIS ON CANADIAN RADIO RECEPTION

"Does the aurora borealis when in visible display interfere with radio reception?" was a question directed to A. R. McEwan, Director of Radio, Canadian National Railways, in an endeavour to reach some solution of a problem which has caused a great deal of discussion. Mr. McEwan was approached because his department has unusual opportunities for observing the manifestations of the "Northern Lights", and the effect of the phenomina on reception apparatus.

During a period of three years logs have been prepared daily by operators in charge of receiving sets on Canadian National trains, an average of 120 such reports being filed each week dealing with reception conditions across Canada from the Atlantic to the Pacific, this material being obtained from the performance of sets installed on the principal trains of the Canadian National System.

Out of his own personal experience, amplified by the observations contained in the train radio logs, Mr. McEwan answered the question by saying :

"Periodic cycles of poor radio conditions have occurred recently and no doubt the aurora display has been given a share of the blame by owners of radio receiving sets. Canada being closer to the magnetic pole than most countries offers greater opportunity for the study of this effect on radio transmission. These Northern Lights are believed to be due to clouds of electrons shot off from the sun, causing ionization in the rare upper atmosphere. The aurora is generally accompanied by large disturbing currents of the earth's surface affecting land telegraph lines and ocean cables which use the earth as a return path. These wandering currents appear to be of low frequency and, therefore, would not directly affect radio reception, such as in the case of static.

"There is no record on the headquarters of the Radio Department of the Canadian National Railways, a letter from the Federal Government agent at Fort Smith, situated on the Athabasca at the northern boundary of Alberta and the Northwest Territory, to the effect that on more than one occasion he had splendid reception at that point from CNRA (Moncton, N.B.); CNRO, (Ottawa) and other stations in Canada and the United States during periods when the aurora was particularly brilliant.

"This testimony coming from a point where there are no local disturbances of interference, is of some interest in the general discussion regarding such phenomena on broadcasting and the reception at distant places.

"One man who should know the effect of the Northern Lights on radio is Donald McMillan who passed right under the aurora display during his trip to the Arctic and reported that it had no effect on static.

"Referring again to cycles of poor radio reception, the theory has been advanced that abnormally large disturbances on the sun have been accompanied by violent expulsions of tremendous clouds of electrons. In order to understand how radio signals may be affected when these extra electrons are shot off from the sun, we must first take into consideration the theory devised by the late Oliver Heavyside. This theory assumes that should a person ascend through the earth's atmosphere he would eventually reach a point at which the atmospheric pressure is so slight that the gas becomes a good conductor of electricity, hence a good reflector of radio waves.

"Thus we can consider the earth as being surrounded by a reflecting medium...far the earth is more air, which is a conductor in the daytime and an insulator during the night, because during the daytime the sun's rays ionize the air. The reflecting medium can then be considerably downward, or as being nearer the earth's surface during the daytime than it is at night, for after the sun sets de-ionization occurs in all the lower atmosphere and there is left the upper layer, or shell, surrounding the earth. Heavyside then assumed that radio waves glide along the inside of this shell for great distances with very little loss. The irregularities of reception are accounted for by the changes in the Heavyside layer. Changes in signal strength at a given point are accounted for in this way.

"Probably the best indication we have of the existence of this so-called Heavyside layer is the aurora borealis display. This display, as observed by the individual, may be merely an indication that the Heavyside layer, or electron-charged atmosphere, a hundred or more miles above the earth's surface really exists. At any rate, whether the aurora borealis appears or not, the electrical condition of the Heavyside layer seems to affect the transmission of radio frequency waves."

The conclusions to be drawn from the foregoing are that while the Aurora cannot be said to actually effect radio transmission and reception, at the same time this phenomena is at times the visible sign of other causes which do affect radio, and, therefore, there is certain relation between them.

SAFE MILK IN MONTREAL

It would seem as if tourists are not going to Montreal this season because of the recent typhoid epidemic. Some that do go are afraid to drink milk because the epidemic was a milk born one. We can assure our tourist friends that for over two months the pasteurization of milk in that city has been closely supervised by the Provincial Health Authorities and to drink milk there is quite safe. To those who don't like pasteurized milk, "Certified Milk", which is now produced for the Montreal market, may be had at the leading hotels.

Suffered So She Could Not Walk. Restored to Health by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Hainesville, Ontario.—"I am a practical nurse and I recommend Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to suffering women. For three months I was almost helpless and could not sit at the table long enough to drink a cup of tea. Many a time my husband carried me to bed. I would be so weak. Then he read in the paper of a woman suffering as I did who got better after taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, so he went and got it for me. When I had taken three bottles I was just like a girl again and have had good health ever since. Now I use the earth as a return path. I always take it sometimes a half bottle or what I need. It is my only medicine and I have told many a one about it. Any one wanting to know more about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, I will gladly write to her. I do all I can to recommend it for I feel I owe my life and strength to it."—Mrs. Neal Bowser, R.R. 1, Minesing, Ontario.

Do you feel broken-down, nervous, and weak sometimes? Do you have this horrid feeling of fear which sometimes comes to women when they are not well? Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is excellent to take at such a time. It always helps, and if taken regularly and persistently will relieve this condition. C

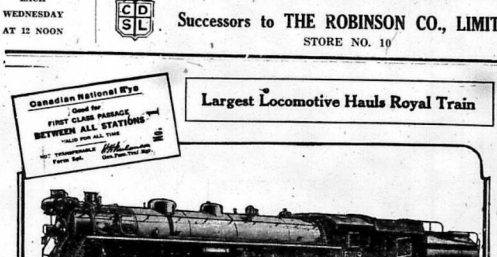
Largest Locomotive Hauls Royal Train



One of the 6100 Northern Type locomotives, recently placed in service by the Canadian National Railways for hauling their fast passenger and manifest freight trains, was the first locomotive to haul a train into the new Union Station at Toronto, on the occasion of the opening of this station by H.R.H. the Prince of Wales. On this occasion also, the first ticket issued from the ticket booths of the new station was one entitling His Royal Highness to passage "Between All Stations" on the Canadian National System for all time. Immediately after declaring the the new depot open, the Prince proceeded to the Canadian National ticket windows where he was issued "Ticket No. 1." Tickets numbering two, three and four were issued to Prime Minister Baldwin and Mrs. Baldwin respectively. Forty of the monster engines of the type which hauled the royal train are being constructed in Canada for handling the fast passenger and manifest freight trains of the National System.

LENNOX FAIR

Ker's New Store.

One of the great attractions in the Palace was the fine exhibit by Mr. Wm. H. Ker, who occupies the newest store in Napanee, next door to Wonderland. The goods displayed are of a very artistic character, and as well-known to everybody as dollar bills. They have beauty, character and can be found in such a variety of design and colour that will harmonize with any room or any home. In fact they make any home more homelike and comfortable. The goods we speak of are Congoleum and Linoleum Art Rugs and Floor coverings. Besides being charming to look at they are very serviceable, and will stand hard wear and long years of service.

Mr. Ker having been with a store in town for some time past, is no stranger to the Napanee public. Mr. Ker will carry in stock at his new store, a general line of Dry Goods and Dress Goods, etc., and invites the people of Napanee and the surrounding country to call in at his new store when he opens it sometime next week.

F. W. Harl—Pianos.

Owing to the fact of Mr. Hart having made application for space in the Palace at the Napanee Fair, and that he was told that all the available space had already been taken up, he was unable to show at the Fair.

Mr. Hart has been appointed a dealer in the famous Willis, Chickering and Knabe Pianos, for Napanee and surrounding country, and it was his intention to show at the Fair some specimens of these and other musical instruments. Through the courtesy of the management of the Paisley House a fine example of The Willis Piano is on exhibition in the rotunda of the hotel, and Mr. Hart will be pleased to demonstrate the many advantages to intending purchasers who wish to secure one of the best pianos on the market to-day. As soon as possible Mr. Hart will secure suitable premises in town in which to carry on his business.

F. W. Hart, who has been living in Western Canada, has returned to his old home town and will resume his old line of business in which he was well and favorably known by a wide circle of friends and patrons, and it is his desire that as many of his old friends as can will make it convenient to call upon him, and he hopes to secure very many new friends.

Boyle & Son.

This old and reliable firm of Hardware Merchants, Plumbers, Steam Fitters, etc., etc., are very much to the front at the Fair this year with an admirable display of the McClary Mfg. Co. products, most tastefully displayed and ably demonstrated by an expert McClary representative, who was fully competent to answer many wonderful questions and explain accurately the working and possibilities of the stoves, ranges, and furnacettes which were on exhibition. One of the finest exhibits is the new range known as "McClary's Eighty", to commemorate the eighty years of experience of the McClary Company. This wonder of the age not only cooks your meals but it heats your kitchen too, saving fuel, economising space in the kitchen, with many other conveniences, making convenience right at your finger tips. The oven is roomy, lined with nickeled white "daylight" interior, rust resisting and sanitary. The "Heatrite" latch enables you to adjust the door so that heat can be distributed into the atmosphere, at any angle you wish. It has a semi-deep special fire box which burns any kind of fuel (it has a special provision for soft coal burning). Gives ample heat to make your kitchen cosy. Circulating-type reservoir provides abundance of hot water. This wonderful range and heater has enameled clad flues and other interior parts which add many years to its life and usefulness.

Amongst the other exhibits are the artistic and useful surface heaters called furnacettes, which would ornament any room in the house. They have perfect circulation and collect the cold air from the floors.

A good display of McClary's Blue Enamelware was also shown. Better see Boyle's about your heating and cooling problems.

E. J. Roy—Oil-O-Matic.

One of the most interesting exhibits in the Palace, from the Canadian winter point of view, was that of our popular townsman and Mayor, E. J. Roy, of the Napanee Iron Works, who had on exhibition five Oil-O-Matic machines.

The heating problem in Canada during the past few years has become a very serious one and it looks as if the Oil-O-Matic might be the solution. We have in the past become used to good hard coal and that has become more scarce and expensive and the quality in many cases inferior. Then there is the dust and ashes and the work of constant attention.

The Oil-O-Matic is controlled by the room thermostat, it is completely automatic, absolutely clean, has no odour, and basement conditions are similar to the living room. Another good feature is the fuel used (Fuel Oil) is the cheapest fuel known while being the richest in heat-units and perfectly safe. The safety device makes one absolutely sure that the furnace will not require any attention if the house should be unoccupied for an indefinite period. There is no doubt that the Oil-O-Matic is the most perfect oil heating system in existence to-day. It is not new and untried, for it has been on the market for the past eight years and has been sold all over the world. The Oil-O-Matics sold in the U.S.A. alone last year amounted to 64,000. Twenty-two per cent of the oil burners made are Oil-O-Matic.

Mr. Putnam, the demonstrator for Shaver Bros., distributors, was in attendance at Roy's booth, and gave satisfactory information to all enquirers, and reported quite a number of sales there, with good prospects of many more.

Blind Watchmakers.

Blind people are exceedingly clever with their fingers, but it is not often that we hear of a watchmaker who was born blind. And yet there have been instances of the kind.

A famous blind watchmaker lived at Holbeach, Lincolnshire, England. He name was Ripplin, and, although completely blind, he could take to pieces and put together again watches of most delicate construction with the greatest ease, and in quicker time than most watchmakers who have the advantage of good eyesight.

On one occasion some of the tiny wheels and screws used in his trade were stolen from him, but the thief was captured with property on his person, and Rippen identified them by touch.

A Barnstaple, England, watch and clockmaker brought up his blind son to his trade, and on more than one occasion he detected faults in timepieces which other tradesmen had failed to discover.

Premier Interviews Car Inspector

When Premier Stanley Baldwin was travelling through the Maritime Provinces over the lines of the Canadian National Railways he evinced keen interest in all matters concerning transportation. At Truro, N.S., Mr. Baldwin asked D. A. McKay, Car Inspector, "Did you examine the wheels of my car?"

"Yes sir. They are all right", answered the Inspector.

Mr. Baldwin then asked a number of questions about the work of Inspectors, remarking that in England they were called "car tappers," and noting the longer hammer used in Canada.

"Yours is a responsible work" commented Mr. Baldwin as the train drew out.

LIFE WAS A BURDEN

Restored to Health Through the Use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills.

"It is a pleasure," says Mrs. Ross Boulter, of Victoria, P.E.I., "to tell you of the new health and strength I got through the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. Before taking the pills life was a burden to me. I was so badly run down that I did not know what to do. My blood seemed to have turned to water, I was very pale, constantly tired, and was losing flesh. It was a trial to attempt housework. Added to this I had a bad cough and my husband and friends thought I was going into consumption. The medical treatment I was taking did not appear to do me any good, and I had about given up hope when a friend urged me to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. I got six boxes and found so much benefit from them that I got six more boxes. Before these were all taken I was a new woman restored again to good health. I gained in weight, the cough left me, my appetite returned and I once more had a good color. Better still, I was able to do my housework without fatigue. Needless to say I always recommend Dr. Williams' Pink Pills to ailing friends, and I hope this will be the means of pointing the road to good health to some other sufferer."

Try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for anaemia, rheumatism, neuralgia, nervousness. Take them as a tonic if you are not in the best physical condition and cultivate a resistance that will keep you well and strong.

If you will send us your name and address a little book, "Building Up the Blood", will be mailed you prepaid. This book contains many useful health hints.

You can get these pills through any medicine dealer or by mail at 50 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

WISE AND OTHERWISE

Pa—"Girls want a lot nowadays."
Mike—"Yes, and they want a house on it, too.

Many have been relieved of corns by Holloway's Corn Remover. It has a power of its own that will be found effective.

She—"You never heard of women cashiers embezzling, or running off with their employers' money."

He—"Not often, but when it does happen they take the employer, too."

Worms in children, if they be not attended to, cause convulsions, and often death. Mother Graves' Worm Exterminator will protect the children from these distressing afflictions.

Susie—"Papa, what makes a man always give a woman a diamond engagement ring?"

Her Father—"The woman."

"I hear that the De Joneses have bought a new two-seater."

"Yes, I've seen the nursemaid pushing it with the twins inside."

"One thing about having gone to college," sighed the capitalist as the nineteenth classmate that day was leaving, "I'll never have to buy bonds from a stranger."

It Has Many Qualities.—The man who possesses a bottle of Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil is armed against many ills. It will relieve a cough, break a cold, prevent sore throat; it will reduce the swelling from a sprain, relieve the most persistent sores and will speedily heal cuts and contusions. It is a medicine chest in itself.

She—"I trust, Jack, dear, that our marriage will not be against your father's will?"

He—"I'm sure I hope not. It would be very hard for us if he should alter it!"

Freddie had just proposed to Millie.

"No, Freddie," she said, "I cannot marry you. The man who gets me must be a grand man, upright and square."

"My dear girl," said Freddie, "you don't want a man. You need a piano."

A Corrector of Pulmonary Troubles.—Many testimonials could be presented showing the great efficacy of Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil in correcting disorders of the respiratory processes, but the best testimonial is experience and the Oil is recommended to all who suffer from these disorders with the certainty that they will find relief. It will allay inflammation in the bronchial tubes.

Young Maiden (to a famous sculptor)—I always think sculpture must be very difficult. Isn't it?

The Sculptor—Oh, no! All you have to do is to get a block of marble and a chisel and knock off all the marble you don't want.

There is nothing repulsive in Miller's Worm Powders, and they are as pleasant to take as sugar, so that few children will refuse them. In some cases they cause vomiting through their action in an unsound stomach, but this is only a manifestation of their cleansing power, no indication that they are harmful. They can be thoroughly depended upon to clear worms from the system.

They were discussing psychical research, spiritualism, and haunted houses. "Do you believe that ghosts walk?" asked one ardent soul of an old gentleman. "Of course I do," he replied; "there's abundant proof of the fact—haven't you ever heard the Dead March?"

A clergyman met one of his parishioners in a country lane late one night.

"It's pretty damp for a man with rheumatism to be prowling about at night, eh, William?"

"Well, sir, I'm following the doctor's advice."

"Why, did he tell you to be out at night?"

"Not exactly, sir, but he said that I needed chicken."

WAYS OF A PYTHON.

Can Overpower by Constriction Almost Any Large Mammal.

The mighty python is a native of India and is a most formidable reptile when full grown. Specimens over twenty-four feet long have been captured on various occasions.

The python is not easy to kill. Its strength is prodigious, and it can itself overpower by constriction almost any large animal. The width of the mouth is comparatively small, but this drawback the python overcomes by crushing its victim, if necessary, into the form of a sausage, and gradually thrusts that small cavity goes an amazing quantity of food which will last the python for many days.

It may seem amazing that such huge reptiles should come from such small eggs, but the growth of the python in its youth is very rapid. The python moves, climbs, and swims with equal facility and prefers to make its home in the vicinity of water, to which mammals and birds, their usual prey, resort.

The female python sometimes collects as many as a hundred eggs for hatching, and it is surprising that there are not more pythons in India. She coils herself round the eggs so that her head rests in the centre on the top, and in this position she will remain without food during the whole period of incubation, or rather keeping guard for about two months.

When she is finishing her job is not a happy time to disturb her, for she is ordinarily an ill-tempered reptile, and her temper when she has been fasting is at its worst.

Pen Pictures of Poland

By entering into Poland from the southwestern corner of Upper Silesia, one sees Poland at its best.

To accomplish this is not easy, writes Bernard Groom. The new frontier takes a capricious course among the congested mines of that densely populated area. Germans and Poles are mixed up in the packed streets of Beuthen, Gleiwitz and Konigshutte; and the traveller soon learns to distinguish the Slavonic consonants from the more familiar Teutonic gutturals.

It was my good fortune to be staying last Easter with the President of the Court appointed by the League of Nations to hear disputes arising out of the new boundary. Five years ago, the district was a scene of bloodshed and poverty. But thanks to the Plebiscite and the Court of Arbitration, Germans and Poles are at last learning to live as tolerant, if not as friendly neighbors.

Beuthen is full of sheds hastily put up to accommodate immigrants from the Polish side; and it will be many years before industry is able to absorb these new-comers.

Under the protection of my host, I was able to move freely over the frontier. But the ignorant or careless carry their lives in their hands, for the sentries would require little provocation to fire on any stranger not scrupulously attentive to the regulations.

Crossing into Poland, one at first notices little change. The road enters the large industrial town of Katowice, and then turns towards Piess. To this last place, the kaiser paid an annual visit, and the road is still in good repair. But after Piess, one enters the real Poland, a land of vast green plains, muddy ways bordered by trees and forlorn straggling villages.

The surface of the road is now pitted with holes so deep that the traveller may expect to be flung any moment against the ceiling of his car. To preserve their hichways and prevent motors from deepening the ruts, the Poles have sometimes placed large heaps of stones to the right and left alternately, so that the driver has to steer a serpentine course between them.

As we approached the ancient capital of Cracow, the character of the country began to change. Dim forms of the Carpathians loomed through the mist. The country became more hilly; and one noticed signs of art in the wooden cottages, with their windows bordered by bright paint.

Few workers in the fields were to be seen except women, with their striped shawls and dresses showed a taste for color seldom seen in Germany.

Cracow is certainly one of the finest of medieval cities. Its lofty walls recall those of Nuremberg. The old university is like an Oxford quadrangle, differing in the touches of slightly Oriental fancy.

The Wawel, which contains the tombs of many Polish kings, is a superb though somewhat confused piece of renaissance work, and the Court of Honor, with its triple colonnade, can compare with anything of the kind in Italy or Spain. But a distinctive Polish character appears over all, perhaps most of all in the Church of Our Lady, where two towers dominate the city, the taller of them bearing aloft a golden Crown of Thorns.

Cracow is now a purely Polish city. The German language appears to have been banished completely, and the Poles are anxious to keep every detail of administration in their own hands. I visited one industrial undertaking of the highest importance, and found it in a state of highly prosperous activity.

This was the famous salt-mine of Wieliczka, a town which lies a few miles outside Cracow. Some hundreds of feet below the earth, one enters a labyrinth of passages leading from one vast cavern to another and descending to immense depth.

These caverns, from which all the salt has now been quarried, have been converted to various uses; one of them is now a subterranean church whose rough-hewn walls seem as if hewn out of some dark grey granite. Twice a year, a service is held in this mysterious temple. It was strange to pass almost direct from the depth of the salt-mine to a well-lit concert room in Cracow where the audience listened with enthusiasm to the singing of a male voice choir.

But in a country like Poland contrasts are natural. We were in Cracow on Palm Sunday. A few miles outside the walls, long processions of peasants, headed by a crucifix were trailing to church along the miry roads. In Cracow was all the bustle of an ordinary European city.

Almost the last sight we saw was the picture-gallery—one of the best places imsahe for studying the Polish character and the Polish landscape. It is difficult for the Pole, whether in literature or in art, to keep free from propaganda.

A painting which lives vividly in my memory is typical. It represents an incident on a country road, down which a large wagon filled with laughing passengers, among them a Russian soldier, driven in full career, while a Polish peasant reaped in a miserable cart tries to control his frightened horse as it struggles in the ditch.

Pictures like this are an epitome of history as seen by the Pole, and it will be long before the recollection of them fades from the national mind.

Expensive Ragging.

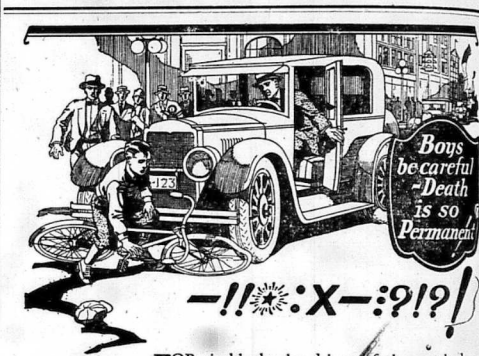
In the course of a year's "rags," nearly three thousand window's are broken in the colleges of Oxford, England, by students.

A whale shark has 24,000 teeth, set in eighty rows of 300 teeth each.

An old man-servant who had been found by his master to be deficient in his accounts blamed the butcher for tampering with his book. The gentleman of the house remonstrated by saying, "But, sir, figures don't lie." "No," answered the old man, "but liars often figger!"

PREMIER BALDWIN LEARNS TO DRIVE LARGEST LOCOMOTIVE IN BRITISH EMPIRE

The Rt. Hon. Stanley Baldwin, the British Premier, took a short course in engine driving at Pickering, Ontario, on the new Canadian National locomotive, number 6120, the largest and most powerful railway engine in the British Empire. Mr. Baldwin, when visiting Kingston, Ont., learnt that this titan of the steel rails was an all-Canadian product, designed by Canadian National Railway engineers and built at the Kingston shops. Early on Saturday morning No. 6120 was attached to the Royal Train to haul it into Toronto to mark the opening of the new Union Station. Mr. Baldwin, although busily engaged in the preparation of his speeches, halted in his work to make an inspection of the engine, eventually climbing into the cab with the engineer. He showed the keenest interest in the manner in which the big locomotive was handled when travelling at high speed, and worked the various levers controlling the engine. "It is a wonderful piece of machinery and should be a source of pride to the Canadian designers and builders," said the Premier on leaving the locomotive. No. 6120 is one of forty engines of similar type that are being turned out this season for the fast passenger and freight services of the National System. When in regular service they will run 518 miles without change—the longest locomotive runs in the Dominion.



-!!*:X-:?!?!

FOR six blocks the driver of the car had tried to pass the boy on the bike. Every time the road seemed clear of jaywalkers, street cars and brick wagons, the boy, by design or accident, swerved across the motor car's path.

Finally there was an opening.

The driver "stepped on it" . . . . And just then the boy decided to cross the street—in front of him. Then it happened.

Life seems to be a perpetual race between education and disaster.

Probably by the time cyclists and pedestrians have learned how to co-operate with drivers of motor cars, we shall find ourselves in the middle of the aeroplane era, with a brand new set of problems.

But meanwhile . . . . you boys who ride bicycles, won't you try to make the highways safer, won't you try to ride in a straight line, use your hand to signal when you're going to stop or turn, and carry a tail light at night? Atta Boy!

Will I enjoy the comfort, safety and luxury of a Body by Fisher?
Will I know the thrilling, effortless performance of a rugged six-cylinder engine, developed and proved by the greatest automotive organization in the world?
Will I obtain the quality simplified by such refinements as rich plush upholstery, tilting beam headlights, VV windshield, luxurious interior appointments?

McLaughlin-Buick took vibration out of the engine—Now it has taken it out of the road

WHEN McLaughlin-Buick made its famous six-cylinder, Valve-in-Head engine vibration less beyond belief, millions the world over hailed this startling advance in motor car performance as a engineering triumph.

Now McLaughlin-Buick for 1928 has followed with another great contribution to motoring comfort. McLaughlin-Buick has taken vibration out of the road by equipping every model with Hydraulic Shock Absorbers, front and rear—an added luxury that the savings of McLaughlin-Buick volume have been able to supply.

McLaughlin-Buick Hydraulic Shock Absorbers make an integral part of the car by supplanting springs and chassis—provide greater smoothness than Shock Absorbers which are added as "extra equipment". M-728C

QUEEN "MAD" HONEY.

Honey, Although Made by Bees, Is Very Disagreeable.

In the northern parts of Asia Minor, says a writer in the Manchester Guardian, a kind of honey is to be found which, although made by bees like ordinary honey, is very disagreeable, and when eaten causes dizziness and sickness. It is called "poisonous," "mad," or "Pontic honey." The reason for its harmful qualities has long been a mystery.

Last spring and summer the German entomologists Krause and Diechoff travelled over Asia Minor, and in the Naturwissenschaften, Krause publishes some of his notes on the nature of "poisonous honey."

He believes that the bees obtain it from the yellow Alpine rose (Rhododendron flavum) and the violet-colored Rhododendron ponticum. Both flowers form part of the undergrowth in the Anatolian forests from the coasts of the Black Sea up to the mountain tops. When in bloom they give out a very strong perfume which —as Krause himself experienced—has a stupefying effect like some narcotic. The flowers are avoided by cattle all the year round, for even the green parts are not free from the sickening perfume.

Their distribution corresponds with the distribution of "poisonous" honey." The yellow flower, which is the stronger smelling of the two, is even found on the European side of the Bosphorus.

"Poisonous honey" is often mentioned in classical literature. Pliny even wrote that it came from a plant called rhododendron, thus anticipating Krause's conjecture. In classical times the rhododendron was often confused with the oleander, thus giving rise to the belief that bees obtain "poisonous honey" from the oleander.

The Turks call this honey "delibal," which means "mad honey," no doubt referring to the state of intoxication and dizziness which it often produces. This state can lead to complete unconsciousness, the awakening being accompanied by sickness and headache.

In the "Anabasis" Zenophon mentions the discomfort felt by the Greek troops after eating "Pontic honey." But the most interesting reference occurs in Strabo, who was born in the year 62 B.C. in Northern Anatolia. His description of his own home he wrote (ch. iii., 18):

"The Heptakometes once slew three of Pompey's armies that crossed the mountains by putting dishes of poisonous honey along the paths."

A very early reference to the use of poison gas in warfare.

Sleep and Grow Fat.

One of the quickest ways of getting thin is to go without sleep for two nights in succession. This method is not popular, and most people would rather fast for two weeks. Enforced sleeplessness, however, causes flesh to disappear more than twice as rapidly as rigid starvation, even though the non-sleeper is on full diet.

A doctor who was treating a man for obesity by the usual diet and exercise method was recently surprised by an amazing discovery. The couple of the treatment was unavoidably held up by the patient breaking his leg, and it was feared that the enforced rest would seriously retard the loss of weight, even though the strict diet was kept up.

When, at last, the man, who had had little else, was able to get on the scales again, it was found that the rate at which he had lost weight was almost exactly double the rate at which he had lost it while taking active exercise.

Punished the Wrong Lad.

Nothing riles up her small boys nibbling at some luncheon in school one day, the teacher called the culprit to the desk.

"You know," she began diplomatically, "that you must not eat during lesson hours. Now, as a punishment, you must stand here in front of the class and eat every bit of it."

The small lad did as he was bid, a curious grin overspreading his face.

The teacher misunderstood that grin until the last scrap had disappeared, when, from the class, a small boy wailed in tearful accents: "Please, teacher, that wasn't his lunch he was eating; it was mine."

Why Sir Isaac Never Married.

The recent celebration of the bi-centenary of Sir Isaac Newton brought to light an amusing story.

Whilst courting, Newton sat, smoking and abstracted, holding the girl's hand in his. Mechanically he used her finger to press down the burning tobacco in the bowl of his pipe.

This was more than the meekest of maidens could endure, so she dismissed him then and there. If this is true, it explains why Newton remained a lifelong bachelor.

A Laagar.

"Laagar" is a term that was first applied by the Boers of South Africa to a defensive camp intrenched out of ox-wagons. The wagons are arranged in a circle close together, with the baggage piled up between the wheels so as to form a continuous rampart.

To Aid the Red Cross.

Sold for the benefit of the Red Cross and for one day only, a special series of Spanish stamps was recently issued to commemorate the twenty-fifth anniversary of King Alfonso's accession to the throne.

Feet Differ.

Feet vary so widely in different districts that there is a rule to identification. London feet are long and slim, Welsh feet low in the arch, and Scottish feet broad in the sole.

Names Are Poetical

Maori feminine names are poetical. Among others are the following: Puhoi of the Precious Bird, White Heron, the Young Lady in Love, the Diamond.

Clegg—"He gave everyone to understand that he was the big gun at his office."

Tyler—"Perhaps that is why he was fired!"

The Jury's Verdict.

The Jury empanelled to enquire into the death of Mrs. Alida Meeks, which occurred in an auto accident on Friday, August 12th, concluded their work on Friday evening by bringing in a verdict to the effect that no blame was attached to anyone, and that the driver of the car, Mr. Boyce, did everything possible to prevent the accident.

Softball Play-off.

A decidedly interesting game of softball will be played here at Riverdale Park, on Wednesday, August 31st, between the Kingston Treasures, champions of Kingston City League, and the Napanee Leafs, champions of the Bay of Quinte League. This will be the first round of the play-off for the Ontario Championship.

Two Cars Collide.

L. H. Millard, of Kingston, was implicated in an automobile accident on the Provincial Highway, about four miles west of Napanee, last Friday evening. The car he was driving collided almost head-on with a car driven by a Mr. Duncan, of Buffalo, N.Y. Both cars were more or less damaged and are now in the custody of the traffic officer at Napanee. Fortunately none of the occupants of either car was hurt.

An Auto Accident.

On Wednesday, what might have been a serious accident occurred in front of the home of Arthur Van-Elyck, Morven, when Mr. Bernard Oswald's car, of Odessa, was ditched by an American car. The cause of the accident was evidently misjudging distance, as three cars were abreast at the time. The American car, travelling in the opposite direction, caught the front wheel of the Ford, but luckily no one was injured, although the front of the Ford was slightly damaged. Both parties being somewhat to blame, they shared the damages and were able to proceed without assistance.

FINE SOFTBALL AT FAIR

Before a small opening day crowd, the Napanee Leafs played an exhibition game with the Belleville Ontarios, last year's Eastern Ontario Champions. The game broke several records. For one thing, it was the first time in two years that the Leafs had won from the Ontarios, although it must be said in their defence that they have never fielded a strong team against them except in Deseronto last week where the score was tied. It was the longest softball game ever played here, eleven innings being needed to decide the winners; and it also established a record for bases on balls, no fewer than thirty-two passes being given by the pitchers. A drizzle of rain before the game started got the grass wet, and made the wet ball difficult to control. In the second and third innings, the rain became more severe, and it was almost necessary to suspend play, but the rain stopped, and with it the scoring.

While it sounds peculiar to say that pitching was brilliant when 32 passes were issued, much credit must be given the rival hurlers for the way they bore down in the pinches. 31 runners being left on bases. In the tenth inning, Belleville loaded the bases by means of a single, a pass and a Napanee error. Lillian Wagar, who pitched the complete game for Napanee, then struck out two and retired the next at first to keep the Ontarios scoreless. That's pitching. Napanee played an excellent game in the field, Ruth Dickson in particular having two hard ones to handle. At the bat they did not hit often, but made their hits count. The longest drive of the day went to Beatrice McGuire, as usual, whose home run in the sixth inning soared far over the centre fielder's head, and rolled nearly to the track. A. Wilkins, for Belleville, has two triples. Napanee won in the eleventh, when Whitton walked, Dickson singled to right, Stinson sacrificed both runners ahead, and Beatrice McGuire hit a two base hit to left. Lillian Wagar can give as good a game next Monday, Napanee will be pretty sure of the Eastern Ontario title.

Ontarios—M. Adams, A. Wilkins, H. Adams, A. Wilkins, O. Adams, J. Adams, P. Holway, P. Jerrell, D. Canning.

Leafs—V. Whitton, R. Dickson, M. Stinson, B. McGuire, H. O'Neill, D. Johnston, M. Douglas, H. Douglas, H. Wagar, M. Blackadder.

After much controversy, the Leafs have been awarded by the Executive the League championship. It was felt that the League President was grasping at a straw to try to keep the Leafs out of the game until too late for play-offs. They now enter the final round for the Eastern Ontario Championship, playing Kingston Treasures next Monday in Kingston and next Wednesday here. A third game, if necessary, will be tossed for. This game should be well worth seeing. It will start at 6 p.m. sharp to give time for nine innings before darkness. The Treasures will be remembered as the team which played a tie game here two months ago, and who defeated the Leafs at the Driving Park on July 1st.

WEDDING BELLS

Tuepah—McGrath.

The Church of the Assumption, Erinsville, was the scene of a very pretty wedding on Monday, August 22nd, when Helen Joan, second youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Peter McGrath, became the bride of Mr. Bernard Benedict Tuepah. Rev. Fr. O'Hanlon officiating. The bride looked lovely in a gown of white crepe de chine, double georgette and chiffon with large picture hat and blonde footwear. She carried a bouquet of beautiful mixed flowers, and was attended by her sister, Miss Veronica, who wore orchid silk crepe de chene, with large hat to match and blonde shoes and stockings. The groom's gift to the bride was a ten dollar gold piece; to the bridesmaid, a suede hand bag; to the groomsman, Mr. Michael Kidd, smoking set, and to the organist, Miss Regis Killorin, five dollars.

After the ceremony, the bridal party repaired to the home of the bride's parents, where a dainty wedding breakfast was served to the immediate relatives of the contracting parties, after which the happy couple left amid showers of rice and good wishes for Watertown, Fulton, and Oswego, N.Y., the bride travelling in a dress of powder blue and white georgette, with hat to match. On their return they will reside near Verona, where the groom is a prosperous young farmer.

The young people were the recipients of many beautiful and costly gifts, together with a large sum of money, showing the esteem in which they are held. All join in wishing them bon voyage through life.

CAMDEN EAST WOMEN'S INSTITUTE

The August meeting of Camden East Women's Institute was held at the home of Mrs. G. Black. There were fifteen members and one visitor present. Roll call was answered by "A Humorous Story". After the minutes of the previous meeting were read and adopted, a delebate was chosen to go to the general meeting in Kingston. Then a short business period was elected. After some discussion of a suitable answer for roll call at the next meeting, it was decided to have it answered by "My Pet Proverb", and prizes are to be given if roll call is not answered in the appointed way. This concluded the business for the evening.

A short programme followed by a social hour. Mrs. Wm. Hall and Mrs. R. Williams kindly assisted with our programme by singing a beautiful solo. Her accompanist was Miss Stedman. To these young ladies we extend our hearty thanks. Mrs. Black then favoured us with a paper on Institute work in the various provinces of the Dominion. Miss Williams again delighted us with an instrumental solo. The next number on the programme, a Conundrum contest, caused much hard thinking and considerable guessing. We were glad to have all our visitors, Mrs. Burns, from Kingston, win first prize.

Then a very interesting part of the evening's enjoyment—a cake-icing demonstration was much enjoyed by all. As well as showing us how to decorate cakes, it was a lesson in economy and as far as an outfit for the work is concerned.

A delightful lunch was served, after which Mrs. Black, the hostess, was left for their homes, having thoroughly enjoyed the evening.

She wore the gift of the groom, a white gold bracelet set with sapphires and diamonds. The couple were unattended. LEAFS WIN FROM TAMWORTH

Thursday's game at the Fair showed the crowd the way the Leafs can play when they wish. The game was needed for practice purposes, to keep the pitchers in shape for the Eastern Ontario playoffs next week, and all three took their turn. Dorothy Johnston started, and allowed no runs and only one hit for three innings, but in the fourth the Tamworth girls found everything she threw to their liking, and six hits and a walk together with an accident to Ruth Dickson, gave them six counters. Margaret Douglas then went in and stopped them abruptly, striking out six of the four innings she worked, and allowing no hits. She passed two. Lillian Wagar pitched the last inning, and retired them in order.

Defensively, the Leafs looked better than they have for some time, and no misplays were charged to them. In the fourth inning, the most unusual accident occurred, when Ruth Dickson, running for a fly ball, somehow got the ball between her fingers so hard that her hand was badly split, and a doctor was required to sew up the painful wound. No one can explain how such a thing could happen, but it did. She will be unable to play on Monday, but will be with the team again by Wednesday. Up till that time she had been playing fine ball.

Lillian Wagar made a fine catch in centre field, and Ruth Dickson took a hard one in right before she was injured.

At bat the local girls showed to good advantage also. Eleven hits were made, including another tremendous home run by Beatrice McGuire. She has had four homers in the past five games. The Tamworth twirler, Miss Lockridge, was then ordered to pass her, which did not meet with the approval of the fans. They like to see Bea soak them. The strategy was good, however, and the Napanee pitchers have been told to do the same thing on occasion. Mary Stinson got a double and two singles, and Lillian Wagar a double and a single.

The Tamworth team are a strong, clever lot of players, and the way they hit in the fourth showed that they are no slouches in that department. Miss Lockridge struck out seven, and walked the same number. She would look good in a Napanee uniform. B. Milligan was their heavy hitter, getting a single and a double.

All those who have seen the Leafs in their last two games at the Fair, realize that they are worthy champions, to represent the town in the fight for the Ontario Championship.

BASEBALL

Smith Falls won the right to meet Renfrew in the 2nd play-down of the Ottawa and District Baseball Association, when they beat Carleton Place in two out of three games last week. Carleton Place won the first game, 15-6, Smith Falls the second, 6-1, and Smith Falls won the third, 15-4. Previous to this Carleton Place had eliminated Almonte, winning two games out of three. Carleton Place won the first game 13-8 in Carleton Place. History was made in the next two games, when Harry Almond, pitcher, (formerly of Napanee), hit five doubles and one triple during the two games. In the second game he drove the ball over McMullen's head for what looked like a sure home run, but the ball stuck in the soft ground, and he was forced to stop at 2nd. However, two runs were scored on the hit. Later in the same game he drove the ball to the fence in left field and fast fielding by Taffy Williams held him to two bases. Almonte won the game, 4-2. Such hitting as Fraser came through with in the third game was never seen on a local diamond before. Every time up he drove the ball right up into the corner of the fence, a good home run on any field, but was held to two bases each time, by McMullen, who was playing extraordinarily deep. And every hit came with at least two men on. In the 5th, with the bases full, he slammed one that hit the top of the tree in deep centre field and bounded back into the field. That hit went for three bases. Only hard luck robbed him of at least three home runs. All season Fraser has been playing high class ball. His fielding was always the best and his base running was the best seen here in a long time, for there isn't a catcher who can boast of catching him stealing. And that's saying something because Harry O'Neill, of Smith Falls, and Buzz Williams, of Carleton Place, are no mean catchers. Fraser was third in batting with a mark of .356 for the 8 games played. He stole 26 bases and was far ahead in this respect. Jimmy Meade, of Smith Falls, was his nearest rival with 14 thefts. Dow, of Almonte, along with Fraser, were the only Almonte players to show anything out of the ordinary, and if Almonte can procure a few more players of their calibre for next year they will make the other teams step, for it was these two players who kept Almonte in the fight. Incidently these two young men are Bankers though rivals in that profession, and came to Almonte during February. Dow arrived on the 1st, and Fraser on the 16th. Napanee should be extremely proud of Fraser for upholding the name and prestage of his home town as he has on the ball field this year, for Almonte certainly has welcomed him, because he is a real ball player although he is only a kid. Fraser also played a game or two with the Almonte Juniors Hockey team last winter and showed he has the stuff.

This year the Directors of Picton Fair are putting forth every effort to make this year's Fair on Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday and Friday, September 6th, 7th, 8th, and 9th, overshadow all former years in the matter of Exhibits, including Cattle, Horses, Sheep, Swine, Poultry, Grain, Fruits, Roots and Vegetables. Attractions will be in advance of any previous year, including Music by Selected Military Band; Pageant "Progress and Conservation"; Dalziel's Famous Midway and Shows; Races, Baseball, Baby Show and Dance. We advise all our people, far and near, to take in this model County Fair of the Dominion, for they will certainly enjoy every minute of their visit to Picton Fair. 34b

WEDDING BELLS.

Somerville—Simpson.

A very pretty wedding was solemnized in Marlbank United Church, on Wednesday, June 22nd, 1927, when Laura Mae, the only daughter of Mrs. Nellie Somerville, was united in marriage to James Gordon Simpson, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Simpson, Larkins. Rev. Mr. Thornley performed the ceremony in the presence of a church crowded with friends and relatives. The church was beautifully decorated with all varieties of flowers and ferns.

At 2 o'clock the bride entered the church on the arm of the bridesmaid, to the strains of Lohengrin's Wedding March, beautifully played by Miss Norine Perry, friend of the bride. The bride made a beautiful picture in a pretty shade of baby blue georgette trimmed with white silk lace and white flower, with white silk net embroidered cap veil with wreath of blue forget-me-nots, and carried a bouquet of red and white bridal roses and maiden hair fern, with white silk hose and shoes of white satin.

The bridesmaid, Miss Bernice Bennt, a cousin of the bride, wore a chic gown of ashes of roses Canton crepe with blonde footwear, and carried a bouquet of mixed flowers. The groom was attended by his cousin, Mr. Harry Purvis. The beautiful little flower girl Miss Valda Badgley, niece of the groom, wore a pretty little white georgette dress trimmed with baby blue satin ribbons, and carried a bouquet of Sweetheart roses and sweet peas. The page, Mr. Freddie Young, cousin of the bride, carried a basket of mixed flowers bearing the ring. The flower girl and page led the procession.

The bride's mother was beautifully dressed in black georgette over flame Canton crepe, with hat to match. The groom's mother was becomingly dressed in a beautiful brown canton crepe dress, with picture hat to match. The bride's grandmother wore a beautiful gown of brown and sand crepe, with hat to match.

After the ceremony the bridal party, immediate relatives and friends repaired to the home of the bride, which was beautifully decorated in blue and white ribbons. The wedding cake looked very pretty in the centre of the table decorated with white ribbons and wedding bells. A buffet luncheon was served by cousins and aunts of both the bride and groom. The groom's gift to the bride was a beautiful mantle clock, to the bridesmaid a white gold bar pin, to the groomsman a pair of white gold cuff links.

Amidst showers of confetti and good wishes, the happy couple motored to Roblin, where they took the train for Montreal and other points east. The bride travelled in a navy blue tailored coat with hat to match, a beautiful sand Canton crepe dress, with scarf, gloves, shoes and hose to match.

When they return they will reside near Larkins, where the groom is a prosperous young farmer. The young couple were the recipients of many beautiful and costly gifts, showing the esteem in which they were held. All join in wishing them bon voyage through life.

MILK—ALSO BYRD'S FAVORITE BEVERAGE

"He chatted with his hosts, and drank a glass of milk before retiring."

Such was the message broadcasted by the Associated Press after Aviator Byrd was rescued from his good ship "America," landed in the sea, two hundred yards off the Normandy coast. Lyndbergh probably less tired than Byrd, wanted milk and a bath before retiring; Byrd wanted just a glass of milk.

What they drank is an unfailing indication of what they are. It tells the reason for this ability to stand the test, endure the strain, and win the race. The use of milk by Lindbergh and Byrd in their diet demonstrates its health and strength giving properties. These are facts for the consideration and guidance of all who would emulate their stamina, manhood and success.—Publicity, National Dairy Council of Canada, Journal Building, Ottawa.

Rub Gently and Upward Toward the Heart as Blood in Veins Flows That Way.

Many people have become despondent because they have been led to believe that there is no remedy that will reduce swollen veins and bunches.

SICK ABED EIGHT MONTHS

After Taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Could Do All Her Work and Gained in Weight

Melfort, Sask., Saskchewan. — "I had inward troubles, headaches and severe pains in my back and sides. I was so sick generally that I could not sit up and I was in bed most of the time for eight months. An aunt came to visit and help me as I was unable to attend to my baby and could not do my work. She told me to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and after taking two bottles could get up and dress myself. I also took Lydia E. Pinkham's Blood Medicine. When I first took the medicine I only weighed seventy-eight pounds. Now I weigh twice as much. If I get out of sorts or weary and can't sleep I always take another bottle of the Vegetable Compound. I find it wonderfully good for female troubles, and have recommended it to my neighbors. I will be only too glad to answer any letters I receive telling about it."—Mrs. WILLIAM RITCHIE, Box 486, Melfort, Saskatchewan. c

ASTRONOMERS SEEKING NEW SOURCE OF ENERGY

Mankind in this industrial age is dependent in a large degree upon the mineral resources of coal and oil, which represent the energy of the sun stored up over millions of years. That these resources are finite and are comparatively rapidly reaching a point where they can no longer be economically mined, is universally admitted. Accordingly the problem of finding new sources of energy may be regarded as the most important and urgent which faces modern applied science, and it is interesting to note the bearing upon this of astrophysical researches such as are carried on in the Dominion Astrophysical Observatory at Victoria, British Columbia.

The ultimate solution of this problem is one which will be reached if at all, by the road of astrophysics. From investigations of the past history of the sun, in the light of studies on other stars, it has become evident that the source of energy of all these suns is sub-atomic. As the sun grows older it loses mass, and for each pound of itself, which is annihilated by the union of a hydrogen nucleus and a free electron, there is set free as much energy as would be liberated by burning over a million tons of the best anthracite coal. If this energy, however, were set free only in the far interior of the sun, where the temperature is measured in millions of degrees, there would not be much hope of either obtaining or controlling this very powerful source of sub-atomic energy. Fortunately, however, recent astrophysical investigations indicate that some at least of this energy is released near the surface of the sun at comparatively low temperatures. It is then no chimerical dream to anticipate the use of this fundamental source of energy upon the earth, perhaps almost in the lifetime of some now living. When this takes place mankind will, thanks to purely astrophysical investigations, enter upon a new industrial era, in which it will be independent of our rapidly disappearing mineral fuels.

NO FOOD LIKE CHEESE

Cheese is a real food. It's use in many meals will make them more nourishing and attractive.

It is economy to use cheese, as it is a suitable substitute for more expensive foods. There is no waste when you buy cheese, and it can be used in an endless variety of ways. The softer types combine well with other foods, and in this way—or alone—make delicious salads, sandwiches or a pleasing addition to other dishes.

The food value of Canadian Cheddar Cheese is well known. More of it could be used to advantage in Canadian homes. The English miner for his noon meal, eats not "bread and cheese" but cheese and bread".

The Canadian housekeeper will find many ways of serving it. It does not lose its flavor or nutritive value when cooked, and recipe books contain many delicious suggestions for its use.

There are many kinds of cheese in Canada, all of which are good value for the money.

A FEW CHEESE RECIPES

Creamed Cabbage With Cheese.

Chop cooked cabbage finely and put a layer in a buttered baking dish. Cover with cheese sauce. Repeat these layers until the dish is full. Spread with buttered bread crumbs and serve hot.

The cheese sauce may be added to the cabbage and served without putting in the oven or without adding bread crumbs.

Potato and Cheese Salad.

Mix finely chopped or grated cheese with cold potatoes cut in cubes. Season with salt and pepper and moisten with salad dressing. Place in spoonfuls on lettuce leaves and serve cold.

Chopped celery, finely minced onions or pimento in small pieces may be added and give variety to the salad.

Cheese Paste for Sandwiches.

1 ounce grated cheese.
½ ounce Tomato catsup.
2 teaspoonfuls chopped nuts.
A little onion juice or grated onion.
½ tablespoonful salt.
Pepper.

Mix ingredients together and beat well. Spread between thin slices of bread. This will be sufficient paste for about 24 sandwiches.

Antenate Lead, Calpoiso (Arsenate of Lime), and Bergeret Paris Pearls Green. All fresh stock, at Wallace's.

IRON MINES IN SPAIN.

Mining Is Done at Low Cost In a Primitive Way.

Some of the iron mines of Spain date back to the time of Hannibal. Much of the ore is located in the higher parts of the mountains, thirty the overcast—frequently at elevations of more than 7,000 feet. Approaches to the pits are often very steep. The ore is usually found in association with beds of limestone, which, dipping steeply and irregularly beneath the surface, is exposed in one that in numerous instances is the exposure on two sides of the mountain. So, on other, a considerable overburden must first be removed in order to get at the ore itself. Relatively little underground mining is done in any part of Spain.

In many of the mines very little shoveling is done mechanically, and the topography is unfavorable to the use of even the smaller electric or steam shovels. The usual practice is for the miner, working with a sort of mattock, to dig the ore by hand, load it in wicker baskets or hampers containing 50 or 60 pounds each of ore, and so carry it from the face of the cut to the mule-drawn mine cars, which in turn transport it to the railways. The pits are irregular in shape and operations are usually carried on simultaneously at several levels. Both the topography and the comparatively low wage-scale are to keep operations in these mines at this comparatively primitive level.

"Hello, Perkins, where did you get that black eye?"

"It was only a sweethearts' quarrel."

"Sweethearts' quarrel! Why, your girl didn't give you that, did she?"

"No; it was her other sweetheart."

FOES OF THE FARM.

Every Plant Is In Peril From Insect and Other Pests.

"Every one who buys a loaf of bread, a joint of meat, a pound of fruit, a cotton shirt, or a rubber tyre, is forced to contribute, however slightly, towards the upkeep of the Empire's insects."

This statement was made by Major Walter Elliott, M.P., chairman of the British Research Grants Committee of the Empire Marketing Board, in opening the opening of a new "parasite farm" at Farnham Royal, Buckinghamshire, which has been established by a grant from the Board. The farm's job, put briefly, says Answers, is to discover which parasite will "do in" harmful insects, and then to breed them and send them out to all parts of the Empire where their services are required.

It isn't too much to say that every plant is in peril from insect and other pests from the first moment of its life to the last. One-tenth of all the crops that farmers raise are eaten by insects. Live stock, too, is often very seriously affected by these pests. So in buying quite a number of commodities we are paying for the upkeep of the insect population. What they waste is charged for in the price of what is left.

To take one concrete case, the blow-fly, which has killed millions of sheep in Australia, makes mutton dearer. It was recently estimated that the cost of this insect in New South Wales alone was £2,000,000 a year. Sometimes, of course, the sheep farmer has retaliated in time, but in the main it goes into the British housewife's mutton bill.

Where is a British parasite of the blow-fly which, it is hoped, will prove useful in Australia, and the Bureau of Entomology, which runs the parasite farm, has been asked to send out supplies of it.

Pests of various kinds are just as harmful to plant life as insects, and they also are being tackled. The work is in the hands of the Imperial Bureau of Mycology. Research is also in progress in other countries, and some important results have been obtained.

For instance, the fungus called rust of wheat, which caused the loss of half the wheat crop in many places in South Wales in 1919, lives part of its life on the barberry and part of its life on wheat. If the barberry is exterminated the rust will no longer trouble the farmer. This method of preventing the disease has been successfully tried in Denmark.

The amount of damage caused by fungoid plant diseases is enormous. In 1916 Canada lost between $125,000,000 and $150,000,000 worth of grain from this cause, and the losses in the United States in 1919 were about four times as great.

EVERLASTING FIRES.

Torrents of Gas Which Stream From Underground Regions.

Few regions are more remarkable than those near the Caspian Sea. The waters of the sea once stretched far north and joined the Arctic Ocean, but now after countless ages, they have receded to their present limits. Vast stretches of waste and barren land are left where the waters once extended—deserts of reddish clay, with occasional stony marshes.

This is the region known as the "Land of Everlasting Fire." After sunset, leaping up on all sides from rents in the interminable plain, rise ghostly, fitful flames, like huge, untarnished by smoke, casting a lurid light all round.

Dotted about are squat temples, from whose pinnacles pipe columns of fierce flame—the dread gods incarnate of the fire-worshippers. The columns are said to have burnt continuously since the birth of Confucius.

The everlasting fires are not the disembodied souls of dead men and demons, as the natives believe, but are due to outbreaks of gas which stream from underground regions, and are ignited by lightning.

It is possible to fix a small hole and then, by applying a lighted coal, cause it to burst into flames. If a tube of paper is stuck about two inches into the opening, and the end of it touched with a live coal, a flame will issue from it, but if the sides of the paper have been smeared with clay it will not take fire.

MADRID YIELDS TO JAZZ.

Stately Fandango In Cafes Is Supplanted by "Black Bottom."

The click of castanets and the swirl of brightly colored mantillas to the twang of guitars and bandoras are being ousted from the dimly-lighted Madrid cafes by the jazz of negro minstrels.

Senoritas who formerly were content with the stately fandango have succumbed to the American "black bottom" dance. They have discarded their picturesque high combs and mantillas and flowing skirts with long trains — everything which hampers them in stamping through the new dance successfully.

For those "old-fogies" who prefer soft Spanish music and aristocratic dances to the new flash and bang school there remains only the Cafe Magdalena, on Madrid's "Bowery."

Admission to this cafe costs only the price of a bottle of wine. Respectable is not of the choicest, and late at night there are often disturbances during which bottles battle merrily through the air. Nevertheless, it remains the haunt of the die-hards who prefer their music staid and their senoritas like pictures of old Spain.

Yokohama Expands.

Recently nine adjacent towns and villages have been incorporated into the city of Yokohama, making its present population 518,902. Before the earthquake it had 425,000.

A War Quartet

Story of an Ambulance Driver

By F. A. MITCHEL

When the great world's war broke out Jim Harding and I were in Paris. Jim and I had long been chums, and what one did the other usually did. We had finished our education in the same class, in the same college, and before settling down to our life work concluded to make a tour abroad. After dawdling about on the continent for a part of the summer we went to Paris, intending to sail from England after "doing" the French capital. Before we got away war was declared.

We thought we should like to see some of the controversy before returning home and deliberated between joining the Foreign legion and the ambulance corps. We were both good chauffeurs and offered our services to drive the wounded. They were accepted, and Jim and I were assigned to the same field.

When the French army and English contingent were hurled back on Paris I was driving an empty ambulance to the front. Who should I come upon on the way but Jim. He had lost his ambulance in the quick advance of the Germans and barely escaped being taken prisoner. He climbed on to the seat beside me, and we proceeded together. Somehow—I never could tell how we did it—we drove between two divisions of the German army and found ourselves in its rear.

If our position had not been serious it would have been laughable. Here were two men and an ambulance equipped for carrying wounded men off the field of battle who had left the wounded far behind them. Indeed, if the Germans had not also been left behind we would have been made prisoners of war and our ambulance put to the enemy's uses. Under the circumstances we were not very long in deciding what to do.

Leaving our ambulance, we took to hiding. At evening we came upon a village that had been destroyed by the Germans and slept in one of the few houses left standing. It was nothing more than a hut, and in it what clothing we found had belonged to peasants. We decided to don enough of it to enable us to pass as members of the peasant class, and when we emerged in the morning we were clad in corduroy trousers and blouses.

In order to get back to our comrades and avoid being taken prisoners by those following up the German army we struck off in a southwesterly direction. During this day we entered a region that was very beautiful. I remarked to Jim that if I were an artist I should not wish any better field for sketching. There were beautiful hills on either side of a dreamy valley, to say nothing of a winding stream meandering between them.

Meeting two peasant girls coming toward us, Jim suggested that we might safely ask them for information that would guide us on our way. So when we came together I asked one of them what we desired to know. Unfortunately for us they knew very little about the roads or the topography of the country about them. I spoke French pretty well, and Jim knew enough of the language to get on in a simple conversation. It did not seem to me that the girls spoke very good French, but I attributed this to the fact that they were of the lower class.

After satisfying ourselves that we ran no risk in disclosing our identity I told the girls that we were American; had been tourists, had joined the French ambulance corps and were trying to evade capture. I noticed that upon this information they looked at each other and smiled. Then they both commended us for our patriotism and offered to help us in every way in their power.

After a brief conference it was decided that we should remain where we were and the girls would bring us something to eat, for we had not had food for twenty-four hours. Jim and I settled ourselves in a grove beside the road, and in due time our benefactors returned with a luncheon that surprised us. We had expected such a meal as would come from a peasant's home, but found cold chicken, slices of ham, white bread and delicious butter. Moreover, the whole was on a silver covered with a napkin.

But we were too hungry to wonder how such a meal could have been produced by peasants or even inquire into the matter and fell to at once, the girls watching us with evident interest and filling a couple of glasses they had provided from a bottle of excellent wine. It occurred to me that there was some mystery about them. Their hands were not coarse and misshapen like those of the lower class, but soft and round; their voices had not a guttural sound; their feet, which, with their ankles, were plainly visible beneath their short skirts, were not blunt like those of a peasant, but long and narrow as befitting a lady.

After satisfying our hunger we chatted with our benefactors, who promised to inquire as to the road we would need to take to get back to our army, and they would return in the evening with some supper. They left us in the early afternoon, and we betook ourselves to slumber, which we sadly needed.

Judge—So you broke a bat over that man's head, did you? Well, what can you say for yourself?

Prisoner—Your Honour, it was an accident.

Judge—An accident? Impossible!

Prisoner—I didn't mean to break the bat.

Holloway's Corn Remover takes the corn out by the roots. Try it, and prove it.

He (proudly):—"That is the best painting I have ever done."

She—"Well, don't let that discourage you."

We awoke refreshed and found that our benefactors had returned with food and information as to the road we should take. They had also brought us a change of clothing, which we donned, and then, bidding them farewell, we started on our journey. Our friends returned in the evening with more eatables, but with no information which would enable us to rejoin our corps. They told us that they had learned the Germans were rapidly driving the allies toward Paris and it was expected that the city would fall into the hands of the enemy. Indeed, the capital had already been removed to Bordeaux.

This did not look like our making our way toward our comrades, who were doubtless retreating faster than we could travel. We concluded that we might as well remain where we were till we could get some definite information, for there would be no advantage in making for a point that was always changing. That night we slept in a barn we espied near our bivouac, finding a comfortable bed on the hay. Not caring to rely further on our friends the girls for provisions, we went in the morning to the house of the farmer who owned the barn and secured a breakfast such as might have been expected from such a source.

We induced the farmer to take us in and remained with him for sleep and meals from day to day while news kept coming to us that the Germans were nearing Paris. We felt like shirkers in being absent from our posts, where we were so much needed, but what could we do? Evidently our way to Paris was blocked, and if we tried to get there we would likely fall into the enemy's hands.

We were perfectly safe where we were, but dissatisfied at remaining there. Jim proposed that we make an attempt to get through the German lines, but I believed that we would soon hear either that the Germans had taken Paris or had settled down before it for a siege. In either case we would know what to do. Meanwhile to pass the time we took long walks about the country.

One day we came to the brow of a hill looking down on a very attractive landscape.

"That would make a fine subject for a picture," I said to Jim.

"And there are the artists making it," replied Jim.

Lowering my eyes to a point directly beneath where we were standing, I saw two women, one before an easel, the other with a sketching board before her. I proposed to go down and see what they were doing, and we did so. Hearing us approach they turned their heads, and we recognized our peasant girl acquaintances. We saw them look at each other and laugh.

"I was not aware," I said, still speaking in French, "that peasants were artists."

"You have caught us in the act," said one of the girls, "and we may as well confess. We are not indigenous to France any more than you are, nor are we peasants. We are Americans studying art. We spent the winter in Paris, and when summer opened we came to this region, which is famous among artists, to get practical out of door experience in our profession. To avoid being stared at or molested we donned this dress and find it a serviceable outing costume. But were we not lucky in getting out of Paris before the war storm broke?"

"I think," replied Jim, "that your immediate return was kept up long as it would be possible to maintain it. My friend and I have suspected you were not what you purported to be. The luncheon you brought us was a good giveaway. You should have brought heavier bread and some cold pork on a tin dish."

"You should have done so much thing," I protested. "That luncheon was delicious. I shall always remember it, especially when I am hungry."

This is rather the beginning of a story than the story itself. Jim and I remained where we were till news came of the battle of the Marne and the saving of Paris. Then we made our artist friends goodby and made our way back to the capital, from which point we were enabled to join our corps and found ourselves again engaged in rescuing the wounded.

Jim and I were both engaged in the fighting that followed the battle of the Marne, the effort to take Calais and subsequently the gigantic attempt of the central allies to capture Verdun. So active were we that we had no time to think of the girls who had brought us that delicious supper. Nevertheless, when temporarily off duty and together, we would speak of them and the way they had rescued us from our identity. We wondered what they were doing, but had little doubt they were still studying art—and, if they had not returned to America.

A year passed, when one day while I was driving my ambulance I was wounded by a piece of shrapnel. I was carried to the rear. Jim found me and took me to a hospital farther from the firing line. In a nurse passing me out I recognized one of the peasant artists I had met during the summer before. She had not forgotten me and showed great concern at seeing me in my forlorn condition.

I received especial attention from the lady, and it was, I think, due to her nursing that I recovered. Patients are prone to fall in love with their nurses and I was no exception to the rule. Her artist friend had also enlisted in the cause and was at the same hospital. When Jim came to see me he found both girls, and one day there was a reunion of our quartet beside my couch.

We talked over our experiences since before and laughed at some of the girls' expedients to preserve their identity. All agreed that studying art and concealing ourselves from the enemy were far more attractive work than caring for wounded men.

Several years have passed since Jim and I met the two peasant girls. We are all back in America, and, after a long period in the war, I married my nurse and Jim married her friend.

The worms that infest children from their birth are of two kinds, those that find lodgement in the stomach and those that are found in the intestines. The latter are the most destructive, as they cling to the walls of the intestines and if not interfered with work havoc there. If You See It In The Beaver It's So

How a Desperado Was Eliminated

By OSCAR COX

Devil's parlor was probably the worst congregation of toughs, both for men and women, in that wild and woolly west, which may be said to have passed out with the nineteenth century. The Devil part of the name came from the number of crimes committed in the place. The parlor was intended to be ironical.

With the gradual rolling westward of civilization even Devil's parlor underwent a change. Some of the men married respectable women who in time caused the exit of those who were not respectable. The cabins took on a more reputable appearance, white curtains appearing at the windows and flowers in the front yard. A court was established for the trial of offenders and there was even talk of a church. All good citizens were interested in the reform, and those who were not made no counter effort.

This does not mean that all the bad characters were at once eliminated from Devil's parlor. Nevertheless there came a time when but one man of the original devils was left. Bill Tomkins had killed more adversaries than any other man at the place and he seemed bent on keeping up his record. The court that had been established could not handle his case, for no sheriff could be found who dare attempt to arrest him. The men held a meeting and offered a reward to any one who would eliminate him either by arrest or death. But no one seemed willing to try for the prize.

The men having failed to carry out their design the women took hold. They were all by this time respectable, except one of the old stock called Redhead Kate, and she was as bad for a woman as Bill Tomkins was for a man.

"Ladies," said Mrs. Rogers, "it's my opinion that if you want to get rid of Bill Tomkins you'd better hire Redhead Kate to do the job. I propose that we offer her the reward subscribed by our husbands to circumvent Bill and fix him so's he can't do no more damage to this yere community. Redhead Kate isn't bad lookin' when she's well dressed, and bein' about my size I don't keer if I lend her some o' my toggery to set her off."

The suggestion was approved, Redhead Kate was sounded, and the reward having been raised from $300 to $500, she agreed to eliminate Mr. Tomkins. She was arrayed in Mrs. Rogers' best dress and a hat so magnificent that it would have been envied by a drum major of a band. When asked if she would need a revolver she said she would not need "any sich noisy thing". If she wanted to do Bill Tomkins she'd "mix a little p'ison in his liquor."

Redhead Kate was paid $250 down, the balance to be handed her upon her satisfying the ladies that Bill Tomkins would not trouble the town any more, though by this time its name had been changed to Angelus. Kate waited till Mr. Tomkins had gone off on one expedition for the purpose of plunder, when she also disappeared. Nothing was heard of her for two weeks, when she returned to Angelus, not with her, looking like a lamb led to the slaughter, was Bill Tomkins. Immediately on her return she asked for an interview with the ladies of Angelus, and on their coming together thus addressed them:

"Ladies, there's no need for me to tell you how I managed this case for you're doubtless all practiced what I've done on your husbands. I played soft on Bill Tomkins, lettin' on he was the apple o' my eye, givin' him his way about everything till he was ready to marry me. A justice o' the peace done the business, and as soon as I'd got Bill vowed he'd give me all the privileges and him none of 'em I just came down on him with both feet. He took it hard at first, then tried fight. I met his fight with mine, and it didn't take no time to bring him under. But I'm bound to confess that I was obliged on two occasions to use sarcumspection. Once I lifted one of his eyes from its socket with my thumb; once I bit a piece off his nose, and once I made him sick with diluted ratsbane. But I wishes to say to those of you who's lookin' for methods to manage husbands that I found stiddy talkin' the most wearin' on him. I just talked and talked and talked. The finality of it was he said, 'Oh, gimme a rest and I'll come down.'

"And now I wants to tell you ladies that I really believes there's the makin' of a man in Bill Tomkins. I done with him what we have to do with the bronchos. I got him under, then he was easy to the bit. I'll pledge my word that he won't trouble Devil's—I mean Angelus—any more, but will live here with me as a respectable citizen. I'm willin' to leave the balance o' the reward in your hands till you're satisfied that what I'm tellin' you is true. If at any time there's reason for complaint on my husband just mention the fact to me. You needn't take no action yourselves. You've got all you can do managin' your own huslends, but gimme a tip and I'll show you that we wimmen don't need no help in doin' men. We get it all our own way if we know how the trick is done."

So perfect an illustration was Bill Tomkins of the value of Redhead Kate's taming methods that the very next day the balance of the reward was paid her, and now Deuces Tomkins is one of the most respected citizens of Angelus. His wife meanwhile has been advanced to the circle of the ladies.

Daredevil Drivers Do Damage!

PROBABLY a few hundred dollars will cover the cost of this accident, but think how serious it might have been!

Think how much of the pleasure we have every right to expect from motoring is being stolen from us by daredevil drivers!

You find these chaps everywhere . . especially when there has just been an accident . . they are always taking chances.

These reckless fellows do not mean to be the menace that they are; it is only that they are bubbling over with energy, impatient of delay and eager to "get somewhere" . . usually for no reason at all.

One thing we can all do and that is to be very careful not to merit the title "daredevil" ourselves.

As a means to this end, surely we are all agreed that for one thing—

If you cannot produce your Motor Vehicle Operator's License when called upon, you are presumed to be an incompetent Driver

Always carry your Motor Vehicle Operator's License when driving a car. Your license is your authority to drive. It is illegal to be in charge of a car without it.

In case of accident or infraction of The Highway Traffic Act, your Motor Vehicle Operator's License will be called for at once by the traffic officer or policeman. At any time on the highways or in town or city streets, officers of the law may ask you to produce it. If you are unable to do so you are subject to a fine.

If you have not yet applied for your Motor Vehicle Operator's License, secure it at once. Application forms can be had at any office. Anyone who has driven 500 miles or more for 6 months continuously, and who has no physical disability which may interfere with the operation of a car may be granted a License. A Tommy Atkins Yarn

By F. A. MITCHEL

Ill'm a Tommy Atkins, as they call us British bruvy fellers, and Ill've jest got back from fightin' in Belgium. Discharged from the service for disability. The Germans discharged one of my arms, and that's the reason Ill'm excused from fightin' any more.

All my friends 'are been askin' me to tell 'em a story about my bexperiences. Ill only got one story, and Ill've told that a dozen times already. But anything about the war goes, and beverybody is always ready to listen. Ill don't mind tellin' it now if you all want to hear it.

Ill was among the first bexpeditionary force Lord Kitchener sent over into Belgium. It was reported that we were 160,000 men, but there wasn't much more than 50,000 in the first lot of us that landed on the other side of the channel. Ill was in the fightin' when the Germans drove us back on Paris and when we run 'em at the battle o' the Marbe. Then there was a short interval afore we got into the trenches.

It was in this interval and while we was marchin' about changin' positions bevery day that Ill, bein' 'ungry, one day dug out to look for somethin' to eat. The German wasn't at bany great distance from us, and Ill 'ad no business to be prowlin' about, but 'avin' nothin' to eat made me reckless, Ill suppose. Anyway Ill spied a 'ouse off in the direction of the German lines, and, bevervthing lookin' quiet and peaceful there, Ill went over, and, seein' a girl washin' clothes in the front yard Ill asked 'er for somethin' to eat. She says, "Vous comprenez pa," and Ill says, "Ill'm not yer po; Ill want somethin' to eat." At the same time Ill chawed my fingers and rubbed my stumnick.

She took me into the 'ouse and put some dry bread afore me with a bottle o' wine. Think o' eatin' dry bread and drinkin' wine. At 'ome we 'ave roast beef, and if we git a pint o' beer we think we're doin' well.

Ill was munchin' the bread and drinkin' the wine, when through the winder Ill sor twenty or thirty German orsemen comin' straight for the 'ouse. Ill looked at the girl, which as to say, "Ide me." She pulled up a door in the floor, and Ill went down a pair o' stairs into a cellar. The orsemen rode up to the 'ouse and lookin' through a cellar winder Ill sor a general and 'is staff and bescort. The general and 'is staff dismounted and come into the 'ouse, leavin' the bescort outside.

Within the nex' 'alf hour two other generals rode up to the 'ouse from different directions and went hin. Then Ill 'eard the cussedest lot o' jaw breakin' talk Ill never 'eard hin my life. Ill wished Ill could understand it, for bit looked like a conference or a council o' war, and Ill Ill got away after they'd left Ill might take some dimportant hinformation to our commander hin chief. But 'ow was Ill to understand a language that was worse than a wobblestone road and no springs to the wagon? Ill 'eard one man say "Nein" and another say "Ja," and then both of 'em began workin' their jaws, shovin' hout words like bullets from a rapid fire gun.

After awhile one o' the men got blowed, and not being able to talk as fast as the other hlasted the white flag. Hanyway, they stopped talkin', and soon arfter that they went out, mounted their orses and rode away. When they'd got them out o' sight the girl opened the door and said somethin' in the French lingo that sounded like "Venez," meanin', Ill suppose, that Ill was to come up, and Ill mounted the steps. Fogettin' that she didn't understand the only decent language in the world, Ill axed 'er wot the generals was talkin' about. She said somethin' like "Jenny sa comprend pa." Ill said, "Your name may be Jenny, but Ill'm not your pa, as Ill told you once before."

Then Ill made signs by putting my finger to my mouth and pointin' to the generals talkin' away, and after awhile she understood me. Then she whipped a paper out of 'er pocket and handed it to me. Ill looked at it, but it was all Greek to me, and Ill handed bit back to 'er, but she made signs to me to keep it, and then Ill got it through me 'ead that it might be somethin' dropped by the Germans.

Before leavin' 'er Ill says, "If Ill'm ever in Hi relow Ill ort to like you a bortin'," and Ill gave 'er a smack. She didn't seem to mind it, and Ill made off for the camp. When Ill got there Ill reported to my captain that Ill'd got sepfrated from the command and bein' surprised 'ad 'id in a cellar and told him about the German generals over my 'ead. Then Ill gave 'im the paper the girl 'ad given me.

Ill didn't 'ear nothin' about that paper till we'd 'ad a lot o' fightin'. Then one day Ill was bordered to report at general 'eadquarters. Ill was scarred out of my boots, thinkin' Ill was goin' to be shot for struggin' or desertion or somethin' like that. When Ill entered the general's tent there he sat, a tall officer with a gray mustache. 'E got up from a camp chair and took my 'and, "You saved us from a crushing blow," he said, "and Ill'm goin' to mention you in orders."

"Gw did Ill do that, general?" Ill asked.

"By the paper you brought. It was a memorandum of points in a plan to strike us where we were weak. It must have been dropped unintentionally."

Ill got mentioned in orders, but in the next fight Ill dropped me arm.

Judge—So you broke a bat over that man's head, did you? Well, what can you say for yourself?.

Prisoner—Your Honour, it was an accident.

Judge—An accident? Impossible!

Prisoner—I didn't mean to break the bat.

GIRLHOOD DANGERS

Come Through a Weakening of the Blood—A Tonic is Needed

In their early teens it is quite common for girls to outgrow their strength, and mothers should carefully watch the health of their daughters at this time. It is when the strength is sapped by rapid growth that anaemia develops. The first signs may be noticed by peevishness, langour and headaches. The face grows pale, breathlessness and palpitation become apparent, with low spirits and depression.

Neglected anaemia often leads to a decline, but if you see that your daughter's blood is enriched, there need be no cause for anxiety. The finest blood-builder ever discovered is Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. They will build up your girl's health and ensure for her healthy womanhood. In proof of this Mrs. George Justason, Black's Harbor, N.B., says:—"I think Dr. Williams' Pink Pills a wonderful medicine. My daughter, Margaret, was in such a badly run down condition that we feared she was going into a decline. Her face was pale, the least exertion would leave her breathless and she suffered from headaches. She had no appetite and lost a lot in weight. Up to the time we began giving her Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, no treatment had helped her. But thanks to the use of this wonderful medicine she is again well and strong, showing no signs of the trouble that had so weakened her."

In all troubles due to weak, watery blood, Dr. Williams' Pink Pills will be found a reliable remedy. Sold by all medicine dealers or sent by mail at 50 cents a box by The Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

What Do You See in a Hat Window?

JUST HATS? Or can you vision jack rabbits on a far away Australian Plain?

JUST A BIT OF RIBBON? Or patient Japanese carefully tending their silk worms?

The story of a fur felt hat is most interesting, provided it is really a fur felt. Some hats originate on the back of a sheep, but the hats we are showing this Fall are genuine fur felts. As a result they give the wear and satisfaction you expect from a good hat.

There are two popular shapes this Fall—the staple Fedora, with medium brims and bound edges, and the Snap Brims, with raw edges or bound edges.

The shades are pearl grey, medium grey, sand, brown and cork, with contrasting bands.

The prices are $3.75 and $4.50.

INSURANCE RISKS.

Lloyd's Underwriter Tells of Follies That Pay.

It is with no intention of reviving fee scare regarding the stability of St. Paul's Cathedral that I point out that one result of a bullapse would suffer financially, writes a Lloyd's underwriter in Tit-Bits. The fallen masonry would block access to their shops.

One has insured with me against such a contingency. For a hundred guineas premium I accepted responsibility for a loss in profits up to £1,000. My liability expires in December—and I'd cheerfully renew the policy for a fiver!

At the present time I have sixteen "against-twins" policies running for various amounts. Last year I had to pay out twice, and made a loss. One proud father—he's a friend of mine and lives near me—was so unfeeling as to wake me up at 2 a.m. to tell me the good news.

"Wet weather" insurances are not as popular as they were, but I've several running. The largest is for £500. I have to pay that if more than a certain amount of rain falls at Bournemouth this August. I'm hoping for fine weather!

"Negative" policies are a trifle queer sometimes. If a man's mother-in-law doesn't die within the next three years I have to pay him £100. He calls it "consolation money." The premium was naturally very stiff, and I put it to him that the game was hardly worth the candle. "Wait till she knows!" was his significant reply. How some men do love their mothers-in-law!

Contracts like the above are not enforcable at law, but no underwriter ever takes advantage of that to escape liability.

You may remember that recently there were some cases of smallpox, and that brought along quite a lot of business. I issued seventeen policies for various amounts, and would not have minded if they had numbered seven hundred. I don't anticipate being called on to pay.

Several business men insure to cover loss of time if they are summoned to serve on juries. My luck has not been in on that business, but one has to take the rough with the smooth.

My oldest policy was issued twenty-two years ago. Under it I have to pay £1,000 to the wife of a man if he should be certified insane. Now and again I meet him, and he pulls my leg by telling me he feels it coming on!

The most lucrative business that comes to Lloyd's is brought by those who get obsessed with certain (very remote) risks and dangers. A trader near the Monument has insured himself and his premises against all losses from the fall of the Monument! He doesn't trust it.

A client of mine, as the result of a dream, has insured against being kicked by a mule. You smile; so did I when I accepted another "dream" risk—that of being bitten by a horse. I had to pay out, for in a traffic jam a horse bit my client on the arm.

A HUMAN CLOCK.

Can Tell Time Within Half a Minute at Any Hour of the Day.

Do you ever wonder what the time is and make a guess before looking at your watch? Probably you do and find that you are often half an hour or more out.

Not so Mr. B. Jenney, however. He has been winding 1,050 clocks for thirty-two years, and can tell the time to within half a minute at any hour of the day or night. He has had this power for many years, and his job as clock-maker has caused his faculty for telling the time to become highly developed.

During some exacting tests recently, the British Medical and Physical Association did everything in their power to dislodge what they called his "acute psycho-astral poise." They took him to see one of the most dramatic plays in London, gave him an excellent dinner, and tried the effect of alcohol on him. His greatest divergence was one of only three-quarters of a minute.

About one person in 500,000 is generally found to have this peculiar faculty for gauging the passage of time. Mr. Jenney finds that his ability depends largely on his health. Some days he might be a minute fast; at others, a minute slow.

A ROCKING MOUNTAIN.

The Napes Needle May at Any Time Come Crashing Down.

Most visitors to the Lake District know that Derwentwater possesses a disappearing island, but few know that it possesses a mountain that rocks. The Napes Needle on Great Gable is loose, and may at any time come crashing down the mountain-side.

Cragsmen of wide experience declare that climbers run greater risks in the Scafell area than in the Alps.

Wasdale and Wastwater are at the foot of Great Gable, which is reckoned the most perfect mountain form in Britain. Wasdale Head, a great centre in the season for rock-climbers and hill-walkers, has three well-known boats—that it possesses the highest mountain, the deepest lake, and the smallest church in England. The roof of the church is said to be partly formed of the hull of a Norse galley.

WEDDING BELLS

Mills—McKim.

On the evening of September 2nd, 1927, a very pretty wedding was solemnized at the home of Mr. and Mrs. S. C. S. McKim, Adelphi Street, when their daughter, Evelyn, became the bride of Mr. Frank B. Mills, son of Mr. and Mrs. M. B. Mills, Napanee.

Promptly at six o'clock the bride, looking sweet and charming in white satin, and carrying a bridal bouquet of ophelia roses and lilies-of-the-valley, entered the drawing room on the arm of her father, to the strains of Lohengrin's Wedding March, played by Miss Susie Shorey. She stood before an arch of pink and white roses, and was attended by Miss Clancie Hall, of Belleville, as bridesmaid, who was becomingly dressed in rose and taffeta. Rev. James McClillivray assisted the groom. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. H. Pawson, of Trinity Church, Napanee, assisted by Rev. W. H. Truscott, of West Huntingdon, brother-in-law of the groom, in the presence of the immediate relatives of the contracting parties, and a few intimate friends, who stood reverently through the short but impressive ceremony.

After the congratulations a delightful buffet luncheon was served by the Misses Nina McKim, Marie Paul, Nellie Morgan, Edith Tavernor, Susie Shorey and Nina Wilson.

A pleasing feature of the happy event followed, when the bride gave to each guest a flower from her bouquet as a memento of the occasion. The happy couple left amid showers of rice and confetti, and the good wishes of a host of friends, for a month's wedding trip by motor to Toronto, Toronto, Buffalo, Detroit, Cleveland, and Algonac, Ohio.

The guests included Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Hall, Belleville; Miss Lottie and Mr. Percy Augustine, Mrs. M. Wilson, Mr. M. V. Lake, Miss E. Parke, Mrs. Joyner, and Mr. W. Gault.

Mooney—Slee.

A very quiet and pretty wedding was solemnized in St. Basil's Church, Toronto, on Saturday morning, the 3rd inst., when Miss Mary A., only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. P. Mooney, South Napanee, was united in marriage to Mr. John, eldest son of Mrs. M. and the late Mr. Slee, of 494 Markham St., Toronto, the Rev. Fr. Kelly officiating.

The bride, attired in powdered blue georgette with hat to match, and given away by her brother, Mr. Wm. Mooney, was also assisted by Miss Catharine McGarry, attired in a similar costume, the groom, who is a prominent young broker of the city, was ably assisted by Mr. Joseph Mooney, of Oshawa, brother of the bride. The groom's gift to the bridesmaid was a sterling silver compact, and to the groomsman a set of gold cuff links.

After the ceremony the bridal party amidst showers of rice and confetti, left for automobile in waiting, a rival at the bride's home, a sumptuous repast was served, to which a few of their most intimate friends were invited. The bride received a large number of useful and handsome presents, showing the esteem in which she is held. On the return from their honeymoon they will take up their residence in North Toronto. We all join in wishing them a long, happy and prosperous journey through life.

McCaw—Helferty.

A quiet but pretty wedding took place in St. Gregory's Church, on July 30th, 1927, at St. Gregory's Roman Catholic Church, Picton, when Monica, elder daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Peter McCaw, Rev. Father Crowley officiating, Miss Marguerite LaVelle presided at the organ. The church was prettily decorated with gladiolis, asters and hydrangeas, the bride's table being done in L'Immache.

The bride, who was given away by her father, looked lovely in a French frock of orchid-mauve georgette with Milan hat to match, and wore shoes finished with moire ribbon bows at the bodice and shoulder, with white for her only ornament a string of pearls, a gift of the groom. She carried a sheaf of mixed roses, lily-of-the-valley and maiden hair fern. The bride was attended by her only sister, Winifred, who wore a becoming dress of Nile green georgette over pink, trimmings of silver lace, grey fox fur, with black picture hat and shoes to match. She carried pink asters, carnations and maiden hair fern. Mr. Jack Helferty, of Napanee, acted as best man. The wedding breakfast was given at the home of the bride's parents, which was nicely prefed for. Miss Margaret Ward, of Toronto, and Miss Charles E. LaVelle, of Rochester, N.Y. The bride travelled in a gown of lavender blue flat crepe with touches of Nile green georgette, coat to match, coat, fur, hat and shoes to match. BIRTHDAY PICNIC

On Thursday, Sept. 1st, 1927, Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Arnold, Roblin, Ont., were taken by surprise, when a number of their children and grandchildren gathered at their home and filled baskets, to spend the day in honor of Mrs. Arnold's 77th birthday; this year also being the 60th anniversary of their marriage.

The party had intended an out-door picnic, but, owing to several days of rainy weather previous to this, it was confined to the house. At noon the table was laid and all sat down to a dinner like you don't see every day.

In the afternoon some snapshots were taken, after which some of the party went up the river for a fish. However, they came back later with only enough to make up that there were no fish left in Salmon River, and as Mr. and Mrs. Arnold had been out the day before and got a nice bunch, they decided that they must have caught them all. The day seemed to go all too soon, and again it was time to lunch. So after enjoying another meal together, the party dispersed to their several homes, wishing Mr. Arnold many happy returns of the day, and trusting that they may be spared to spend many years of wedded happiness together.
